PREFACE

THIS book is neither a catalogue of libraries and record offices, nor is it a selection of transcripts from the English and Indian archives. The object of the undertaking is twofold: in the first place, it aims at supplying a critical analysis of essential data for the study of seventeenth century British India; in the second place, it aims at bringing within one purview all the materials lying scattered in various record offices in England.

I started my enquiries into the history of the East India trade in the seventeenth century about ten years ago, and after six years of work in the Public Record Office, the India Office Library and Record Department, the British Museum and other English libraries, collected a voluminous amount of material.

I gave an account of the rich and varied data preserved in some of the leading British archives in a series of lectures delivered in the University of London, King's College, in 1920. It took me about three years to sort, rearrange, classify, and make substantial additions to the material collected, and now, after eight years of uninterrupted work, I present the results of my researches to the public.

The book has involved an amount of time and anxiety that can be felt only by those who have gone through the same ordeal. The deciphering of a single manuscript has sometimes cost me several weeks, and I was more than once tempted to give up the project in despair. It would have been a comparatively easy task to have copied the contents of the catalogues of various record offices and libraries mentioned in the book; but, as explained above, that was not the object of my enquiry. Every important document has been subjected to a close and careful scrutiny, and references have been given to printed works that throw further light on the matter.

The work is chiefly occupied with the manuscript materials for the study of seventeenth century British India, and deals mainly with the records preserved in the British archives. I have, however, appended a section on the records in India. This portion is, I fear, incomplete; but owing to the supply of abundant information on the contents of record offices in India, I have not deemed it necessary to mention all the documents on the subject that are preserved here.

I am a firm believer in what has been called the 'Archive Method'. I believe that before a person takes up his pen to write history, he should subject his data to the severe test of scientific analysis. I am convinced that the data must be carefully sifted and their contents subjected to a searching critical analysis. The historical method that has been so successfully developed in Paris, and in London, must, I am convinced, be followed in India if we are to free our works on history from the narrow, communal, religious and racial bias. I have been trying to inculcate this ideal among my own students in the University of Allahabad, and the work done by students of this Department has won recognition at the hands of scholars of world-wide reputation. The maxim of the Allahabad School may be summed up thus: 'Do not write a line of history until you have mastered all the material on the subject and freed your mind from all prejudices, be they prejudices of theory or prejudices of race or religion.' This is the ideal at which we aim, and which we will strive to carry out with all our energy.

It is a pleasure to render my hearty thanks to the numerous friends who have helped me in various ways. My thanks are especially due to Professor F. J. C. Hearnshaw of King's College, University of London, whose kindness and courtesy are no less remarkable than his ripe scholarship, and varied experience; to Sir William Foster, Registrar and Superintendent of Records, India Office, who is the greatest living authority on the records preserved in the India Office; to the officers in charge of records at Bombay, Calcutta and Madras, for providing facilities for consultation of records in their archives; to Miss L. M. Anstey for her active interest and constant help; and to Mr. Gurty Venkat Rao, M.A., LL.B., sometime Research Scholar, History Department, for correcting the proofs. Lastly, I must thank the Oxford University Press and the printers for their help in the printing and publication of this book. It was exceedingly difficult to get a work of this kind produced in India.

DOCUMENTS IN THE BRITISH MUSEUM

This is an abridgment of Bruce's Annals. The 'table' begins in 1581 with the Turkey Company's first trading venture to India. The entries for the seventeenth century occupy 9 folios or 14 pages.

17th century (early). Fragment.

Cotton MS. Ch. III, No. 13, fols. 9-2a.

Fragment of a letter, without signature, regarding difficulties of trade at 'Lugho' and Banda. Addressed 'World'.

(?) 17th century (early). Reasons for and against permission for trading with the Indies.

Cotton MS. Vesp. C. XII, fols. 401-2.

For: Freedom of trade advantageous. The King of Spain must be induced to 'proceed more frankly'. A league of friendship and trade to the Indies with Spain would promote amity. Against: Free traffic never has been granted. It might prove offensive to Spain.

The writing is crabbed and extremely difficult to decipher. It is one of the earliest manuscripts on the East India Trade, and is important for the history of the first phase of the Company.

(?) 17th century (early). Short notes concerning the Molucca Islands and the Dutch East India Company.

Cotton MS. Otho E. VIII, fol. 241.

These notes, which are brief and sketchy, contain the names of some islands and other unimportant notes not relevant to British India.

(?) 17th century (early). Advice concerning traffic in the East Indies.

Cotton MS. Otho E. VIII, fol. 61.

A fragment only. Partially burnt.

1604. Some considerations offered by the Adventurers in a voyage to the East Indies by the Cape of Good Hope, to be attended to in the Treaty with Spain.

Cotton MS. Vesp. C. XIII, fols. 23-23a.

1604, July. Reasons for the trade into the East and West Indies by the merchants of England. Gathered for the treaty between England and Spain.

Cotton MS. Vesp. C. XIII, fols. 47-50a.

The MS. is signed 'Robert Cotton'.

(?) 1606 or 1607. Petition of the East India Company.

Harl. MS. 160, fol. 228.

Petition of the East India Company to the Lords of the Privy Council against Sir Edward Michelbourne's interference with their trade at Bantam and the seizure of their people and goods.

He eventually reached his ship, the Trades Increase. Details of arrangements made with the 'Bashaw'. His journey to England, via Socotra, Surat, the Cape, Madagascar, is also described.

These notes are very fragmentary and include a few relating to India.

1611-44. Correspondence of factors in the East Indies, merchants and sea-captains, with Sir Thomas Smyth and Sir Maurice Abbott, Governors, and the Committee of the E.I. Co., and others, with bills of lading and other papers, original and copies. Egerton MS. 2086, 149 fols.

Many of the papers have suffered from damp and are imperfect.

Some of the letters in this MS. have been printed by Mr. William Foster in his Letters Received by the E.I. Co., and others have been abstracted by him in his English Factories. Where such is the case, only the date, writer and addressee are given, with a reference to the printed or abstracted version, English Factories being distinguished, for the sake of brevity, as E.F.

f. 4-4a. March, 1611-12. Statement by John Sayes, aboard the Clove in Socotra, to the Company, giving an account of the voyage of the Clove, Hector and Thomas, which sailed from the Downs, 18 April, 1611. At Socotra they found letters from Sir Henry Middleton. Details of the method of barter at Socotra are given. [Damaged and portions illegible.]

f. 6-8. 27 Jan., 1612-13. Bills of lading at Bantam for goods in the Selman for the third voyage. Richd. Petty, master; Robt. Ward, Cape merchant; Edwd. Blythman, purser.

f. 9. 19 Feb., 1612-13. Benjamin Greene, at 'Poola Pensem', to Sir Henry Mid[dleton] with the East India [fleet], accompanying 24 bags of 'Mohor' money. [Damaged and partly illegible.]

f. 10-11a. 9 Nov., 1613. N. Withington, at Ahmadabad, to Sir Thos. Smyth, Governor of the E.I. Company, per the James.

There is an abstract of the above letter on p. 298 of Letters Received, Vol. III.

f. 12-12a. 20 Dec., 1613. James I's commission to Christopher Newport and Joseph Salbank, of the Expedition, in which ship the ambassador for Persia is to sail.

f. 13. 19 Dec., 1613. General letter of King James I, sent by Captain Newport of the Expedition, to all rulers of countries which the Expedition may visit, requesting that courtesy may be shown to his subjects.

f. 14-15. 21 March, 1614-15. Sir Maurice Abbott, Governor, and the Committee of the East India Company, to William Hoare, merchant in India, in reply to a letter received by the Dolphin. They approve of the design to send Captain Weddell and the Dragon to Gombroon (Bandar Abbas), if it can be safely accomplished. They remark on the action of the factors at Surat in selecting an agent for Persia, etc. [Slightly damaged.]

f. 16. 29 Jan., 1615-16. Thos. Sprake, en route to Burhanpur, to Geo. Barkley, Cape merchant, at Surat. He gives an account of customs demanded and refused, and of an altercation with a party of Rajputs demanding it.

f. 17-17a. 15 May, 1616. Memorandum for Geo. [?D]avidge and John [?]Fayye. Instructions from [the President of Surat] for opening up a trade at Cambay. A present to be made to the Governor. Remarks on saleable commodities.

f. 17. 1616. Instructions to [?] for a voyage from Siam to Cambay.

f. 18-19a. [1616]. John Browne, at Patani, to the chief of the factory at Jambi. Reports the death of Robert Larkin and the want of experienced assistants. Dilates on the difficulties of the relations between the English and Dutch.

f. 20-20a. 1616. Edward Connock and Thos. Barker [in Persia] to the President and Council at Surat, per the James, reporting their kindly reception by 'Zulphacan Sultan, the new presentt Governor'.

Only about a third of the document exists, the rest being torn away.

f. 24-24a. 7 April, 1616. Nicholas Ufflete, in Jakatra, to [?] concerning trade, price of commodities, etc. He describes an altercation with the Dutch, who had placed the colours of the Prince of Orange above those of the English on one of their ships.

The writing is difficult to decipher.

f. 26-28a. 15 April, 1617. Nathaniel Courthope and Thos. Spurway, at Pulgroom, to the Chief at Bantam. Printed in Foster's Letters Received, Vol. V, p. 345.

f. 30-30a. 9 July, 1617. Nathaniel Salmon, of the New Year's Gift, to the Company, per the Charles. Printed in Foster's Letters Received, Vol. VI, pp. 290-92.

- f. 65, 67 and 68. 14 and 20 Oct., and 15 Nov., 1620. John Fardoe, on board the Gift, to Capt. Humphrey Fitzherbert, Chief Commr. for the Company. He has been charged with theft, imprisoned, and fettered. Demands a public trial.
- f. 70-73. 28 [? 1621]. Capt. Humphrey Fitzherbert, aboard the Royal Exchange, in [?] to [? the President of Bantam]. Reports the seizure of Lantore by the Dutch, their attempt to surprise Pularoon, and their overbearing attitude towards the native inhabitants, whom they have compelled to deliver up their arms and rase the walls of their town. Mr. Harris, the English Governor, refused to support the 'blacks' against the Dutch, who had 2,600 trained soldiers, 14 great ships, 80 prows, etc. Peace was concluded after an exchange of prisoners. The Dutch forced the native inhabitants to dismount the English guns at Pularoon. The loss of the island is attributed to the cowardice of Mr. Harris. The English still hold the castle on the little island. [Damaged.]
- f. 79-82. 24 Jan., 1621-22. The factors, at Ruhestek, Persia to [? the Company]. R. Jefferies is defended against charges made against him by E. Monox. Report on trade. 1612, Minutes of the East India and Turkey merchants' complaints before the Lords of the Council. Landsdowne MS. 160. No. 36, fol. 144.
4 Oct.

Reasons why the trade with Turkey is more profitable than that with the East Indies and Persia.

Reasons offered by the Persian ambassador for trading direct with the Persian Gulf rather than by way of Turkey. A suggestion that the Persian monarch shall take kerseys (English woollen cloth) and return silk in exchange 'at a double valewe'.

- 1613, Papers concerning the trade to Cotton MS. Galba
5 April. India. E.I. fols. 371-76a.

Two Latin documents and a third with an English translation on the subject of trade with India, said to have been sent to the Commissioners for the Indies. The translation deals with a controversy between England and Holland concerning trade.

- 1613, Nicholas Downton's account of his Cotton MS. Otho E.
30 Sept. voyage in the Peppercorn in the VIII, fols. 244-47a.
East Indies under the command of Sir Henry Middleton, addressed to Lord Chichester, Deputy of Ireland.

The beginning of this MS. appears to be missing and the top of each sheet is burnt off. The first sheet seems to have been reversed, fol. 244a containing matter of prior date to that on fol. 244. The dates, so far as can be ascertained, run from 23 July, 1610, to 30 September, 1613. The narrative includes an account of Sir Henry Middleton's imprisonment at Mocha and his escape thence (11 May, 1611), with his subsequent relation with the 'Bashaw'. The places touched at include the Cape, Madagascar, Aden, Mocha, Socotra, Surat, Sumatra and Java. The ship was at St. Helena in June, 1613, and off Ushant in the August following.

See above in the same collection (Cotton MS. Otho E. VIII, fols. 1-244) for a full account of these incidents, under date 1611.

- (?) 1614. Letter from [Robert] Bell to Sir Stowe MS. 174, fol.
Thomas Edmondes, Ambassador 367-67a
in Paris.

Complaint by the company of merchants of England trading to the East Indies that ships are being prepared in England and France for unlicensed voyages to India, to the prejudice of their trade. They request that an embargo may be put on persons and ships harbouring such a design in France.

 in India.

The letter is dated from Agra, is catalogued as from Fra. Corsi, but is signed Joseph di Castro. It reports the closing of churches on account of disturbance, and the necessity for the Fathers to remain in hiding.

- 1615- Letter Book of the English Factory Add. MS. 9366, 177
1616/17. at Surat in the years 1615, 1616. fols.

This valuable MS. consists of 241 separate documents. Its title is somewhat misleading for it consists of letters signed by Thomas Kerridge in his official capacity as the Company's servant at Ahmadabad, July, 1615—Feb., 1615/16, as well as after he became head of affairs in Surat, in Feb., 1615-16. In the latter case the letters are penned in concurrence with his colleagues, and these extend from Feb., 1615-16 to Jan., 1616-17.

The letters are addressed to Surat, Agra, Ahmadabad and Broach. There are, besides, a considerable number written to Sir Thomas Roe, Ambassador at the Court of the Mogul, and two or three to the Company in England.

Some half dozen of the letters to Sir Thomas Roe and the Company have been printed by Mr. Wm. Foster in his Letters Received, Vols. IV and V, and Mr. Foster has also utilised Kerridge's correspondence with the Ambassador when editing the Diary of the Embassy for the Hakluyt Society.

A second copy of the letters from Feb., 1615-16 onwards is preserved at the India Office, Factory Records, Surat, Vol. LXXXIV, Pt. 1, and this vol. contains four letters of a later date than those in the B.M. Vol.

The whole series is intensely interesting and throws much light on the political and commercial relations of the East India Company, in Surat and the neighbourhood, in the early part of the 17th century.

To indicate adequately the matter to be found in the closely-written pages of this mass of correspondence would require a volume. For the present purpose it has been considered sufficient to catalogue the documents chronologically with location, date and name of addressee, and to note in the briefest fashion the chief points of interest in each document. The MS. is essential to the study of the early history of English intercourse with India, and it ought to be carefully analysed by a skilful scholar.

- f. 3. [1615.] [The Emperor Jahangir] to King James I. Instructions have been given to his officials to encourage and protect English merchants. He asks for novelties from England.
- f. 4. 26 July, 1615. Thomas Kerridge, at Surat, to W. Edwardes at Ahmadabad. He arrived at Surat 14 July. He gives an account of trade carried on under Mr. Aldworth.

The whole of the Journal and the greater part of the letters in this MS. have been printed in two volumes, issued by the Hakluyt Society in 1899 (Second Series, Vols. I and II) and edited by Mr. Wm. Foster, C.I.E. The work is entitled The Embassy of Sir Thomas Roe to the Court of the Great Mogul, 1615-19, edited with contemporary records. The letters omitted contain matters of minor interest, and those abridged by the Editor are either unimportant or contain matter which is also found in other letters.

Besides the Hakluyt Society's volumes, a certain number of the letters in Add. MS. 6115, have been printed elsewhere, or are to be found among the I.O. Records. The following are instances:

- f. 58. 15 [should be 16] Oct., 1615. Sir Thos. Roe to the Governor of Surat. Printed in Foster's Letters Received, Vol. III, pp. 303-4, from the original letter, O.C., 303.

Both sections very much damaged and parts of pages quite destroyed.

[Hirado], Japan.

This Diary, which includes the dates 1 June, 1615, to 24 March, 1621-22 has been edited by Sir Edward Maunde Thompson and printed by the Hakluyt Society in two Vols. (Series I, Vols. LXVI, LXVII), London, 1882.

- ? 1616. An undated, mutilated fragment. Cotton MS. Otho E.
This is probably a portion of VIII, fols. 254-
the Company's instructions to 63.
William Keeling.

The person to whom the instructions are addressed is ordered to choose four principal places where responsible persons should reside, such as Surat, the Coromandel Coast, Bantam and Patani; and directions are given as to which part of the country each should control. If a factory is established at Mocha, a chief is to be appointed there also.

The fragment concludes with an interesting account of trade on the Coromandel Coast, in Bengal and Peru, apparently derived from the reports of Peter Floris.

In the Calendar of State Papers, East Indies, 1513-1616, p. 300, this document is conjecturally assigned to 1614, with a suggestion that its contents were addressed to Jourdain. See Foster, Letters Received, IV, xv.

The MS., as stated above, is much mutilated, and the top of every page is burnt off.

landers delivered to Sir Julius Cæsar.

The merchants contest the claims of the Dutch to a monopoly of trade in Ternate, Banda and the Molucca Islands generally. They complain that the Dutch gave the ruler of Pulicat to understand that they were pirates. They give details of the unwarrantable actions of the Dutch with regard to Pularoon and of other unfriendly actions towards their ships in the East Indies.

7 July. Thirty-one articles, clearly written in seventeenth century French, and dated and signed.

East India Trade which doth 79-80.
consume the Gold, Silver, Coyne or other treasure of this kingdom, but rather that it is an excellent means greatly to increase the same.

The writer shows that no gold has been exported since the foundation of the Company, and only a proportion of the silver permitted, but that exports of cloth have increased and that trade has been opened in hitherto unknown centres. The increase of trade between 1617 and 1620 is specially emphasised. The writer anticipates many of Mun's arguments, and is specially skilful in analysing the effects of the consumption of precious metals. Compare my East India Trade in the XVII Century.

*There are letters from 18 August, 1620, to 20 April, 1621, addressed to Sir Thomas Smyth, Governor of both Companies, prefixed by an appeal to James I. The whole is interlarded with a mass of Scriptural quotations applied to the case.

M. Aldran Hallidon, Governor.

The narrator sets forth that, having failed to obtain restitution from the Dutch for damages inflicted by them, contrary to Treaty, the East India Company appealed to the King, who demanded that the Dutch should select Deputies from the States General and the Netherlands E.I. Co. to meet his Commissioners and the Governor and Deputy Governor of the E.I. Co., together with certain members of the Court of Committees. In consequence, the Dutch Deputies arrived in England, in December, 1620, and, after an audience with the King, Committees were appointed to go into the question of reparations with the Dutch.

The Governor of the E.I. Co. produced an abstract of the losses and damages suffered in consequence of the failure of the Dutch to surrender ships that had been seized.

- f. 3a-15. 2 Jan., 1620-21. Statement of violation of certain articles of the last Treaty by the Dutch. Answer of the Dutch to the complaints. Points debated: charges of the Fort at Pulicat, restitution of ships, freedom of trade at Bantam, etc.
- f. 16-34. 20-25 Jan., 1620-21. Reciprocal restitution of ships and goods debated with arguments on both sides.
- f. 34a-36. 'Coppye of the new complaints sent to the Kinge containinge a relation of the takeinge of the islands of Lantore and Pooleroun'.
- f. 36a-38a. Reasons showing the English offers of freight and assurance to the Dutch to be reasonable.
- f. 39-69. 7 Feb., 1621-22. Restitution of goods brought into Holland demanded by the English E.I. Co. The amount of freight to be paid by the Dutch, the price of pepper, etc., debated, with special reference to the case of the Black Lyon.
- f. 69a-81. Exception taken by the English to charges made against them by the Dutch before the Treaty, with reasons for their non-liability to restore the goods of the Black Lyon.
- f. 82-90. 10 May, 1622. Answer of the English E.I. Co. to a paper of Protest delivered by the Dutch on that date.
- 15-31 May, 1622. Further debates on the restitution of ships.
- f. 90a-99. 4-29 June, 1622. Meetings between the English and Dutch merchants for valuation of ordnance, ships and ships' provisions, debates concerning restitution, etc.
- f. 99-104. 1 July, 1622. Agreement signed by both parties on the First Article of the Treaty, Reciprocal Restitution.
- 3 July, 1622. Signed agreement delivered to the Lords Commissioners in French and English. Points of disagreement debated, especially that regarding the restitution of the Expedition.
- f. 104a-8. Second complaint of the English E.I. Co. against the Dutch for injuries done after the publication of the Treaty at Jacatra and recently come to their knowledge.
- 1 August, 1622. Petition to the King about Lantore and Pularoon delivered and referred to the Lords Commissioners. Opinion thereon.
- f. 109-10. 27 Aug., 1622. The order for the Dutch to pay for goods seized, not ratified by the Lords Commissioners. Valuation of goods and other points debated.

f. 111-16. The Dutch complaint against the English touching the islands of Banda. They contend that the English have no right to Pularoon.

4 Sept., 1622. The English reply to the above.

f. 116a-19. 9 Sept., 1622. Discussion regarding Pularoon. The English and Dutch views set forth.

f. 119a-23. 12-14 Sept. Rejoinder of the English to the Dutch complaints about Pulicat.

f. 123a-24a. Demands of restitution by the English from the Dutch.

f. 125-26. Further complaints against the Dutch.

This MS. is mainly concerned with the English side of the case and has very little to say for the Dutch point of view.

1621. Tract entitled, 'A Discourse of Trade from England unto the East Indies: answering to diverse objections which are usually made against the same'. By T.M., 4to, 58 pp. printed. Harl. MS. 7310, fols. 78-109.

This is a copy of Thomas Mun's well-known treatise.

- 1621-22. Letter Book of Correspondence of Factors of the East India Company 1621-22. Egerton MS. 2123, 144 fols.

Like Egerton MS. 2122, nearly the whole of this volume has been incorporated by Mr. William Foster in his English Factories, 1618-21, and 1622-24. The MS. has therefore been treated in the same way as Eg. 2122 and the references to Mr. Foster's abstracts are noted in the same way, viz., E.F. with appropriate page. [1623.] The Cruelty of the Dutch at Amboyna to the English. (With a full-page pen and ink illustration.) Sloane MS. 3645.

A printed version of the above, with a reproduction of the illustration, is entitled, 'A true relation of the unjust, cruel and barbarous proceedings against the English at Amboyna in the East Indies, by the Netherlandish Council there,' etc., etc. The 3d. impression. Published by authority. London, 1632. Small 4to. Printed by G. Purslowe for Nathaniel Newberry.

1623, 12 Dec. Copy of the English Protest exhibited to the Dutch Governor-Genl. Peter de Carpentier and Council in Jacatra (Batavia), signed by Geo. Gunning, Richd. Weldon, Geo. Bruen. Add. MS. 12496, fols. 1-45.

The writers protest against the violation by the Dutch of the articles agreed on between James I and the States General in 1619, and cite the following instances: The exaction of customs in Batavia. Forced payments on arrack and fish in Banda. Prohibition of the sale of slaves unless 'excise' was paid for them. Intolerable exactions in the Moluccas, Amboyna and Banda. Assertion of legal authority over British subjects. Interference with trade at Bantam. The underhand action of the Dutch with regard to an attack on Macao. The separation of two Dutch ships from the fleet in 1622 to serve their own purposes in the Red Sea, whereby the combined fleet was scattered and could not inflict a decisive blow on the Portuguese. The refusal of the Dutch to restore the island of Pularoon according to agreement, etc., etc.

O. C. 1128 (I.O. Records) is a fragment of the original protest with the signatures of Gunning, etc., and an attestation that the document was exhibited to the English and Dutch Commissioners on the 24 July, 1654.

1627-37. The Mundy MSS.

*Harl. MS. 2286,
Add. MSS. 19278-81.*

Copies of portions only of this remarkable work exist at the British Museum. The original and complete MS. (Rawl. A. 315) is to be found at the Bodleian Library, Oxford, and will be fully described in the Bibliography of 17th Century MSS., dealing with British India, contained in that library.

Harl. MS. 2286.

This is a contemporary copy, made for Sir Paul Pindar, of Relations I—XIX (1608-34), the first three Relations dealing with Mundy's early life and European travels before he entered the service of the E.I.Co., (1608-27), and the remainder, Relations IV—XIX, describing Mundy's first voyage to India and his service as factor at Surat, Agra, Patna, with his return to England in 1634.

This MS. contains no tracings of the illustrations that are found in the original.

Add. 19278, 18 fols.

This is a late copy of Relation V, 'Some Passages at Suratt'. It contains no illustrations.

Add. 19279, 40 fols.

This is a late copy of Relation VI, 'A Journey from Suratt to Agra'. It contains no illustrations.

Add. MS. 19280, 25 fols.

A late copy of Relations VII and XV, the former entitled 'A Journey from Agra to Cole', and the latter, 'Of Agra: Whatt Notable there, etc'. It contains no illustrations.

1636-37. Voyages to the East Indies, China, etc.

Add. MS. 19281, 212 fols.

A late copy of Relations XXI-XXVI, inclusive. It describes the voyage of a fleet sent out by Sir William Courteen for trade in India and China. Mundy was employed as a merchant, and he recounts the experiences of the fleet. Relation XXVI, does not complete the story, as it ends while the ships were still in China.

This copy contains the 'China Characters' but no tracings of the author's illustrations.

For details of the portions of the MS. already printed and edited, see the note on the original in the Bodleian collection.

1627-28.

Complaints against the Dutch for wrongs done to the English since the Treaty of 1619, with special reference to the massacre at Amboyna. Counterclaims from the Dutch and replies thereto.

Fols. 191-98, 251, 255 deal with Amboyna. Fol. 235 contains 'Pointes sur lesquels Sa Majesté se declare touchant le fait des Indes Orientales'. The remaining folios are mainly concerned with reprisals in European waters. The whole MS. is in French.

1630. Letter from Charles I to the Shah Add. MS. 11310.
Sufi, the Emperor of Persia.

The letter was sent by William, Earl of Denbigh, to congratulate the monarch on his accession and to cement the friendly relations that had obtained in the days of the preceding monarch, Shah Abbas.

- f. 1-18a. 2 Feb., 1630/1-9 Oct., 1631. 'A Journall kept in the Marye, being the daily course and distance that she went, from . . . the Downes untill wee came . . . on the coast of India.'
- f. 19-37. A duplicate of the above.
- f. 38-43a. 28 April-30 May, 1632. Journal from Surat to Masulipatam. Brief remarks on the Danes' Castle at Trincomalee. At Armagon, Mr. Norris and Mr. Cartwright came on board.
- f. 44-50a. 29 June-2 Sept., 1632. Journal from Masulipatam to Gombroon. Anchored in Jask Road on the 15 Sept. Heard news of war between the Portuguese and the Persians.
- f. 51-52a. 23 Oct.-28 Nov., 1632. Journal from Persia to Surat.

These Journals contain very little information beyond courses, distances, observations, remarks on currents, land sighted, etc.

O.C. 1407 (India Office Records) contains an account of the early part of the voyage up to 9 Dec., 1631, and O.C. 1455 gives an account of the voyage from Surat to Armagon and Masulipatam, and thence to Persia up to the 12 Oct., 1632.

- 1654-70 Travels of Richard Bell (and John Campbell) in the East Indies, Persia and Palestine. Sloane MS. 811, 64 fols.

f. 2-18b. 1. An account or journal of the travels of Richard Bell in the Moguls' country in India, and his residence in the Court of Shah Jahan, the Emperor, and father of Aurangzeb, to both of which he was gunfounder, several years, from 1654 to 1668; as also an account of John Campbell and others residing in that country.

f. 18b-45b. 2. Another journal of the said Richard Bell's travels to Prester John's country, Persia, etc., in 1667.

f. 45b-63. Account of the voyage and travels of Richard Bell from Lisbon to Jerusalem and other places, in Anno 1669.

The whole of this MS. has been printed verbatim in the Indian Antiquary, Vol. XXXV, pp. 131-42, 168-78, 203-10; Vol. XXXVI, pp. 98-105, 125-34, 173-79; Vol. XXXVII, pp. 156-70. It is edited, with a preface, by Sir Richard Temple and contains valuable notes contributed by the late Mr. William Irvine. The part played by John Campbell in the events recorded, the proportion of 'travellers' tales' and important historical facts contained in the narrative, and the estimate of the value of the MS. as a whole, are set forth by the editor.

- 1658-65. Negotiations of Sir George Downing. Add. MSS. 22919-20.

The following documents throw further light on Cromwell's attitude towards the Company, while Downing's activity and zeal are no less manifest. Thurloes' letters to Downing are particularly important.

N.B.—The numbers of folios given are those of the revised paging in pencil.

- f. 27-29. 3 May, 1658. Answer (in French) by the States General to the protest delivered by Sir George Downing, on the 21st March, on behalf of merchants trading to the East Indies, who complain of ill-treatment on the part of the Dutch.

The States General defend the conduct of their servants in the East. They set forth that the Javanese in Bantam had broken the peace concluded with them, and had burnt the houses and sugar factories of the Dutch, compelling the latter to have recourse to arms and to blockade the town and river of Bantam. That they courteously warned the English of this design and did not refuse to allow them to provision their ships for Europe as stated in the protest. Further, they deny that Pularoon has been destroyed, that they have offered 30,000 dollars for the monopoly of the pepper trade, or that the alleged injuries done to English vessels has any foundation. Nevertheless, they have sent orders to their Governor-General, directing that if any of their commanders shall be found guilty of the charges brought against them, or of any violation of the Treaty of 1654, they shall be rigorously punished. They maintain that the complaints of the English merchants are groundless, and suggest, in case of their continued dissatisfaction, that their cause shall be tried in a court of law.

- f. 66. 3 Dec., 1658. J. Thurloe (Treasury) to Sir George Downing. Sends papers and instructions with reference to the three E.I. ships taken by the Dutch. No details given.

- f. 68. 24 Dec., 1658. Ditto to ditto. Respecting the three ships as above.

- f. 72. 7 Jan., 1658-59. Ditto to ditto.

His Highness and the Council want to know what is to be expected of the Dutch in the 'East India business' as 'the Eyes of all the Nations are upon it'.

- f. 75. 4 Feb. 1658-59. Ditto to ditto.

He has received news of the agreement about the Bantam ships. The owners demur to the ten weeks allowed for payment. An early settlement is desired.

- f. 86. 4 March, 1658-59. Ditto to ditto.

Agreement about the three E.I. ships ratified by the Protector. Further petitions from the E.I.Co. for restitution, apart from the three ships. The Ambassador is to do the best he can for them.

- f. 207. [1662.] Demands of John South, of London, merchant, for loss and damage sustained by and from the Netherlands E.I. Co. in the East Indies.

The demands are for £4,000 worth of goods on board the Nostra Signora di Rimedia, which ship was taken at Macassar, Celebes I, and carried off by the Dutch to Batavia.

- f. 209-12. 30 April, 1662. Complaint of the owners of the Advice, which was let on freight to the E.I. Co., in 1658, for a voyage to Bantam and back.

They complain that the ship arrived at Bantam but that the Dutch would not permit her to unlade or lade goods there or even provision the ship. That, in consequence, the cargo was unladed by stealth, at Lampoon, 26 leagues from Bantam. That owing to the obstruction of the Dutch, the ship's return was delayed and she was forced to make the voyage in the winter to the detriment of her gear, the loss of her passengers' goods and the payment of extra demurrage by her owners.

- f. 236. 11 July, 1662. Letter from Sir Richard Ford, in London, to Sir George Downing.

Expresses appreciation of Downing's activity on behalf of the E.I. Co. The Company's servants at Bantam have been ordered to attempt to regain possession of Pularoon.

- f. 239. [1662.] [Torn fragment.] A paragraph (in Latin), touching the delivery of Pularoon, according to the articles of treaty of 1654.
- f. 248-50. 5-15 Sept., 1662. Letter (in French) from the Dutch Ambassadors at Chelsea 'au Greffier Ruysel' stating that they are empowered to agree to all the articles in question, between the Dutch and English, except as regards the claims of the English for the Bonne Esperance and Henry Bonaventure.
- f. 263. 9 Nov., 1662. Deposition of J. Hurstaerdt, commander, of the Dutch East India fleet, that he prevented the English E.I. Co.'s ship from going to Porcat, because the king of that place was an enemy of the Dutch, but that the vessel in question, the Hopewell, had been provided with wood and water. [In French.]
- f. 265. 6 Dec., 1662. Protest by James Snow, and the officers of the Hopewell, against Jacob Hurstaerdt, head of the Dutch factory at Cochin, for his refusal to allow their ship to proceed to Porcat. [In French.]
- f. 266. 31 Dec., 1662. Protest by George Oxenden and Council, at Surat, against Jacob Hurstaerdt and the Netherlands E.I. Co., for their action with regard to the Hopewell.

Add. MS. 22920.

- f. 13-14. 17-27 Sept., 1663. Sir George Downing, at the Hague, to the States General. [In French.]

He protests against the States General, for the action of their agent, on the coast of Africa, in refusing to allow the Charles and James to take in slaves or to trade at Cormantin, on the coast of Guinea, on the pretext that the English E.I. Co. was at war with the inhabitants on the coast of Africa. There is further correspondence in the volume about the above affair, but it refers entirely to the African Company.

- f. 15. 17 Nov., 1663. Copy of a protest by the E.I. Co.'s factors at Porcat (Porakad) against the Governor of Cochin for his action regarding the Hopewell.

They complain of obstruction in trade to their ship and also to the Leopard, and of the conduct of the Dutch in overawing the native ruler and forbidding him to have commercial relations with the English.

- f. 35. 7-17 April, 1664. Lord Denzil Holles, at Paris, to Sir Geo. Downing.

He complains of the attitude of the Dutch towards the English, their refusal to restore Pularoon, their attempts to obstruct British trade on the coast of Guinea, etc.

- f. 42. 5 June, 1664. Answer of the States General (in French) to the protest of the English regarding the Hopewell.

They declare that they have enquired into the matter but go into no particulars and only express a hope that for the future the relations between the two countries may be amicable.

- f. 116-24. 24 April, 1668—9 May, 1668. The same debated and the examination of the case of Skinner versus the Company before the House of Lords, and their finding with regard to the same said to be a breach of privileges of the House of Commons, and the second petition by the Company to the Commons no breach of privilege, as regards the Lords.

The case of Thomas Skinner, merchant, was as follows: He took a ship, the Thomas, on a trading voyage to India in 1657-58, the trade being then open. The ship reached Jambī, where Skinner hired a house, stored his goods in a warehouse and purchased the Island of Barella from the King of Jambī. He there built a dwelling-house and entered into contracts for planting pepper, etc. In May, 1659, the agents of the E.I. Co. seized his ship, goods, houses and 1,521 dollars. He estimated the loss at £17,172, besides 'vast charges'. He also complained of violence done to his person. From the year 1661, onwards, he petitioned the King of England for justice, and failing to get redress, brought his case before the House of Lords. The Lords awarded him damages and then the matter resolved itself into a question of privilege between the two Houses.

THE MARSHALL MSS.

There are eight MSS. in the British Museum attributed to John Marshall. They are : Harleian MSS. 4252, 4253, 4254, 4255, 4256 ; Add. MSS. 7037 (now O.R. 17 A.K.), 7039, 7040.

Harl. MS. 4252 is a copy made by Marshall of the captain's journal of the voyage of the Unicorn to Madras, and thence to Bengal, in 1667-69. In this ship Marshall sailed as a factor in the service of the E.I. Co.

Harl. MS. 4253 contains Marshall's account of the Hindu religion, gathered from his intercourse with a Brahman at the Company's factory at Kāsimbāzār, where Marshall was stationed from 1672 until his death in 1677. It also contains part of his translation of the Bhagavat Purana.

Harl. MS. 4254 deals with occurrences and notes made at Patna from 1668-72. Some of the entries are in the form of a diary but the greater part are scraps of information jotted down at random with no attempt at arrangement.

Harl. MS. 4255 is similar in character to 4254, but of a later date, covering the period, 1671/2-1672.

Harl. MS. 4256 contains a copy of 16 fols. of No. 4253 and a continuation of Marshall's translation of the Bhagavat Purana.

Add MS. 7037 (O.R. 17 A.K.) is a later copy of Harl. MSS. 4253 and 4256.

Add. MS. 7039 contains extracts from Harl. MSS. 4254 and 4255.

Add. MS. 7040 contains extracts from Harl. MS. 4254.

C. R. Wilson has two references to the Marshall MSS. in his Early Annals of Bengal, Vol. I, pp. 375, 381, foot-notes, but he speaks of the author erroneously as a 'superstitious sailor'.

Sir Richard Temple has freely used Marshall's Notes and Observations in his edition of the Diaries of Streynsham Master (Indian Records Series), and in his Countries round the Bay of Bengal (Hak. Soc. ed). He has also given a brief biography of Marshall in his Correspondence of Richard Edwards, (Notes and Queries, 12 S III, 263, 1917), and Bengal Past and Present, Vol. XVII, pp. 162-64.

Marshall's account of the famine at Patna, in 1670-71, has been quoted both by Sir Richard Temple in Countries round the Bay of Bengal and by Sir Theodore Morison in his Economic Transition of India, 1911.

In the detailed description of Harl. MSS. 4254 and 4255 given below, the various subjects dealt with in a discursive fashion have been grouped under their several headings for facility of reference.

The Marshall manuscripts have been strangely ignored by scholars. Marshall was probably the first European who studied the language, philosophy and religion of the Hindus, and his Diary is essential to the understanding of many of the local customs, and important events of the period. See my article, in the Journal of Indian History, No. 1, Vol. I.

- f. 1-8. The creation of the world. The difference between 'Addirb' the Omnipresent and 'Dirb' the corruptible. The creation of woman, then man.

These matters are treated in a series of questions between John Marshall and the Brahman.

- f. 9. 25 June, 1675. Account of Muddoosoodum Raure[e], Bramine: 'Account of the Hindoo book called Srebaugabatporam'.

Then follows Marshall's version of the Brahman's interpretation of the sacred book. He begins with the evolving of the creation in the mind of God and the making of 'Rosagum, Hittagum and Tomagum', who merged into one woman called 'Addea', for whom God created 'Manapurse'.

Marshall's marginal notes summarise the information obtained from the Brahman's account of the Bhagavat Purana. The chief of these are:

f. 10-15. Heaven and earth divided.

'Berna, Besna, Manadeeb.'

'Berna' to make 'Deutas'.

'Keyshub' created and 'Additee Ditte' and 'Kudroo' for his wives.

'Inder' born to 'Additte'.

'Burna' made astrologer.

'Inder' a raja.

Creation of 'Bismavera'.

'Howa' born of 'Addittee' and cut into seven pieces or Wind, 49 more children born to 'Addittee'.

'Bisooa Burma' the world's artificer, born.

'Urrun' redness born.

'Burrun' owner of water born.

'Cubbere' keeper of riches born.

'Astologopaulo' (governor of the eight parts of the heavens) born.

Fire, water and souls created.

'Bostookie' a snake with 1,000 heads, created.

'Shurma' the origin of dogs, created.

The earth created.

'Addea's' children who are 'Dutas' contend with the 'Dittees', Heaven given to the former and earth to the latter.

f. 15-18. Number of the 'Ustras' weakened by a trick.

Origin of poison.

'Nilcunt', why so called.

How the moon was made.

Origin of goodness, badness, long life, increase, precious stones.

Brahmans created—their duties.

How the 'Dutas' circumvented the 'Ustras' and how one of the latter became immortal.

f. 18-23. 'Indra' king of the 'Dutas'—wives created for them.

Origin of man and of woman.

The 27 wives of Chand, the moon.

Transformation of 'Sobbona' pursued by 'Oftob' and children born to them.

How 'Sumitcher' earned his nickname and became lame.

The inhabitants of the fourth, fifth and sixth heavens.

Distinctions made in men, beasts and things heretofore of identical pattern.

f. 24-32. Creation of castes.

Divisions of Brahmans—servants for their use.

Origins of the seasons of the year.

'Sangur's' fight with the sun.

How the sea and fresh water were made.

Divisions of time.

Feud between 'Manhadeeb' and Dick—'Manhadeeb's' wife 'Suttie' casts herself into the fire.

'Manhadeeb' becomes a faqir.

'Birna' expels Indra from the heavens and alters the course of the sun.

f. 33-40. 'Suttie' reincarnated and called 'Parbati.'

How Parbati regained her husband and was married again to 'Manhadeeb'.

Parbati's son, 'Cortick' kills 'Birtur' and restores Indra to his kingdom.

'Bissoroo' born and killed by Indra.

Indra's 'evil' passed on to earth, water, women, trees.

The value of the above MS. lies in the fact that it represents Hinduism as understood by a Christian in the seventeenth century. In spite of the many unsuccessful attempts to reproduce names, as given by his informant, the MS. is remarkable as the work of an Englishman who had been in India for only five years and during that period had been mainly occupied with mercantile duties.

Note.—Where an entry under the same heading occurs on more than one folio, it is frequently a duplicate, the author having probably forgotten that he had already recorded it. Many of the remarks consist of three or four lines only, and the longest of them seldom exceeds a full page. The writing throughout is crabbed and in many places difficult to decipher.

The above remarks apply to the remainder of Marshall's Notes and Observations (Harl. MS. 4255), for a description of which see below.

The Sri Bhagavat Puran translated into English by John Marshall from a Persian version of the Sanskrit original.

*Add. MS. 7037 (now O.R. 17 A.K.), 254
fols. or 510 pages.*

This MS. is a modern copy of portions of Harl. MSS. 4253 and 4256.

- pp. 1-16. A copy of Harl. MS. 4253, fols. 1-8, with slight variations in the spelling of the title and no marginal notes.
- pp. 17-83. A copy of Harl. MS. 4253, fols. 9-40, with slight variations in the spelling of the title on fol. 9 and with no marginal notes.
- pp. 83-217. A copy of the first section of Harl. MS. 4256.
- pp. 218-367. A copy of the second section of Harl. MS. 4255 entitled: 'A Continuation of Muddoosoodun Rauree Bramin's Account of the Hindoos Book called Sreebaugabut poran—translated per John Marshall and brought from Liber A the 14th July 1674.'
- p. 367. This ends with the words: 'Ended and carried to Lib. C 22th March 1674-75.'
- pp. 360-510. Title as before 'brought from Liber B the 22th March 1674-75.' Ends: 'Ended here 30th April, 1675 and carried? rest to Liber D.'

1675-77. A late copy of portion of Harl. MS. 4256. Add. MS. 7038 (now O.R. 17 A.K.), 317 fols.

- pp. 511-814. 'A Continuation of Muddoosoodun Rauree Bramin's Account of the Hindoos Book called Sreebaugabut poran—translated per John Marshall and brought from Liber C the 30th of April, 1675.'
- pp. 815-1099 and 2000-44. 'A Continuation, etc., brought from Liber D the 29th May, 1677.' The MS. ends with the words: 'Explicit Sunker Liber or the Bramin's Poran or Booke.'

1667-72. Cursory remarks from the Papers of J. Marshall on the Customs and popular Astronomy of the Hindoos, etc. Add. MS. 7039, 39 fols.

This MS. contains extracts from Marshall's MSS., Harl. MSS. 4254 and 4255.

- f. 1-37. Extracts of astrological and astronomical notes, notes on languages, opium, fagirs, Brahmans, geographical notes, etc., taken from Harl. MS. 4255.
- f. 38-39. An extract from Harl. MS. 4254, fol. 28-29, concerning Marshall's election as a factor in the service of the E.I.Co.

1667-72. Extracts from a MS. 'intituled' 'Memorandums concerning India from Sepr. 11, 1670 to January 1st, 1671-2 Per John Marshall.' Add. MS. 7040, 25 fols.

This is a small notebook containing extracts from Harl. MS. 4254, chiefly Marshall's remarks on the Hindu religion. On fol. 25 there is a note on the author, his education and the value of his MSS.

c. 1668. Papers by Lord Guildford on the Charter of the East India Company, temp. Charles II. Add. Ms. 32518, fols. 191, 192-203, 255-56, 257.

c. 1668. Considerations concerning the Charter of the East India Company. Add. MS. 32518, fol. 191.

- ?c. 1668. An Essay upon the East India Company. Add. MS. 32518, fols. 192-203.

The writer sets forth the inconveniences and injustices of the present East India trade as carried on under the charter of the Co. He accuses Sir Josiah Child of opposing any change, and he proposes various reforms which are, in his opinion, necessary.

- ?c. 1668. Objection to dissolving the East India Company and Considerations thereupon and the advantages by the dissolving or regulating them. Add. MS. 32518, fols. 255-56.

The writer urges that free trade is desirable but admits that trade with the East cannot be carried on without a license.

- ?c. 1668. Further remarks on the East India Company's trade extracted out of a quarto, paper-bound book marked H.C. Add. MS. 32518, fol. 257.

The passages quoted show how the Company's permission to their servants to engage in private trade is of advantage only to the principal merchants, in other words, to those who are senior in standing.

- 1668,
Decr. Memorial of Lord Robert Southwell, Envoy Extraordinary from Charles II to the Prince of Portugal concerning Bombay and the English East India Company. Add. MS. 34331, fols. 96-97a.

The writer states that the Government of the Island of Bombay has been handed over to the E.I.Co. He requests that the Viceroy of Goa and the respective Portuguese Governors under his jurisdiction may be 'encouraged' to 'continue his friendship and civility' to the English, and in all points comply with the 11th and 12th articles of the Treaty of Marriage, a copy of which is annexed.

- 1668/69-
1670.. Log of the Sampson, Capt. Samuel Chamblett, to Surat and home, 13 March 1668/69 to 9 May 1670, kept by John Kempthorne Junr., son of Rear-Admiral Sir John Kempthorne. Sloane MS. 3814.

This is an ordinary seaman's log, kept with exactness but not with the detail of Kempthorne's later Journals. It contains nothing of historical interest.

For another Journal of the same ship in a later voyage, kept by Capt. Chamblett see Sloane MS. 3668, fol. 42.

- c. 1670. Traite de la navigation aux Indes Orientales Divisé en deux parties, La première, Des Moissons, ou Vents reguliers, La Segonde, Des Tems propres pour Naviger d'un lieu à l'autre. Fait par l'ordre et a l'usage de S. A. R. Monsieur le Duc d'York. Sloane MS. 3210, 41 fols.

The first part of this document, 32 quarto folios, deals with monsoons (meaning winds and seasons), currents, rainfall, tides, etc. The second part, fols. 33-41, deals briefly with the favourable seasons for making a voyage to India, the penalty incurred by losing a monsoon, and the places where pilots are necessary.

1670. Voyage to Achin.

fols. 112-18.*

Neither the name of the ship nor the name of the commander is given.

4 May, 1670. The log begins in sight of Achin.

9 July, 1670. The log ends.

This Journal contains an account of the islands in the Straits of Malacca and off the Malay Peninsula, with illustrations. It appears to form part of the log which follows, fols. 119-122. If so, it is a portion of the log of the Bonaventura kept by Edward Colthurst, the ship being owned by Robert Fleetwood.

1670-71. Log of the Bonaventura, owned by Robert Fleetwood, from Siam to Masulipatam; the journal kept by Edward Colthurst 30 Oct., 1670-17 Jan., 1670-1.

1671. Abstract of Capt. [Benjamin] Browne's Journal in the Ann from England to Bantam, 28 June-12 Sept., 1671.

fol. 161.*

 f. 129b. 25 Sept., 1673. Instructions regarding the plunder taken from the Dutch prize ships by English sailors and the unloading of the cargoes or discharge and gratification of the crews and supernumeraries.
 f. 130a. 10 Oct., 1673. Custodians of the prize ships rewarded.
 f. 131a, 142b. 16 Oct.-14 Nov., 1673. Goods of the prize ships disposed of to Edward Nelthorpe and Co.
 f. 136b. 28 Oct., 1673. A tenth part of the proceeds of the four Dutch East India ships taken as prizes to be set apart for the flag officers.
 f. 137b, 139a. 29 Oct., 1673. Articles of Agreement between the Crown and the E.I. Co. for selling the four Dutch prize ships (13 clauses).
 f. 155a. 27 Feb., 1673-74. Article 6 of the above enforced.
 f. 140a. 6 Nov., 1673. The Alphen, Arms of Terveer alias Camphir, and Europa to be delivered to the officers of the Navy for His Majesty's use.
 f. 140b. 6 Nov., 1673. Money realised by the sale of goods belonging to the four East India prizes to be paid to the Receiver-General.
 f. 146b. 22 Dec., 1673. Sir Richard Munden recommended to His Majesty in consequence of the retaking of St. Helena and the capture of Dutch ships by him.
 f. 149a. 22 Dec., 1673. Notes about goods taken out of the ships by him.
 24 Dec., 1673. £2,500 reward paid to him.
 f. 157b. 26 March, 1674-75. Instructions with regard to the disposal of Dutch ship Arms of Rotterdam taken by Captain Wetwang, commander of the Newcastle frigate, on the 25th Feb.

1672-82. Customs paid by the East India Company. Total for the 11 years, £431,668. 5. 6½. Add. MS. 17019, fol. 44.

1672-77. Tonquin Journal 25 June, 1672-26 June, 1677. Sloane MS. 998, 116 fols.

The MS. begins:

'A Journal Register of all the Transactions in the first Settlement of a Factory there and the Negotiation of Mercantile Affaires for the Honble. English E.I. Co. Agitated per Mr. Wm. Gyfford Cheife, etc. Factors there beginning the 25th of June, 1672.'

This MS. narrates the settlement of a factory at Tonquin and chronicles the events in connection with it. It also contains copies of outward letters to Bantam, and the Co's remarks on methods of trade, dealings with the ruler of Tonquin and his ministers, lists of goods purchased, etc.

- 1673-1791. East India Company's Records, Add. MS. 38872, July 30, Vol. II. Committee of Shipping fols. 1-92.

- No date Seals of the E.I. Co. CXXXVI. 74-77.

- 1675. Account of Asia 1675. Sloane MS. 1836,
fols. 26-103.

Apparently taken from some printed work. Fols. 60-81 deal with India and Further India. The MS. contains nothing useful for the History of British India as the writer touches only on Portuguese settlements and on those but cursorily.

- 1675, A description of the Diamond Egerton MS. 2543, 27 Nov. Mines in India. fols. 224-29.

The following are noted: 'Quoleur, Codawillkull, Mallabar, Buttepalem, Ramiah Gurem, Muttampellee, Currure, Jonagerie, Muddemurg, Visiapore, Donee, Gazzerpellee', etc., etc. The MS. is dated at 'Munnemerg'.

- 1677, Order in Council concerning the Add. MS. 3432, 26 Oct. Portuguese in Bombay. fol. 110.

Representing that the English in Bombay are suffering from the imposition of unjust duties, that an application to the Viceroy of Goa has procured no redress, that these duties being levied contrary to Treaty His Majesty forbids his subjects to pay them. The Court of Portugal to be informed thereof.

- 1677/78- Log of the New London, Captain Sloane MS. 863, fols.
 1678. John Daniel. 3-50.

29 Jan., 1677/78—31 July, 1678, from Madras to St. Helena and thence to England.

This is an ordinary seaman's log, kept by Jacob Bevan. It contains a sketch of Ascension, but nothing of special interest.

See O.C. 4693 (I.O. Records) for a protest by Capt. John Daniel, dated Swally Marine, 26 Jan., 1679-80, against the President and Council of Surat for deficient lading.

- 1678. Proposals for freedom of trade in Add. MS. 14002, fols.

- c. 1680. An account of the navigation from Johanna to Ceylon through the Eight Degree Channel, together with an abstract of the *Sampson's Sloane MS. 3668, fols. 159a-60.

voyage from the Cape to Ceylon in June and July, 1680.

1680. 'A Treatise concerning the East India Trade: being a most profitable Trade to the Kingdom.' Written at the instance of Thomas Papillin. Harl. MS. 7310, fols. 51-56.

A printed tract of 27 pp., published 1680, reprinted 1696. There are copies also among the B.M. printed books. Press Marks, 1029. h.30 and 1029. e.8 (15).

- 1681-82, Abstract of the ships and value of cargoes sent out by the E.I. Co. to Surat, Fort St. George, Bay of Bengal and Bantam. Add. MS. 15898, fol. 134.
1 July,
June, 1682.

1681. A Journal of a voyage to the Kingdom of Tonquin bordering upon China in the East Indies by Capt. Robert Knox. Lansdowne MS. 1197, fols. 12-13.

21 Sept., 1681. Sailed from the Downs in the Tonquin Merchant.

This MS. is only a fragment with a detailed description of St. Jago, in the midst of which it breaks off.

1682. An unsigned relation of what passed at Bantam in March, 1682. Lansdowne MS. 1152, fols. 84-85.
14 March,
April, 1682.

The chief points in this narrative are:

The intervention of the Dutch during differences between the old King of Bantam and his son.

The seizure of Bantam by the Dutch, 28 March, 1682, after a previous unsuccessful attempt, owing to the treachery of the young prince.

An order to the English (31 March) to leave Bantam. Their goods stopped by the Dutch.

The English factory ransacked by the Dutch (11 April) and the English compelled to leave on the 12th April.

The English flag dishonoured by the Dutch.

1683. Letter from Lord Sunderland to Mr. Chudleigh about the Bantam business, to be delivered by Sir John Chardin. Lansdowne MS. 1152, fol. 86.

22 April, 1683. Mr. Chudleigh is informed of the anger of King Charles II at the action of the Dutch in Bantam and is desired to assist Sir John Chardin, the Deputy of the E.I. Co., who is to demand reparation from the States General.

1683. Letter of protest from Charles II, dated 26 April, 1683, per the Earl Lansdowne MS. 1152, fol. 86a.

of Sunderland, to the States General, to be delivered by Sir John Chardin, the Deputy of the E.I. Co., complaining of the action of the Dutch in Bantam.

1683. Copy of the Memorial given by Sir John Chardin in Holland about the Bantam business. Lansdowne MS. 1152, fols. 88-91.
May, 1683.

The memorial relates (in French) the events contained in the unsigned narrative (ante, fols. 84-85 of this MS.) and adds that the China Merchant reached Bantam on the 9th May, that the young King of Bantam would have received her Captain, but that the Dutch refused to allow him to land.

1683. Extract from the Register of the Resolutions of the States General. Lansdowne MS. 1152, fol. 96.
17 June, 1683.

A copy of the reply of the Seventeen to the representations of Mr. Chudleigh, Envoy Extraordinary of Charles II., and Sir John Chardin (delivered 25 May and 2 June respectively) to be handed to these two emissaries.

1683. The Reply of the States General concerning the Bantam business (in French). Lansdowne MS. 1152, fols. 93-104.
7-17 June, 1683.

They recapitulate relations between the King of Bantam and themselves during the last 25 years and declare that the seizure of Bantam was the consequence of the bad faith of its ruler, that the English report of events is incorrect in almost every detail, that the Dutch befriended them wherever possible, and that what damage they sustained was the result of internecine troubles. Of the refusal to allow the China Merchant to land they have no details.

1683. Project of an agreement between the English and Dutch East India Companies about the Bantam business (in French). Lansdowne MS. 1152, fols. 105-7.
July, 1683.

The chief point of this proposal was that neither the English nor the Dutch should enter into trading agreements at Bantam to the exclusion of the other.

- 1682-83. Log of the Persia Merchant, Capt. John Bowers, from England to Surat and thence back to England in company with the President, Capt. Jonathan Hyde, 15 April, 1682-13 Dec., 1683. Sloane MS. 1070, 127 fols.

An ordinary seaman's journal, containing, in addition, accounts of goods sold and bartered to the crew during the voyage.

- 1682-84. Log of the Charles, Capt. John Preston, to Bombay and Surat, with a description of the Maldives, 25 Oct., 1682-5 Aug., 1684. Sloane MS. 3672, 66 fols.

 July 1683.

Warrant to pay the E.I.Co. for saltpetre purchased by the Master of the Ordnance, by means of customs due from the Company, on goods imported by the Company (one paragraph).

1683. Harl. MS. 1243, fol. 178.
 July, 1683.

Royal Permission to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to grant commissions to the E.I. Co. against the young King of Bantam and his subjects or any infidel Prince, within the limits of the E.I. Charters, that shall make war on them (one paragraph).

- 1683-85. Sir Thomas Grantham's voyage to the East Indies in the Charles the Second, 21 August, 1683-25 July, 1685. Harl. MS. 4753, 42 fols.

The ship put in at St. Jago (Cape Verd Islands), St. Helena, Straits of Sunda, Batavia, Surat, and Bombay (twice), and sailed thence to England via St. Helena and Ascension. There are long entries of Sir Thomas Grantham's proceedings on shore, especially at Hippens Island, of which he took possession.

- f. 2. 12 May, 1684. Sir Thomas Grantham anchored in the Straits of Sunda and took possession of Hippens Island for King Charles II. and renamed it Carolus Secundus, but was met by an English vessel with orders to abandon the Island since peace had been concluded between England and Holland.

He therefore provisioned at Batavia and proceeded to the Gulf of Persia, where he had a commission to seize interlopers.

Remarks on the weakness of the Dutch fleet.

- f. 9. 11 June, 1684. Letter from Grantham on the Charles the Second at Princess Island to the Dutch Commodore Heer Haron at Bantam.

THE CASE OF THOMAS SANDYS

Harl. MSS. 1222,

650, 1219.

Add. MS. 10615.

The action was brought by the Company because Thomas Sandys, not being a member of the Company, had traded to the East Indies without a license.

[1684.]

Extract of the declaration of the E.I.Co. against Thomas Sandys.

13, fol. 123.

- 1684-85. Case of the East India Company against Interlopers. Harl. MS. 4139, No. 4, fols. 107-245. The Governor and Company of Merchants of London trading to the East Indies against Thomas Sandys.

- f. 107-10a. Mr. Holt's opinion—'Whether or no an Accusation lies by the Company upon the Charter, for that the Defendant not being a member of the Company has traded into the East Indies without licence of the Company.' Mr. Holt's argument was in favour of the Co. (See also Harl. MS. 1222, No. 20, fol. 206a.)
- f. 111-24a. Sir George Treby's argument in the Case. This was in favour of the defendant.
- f. 125-62. Mr. Solicitor General's argument in favour of the Company. (See also Harl. MS. 1222, No. 12.)
- f. 162-63a. Remarks of the Lord Chief Justice, who adjourned the Case from Trinity to Michaelmas Term. (See also Harl. MS. 1222, No. 15, fol. 166 and Lansdowne MS. 1219.)
- f. 164-92a. The Case resumed and restated.
The opinion of the Attorney-General, Sir Robert Sawyer, that 'the Action is well brought for damages.'
- f. 193-207a. Mr. Williams' argument in favour of the defendant.
- f. 208-9a. 31 Jan., 1684-85. The case was resumed in Hilary Term and the question was restated by Mr. Justice Walcott. (See also Harl. MS. 1222, No. 17.)
- f. 209a-11a. Mr. Justice Holloway's opinion. (See also Harl. MS. 1222, No. 18.) He maintained that the case resolved itself into the question whether the King's subjects could trade to 'Infidel Countries' without a royal license. He argued in the negative and maintained the Company's right to bring an action against Sandys.
- f. 211a-18. Mr. Justice Wilkins' opinion in favour of the King and the Company. (See also Harl. MS. 1222, No. 19.)
- f. 218-45. The Lord Chief Justice's summing-up. He decided that the action was 'well brought'.

This case created a great stir and was well argued on both sides, the points in question being, as the Lord Chief Justice affirmed, very important—on the one hand the King's prerogative, the privileges of the East India Company and their joint trade; on the other hand the benefit of private individuals and unrestricted trade.

- 1684. The Solicitor-General's argument. Harl. MS. 1222, No. 12.

19 April, 1684. He maintained that the Company's right to trade was well founded upon the King's Letters Patent and therefore begged for a judgment for the plaintiffs.

- 1684. Mr. Pollexfen's argument on behalf of Thomas Sandys. Harl. MS. 1222, No. 14, fol. 125.

19 April, 1684. He endeavoured to prove that the Charter of the E.I.Co. was against the Statute of Monopolies and that the defendant could lawfully carry on a free trade in the Indies.

- 1684. Speech of the Lord Chief Justice and opinion of the other Judges in the case of Thomas Sandys versus the E.I.Co. *Harl. MS. 1222, No. 15, fol. 166.

The further hearing of the Case was deferred till the Michaelmas Term as the cause was declared to be of 'as great consequence' as any that had ever been tried in Westminster Hall.

1692. Judge Rookebye's Argument in the case of the E.I. Co. versus Thomas Sandys. Harl. MS. 1222, No. 6, fols. 69-78.

'Thomas Sandys and others laded a ship in England with intent to trade in places within the limits of the East India Company's Charter.' The Company's agents petitioned the King for the ship to be arrested and prevented from setting out until security was given in the Admiralty that she should not be sent to the East Indies or trade within the limits of the Company's Charter. An order was obtained from the King to this effect. In consequence the plaintiff brought an action against the defendants. The Judge's opinion was that the 'action was maintainable' and that judgment should be given for the plaintiffs because 'the ship was arrested in the body of the country'.

- 1684-86. Journal on board the ship Barnardiston, bound for Surat and Gombroon, Thomas Parramore Commander. Sloane MS. 854, fols. 1-63.

The Journal begins 25 April, 1684, and ends at Gombroon (Bandar Abbas), 10 May, 1685. It is an ordinary seaman's journal with several gaps in the dates, and contains nothing of special interest.

- 1684-85. Journal kept on the Frances to St. Jago, Isaac Carver Commander, the Phoenix towards India, Captain John Tyrrell Commander, the Bristol towards Surat, Capt. Richard Hoder Commander, and the Phoenix again. Sloane MS. 855, fols. 1-31.

The Log begins 22 September, 1684, and ends 10 June, 1685. It is illustrated with a few coloured draughts. See Sloane MS. 854, which follows, for a fuller account of this voyage.

- 1684-86. Journal kept by Jacob Bevan, Midshipman, on board the *Frances Sloane MS. 854, fols. 64-133.

to St. Jago and the Cape of Good

Hope, 1 December, 1684-1 January, 1684-85, Isaac Carver and Mr. Bengé Commanders; afterwards on board the Phoenix frigate towards Surat, 18 January, 1684/85-17 May, 1685; then on board the Bristol towards Bombay and Surat 5 June-18 September, 1685; lastly on the Williamson to England 22 January, 1685/86-3 May, 1686, Captain Richard Warner Commander.

Two days off St. Jago the Frances was seized by H. M. Frigate Phoenix and her Commander was detained on board the man-of-war, and the Log is continued in the Phoenix to Surat. At Johanna, Comoro Is., the Dragon, Capt. Fenn, and the Bristol, an interloper, were encountered. The latter, Capt. William Andrews Commander, was seized on the 4th May, 1685. The Log is continued in the Bristol, prize ship. She sprang a leak, encountered bad weather, and sank on the 4th June, 1685. The Log is then continued in the Phoenix to Bombay, whence the writer sailed for Surat, was present in an action with a country ship, returned to Bombay, and eventually went back to England in the Williamson, Capt. Richard Warner. The homeward voyage is chronicled as far as St. Helena.

The Log which is of unusual interest, is embellished throughout with coloured draughts of islands, harbours, headlands, etc. There is also a sketch of the Bristol as she sank.

1684-87. Log of the Kempthorne to Madras and home, kept by Captain John Kempthorne, son of Rear Admiral Sir John Kempthorne (died 1679). Sloane MS. 3670, fols. 130.

- f. 1. A 'Table of Multiplier of Dollars' made by 'Mr. Henry Mose, Factor and Merchant at Fort St. George', with explanation.
- f. 3. Dimensions of the Kempthorne.
- f. 5. List of the men deceased and time they served on the ship.
- f. 7. 11 Oct., 1684. Sailed from Gravesend.
- f. 18a. 22 Dec., 1684. At St. Jago.
- f. 59. 19 Dec., 1685. Anchored in Madapollam Road, having touched at Porto Novo and Achin.
- f. 60. 30 Jan., 1685-86. Sailed for Persia from Masulipatam.
- f. 70a. 19 March, 1685-86. At Cochin.
- f. 72. 4 April, 1686. At Calicut.
- f. 79. 12 May, 1686. Anchored off Muscat.
- f. 80a. 26 May, 1686. Off Ormuz.

There is a gap in the Journal here and it is resumed later at Fort St. George.

- f. 82. 9 Oct., 1686. Sailed from Fort St. George.
- f. 110. 3 Feb., 1686-87. At St. Helena.
- f. 129a. 24 May, 1687. Off Portland.

This is a detailed Log full of valuable geographical notes. It is especially interesting on account of the Captain's persistence in making the voyage to Persia when his passengers opposed it as being too late in the season for safety.

For the charts and drawings belonging to this Journal, see Sloane MS. 3665, described among the Maps and Plans, infra.

- 1685, etc. Extracts out of several Books of Voyages, published 1685, 1687, 1688, etc., etc. Sloane MS. 2295, 50 fols.

The MS. consists of a numbers of long extracts closely written in very small writing.

- 1685-86. Journal of a voyage of the E.I. Co's. ships, Samson and Society, from Surat to Persia, and of the return to Surat, with account of expenses, etc., by Samuel Annesley, one of the Supercargoes, 21 April, 1685-21 Jan., 1685-86. Add. MS. 19282, fols. 1-12.

*At Gombroon (Bandar Abbas) the factors met with Agent Hedges, with whom they had a slight altercation. Difficulties arose with the Portuguese concerning a slave boy purchased by Capt. Leidger of the Samson. At Cong there was a slight altercation with the Dutch. At Basra Annesley had an interview with the 'Bashaw'.

The remainder of the Journal is occupied with an account of the discharge and disposal of the cargoes of the ships and the relading of them for Surat. The second and third sections of the MS. contain statements of accounts of the voyage.

- c. 1687. Instructions for sailing from Point de Galle on the S.W. of Ceylon towards Jaffnapatam, along the Coast of Coromandel, to Pipli in Bengal. Sloane MS. 3670, fols. 131-55.

These Instructions are by Capt. John Kempthorne. They are detailed, and valuable as giving an accurate contemporary description of the Coast and preserving old names of landmarks.

1687. Letter from Richard Salwey, Supercargo of the Bauden, dated 22 Oct., 1687, at Johanna, Comoro Islands. Sloane MS. 3672, fols. 70-73.

The writer gives an account of the engagement of the Bauden with a French pirate ship near St. Jago, Cape Verd Is., on 28 Oct., 1686, and of the subsequent misfortunes that befell the ship. A list of the 'Dead and Deserted' follows.

1687. Miscellaneous (Lowe) Papers relating to St. Helena, 1687-1820. Add. MS. 20240.

- f. 1. 3 Aug., 1687. Extracts from the Honble. Co's. letters regarding the execution of martial law.
1673-1714. Extracts from Laws, Ordinances and Constitutions for the good Government of the Island.

The MS. contains but little 17th century information of value.

1688. Letter from Jos. Wake (or Wale) in Johanna Road, dated 22 July, 1688, giving an account of occurrences on his arrival at Delagoa from Bombay and of the storm encountered after leaving that place. Sloane MS. 3672, fol. 74.

- 1688-89. Journal of the Kemphorne, commanded by Capt. John Kempthorne from England to Bombay, 2 Sept., 1688-21 May, 1689. Sloane MS. 3671, fols. 5-70.

- f. 5. 4 Sept., 1688. Sailed from the Thames.
- f. 36a. 20-22 Jan., 1688-89. Sketch of elevations of islands seen.
- f. 42a. 11 Feb., 1688-89. Off Tristan da Cunha Island.
- f. 48a. 6 March, 1688-89. Off the Cape of Good Hope. Sketch of Table Mt.
- f. 57. 8 April, 1689. Sketch of 'the appearance of the Island of St. Christopher'.
- f. 59. 13 April, 1689. At Johanna, Comoro Islands.
- f. 60. Sketch of Johanna and bay.
- f. 60a. 22 April, 1689. Sailed from Johanna.
- f. 68. 21 May, 1689. Anchored in Bombay Road, where eight of the Co's ships were riding.

With the exception of the Castle and about two acres of ground, Bombay was found to be in the hands of the Sidi.

1688. Letter, dated 12 Oct., 1688, left at Johanna by William Freke of the Ann, bound from Fort St. George to Mozambique. Sloane MS. 3672, fol. 74a.

See I.O. Records, O.C. 5690, for an account of the loss of the ship.

- 1688-89. Journal of a voyage from Bengal to Madras with letters, etc., received concerning Capt. Wm. Heath's Transactions in the Right Hon. Co.'s affairs, 8 Nov., 1685-5 March, 1689. Egerton MS. 283, fols. 2-26.

- f. 21. 11 Oct., 1686. William Heath to Job Charnock and Governor and Council, in the Bay of Bengal. Written aboard the Resolution at Chuttanuttee. He authorises a letter to the Nabob, offering the services of 10 ships of war for twelve months, provided the Nabob confirms their old privileges and permits their building a fort. If this permit be not speedily given, they are to state they will depart, as their orders are 'to stay no longer here in fenceless Factories'.
- f. 21-21a. 28 Oct., 1688. C. Eyre and R. Braddyll at Dacca to Job Charnock, etc. They anticipate a favourable answer from the Nabob to their petition, and request that a delay of 25 days be allowed them.
- f. 23. Nov., 1688. Ditto to ditto. The Nabob's parwana not yet obtained although they have promised him to transport 1,000 horse - and 2,000 foot on his behalf. They ask for further delay, which would be greatly to the Co.'s benefit.

- f. 21a. 3 Nov., 1688. Ditto to ditto. They are in a fair way of securing their requests. The Nabob has given his promise and a parwana is expected in a few days.
- f. 22a. 10 Nov., 1688. William Heath to [?] He sends a letter to 'Mellick' to be translated and forwarded.
- f. 22a-23. 17 Nov., 1688. H. Stanley and John Haynes at Balasor to Job Charnock, etc. They complain that they have been neglected. They state that the Co.'s servants could easily have been got on board the ships, but no orders were received. Now threats have been used, and at the first attempt to escape all will be killed or carried up-country. They are imprisoned in their own houses, under a strong guard.
- f. 22. 18 Nov., 1688. Ditto to ditto. Repetition of the previous letter. The Governor is willing to treat for peace and the 'Naib' is on the way with terms, or the English may be left to trade in peace as formerly.
- f. 23a-24a. 20 Nov., 1688. C. Eyre and Roger Braddyll at Dacca to Job Charnock, etc. The Nabob's answer sent by peons, who returned without delivering it, is now sent by 'Dauk'. The charge against them of neglect is indignantly denied. They declare that they have used every effort to fulfil their mission. They are now in close confinement. They urge the need of awaiting the issue of this treaty.
- f. 3. 24 Nov., 1688. Two French ships captured.
- f. 8. 27 Nov., 1688. Treated with the Governor, who threatened death to all English on shore on the first attempt to land a force.
- 29 Nov., 1688. Account of fighting on shore.
- 3 Dec., 1688. Negotiations with the Governor.
- 4 Dec., 1688. Balasor occupied by the Governor's forces. The Co.'s servants carried off.
- f. 25. 4 Dec., 1688. Translation of an Obligation given to the Nawab Bahadur Khan by Messrs. Eyre and Braddyll. Received from Dacca, 4 December, 1688.

The main conditions of the 'obligation' were that, should their trading privileges be confirmed and land granted them for the erection of a fort, they would furnish transport for 1,000 horse and 2,000 foot for the Nawab, convey them to Arakan, and assist the Nawab in the seizure of fortresses there.

4 Dec. 1688. Parwana from the Nawab Bahadur Khan to Capt. William Heath, received from Dacca, 4 Dec., 1688.

The Nawab acknowledges the receipt of a promise of free transportation of his men and horses to Arakan. In return he will send 'Bohurnmull' to treat with the English.

- f. 25a. 4 Dec., 1688. Mir Mahmud 'Ummee', Faujdar Balasor, to the Agent of J. Charnock. The men sent to the fortifications are landed. Three parwanas have arrived from the Nawab. The Agent is desired to send a person to confer with him.
- f. 26. 4 Dec., 1688. 'Bohurnmull' to the Agent. The Nawab is pleased with the promise of transport for his forces and has granted his parwana, which is sent herewith.
- f. 8-8a. 11 Dec., 1688. Consultation—Present: Messrs. Charnock, Ellis and Peachie. As there are no hopes of using the Co.'s treasure at Balasor, they decide to send it to the Coast, but Capt. Heath would not permit this to be done.

- 21 Dec., 1688. The Company's fortifications demolished—all forces re-embarked.
- 23 Dec., 1688. Sailed from Balasor.
- 18 Jan., 1688-89. Off Chittagong. Messengers sent to the town and a conference held.
- f. 12a-13. 21 Jan., 1688-89. Consultation of all the Commanders of the Co.'s ships and the Agent and Council. Discussion as to the advisability of attacking Chittagong. It was decided that the town could be taken, but probably could not be held. See also I.O. Records, O.C. 5657.
- f. 15a-16a. 26 Jan., 1688-89. Consultation—Present: Messrs. Charnock, Ellis and Peachie. Note of injuries received in Bengal by the E.I.Co. and of the power in the hands of Capt. Heath. The Council would have stayed longer at Chuttanuttee to treat with the Nawab's agent but Capt. Heath's impatience caused the loss of goods and men. He intends to leave Chittagong without waiting for answers to letters or receiving provisions and water.
- f. 17-17a. 26 Jan., 1688-89. Letter from J. Charnock, F. Ellis and J. Peachie, on board the Defence, to Capt. Wm. Heath. The messengers sent on shore have been well treated and have been asked to await the Nawab's answer to the letter sent by them. A new Governor is expected immediately. They suggest waiting for six days to provision and water the ship. An agreement might then be concluded. So good an opportunity of settling the Co.'s affairs may never recur. A survey of 'Sundiva' is most desirable.
- 26 Jan., 1688-89. Sailed from Chittagong.
- 4 Mar., 1688-89. Reached Madras.

The above is a valuable document, and throws further light on Job Charnock.

The account of Captain Heath's proceedings and his attempts to supersede and discredit Job Charnock is related at length in the Diary of William Hedges, Vol. II, by Yule. It is also dealt with by C. R. Wilson in his Early Annals of Bengal, Vol. I.

- 1688-89. 'The Diary of George Weldon and Abraham Navarro's Journey up to the Court of the Great Mogull Sloane MS. 1910, No. 3, fols. 45-58.
in prosecution of the Treaty of Peace before by them and Mr. Higgins begun with Meer Nazams and Cozzy Ibrahim at Daman and Bassein in the presence of John de Sequeira de Faria, Capt. Genll. of the Portuguese nation, etc.

A most valuable document, giving a vivid account of the country.

This document consists of two Diaries with the above title.

- f. 45-46a. The first, 27 Nov.-21 Dec., 1688 is occupied with an account of events in the journey from Bombay to the King's camp at 'Peergoon' in the Deccan. It contains notes of the route, condition of the towns traversed and remarks on contemporary events. From 'Peergoon' the ambassadors travelled with the army to 'Jerrebe', where they had a conference with the Nawab, Asad Khan, who promised to act as intermediary with the King, and to deliver the Company's petition to him. Here the Diary breaks off.
- f. 47-57a. 29 May-23 Sept., 1689. The second Diary is entitled:

'A Diary of all accurrences of our expedition to Daman in order to the makeing a peace betweene the English nation and the Mogull, begun the 29th May, 1689.'

f. 47-47a. On these fols. there is a detailed account of the journey to Daman, where the party arrived on the 7th June and had a conference with the Captain-General of the Portuguese.

f. 48-49. A long delay ensued, the events of each day up to the 7th July being chronicled. 'Antonia de Gaurde Coutte' was then sent to Surat to endeavour to expedite matters.

f. 50-50a. A conference was held on the 23rd July, 1688, between Qazi Ibrahim and Mir Nazim (who pretended to have powers to treat) and the Company's emissaries, but it was inconclusive.

A further conference was held on the 24th July, when certain points of agreement were decided on.

The English demands were stated and debated on the 25th July and again on the following day.

After much controversy the ambassadors decided, on the 14th August, to return to Bombay for further instructions.

4. 55. 21 August, 1688. The ambassadors arrived at Bombay. 30 Aug., 1688. They set out for Bassein, and arrived on the following day.

1 Sept., 1688. Negotiations were continued, and eventually concluded, with Mir Nazim.

23 Sept., 1688. The envoys received sealed copies of the agreement and took their leave.

Letter from Capt. Joseph Haddock dated 17 Dec., 1688, on board the Princess of Denmark at Balasor, to his brother, Sir Richard Haddock.

Egerton MS. 2521, fols. 57-58a.

He gives an account of the proceedings at Hugli and Balasor, of the imprisonment of the Co.'s servants, and of the outrages committed by the Mogul officers, etc., etc.

1689-93.

'A Journall of our Intended Voyage by God's Assistance in the Good Shipp Benjamin, Leonard Browns, Commander, from England towards East India, in the servise of the Honorable India Company', 11 April, 1689-2 Nov., 1693.

f. 118. Account of Letters sent in the Co.'s 'pacquett' to the East India House.

f. 120-33. Instructions by Admiral Edward Russell for the better ordering the sailing of the fleet—with Index.

For the numerous drawings in this Journal, see under Maps and Plans.

1689. Letter from Capt. John Kempthorne aboard the Kemphorne in Johanna Road outward bound, with an account of his voyage, dated 21 April, 1689. Sloane MS. *3672, fols. 74a-75. f. 74a.

Letter from Capt. Charles Masters of the Diana outward bound left at Johanna, with a brief account of his voyage, dated 23 April, 1689. f. 75.

1691-92. Sloane MS. 1689, 30 fols.

Dr. Brown's account of his voyage from Madras to the Cape, Comoro Islands, Surat and the Malabar Coast, 23 June 1691-8 May, 1692.

The Journal is mainly occupied with medical details and the treatment of the crew, but there are interesting remarks on birds and fish and on the Cape. The first page (damaged) does not appear to belong to the rest. It is dated 10 April, 1691.

1692-93. The Journal of the Samuel (27 Jan., 1691/92-23 July, 1693), Freke Commander, in a voyage from London to Madras; taken on its passage by a French East Indian and ransomed. Drawn up by Charles Low, purser. Lansdowne MS. 224, 58 fols. (bound up with No. 243).

3 Feb., 1691-92. List of names of officers and crew and 23 soldiers. Left England.

27 Feb., 1691-92. Reached Madras (?).

27 Feb., 1691-92. Reception at Madras (?)—customs there. European inhabitants, trade, etc.

8 March, 1691-92. A man detained on shore on pretence of his being born there; could not recover him and he was left behind. Note of the cost of provisions and difficulty of procuring them. Note on penances and sufferings in the name of religion.

26 March, 1692. Sailed for the Cape.

2 July, 1692. Arrived at the Cape.

10 July, 1692. Sailed for Madras.

14 July, 1692. Fought a French ship but was forced to surrender. The vessel was plundered and the men stripped even to their shirts. The Captain was compelled to buy the ship. These events are fully described.

Here follows an 'Account of happenings while prisoner in a French ship.'

4 Nov., 1692. At Surat. Negotiations for the ransom of the ship taken by the French.

11 Nov., 1692. A description of faqirs.

20 Nov., 1692. A description of a fowl called a 'Cullum'.

6 Jan., 1692-93. Marriage of Mr. Colt. A journal of daily events follows.

f. 24a. 1 March, 1692-93. News received of a victory over the French fleet.

f. 25. 6 March, 1692-93. Account of a festival in honour of the victory.

f. 27. 8 April, 1693. Edward Bellamy, writer, being drunk and abusive, was publicly 'drubbed by His Honour'.

f. 29. 19 May, 1693. At Bombay.

f. 29. 29 May, 1692. Forced by weather into 'Sangazera River'. An altercation between Captains Beere and Brangwin.

f. 33. 3 June, 1693. Mr. Bantik [sic] copied his Journal from Croxon's, 'having kept none'.

Here follows an account of proceedings while at 'Sangazera River'.

f. 51. 9 August, 1693. Set sail.

f. 52. 17 August, 1693. At Karwar.

f. 57a. 31 June, 1693. At Bristol.

The Journal described above contains much more information than an ordinary seaman's log and is well worth a close examination.

1692. Mr. West's note relating to the state of the E.I.Co., in 1692. Lansdowne MS. 846, No. 82, fols. 80-81.

14 Nov., 1692. The Company reject all the material particulars as to the King's power in the new regulations. The King recommends to Parliament to establish the trade on such foundations as are likely to preserve and advance it.

17 Nov., 1692. Judge's opinion thereon.

10 Dec., 1692. Absurd resolutions.

A printed pamphlet.

- 1697-98. Letter, dated Amsterdam, 16 March, 1697-98 (in French), beginning 'Monsieur' and unsigned, giving the writer's sentiments on the establishment of the Scotch East India Company and on the damage to trade likely to ensue therefrom, Add. MS. 28940, fols. 227-37.

- 1697-98. Copies of Representations made by the Turkey Company to the King and the Lords Justices, regarding woollen manufactures, on the following dates, 31 August, 1696, 19 January, 1697-98, 9 August, 1698. Harl. MS. 1324, fols. 22, 51, 53.

The Turkey Company complained of the interference by the East India Company in their sale of woollen manufactures in Persia. They begged that the new E.I.Co. might not be under an obligation to export 'draperies'.

1697. Copy of a Representation made by the Commissioners for Trade and Plantations regarding the general state of the trade of this Kingdom, dated 23 Nov., 1697. Harl. MS. 1324, fols. 37-50.

f. 40. In 1696 the French King imposed heavy duties on all East Indian goods and limited their import to certain ports.

f. 40a. List of imports from the East Indies, 1670-88.

f. 44a. By an Edict of 19 Oct., 1696, France has confirmed the above impositions.

f. 45a. Remedies proposed to alleviate the inconvenience of exporting bullion to the East Indies.

f. 50. Danger to trade from the Scotch East India Company.

- 1697-98. Copy of a Report made by the Commissioners of Trade and Plantations upon the Turkey Company's Memorial about the interference of the East India Company in the 'vent' of the woollen manufacture in Persia, dated 19 January, 1697-98. Harl. MS. 1324, fols. 51-52a.

The E.I.Co. is obliged by Charter to carry to the Indies £100,000 worth of manufactured goods. These are largely sent to Persia from India and thus trade is taken away from the Turkey Co. The Commissioners recommend that the E.I.Co. be instructed to find a market in China, Japan or elsewhere, and that they be prohibited from selling English woollen goods in Persia.

1698. Copy of Representation from the Commissioners for Trade and Plantations to the Lords Justices on the Turkey Company's petition that the new E.I.Co. may not be under any positive obligation of exporting draperies, dated 9 August, 1698. Harl. MS. 1324, fols. 53-54a.

The representation recommends an alteration in the clause of the old Charter which provided that the E.I.Co. should export a fixed amount of woollen goods. They suggest that the New Company's obligation to transport woollen goods to India be limited to 10 per cent of the annual value of their trade and that none of the goods be sold in Persia.

- c. 1698. 'The Case of the East India Co.' Harl. MS. 7310.

A printed tract tracing proceedings from Oct., 1691, to 11 Nov. [1697].

- 1698-1702. Embassy of Sir William Norris to the Emperor Aurangzeb, Dec. 1698-1702. Add. MS. 28943, 31302.

The account of the Embassy contained among the MSS. at the British Museum is confined to (1) the official papers (credentials, instructions, etc., inaugurating the Mission) with letters from the Company to the Ambassador after his departure; (2) Minutes of Council held at Masulipatam from the arrival of Sir William Norris until his departure for the Mogul's Court; (3) copies of correspondence between the Ambassador and the President and Council at Masulipatam. To complete the history of the Embassy recourse must be had to the India Office Records, Factory Records, Misc., Vols. 19, 20 (Norris's Letter Books), and to the O.C. collection from No. 6728 onwards. There is an account of the Embassy in Bruce's Annals, Vol. III, and short notices in Wilson's Early Annals of Bengal, Vol. II., pp. 152-53, and Love's Vestiges of Old Madras, Vol. II., pp. 5-6.

Add. MS. 31302.

c. 1699. 'Proposals to both Houses of Parliament for the establishment of an East India Company.' Harl. MS. 7310, fol. 165.

A printed pamphlet.

1699. Letter from the Portuguese Envoy to King William III, dated 3 May 1699. Add. MS. 28943, fols. 137-38.

He complains of the Treaty between the English and the Governor of Surat, which, he avers, may impair the peace between the Portuguese and the English.

This MS. is a draft with numerous corrections.

1699-1709. Official Letter Books of the Honble. Thomas Pitt, Governor of Fort St. George, Madras, 21 Oct., 1699-21 Oct., 1709. Add. MSS. 22842-22850.

This series of nine volumes consists of copies of letters written by Thomas Pitt, some 1,500 letters in all. There is an index of names at the end of each volume. With the exception of the letters (147) contained in Add. MS. 22846, entitled 'Country letters', the correspondence is carried on with persons in England, principally past and present servants of the Company. Historically, the collection is extremely valuable and, except by Sir Henry Yule, in his life of Pitt in Hedges' Diary, it has been little used by students. Pitt's correspondence includes such names as Sir William Langhorne, Elihu Yale, President Beard, William Hewer, George White and other outstanding characters connected with the E.I.Co.

- 1698-1704/5. Invoices of Goods shipped by Thomas Pitt. Add. MS. 22854.

- 1704-8. Invoices of Goods shipped by Thomas Pitt and others. Add. MS. 22856.
- c. 1700. 'A Regulated Company more National than a Joint Stock in the E.I. Trade.' Harl. MS. 7310, fols. 166-66a.
- A printed pamphlet. See among the printed books in the B.M., Press Mark, 816. m. 11 (71), for another copy.
- c. 1700. 'The Arguments for a Regulated Company, or open Trade to the East Indies Answered. With Reasons why a Joint Stock will best carry on, and preserve that Trade.' Harl. MS. 7310, fols. 155a-56a.
- A printed pamphlet. There is a duplicate on fols. 171a-72.
- c. 1700. 'Reasons against Establishing an E.I. Co. with a Joynt Stock exclusive to all others.' Harl. MS. 7310, fols. 168-68a.
- A printed pamphlet. For another copy see B.M. General Catalogue, 816 m. 11 (57).
- c. 1700. 'Reasons . . . for establishing the present East India Company by Act of Parliament.' Harl. MS. 7310 fols. 167-67a.
- A printed pamphlet. See also B. M. General Catalogue 816 m. 11 (56).
- c. 1700. 'Reasons proposed for the encouragement of all People to under-write to the New Subscriptions appointed to be made to the late East India Company's Stock.' Harl. MS. 17310, fols. 297-300.
- A printed pamphlet.
- 1701-2. A Brief View of the Weight and Consequence of the General Trade and of some Considerable Plans in the Indies addressed to King William III. Unsigned. Dated 1 Jan., 1701-2. Lansdowne MS. 1234, fols. 1-38.

This is a general essay on trade and its possibilities, with a scheme for 'permission trade', the whole very vague and with little direct reference to the East Indies.

MAPS AND PLANS

The following maps and plans are undated, but appear to belong to the first half of the 17th century or thereabouts.

fol. 101a.*

Map of the Indian Seas, with part of India, and the East Coast of Africa.

*Add. MS. 5444 No.
9.*

A large, clear map showing inland and coast towns, mountains, etc.

A Coast Map of Asia, the Malay Archipelago, etc., from Arabia to Japan. Add. MS. 36667A.
Names in Dutch.

A large number of coast place-names are inserted. The map is divided into squares and has an index of names. Size 6 ft. 2 in. x 4 ft. 6 in.

Portuguese Chart, comprising the Islands South of Arabia (see the previous MS.) from Sumatra to the Moluccas. Add. MS. 36667B.

Very few place-names, except those on the North coast of Java, are given. A vellum roll. Size 2 ft. 6 in. x 3 ft. $\frac{1}{2}$ in.

A Portuguese Chart, comprising the North Coasts of Sumatra and Borneo, Philippines, Formosa and the corresponding Coast of Asia. Add. MS. 36667C.

Very few place-names are given. A vellum roll. Size 2 ft. $4\frac{1}{2}$ in. x 2 ft. 11 in.

Dutch Chart of the North Coast of Java, including Bantam to the West, and Batavia to the East. Add. MS. 36667D.

It contains very little detail. A vellum roll. Size 1 ft. 5 in. x 3 ft. $5\frac{1}{2}$ in.

1646. Livro do Estado da India Oriental. Sloane MS. 197.

This valuable and beautifully executed MS. is in three parts, the third of which is entitled: 'Livro de Antonio Bocarro, Guardamor de Archivo Real da India', etc.

It contains coloured plans of the Portuguese possessions on the W. coast of India, including Diu, Daman, Mahim, Bassein, Thana, Chaul, Mangalore, Cananore, Cranganore, Cochin, etc.

In many cases a description accompanies the plan. A series of tracings of the plans has been made for the Map Department in the India Office, and a printed list of the names is to be found in the Catalogue of MS. and Printed Reports, Field Books, Maps, etc., p. 95.

c. 1661. Maps executed by Dutchmen. Add. MS. 34184, 101 fols.

A quarto volume bound in vellum entitled, 'Dutch Portolano c. 1660', containing 49 coloured maps and views, 17 of which are of India, Further India, and the islands of the Malay Archipelago, etc. Size 7 in. x 9 in. Some of the maps bear a very striking resemblance to those in Add. MS. 5027A, Vellum, fols. 101, etc. q.v. These maps are valuable for old place-names.

f. 32a-33. Coast of 'Guadel' and 'Gouzarate' from 'Cabo Salque' to 'Dioue' with numerous place-names.

BRITISH INDIA, IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE, CHANCERY LANE

DOCUMENTS ON SEVENTEENTH-CENTURY BRITISH INDIA, IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE, CHANCERY LANE

BROADLY speaking, whilst the Records of the inner administration of the East India Company are to be found at the India Office, the records of its relations with the State, its influence on the foreign policy of the Home Government and the consequent intricate treaty negotiations with different powers (the Dutch in particular) must be sought at the Public Record Office. There, too, the traces of the rival companies and traders may be met with. It may be noted that the Public Record Office, until William Noel Sainsbury utilized its materials for his Calendar of State Papers, East Indies, was strangely neglected by students of Indian history. Since then its resources have been tapped by Sir George Birdwood, Sir William Foster, and many others.

The new classification of Records at the Public Record Office is as far as possible a geographical one; but a large proportion of the earlier documents do not admit of such a division.

Save for the important Colonial Series—East Indies (now C.O. 77) we must not hope to find the documents or references relating to the East Indies as a separate section. The enquirer may even be met by a well-meant remark that there is little relating to India at the Public Record Office.

Moreover, the long and bitter rivalry between the English and Dutch East India Companies, their temporary co-operation, and the immense importance attached by both to the spice trade in the Moluccas; also the fact that for a time the headquarters of the English Company as well as of the Dutch were in Java (at Bantam and Batavia)—all these factors make it undesirable, if not wellnigh impossible, to separate the early documents relating to the Moluccas and Java in particular, from those more strictly concerning the English Factories on the continent of India.

Throughout the negotiations and treaty preliminaries between England and Holland after the restoration of Charles II, Pulo-run is one of the cardinal points insisted upon on behalf of the East India Company.

In 1662, Lord Treasurer Southampton reported to the King (on Sir Nicholas Crispe's petition concerning the importance of and duties on spices) that the Dutch had the sole trade for many years. 'The English cannot import them from Holland because they import them not from the place of their growth; the East India Company themselves having no capacity to do it until they be restored to Poleroon, or gain some of the Spice Islands.'

To deal profitably with the history of British India, the connection with Europe cannot be ignored. From the beginning of the sixteenth century, the economic and commercial history of the chief European nations and their naval and colonial history are practically inseparable.

The relations of the East India Company with the Portuguese, the French, the Dutch, the Danes, and other European rivals in the Eastern trade are reflected not only in the records of the Company itself, but in those of the States, and in the foreign relations of the latter, and the inter-relation of all these countries. Whilst, in the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries, Portugal is the great colonising power, in the middle of the century the history of the Dutch colonies, and especially of the Dutch East India Company, is of extreme importance. In 1664, in his Memorial to the States-General, Sir George Downing, the English envoy, could state that the whole of the complaints against Holland were, in a manner, complaints against the East and West India Companies of that country.

Hence the documents concerning the various developments and relations must be sought in the great store-house of State Records, not only under the sections dealing exclusively with the colonial correspondence of the East Indies (now C.O. 77), but in the general series of Domestic State Papers and in the State Papers—Foreign, relating to each country concerned.

The State Administration in England was not divided into definite Departments until the end of the period with which we are dealing. Until 1782, Home affairs were administered by two Secretaries of State, Northern and Southern, but, whilst in the eighteenth century it was the Southern Secretary who had charge of the Colonies, in the seventeenth century the distinction was by no means so clear. The separation even between Domestic and Foreign departments was not absolute. The classification of State Papers as Domestic or Foreign was made in the reign of James I. There is no definite class of State Papers: Colonial, although from 1699 the Colonial Records take the place of such.

The data for the early history of the East Indies must therefore be searched for at the Public Record Office in the comprehensive General series in which they are included, not only as separate volumes in a class, single documents in bound volumes, or loose papers in partly classified bundles, but as individual entries in books or component parts of General Correspondence.

As in the State Papers: Foreign, the despatches of the English ambassadors and agents abroad are of great importance, so in the State Papers: Domestic, the correspondence of Secretaries of State must be consulted. To Sir Joseph Williamson, Keeper of State Papers, and later Secretary of State, we owe the collection and preservation of the great wealth of documents for the reign of Charles II. To him are due also several systematic collections arranged under subjects containing selected copies of documents in chronological order for the elucidation of particular questions. These may be consulted with great advantage, even though the originals of some of the papers may be found scattered elsewhere (e.g. State Papers: Foreign: Archives, No. 219).

A list of Secretaries of State will be found printed in P.R.O. Lists and Indexes, No. XLIII, pp. v-viii, and one in Haydon's Book of Dignities. This and similar lists of ambassadors and officials at home and abroad are especially useful in tracing the continuity of a subject. Their correspondence is often indexed under names alone.

The official Guide to the Various Classes of Documents preserved in the Public Record Office, by Mr. Scargill-Bird contains no detailed description of the documents specially relating to the East Indies.

The Search Rooms of the Public Record Office contain in addition to the printed 'Calendars' of abstracts of various series a large number of lists and inventories, both printed and manuscript. In 1892 appeared the first of an official series of Lists and Indexes, which, in conjunction with the Calendars, will, 'in course of time, form a catalogue of the National Archives' (cf. 51st Report of the Deputy-Keeper of the Records, p. 10). A 'List of Lists' compiled in 1906 was placed in the Literary Search Room, but, since the date of the Royal Commission on Public Records in 1911, the lists there available have been considerably supplemented and completely rearranged.

The successive rearrangements and re-classifications of the archives, due in many cases to the incorporation of new material or to the correction of misdescriptions, and the consequent alteration of references, have, however, made necessary the use of 'Keys'. A note communicated to the Royal Commission in 1912 by the Deputy-Keeper of Public Records as to the references which have been altered in Official Calendars, Lists, or Indexes, includes, amongst others, the following 'Calendars in which some part of the references no longer holds good'.

Calendar of State Papers, Domestic.

Calendar of State Papers, Colonial.

Calendar of Treasury Books and Papers.

It also states that, 'apart from the local records or State Papers which have been calendared, many volumes, rolls or bundles have been used and cited in various works, and the references to these documents are now, in many cases, obsolete.'

As regards the Colonial Office Records, the old printed lists have been re-arranged and catalogued in Lists and Indexes, No. XXXVI.

The present notes are necessarily based chiefly upon the Official Lists, Calendars and Reports, and printed authorities, but have been supplemented by direct examination of selected original documents.

COLONIAL OFFICE RECORDS

The principal series of documents at the Public Record Office relating to British India will be found in the Colonial Office Records—East Indies, now C.O. 77.

No. 36 of the Public Record Office Lists and Indexes, published in 1911, supersedes the List of Colonial Office Records printed in 1896.

The documents now therein listed, though generally known as Colonial Office Records, also comprise such of those derived from the Board of Trade, relating to the early committees and councils in charge of trade and plantation affairs, as have not been dispersed or lost.

When it was decided to issue the Colonial Calendars, the books and papers, letters, loose memoranda, etc., were sorted and rebound in chronological order, many volumes of manuscripts already bound being broken up for the purpose. (This last method was subsequently abandoned.)

The papers described as Colonial Correspondence—now Original Correspondence—Secretary of State, were those which accumulated in the offices of the Secretaries of State who administered the Colonies. These papers ultimately reached the Colonial Office, and thence the Record Office. In addition there was a collection of office books from various sources, classed as Entry-Books, amongst them those containing papers earlier than the year 1688, which had escaped being broken up. The whole of the records were rearranged, and as far as possible classified, geographically, for the compilation of the new list, No. 36, except in the case of papers already calendared by Mr. Noel Sainsbury. The earlier references therefore became obsolete. To obtain the new reference when only the former is known, the List itself should be consulted; but a Key based thereon, giving new and old references for the main East Indies Class (C.O. 77), is appended. A Key to the Colonial Entry-Books is now printed, with an account of their history, in C. S. S. Higham's 'The Colonial Entry-Books—a Brief Guide to the Colonial Records in the Public Record Office before 1696'.

A brief abstract of every document of the East Indies original correspondence, down to the year 1634, is contained in the Calendar of State Papers—Colonial Series—Indies, China and Japan [and Persia], edited by W. Noel Sainsbury. This series is continued in date from 1635, in the unofficial Calendar of the Court Minutes, etc., of the East India Company, edited by Miss E. B. Sainsbury, with Introductions and Notes by Sir William Foster, C.I.E., which has now reached the year 1667. The latter include documents in the Public Record Office, besides those in the India Office, British Museum, etc., and in the sixth volume a large proportion of the papers is contributed by the Public Record Office. Letters Received by the East India Company from its Servants in the East, begun in 1896 by Mr. Danvers, as a verbatim edition of the early correspondence from 1602-15, was continued by Sir W. Foster to the year 1617. Another official series of the India Office, edited by Sir W. Foster, was begun in 1902, The English Factories in India. It also includes Record Office documents as well as 'all those either emanating from or directly relating to the English factories in India, which could be found either in the Archives of the India Office, or in the MSS. Department of the British Museum'. This series begins with the year 1618 and the volume last published relates to the year 1664.

The papers calendared by Mr. Sainsbury comprise not only those in the Public Record Office, but also many in the British Museum and the India Office, relating to the early voyages for the discovery of a north-east or a north-west passage to India, the establishment of the East India Company, the settling of the different factories in the peninsula of India and the most important islands of the Indian Ocean, Sumatra, Java, Borneo and Celebes, the development of English trade and influence in Malacca, Cambodia, and Siam, and the opening up of trade with Persia, China, and Japan. The difficulties with the Spaniards and Portuguese appear in the first volume, and the violent opposition of the Dutch occupies a prominent position. The abstracts embrace those derived from documents in the Colonial Series, the Domestic Series of Records, and extracts from the Holland Correspondence and that of Spain, Portugal, and France. Where a document relating to the East Indies is calendared in both Mr. Sainsbury's Colonial Series and the Calendar of Domestic Papers, the abstract is generally more full in his Colonial Series. Where periods overlap, the Series edited by Sir W. Foster, which include numerous documents previously unknown to students, are generally to be preferred, but not always for individual purposes. Comparatively few of the Foreign documents at the Public Record Office are embodied, and the more limited scope of the English Factory Series necessarily excludes the continuous and detailed record of the contentions with the Dutch.

Documents relating to the East Indies will also be found in the other Series of Official Calendars interspersed among those dealing with other subjects.

COLONIAL CORRESPONDENCE—EAST INDIES NOW C.O. 77

C.O. $\frac{11}{8}$ (Formerly East Indies 4a, 1634, old reference Vol. IV, No. 112) is a parchment exemplification of the East India Company's Charter of 20 James I, reciting earlier Letters Patent of 13 James I, concerning the appointment of Chief Commanders and the punishing of capital offences. Provision for the Revocation of the Power. Cf. Calendar of State Papers, Colonial—East Indies, 1630-34, No. 526.

C.O. $\frac{11}{8}$ (1655-63) Original Correspondence—Secretary of State. Contains inter alia (1661-62):

E.I. Co.'s demand for delivery of Polo Run by the Dutch. Refusal of the Dutch Agents.

E.I. Co.'s Petition to the King re damage received from the Dutch. Arbitration requested before ratification of the Treaty.

States-General's Proceedings re Ships Bona Esperanza and Henry Bonaventure. Bombay: Complaints of A. de Mello de Castro against Earl of Marlborough and Captain Minors. Captain Ambrose Browne's Journal (extracts). Cf. C.O. $\frac{11}{8}$.

C.O. $\frac{11}{8}$ (1663-65) Original Correspondence—Secretary of State. Contains inter alia:

Bombay: Non-surrender to English (1663, October 31). Complaint made in Portugal as to non-surrender. Letter to Sir Abraham Shipman, enclosing one to Viceroy of Goa.

Petition and Memorial of the Inhabitants to King Charles II; an account of hardships suffered [? 1663]. Cf. C.O. $\frac{11}{8}$.

C.O. $\frac{11}{8}$ (1666-67) Original Correspondence—Secretary of State. Comprises original documents (in many instances in duplicate) and copies of letters relating chiefly to:

Bombay: The King's possessions there, Fishery Rights and Customs, and disputes with the Portuguese.

Sir Gervase Lucas's Reports: His Commission, Instructions and death. Amongst Sir Gervase Lucas's letters may be noted that of 2nd March 1666-67 (C.O. $\frac{11}{8}$ f. 90) to the King, giving an account 'of y^e affairs in these parts'. After referring to the change of Councils in the E.I. Co., he gives his opinion that 'so long as your Majesty continues that Company your affairs in these parts will never answer your great designe and noble interests of advancing Trade. . . . As well English as others in these parts are taught to believe they are a body apart from your Majestie's Authority or Government'.

Henry Gary's Reports to the King and various authorities (important).

His differences with Humphrey Cooke.

Danger of Dutch attempts.

E.I. Co.'s Proposal to take over Bombay from the Crown.

Annual Revenues under King of Portugal, and of King Charles on Island of Bombaim, 1667 . . . etc.

Soldiers: Names of 21, and monies due to E.I. Co. for Pay, Diet, etc.

E.I. Co.: Dissensions between E.I. Co.'s servants in India, especially at Fort St. George. Sir Edward Winter and George Foxcroft. Complaints of affronts offered by Mr. Humphrey Cooke, Governor of Bombay, to the English factory at Surat. Complaints concerning the ship Love sent out by Mr. Andrews.

Fort St. George, Madras: Full series of documents relating to dissension between Sir Edward Winter and George Foxcroft. (Cf. Love, Vestiges of Old Madras, etc.)

Dutch in India and East: Claim to have defeated English and slain Duke of York, Prince Rupert, etc.

Captain Henry Young's Petition for particular service done to Lord Bellamont in Persia and the East Indies.

C.O. 47 (Formerly C.O. East Indies, 15), described as '1661-1695—Charters, grants, petitions, Orders in Council, Board of Trade correspondence, etc'.

This is one of the original leather-bound series of General Office Books of the 'Lords of Trade', i.e. of the Committee of Trade and Plantations of the Privy Council appointed in 1675. On a stamped panel on the front cover it is described as 'Entries relating to the East India Company'; it is thus referred to in the List of Books belonging to the Committee, drawn up in 1696 by William Popple, clerk of the new Board of Trade, on taking them over from John Povey.

It is described on an inner title-page as 'Journal and Entries Relating to the East India Company', and contains a map, on Mercator's projection, of the Eastern hemisphere (Africa, the East Indies, New Holland, etc). The loss of the Original 'Map of Bombaim' given by the Portuguese Ambassador on the first 'Overture of Bombaim' is referred to—pp. 128, 134.

An Index of the chief matters contained ends the book. The documents are mostly connected with Bombay, its surrender to Great Britain and difficulties with the Portuguese.

The 'Journal' was apparently begun in 1675-76 in connection with these difficulties, but the first 120 pages, approximately, contain copies of earlier documents bearing on the subject:

pp. 1-46. Charter of the East India Company [3 April, 1661].

47-75. Charter for the Island of Bombay, 27 March, 1668.

76-93. Grant of St. Helena to the E.I. Co., 16 Dec., 1673.

93-106. 'Coppie of H.M.'s Charter to the E.I. Co.' [2nd Charter] 5th October, 1676.

108-13. Petition of the E.I. Co. about Bombaim. Title: 'On the 2nd of March, 1675. The Petition of the E.I. Co. setting forth severall hardships received from the Portuguese at Bombaim is Read, As also a State of their case as followeth . . .'

114-21. 'Bombaim described, how transferred to his Majestie, How afterwards to the Company, what Injuries suffered from the Portuguese, what Address made to the Vice Roy of Goa, what Answer returned by him, what opinion given by the President and Council thereon, And lastly the Sovereignty of the whole Haven and Islands asserted.'

- pp. 122-24. '11th Article of y^e Treaty of Marriage with Portugall' in November, 1663, in Latin and English. [Also the 15th Article.]
- 129-33. 'On the 16th of Jan., 1676 [i.e. 1677] their Lordships take the business of Bombain into their further consideration, and cause the Draught of Sir Abraham Shipman's Commission and Instructions to be read as followeth . . .'
- 139-53. Surrender of Bombay. Paper containing the whole Process of the Surrender as it was made on the 27th February, 1664-65. Translation of documents out of the Portuguese certified by Lucas Emans, Notary Public.
- 158-63. Report about the Jurisdiction and Dependencies of Bombain by Sir Robert Southwell to their Lordships [including the description and expense of Maim Bandora].
- 167-87. Representation of the Governor, etc., of the E.I. Co. to the Right Hon. the Lords of the Committee for Trade and Plantations [with Inventory of Contents], dated 12 Feb., 1676 [1677]. Account of their possession of Bombay, etc. Capitulation forced on Cook by Antonio de Mello: Ports Rights. Forts—Charge and Expense of Forts, etc., etc., 12 special points submitted, etc. The notes by J. Williamson about Bombain S.P. Dom. Chas. II. 366, p. 305, abstracted in Calendar of S.P. Dom. Charles II. 1676-77, p. 552, under the same date, are evidently based on this document.
- 188-89. Petition of the Governor, etc., of the E.I. Co. to the Lords of the Committee for Trade and Plantations. Further abuses of the Portuguese. Refusal of Portuguese to grant passes to 'Jauncks' for Gombroon.
- 190-95. Privy Council, 23 Feb., 1676-77. Report of the Lords of the Committee . . . on the complaints from the E.I. Co. touching injuries received by them at Bombain from the Portuguese, dated 12th February, 1676-77. [Apparently not calendared in Cal. S.P. Domestic, Charles II., nor in the Acts of the Privy Council.]
- 195-99. King's letter to Don Lodovico de Mendoça Ffurtado, Vice-Roy and Captain-General of India, in pursuance of Orders of Feb. 23rd, 1676-77 (Latin). 10th March 1676-77.
- 200-29. Alvaro Pires de Tavora's complaint against the E.I. Co. for injuries at Bombay. His case, and a series of documents, Orders, etc., relating thereto. Orders in Council referring him for Redress to the Courts of Judicature at Bombain. [Not all calendared; but cf. Sir J. W. Williamson's Notes of Arguments before the Privy Council in the Case of Alvaro Perez [sic]. State Papers Domestic, Charles II. 366, in State Papers Domestic, Calendar Charles II. 1677-78, p. 190.] His submission to the E.I. Co. and restoration to his Estate.
- 230-34. Customs and Tolls of Bombay. Order in Council, 26 Oct., 1677. Containing—Report from the Lords of the Committee to the King in Council.
- 234-37. King's Letter to the Prince Regent of Portugal about the Customs (Latin).
246. Secretary Conventry's Letter to [Gerald Aungier] the E.I. Co.'s President of Surat on behalf of A. P. de Tavora. 13 March, 1677-78. N.B.—There is a long interval of time between this and the following entries in a new hand, which seem to have been made after the date to which they refer, possibly circa 1690.
247. Report of the Attorney-General, R. Sawyer, to the King concerning Interlopers and the E.I. Co.'s Petition. 16 Nov., 1682.

- pp. 248-49. Order and Report from the Lords of Committee for Trade and Plantations, of 13 Nov., 1680, re Pepper. [Duplicate Document . . . In Margin vide Petit and Lib. Trade, Vol. I, p. 221.]
- 249-56. 'Minutes of the Council. 18 Sept., 1690.' Permits for the ships of the E.I. Co. to sail, 1690-94.
- 251-52, Saltpetre, Price and Purchase from E.I. Co.
- 253.
- 256-57, Elihu Yale's (late President of Fort St. George) Petition to come
- 258-59. to England referred to the Committee for Trade and Plantations. Minutes of the Committee upon hearing Mr. Yale and the E.I. Co., 2nd March, 1694-95.

COLONIAL ENTRY-BOOKS

C.O. $\frac{17}{16}$ has been referred to as an Entry-Book, and as dealing exclusively with affairs relating to the East Indies. It has under the new topographical arrangement been assigned to class C.O. 77; but other so-called Colonial Entry-Books will be found to contain, amongst other matters, documents relating to the Indies.

A large number of the Entry-Books formed part of the collection belonging to the Lords of Trade. This was passed on by them to the Board of Trade which succeeded them in 1895. Arbitrarily divided in former arrangements of records at the Public Record Office between the Colonial and the Board of Trade sections, the collection no longer exists as a series.

Most of the books of the different Councils and Committees for Foreign Plantations and Trade before 1670 have been lost, some having at one time been in private hands; the few remaining are derived from many different sources.

A Standing Committee of the Privy Council to deal with Plantation affairs was appointed in 1660, and in the same year, and co-existent, a Council of Plantations, and a Council of Trade (cf. C.O. ³⁸⁹).

In 1670 the Council for Foreign Plantations was established. The King's Instructions to the Commissioners (July, 1670) will be found in C.O. ³⁸⁹. In 1672, the King extended the powers and membership of the Council, instructing the Attorney-General to prepare a Bill under the Great Seal, appointing a 'Standing Council . . . for all the affairs concerning the Navigation, Commerce or Trade as well Domestique as Forreigne' . . . and for all Foreign Colonies and Plantations, excepting Tangier (see C.O. ³⁸⁹). In 1675 complete control over Plantation affairs was restored to a Standing Committee of the Privy Council commissioned as Lords of the Committee for Trade and Plantations, but generally known as 'Lords of Trade'. Sir Robert Southwell was the first Secretary. The Journal and Entries of their dealings with the East India Company are contained in C.O. ⁴⁴ (q.v. ante).

In 1696 the Board of Trade was established, and a large number of the records of the Lords of Trade were handed over to it by John Povey on their behalf. The list of these drawn up by William Popple, and a brief history of the Entry-Books, will be found in Mr. Higham's Colonial Entry-Books, the history of the various controlling bodies, in C. M. Andrews' British Committees, Commissions and Councils of Trade and Plantations, 1622-75 (Johns Hopkins Press, Baltimore, 1905).

Among the Colonial Entry-Books, still extant, to be found amongst the Colonial Records, the following may be instanced in addition to C.O. ⁴⁴:

C.O. ³²⁴. A small leather-bound notebook, formerly listed as a Colonial Entry-Book, Plantations, General, 98. It bears the stamp of the Colonial Office, and was at one time No. 77, Plantations. This was Sir Joseph Williamson's private notebook, when Secretary of State. Colonial Calendar, 1675-76, pp.

154-63, contains a full résumé. We here extract from the original the entries relating to India, in abstract only.

The book is begun from both ends, pages 1-12 being blank except for a few miscellaneous notes. A new paging in pencil then begins.

p. 3. contains an incomplete List of Contents.

65, Bombaim. 2 [? March], 1675-76.

E. Indies Pet[ition].

Y^e Port and Island of Bombaim Sovereignty and Property in this by y^e King's Grants they complain . . .

p. 66. Notes relating to 'Bombaim' and Portuguese (2 pages).

67. Caranjah and Tanna. 'N.B.Y^e opposite shores to Tanna and Caranjah are in [the hands?] of y^e R[ao]s princes, not y^e Portuguese.' Suggestion that the King should propose to the Portuguese to yield the other islands, etc., 'which would oblige y^e Portuguese to quit those dominions'.

At the opposite end of the Book is written: Plantacoñs—For. Dominions. 30 pp. of notes + 1 page of notes on p. 45.

C.O. ²²² (formerly C.O. East Indies, Vol. 14, 1660-64, at one time 'P. 11, T. 174'). This is the only surviving entry-book of the Council for Trade of 1660. The title-page inside the leather cover indicates its provenance: 'At his Majesties Council for Trade: att Mercers Hall, London: 1660.'

A copy of the Patent for a Councell of Trade 7 Nov. 12 Chas. II [i.e. 1660] is at the beginning of the Book before the paging begins. (See Cal. S.P. Dom. Chas. II, Nov. 7, 1660.)

f. 8. East India Company's Petition to the King (1660) relating to Polo-Roone, the founding of a factory there by King James's consent, 'untill by the violent intrusion of the Netherlands East India Company the Petitioners were totally deprived thereof' . . . Resolve 'by the Permission of God and your Majestie to possess and plant the said Island of Polo-Roone with all possible speed' . . .

Petition to his Majesty 'to graunt his Majesty's Royall Commission under your Greate Seale empowering them to possess and plant the said island for use of the said Company, and to substitute and commission thereunto such persons as from time to time shall be found needful by your Petitioners both as to military and civill power for the performance of so hopefull a designe' . . . (Copy 1½ pp. in all), followed by Council of Trade Minute 27 Nov., 1660. Resolution of Council of Trade on Petition recommending that the matter contained in it be granted.

f. 10. 'Exportation of Gold and Silver in forreigne Coine and Bullion. The Opinion and humble advice of His Majesty's Council for Trade' (1½ pp.). Cf. Cal S.P. Dom., 12 Dec., 1660.

f. 11-13. 'Reasons and Arguments for the free exportation of Gold and Silver in forreigne Coine and Bullion.' Four reasons given, the fourth makes particular reference to the East Indies (6 pp.).

f. 23. E.I. Co.'s Petition to the Council for Trade (Copy):

'Freedom of Trade to be granted to the E.I. Co. at the Spanish plantations on the Manillas, Phillipines and Molucco Islands in East India.' Petition of Council to recommend to His Majesty that 'in the Articles now to be made with the Spanish Ambassador it may be provided that this Company may have like freedom of Trade to all y^e said Spanish plantations and factories in East India, as to any port or place of the said King his Dominions in Europe (1 p.).

- f. 24-26. E.I. Co.'s Petition. History of Spice Trade. Narrative of the 'Rise and Proffitts, impediments and losses of the East India trade and great damages and wrongs from the Dutch, and Petition that before the present Treaty of Alliance with the Ambassador of the United Provinces be concluded your Petitioners may have their demands of damage done them by the Netherlands East India Company adjusted and fully satisfied' (7 requests). 1660-61 (5½ pp.). The original of this is in East Indies Vol. V, 3 Jan., 1660-61.
- f. 27-29. Report of the Council for Trade to the King on the above Petition, with Reasons and answers for advice given for protection of the E.I. Co.'s trade (5½ pp.).
- f. 75-76. 'Instructions for y^e Councill of Trade.' (12 numbered Paragraphs, 3½ pp.) A duplicate is calendared [? Cal. S.P. Dom.] 1660, Nov. 7.

C.O. ²²² (formerly C.E.B. 93). It is labelled on cover: 'Colonial Entry-Book—Plantations General 1663-1664'; but it comprises three Letter-Books now bound in one, removed from Trade Papers, Nos. 126, 127, 128. The former T.P. 126 is the Out-letter book of Secretary Arlington, 1662-65; and T.P. 127, that for the year 1670-74. The former B.T. Trade Papers, 128, is the Out-letter book of Secretary Sir Joseph Williamson for 1674-78.

Each of these Letter Books had its independent paging marked in ink, but they are now re-numbered in pencil, No. 126 being continuously paged, No. 127, after an interval of blank pages, beginning a new numbering of leaves (pages 42 and 43 being wrongly bound between 57 and 58), and the new paging of No. 128 being continuous with that of No. 127. There is no table of contents.

Former T.P. No. 126. 'Bombaim affairs therein':

- pp. 40-41. To Sir Abraham Shipman at Angediva. 26 Nov., 1663:
'Season of year not permitting to His Majesty to send succour he proposeth to do so in due time . . . His Majesty's support in making his complaints in y^e Court of Portugal . . . with enclosure of 'a new power from His Majesty for y^e taking possession of y^e same place and Island . . . ' (2 pp.).
43. To Sir George Oxenden, President of the E.I. Co. at Surat:
Secretary's letter recommending good offices to Sir Abraham Shipman enclosing letter to Sir Abraham Shipman (1 p.).
44. King's letter to Sir George Oxenden to same effect. 26 Nov., 1663 (1 p.).
45. To Mr. Gary, Merchant of Goa. 26 Nov., 1663:
Secretary's letter transmitting His Majesty's recommendation of 'all good services to Sir Abraham Shipman (1 p.).
- 49-50. To Sir Abraham Shipman. 14 March, 1663-64:
Recapitulating letter of 26 Nov. . . . with addition suggesting that with the succour received he may 'make a shift to subsist well enough till upon a new representation of your condition His Majesty can take new resolutions . . . ' (nearly 2 pp.).

pp. 51. Postscript to the above, enclosing Bill of Exchange for 14,550 pieces of $\frac{8}{11}$. . .

52-54. Alderman Blackwell's Bill for 14,550 pieces of $\frac{8}{11}$ and letters of advice to Sir G. Oxenden relating thereto. March 12 and 14, 1663-64.

55. To Sir G. Willoughby:
Permission to return. 1663-64.

Former T.P. No. 127:

pp. 1-2. King's Letter to the 'Pengram Sultan of Jambée' concerning the trade of 'Our East India Company unto whom we have solely committed . . . the management of the trade of Our Kingdom to all the parts of the East Indies, and Correspondence with all the princes there . . .'

Refers to 1,000 parcels of pepper taken from the E.I. Co. and asks for orders, and care that no other injury shall in future be done to them. 31 [22nd] Jan., 1670.

3-5. King's Instructions to Commissioners for Foreign Plantations [July, 1670] . . . 'Copies of all previous Commissions and Instructions to Government, etc., to be procured, transcribed and entered in a book provided for the purpose, etc.'

Nine numbered 'Heads', possibly more given or intended, as there is no date or signature to the document (5 pp.), followed by several blank pages.

70-74. King's Letter. Warrant to Attorney-General to prepare Bill 'to pass the Royall Signature and Great Seale in these words . . . [appointing Standing Council] for all affaires concerning the Navigation, Commerce or Trade as well Domestique as Forraigne of these our Kingdomes and our said Forraigne Colonies and Plantations respectively . . . or which may at any time hereafter come into our hands . . . (Tangier onely excepted) and whether held immediately or by any other by vertue of Charters, etc. . . .' with full powers to the said Council. Anthony, Earl of Shaftesbury to be President, Thomas Lord Culpeper Vice-President; John Evelyn a member (9½ pp.). 103 to 108 blank.

pp. 127, 129, 136, 137-38, 141. Secretary Sir J. Williamson's repeated requests to ambassadors in Germany and envoys in the Mediterranean to send news and specified information relating to their respective countries and neighbouring lands.

156 and 157. King's letter to the King of Bantam. 31 Dec., 1677.

Refers to the letter sent to the E.I. Co. giving an account of the murder of their Agent White, Mr. Willoughby and Mr. North. 'Hopes that impartial justice will be done upon the Authors thereof', and requests protection for the present Agent, Robert Parker. Thanks for a present of pepper. A return of 150 'Barills of Powder' being sent (2 pp.).

158-61. Blank.

161-73. Transferred from America and West Indies: once Plantations Gen. No. 488, relate only to America, West Indies and Tangiers.

C.O. ⁸⁸⁹ (former C.E.B. 95). This, formerly Board of Trade, Trade Papers 129, was the Out-letter Book of Secretaries Arlington and Coventry, 1674-80. It contains nothing relating to the East Indies.

STATE PAPERS: DOMESTIC

The Calendar of State Papers—East Indies, etc., containing documents culled from various classes and sources, ends with the year 1634.

The State Papers—Domestic contain the records of the Home Administration, and scattered amongst them are many relating to the East India Company. The Public Record office Lists and Indexes, No. XLIII (1914), forms the 'List of volumes of State Papers relating to Great Britain and Ireland, including the Records of the Home Office, 1782-1837, preserved in the Public Record Office', and supersedes List No. III, published in 1894. The new list now includes the series of Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII, also the Records of the Home Office and the Signet Office, to the year 1837, inclusive. In the new arrangement of papers, the designation of many described previously as Home Office Papers has been corrected, although this has entailed the 'scrapping' of printed references in the Calendars of S.P. Dom. for the reign of William and Mary.

In addition to the Records of each reign, loose papers, letters and drafts, grouped under the name of the sovereign, there are large classes arranged under subjects or according to the nature of the Records, such as Docquets, Naval, etc., and Various. The large and important series of Entry-Books comprises several groups. The large 'Unclassified' group begins in Vol. I (1661-62) with the letters, both Domestic and Foreign, of Secretary Sir E. Nicholas, whose letters are also contained in No. 10.

The same 'Unclassified' group contains King's Letters, and also Petitions. No. 39 (1672-73) contains Secretary's Letters, and documents relating to the War with Holland. A large number relate to warrants and passes.

The Criminal Entry-Books (Correspondence and Warrants) contain no records within the period with which we deal. The same may be noted of the Treasury Accounts.

The Domestic Entry-Books (Secretaries' Letter Books) now form from 1685 to 1782 a consecutive series embodying the two concurrent series of Letter Books which belonged to the two Secretaries of State who, up to the latter date, administered Home Affairs. From 1661 to 1685 their Letter Books will be found in the Unclassified Series, Nos. 1, 10, 17, 39, 43, 56, 62, 64, 68.

King's Letters were classed as a special series only after 1688. Early Royal letters must be sought in the General Series. Soon after the Restoration we find Entry-Books of King's Letters (one 'Secret') though not in unbroken sequence. State Papers, Domestic—Entry-Books, Nos. 3, 10, 24, 31, 42 (Unclassified) contain Royal letters for the period 1661-79, and Nos. 162 and 163 the Letter Book for the years 1676-89.

Drafts or Copies of King's letters will also be found in State Papers, Foreign, e.g. in S.P. For. Holland, 170 that of King Charles II to the States-General re the Ships Bonaventure and Bon Esperance; others in the C.O. Records.

Royal letters from foreign princes are included until 1689 in the General Correspondence of State Papers, Foreign.

Petitions 'previously bound in alphabetical orders in 3 separate series, amounting together to 35 volumes', were from the year 1671 incorporated in the Domestic Series. Entry-Books of Petitions are listed under State Papers Dom. Chas. I, Nos. 323, 403 (1636-40); State Papers Dom. Entry-Books, Nos. 13, 18, 33, 37, 46, 55, 61, 71 (1666-88); and Nos. 235-38 (1688-1702). A book of Petitions and Miscellanea (Committee of Trade), S.P. Dom. Jas. II, No. 5.

Navy Board papers after 1673 have been placed amongst the Admiralty Records.

The printed Calendars of State Papers, Domestic Series, are nearly complete from the reign of Edward VI (1547) to 1703. The year 1688, that of the Revolution, was originally intended to be the limit to the work. The still uncalendared intervals comprise the years from 1683 to 1689 and 1697 (William III) to 1702. The word 'Domestic' was chosen to designate the papers in the State Paper Office forming the correspondence of Home Affairs; the word 'Calendar' was intended to express their chronological arrangement. The methods followed, however, are not uniform throughout. The principle adopted in the earlier volumes was 'that of indicating rather than describing the contents of the papers', so that abstracts are short and often incomplete. In the preparation of the volume for 1591-94 of Queen Elizabeth's reign, it had already been found advisable to give more full descriptions.

For the reign of Charles I, the mass of papers was very considerable, including, as it did, many of a private character. In the first volume for this reign, the references to the East Indies (already frequent from the last years of Elizabeth) become fairly numerous.

The Papers of the Interregnum required special treatment. The first volume of Calendars of the regular series for this period deals principally with the records of the Council of State. Although the portions of the Order Books relating to colonial affairs have been omitted, we find references to a special 'Committee on the East India business', and in it and the subsequent volumes the East India Company, its trade, its ships, the purchase from it of saltpetre for the manufacture of gunpowder, a proposed loan, etc., are mentioned.

The Papers relating to the reign of Charles II (now calendared on the more extended plan) were immensely increased in bulk by the incorporation, with the Domestic Series, of whole series of documents either recently transferred to the State Paper Office, or rearranged. These classes included undated Papers, Petitions, Legal, Parliamentary and other Miscellanea, Board of Trade papers, Papers relating to the Navy, Papers transferred from the Foreign Series, etc. A very large number of entries from bound volumes, selected as 'Domestic', were embodied and placed in their chronological positions (amongst them many from the Papers of the Levant Company).

With the volume for the year 1671, it was decided to calendar the whole contents of the Entry-Books, thus including also those entries which relate to Foreign and Colonial affairs. Mention is made not only of the East India Company, but of the Dutch and French East India Companies and their ships.

From June 1673, Navy Board papers, previously classed as Domestic papers, were restored to the Admiralty records.

The Calendars and Lists and Indexes should themselves be consulted, not only for further details, but for the exact references to particular volumes. The following notes serve as suggestions only:

State Papers : Domestic—Interregnum

The history of the Colonies during this period still requires investigation. No copy of Cromwell's charter to the East India Company is known to exist. It was probably deliberately destroyed, thus sharing the fate of the original Parliamentary records of the Interregnum. Of the Acts and Ordinances from 1649-60, the Record Office possesses only printed or manuscript copies. The MSS. Index of State Papers, Miscellaneous, in the Search Room, contains much additional matter. S.P. Dom., Supplementary, 101, 103 refer to prizes in the Admiralty Court, etc.

State Papers : Domestic—Charles II

1665-66. The Papers and Entry-Books contain many documents relating to the sale of the Dutch East India prize ships and advances of money by the East India Company to the King on the prize goods.

1665. S.P. Dom. Chas. II, 449. Contains the Draft Contract between the E.I. Co. and the Navy Commissioners (1682) for the use of two ships to bring home from Angediva the survivors of the King's forces.

1670. S.P. Dom. Chas. II, 473. Mentions a report of the French King's resolve to trade to the East Indies.

1674. S.P. Dom. Precedents 1. f. 7. Provides for the Annulment of Letters Patent of 1643 granted to the inhabitants of Cornwall which might hazard the loss of English East Indian trade; the latter 'being carried on by forts and factories' required special provision. (Cf. Calendar S.P. Dom. Chas. II, 1673-75, p. 291.)

1675. S.P. Dom. Entry-Book 43, p. 16. Two articles given in by the Dutch ambassador as the utmost he can yield in the matter of trade in the East Indies.

1677-78. S.P. Dom. Chas. II, 496. Notes by Sir J. Williamson about the origin and history of the East India Company.

1682. The Domestic Papers of this year (the Calendar of which is in process of printing) contain inter alia much interesting information as to the E.I. Co.'s affairs, derived not only from the Entry-Books, but from two series of News Letters to Newcastle correspondents, from the Papers of Admiralty: e.g. Greenwich Hospital, 2:—Great fear for safety of East India ships which recently sailed. Value of drugs, pepper and silk at E.I. Co.'s sale. Arrival and reception of the King of Bantam's embassy. French King's declaration concerning East India trade. King Charles's promise of support to the E.I. Co. Difference between the 'Turkey Company', and the E.I. Co. and H.M.'s attitude towards a new charter.

A large number of Sir Joseph Williamson's Notebooks and his Journals from 1667 to March 1669 are amongst the Domestic Papers of this reign. S.P. Dom. Chas. II, 396, No. 171, contains notes by Sir J. Williamson about the origin and history of the E.I. Co.

State Papers Dom. Chas. II, Nos. 420-450, are still uncalendared. A large number of these are undated.

Among the parchments and pamphlets of Case F (1660-77) is a list of goods from India containing many strange designations.

State Papers : Domestic—Jas. II

Nos. 1, 3, 4 (1685-88). Contain Letters and Papers.

No. 5. Petitions and Miscellanea (Committee of Trade).

State Papers : Domestic—William and Mary

There are two separate Collections for this period—the one known as King William's Chest, from their origin in his private cabinet, the second as S.P. Dom. William and Mary. The papers of the former collection begin in 1670 and continue to 1698 and later; the letters and Papers of the second cover the period 1689-1702.

It is essential to consult the new List and Index and the Key to the references of this period, many of the latter having been altered since the Calendars of the William and Mary series were begun.

The Calendar of State Papers—William and Mary, and that of William III have now reached the year 1697, the volume for which is in progress. The letters preserved in King William's Chest are extremely important as regards foreign affairs in general, and those also of the Earl of Portland (written in French, whilst on a mission to Holland); but, their contents being outside the scope of the Domestic Calendars, they are barely touched upon therein.

S.P. Dom. King William's Chest 14, No. 42, contains an important Report by Sir John Somers, Lord Keeper to the King, on the Charter and Reconstruction of the E.I. Co., 12 Sept., 1693. (Cal. S.P. Dom. William and Mary 1693, 323-24.)

S.P. Dom. William and Mary 1, No. 56. Proceedings in the House of Commons, and reference to a Committee of the House, of a Petition of Charles Price and others respecting the seizure of their ship Andaluzia, first in India, and again in England, by the East India Company; also of one from John and Thomas Temple for the sinking of their ship, the Bristol. The said Committee to consider the whole affairs of the E.I. Co.

S.P. Dom. William and Mary 2, No. 89. A printed abstract of the case of Samuel White against the oppressions of the E.I. Co.

S.P. Dom. William and Mary 7 and 8 for the year 1697, and S.P. Dom. Entry-Book 275, contain many references to the dangers of trade with the East owing to the war with France; the convoying of ships; the public transports of joy on the conclusion of the Treaty of Ryswick and the hope of 'very brisk trade' on the cessation of hostilities at sea. Arrival of a fleet with a cargo of East India goods worth 6,000,000 pieces of eight; and arrival of 15 Dutch East Indiamen.

S.P. Dom. Entry-Book 275, p. 315. Petition of E.I. Co. against pirates in India and their encouragement by the Governor of New York. Proceedings of the Lords Justices thereon, 5 Oct., 1697.

STATE PAPERS: FOREIGN

The State Papers relating to Foreign Affairs at the Public Record Office up to the year 1577 are all arranged in a single chronological series. From the year 1578 (date of the foundation of the State Paper Office by Queen Elizabeth) they are classified separately under countries, the general correspondence from English ambassadors and agents abroad being placed, where possible, with the papers of their place of origin.

These records are un-calendared from 1585 to 1702.

Public Record Office List and Indexes, Vol. XIX (1904) forms the List of State Papers, Foreign, preserved in the Public Record Office.

The chief classes included are:

Foreign Entry-Books, containing copies or extracts of Out-letters.
Foreign Ministers in England. This series begins only in 1689; the letters are Memorials from foreign envoys previous to that date being included in the General Correspondence.
News Letters, i.e. 'unsigned despatches, copies of foreign gazettes and news-sheets' sent by Agents abroad, classed under place of origin.

The news contained in them is by no means restricted to the country whence they were sent. Those from Paris and The Hague are of particular interest for our purpose. Sir J. Williamson was not only an industrious collector of foreign news, but in 1674-75, he issued repeated instructions to the Mediterranean agents to forward news, etc., of their respective countries and neighbouring ones, specifying the information required.

Royal Letters. Up to the year 1688 drafts of King's letters to foreign rulers, as well as the letters of foreign princes, will be found in the General Correspondence of State Papers: Foreign, under their respective countries. From 1689 the separate collections classed as Royal Letters include little beyond an exchange of courtesies.

Treaty Papers and Treaties form two important classes, supplemented by the Archives of British Legations abroad. Treaty correspondence with Secretaries of State is comprised in the General series, not in these classes.

The State Papers: Foreign relating to Portugal, Spain, France and Holland all need to be consulted for various periods. Nor should it be forgotten that Denmark had her share in early colonization, and that Bergen in Norway was one of the havens of refuge of the E.I. Co.'s ships.

State Papers: Foreign—France

The history of early French expeditions to the Indies is authoritatively traced in Charles de la Roncière's Histoire de la

Marine française. Volume IV discusses the colonial programme of Henri IV and the attempts to carry it out, down to the year 1622. References are given to the Calendars of State Papers, Colonial and Domestic, for the periods treated, but the original documents of the Public Record Office do not appear to have been examined. No work of equal authority for the early French attempts in Eastern colonization exists in English.

Colbert's colonial policy, the foundation of the French East India Company in 1664, and the first settlement in Pondicherry, are dealt with in Vol. V. The authorities quoted therein are almost exclusively French and foreign; but the records of the Public Record office also contain evidence of Louis XIV's determination to have a share in the East Indian Trade.

The Public Record Office possesses a series of copies (sent to England by Chauran) of the letters which Abraham van Wicquefort wrote from Holland to Paris, 1661-62. Louis XIV. acted as Mediator between England and Holland in the treaty negotiations of 1665-66, and considerable light is thrown on English-Dutch relations by the letters of Van Beuningen, the Dutch envoy in Paris.

The records from 1688 to 1697 show traces of the difficulties encountered by Indian trade through war with France.

State Papers: Foreign—Holland

These are of supreme interest for this period, and the material is very extensive. The despatches of the English envoys at The Hague are of great importance, in particular those of Sir George Downing, appointed Resident at The Hague by Cromwell, re-appointed at the Restoration, and after the Dutch war sent again as ambassador from 1671 to 1672.

His correspondence is, unfortunately, scattered, his letters to Clarendon and Secretary Nicholas being chiefly in the Bodleian and British Museum Libraries. A few of his letters to Nicholas for the year 1662 are to be found at the Public Record Office; those to Arlington from 1663-66 are nearly complete in the S.P. Foreign: Holland Correspondence. Verbatim extracts are printed in Dr. Nicolaas Japikse's De Verwikkelingen tusschen de Republiek en Engeland van 1660-65 (Leiden, Thesis, 1900), which deals with differences between the Dutch and English from 1660-65, leading up to the second Dutch war.

For the years 1661-65 the Public Record office also contains a long series of letter-reports from Holland to the English Government from their Dutch correspondent, Van Ruiven, under the nom de plume of Bacquoy.

State Papers: Foreign—Holland, Vols. 60-220, contain the Letters and Papers for the years 1600-99. Undated documents for the years 1660-85 are under No. 219. Nos. 221-23 (1689-97) contain the correspondence of Matthew Prior, Dr. W. Aglionby, Lord Dursley, Earl of Athlone, Lord Villiers, Abraham Kirk and Sir Joseph Williamson.

The following documents serve to illustrate the contents of this class:

S.P. For. Holland, Vol. 170 (1664):

- p. 3. Charles Gringand to J. Williamson. 1 April, 1664 (old style). Though Sir George Downing requested the States-General to give satisfaction as to the list of Damages and other English pretensions, they left town without doing anything.

- 187-88. States-General to King Charles II, 4 June, 1664, about the ships Bona Esperanza and Henry Bonaventure. (4 pp.)

p. 196. Mr. Bacquoy. 31 May, 1664. Concerning the ships Bonaventure and Esperanza. (6 pp.)

205 to end. King's letter to States-General, re ships Henry Bonaventure and Bona Esperanza, May, 1664. Draft.

S.P. Foreign—Holland, Vol. 178 (1665-66). Of the numerous papers in Dutch, the important ones in relation to East Indian affairs are the despatches from Paris of Van Beuningen, relating to treaty negotiations and the English and Dutch rival claims for reparations, Poleroon, etc., and the conditions proposed by France as Mediator.

S.P. Foreign—Holland, Vol. 179 (1666-67). Out of 84 papers in Dutch, only 7 or 8 relate to East Indian affairs; but, as before, Van Beuningen's are important.

The General correspondence of each country forms a distinct class under its own name, but these classes do not embrace the whole of the records relating to the country.

The Foreign Entry-Books constitute a very important series of 271 volumes comprising Secretary's Letter-Books, King's Letters, Précis-Books, etc.

Vols. 17-19 include France (1669-89) Secretary's Letter-Books;

Vols. 60-70, Holland (1672-1703), Vol. 65 (1674) containing the Journal of the Marine Treaty with Holland.

Vols. 164-200 of the Miscellaneous section include from 1603-1700 King's and Secretaries' Letter-Books dealing with more than one country, and including France, Holland, Denmark, Spain and Portugal. Vols. 176-80 are the Journal of the Committee of Foreign Affairs, 1667-78.

Vol. 239 contains Instructions to Ambassadors, 1676-79.

S.P. Foreign—Foreign Ministers in England as a separate class beginning in 1689, contain little relating to our period. Volumes 1, Denmark (1684-1780); 37, Portugal (1684-1710); and 60, Sweden (1683-1709) have papers before that date. All earlier correspondence is embodied in the General Series.

Foreign Ministers, 21, Holland (1689-1712) contains nothing relating to the East Indies within the period. The papers before 1700 are connected with Admiralty appeals and seizures of ships not engaged in Eastern trade.

S.P. Foreign—News-Letters. As we are reminded by a note in the List, 'News-Letters are classified as far as possible according to their place of origin, but often contain despatches from other quarters.'

Vols. 1-7 comprise Flanders, 1572-1711;

Vols. 9-23, France, 1580-1702;

Vols. 70-86, Italy, three series, from Genoa, Rome and Venice, covering the whole 17th century. Nos. 87-89 comprise Italian gazettes, 1664 to 1684.

Vols. 90-92, Spain and Portugal, 1580-1731;

Vols. 95-98, miscellaneous advices.

Vols. 45-63 contain a long series for Holland from 1584 to 1706, and No. 122 Copies and Despatches sent by Dutch agents abroad to The Hague, 1662-68.

Royal Letters as a distinct class have already been referred to. In some instances entries before the dividing year 1689 will be found here.

State Papers: Foreign—Treaty Papers

Vols. 36-50 concern Holland, 1593-1623—1684-1716;

Vols. 8-15 relate to 17th century France;

Vols. 57-58 to Portugal, from about 1640 to 1777;

Vols. 64-66 to Spain, from 1597 to 1719;

- Amongst the Treaty Papers—Miscellaneous, we may mention those relating to Breda, Vol. 73 (1667); Cologne, 75 and 76 (1673). See also for the Cologne Treaty Archives 219-38, and State Papers Foreign—Germany (States) No. 60, which includes negotiations at Cologne, 1673-74. The Grand Alliance (Holland, Empire and England) 1689-1702, in Vol. 104 for Ryswick (1697), see Archives, 257.

S.P. Foreign—Treaties. Reference should be made to List and Indexes XIX for the details of Treaties with Denmark, France, Portugal and other countries.

Of the long series of treaties with Holland the following are amongst the most important: No. 300 (1654), Treaty of Peace and Alliance between the Commonwealth of England and the States-General; 306 (1668), Treaty of Navigation and Commerce between Great Britain and the States-General; 313 (1674), Marine treaty between Great Britain and the States-General; 315 (1675), Articles between Great Britain and the States-General for preventing disputes between the British and Dutch East India Companies, and Ratification; 316 (1675), Declaration as to 9th Article of late Treaty; 317 (1677), Treaty between Great Britain and the States-General; 325 (1689) Naval Agreement, and 328 (1689) treaty between the same Powers for a renewal of former Treaties, and 329 (1689), respecting naval captures.

Of treaties with Portugal, that under No. 386 (1656) is the ratification of the Treaty with the Commonwealth of 1654.

No. 545 (Marriages) 1661, contains the ratification by Portugal of the Treaty of Marriage between Charles II and the Infanta, with the secret article for the surrender of Bombay.

Of treaties with Spain, Nos. 465 (1630), 466 (1667) may be instanced.

Copies and extracts of treaties (1639-1709) will be found under F.O. 95: Miscellaneous—Treaty Papers (cf. Foreign Office Records, List 41).

• State Papers: Foreign—Archives (of British Legations).

Vols. 7-18 (1631-41) contain Gerbier's Entry-Books.

Vol. 26 France (1698) contains the Earl of Portland's Journal.

The series from Holland is again of great interest:

Vols. 94, 95, 96 (1616-18), Sir Dudley Carleton's Entry-Book and Note-book.

Vol. 97 (1624-25), the Earl of Oxford's.

Vol. 98 (1653), Negotiations with the Dutch Deputies.

Vol. 99 (1654), Proceedings at the treaty negotiations between the English and Dutch Commissioners.

Vol. 100 (1667-71), Papers relating to the Triple Alliance, and 101 (1672), the Entry-Book of Lord Arlington and the Duke of Buckingham.

Vols. 107-218 contain the important series of documents of the Levant Company from 1580, including the Charters from Jas. I and Chas. II.

Vols. 209-57 include the Treaty Papers of Sir J. Williamson's Collection (219-32 relating to the Cologne Treaty), and that of Sir Leoline Jenkins (233-38, Cologne; 239-56, Nimeguen); 257 (1697) Sir J. Williamson's Journal relating to the Treaty of Ryswick.

For the Letters and Papers of Mr. Davaux, 1672-99, see F.C. 95, Nos. 543-77.

State Papers: Foreign—Archives. Vol. 219. One of Sir Joseph Williamson's special Entry-Books relates specially to East Indian Affairs. Inside the cover in his own handwriting is the following note: 'England and Holland. The Two E. Indy Companys. Copys of Papers put into my hands and otherwise layed by me together in order to y^e Treaty at Cologne. 1673. J.W.' This volume apparently contains, arranged in chronological order, all the Petitions, Correspondence, etc. relating to the disputes between the two Companies, English and Dutch, from 3 April, 1668, to Oct. or Nov., 1669. The 'Discussions of the Various Articles' are annotated. Table of contents at end of volume.

pp. 1-3. E.I. Co.'s Petition to the King touching 'things impracticable and doubtful in y^e Treaty Marine', 3 April, 1668. 'Order of H.M. in Counsel on said Petition' (same date).

3-7. 'Memorial presented to y^e Lords of y^e Councell, for Trade, and reported to His Majesty in Council, April 10th, 1668.' Impracticability of 8th Article especially in India 'where there is no Admiralty in being, nor any Marine Officers . . .' (4½ pp.)

90-91. 'Memorial delivered to Lord Arlington, and Mr. Secretary Trevor, 2d July 1669, with the Articles drawn up together as y^e Companie's final proposals . . .'

91-97. The final Articles delivered with the foregoing Memorial. (5½ pp.) The volume includes letters from Van Beuningen and Sir W. Temple: two Memorials concerning Macassar, 10th and 13th May, 1669; and Dutch Articles transmitted by Sir W. Temple.

The Transcripts of State Papers and Manuscripts relating to English affairs existing in the Foreign Archives in Venice, etc., at the Record Office, and the Calendars of similar papers should also be consulted. The Calendar for the collections Venice and the libraries of north Italy has reached the year 1636. The last volume contains several references to the affairs of the English and Dutch Companies.

The List of Foreign Office Records to 1837 (P.R.O., Lists and Indexes, XLI, 1914), is a continuation of the List of State Papers: Foreign, No. XIX, 1904. The Class Foreign Office, Miscellaneous, i.e. F.O. 95, includes some collections dating from the seventeenth century, to which reference has already been made under Treaty Papers.

STATE PAPERS: MISCELLANEOUS

(Domestic and Foreign)

This large supplementary collection (a manuscript list of which is on the shelves of the Literary Search Room) includes many documents of great interest, in bundles still uncalendared, as well as bound volumes. They include a large number of notebooks and papers from Sir. J. Williamson's Collection, and Admiralty and Admiralty Court Papers for the Interregnum and the reign of Chas. II.

S.P. Miscellaneous, Nos. 97, 98 and 243 form an important collection of intercepted Dutch papers sent from Batavia in 1672. The contents of the three large bundles (now scattered between the three) fall into two related series. By far the largest consists of full legal documents and correspondence, and the appeal to the 'Bewinthebbers' of the Dutch E.I. Co. by Daniel Wichselhuijssen, Ordinary Councillor of Justice, in his prolonged litigation with Pieter Anthonis Overtwater, President of the Dutch E.I. Co. in Batavia, and Christian Poleman, whom he accused of private trade.

The legal documents (some of which are in duplicate) are dated from 1667 to 1672, and comprise amongst the evidence, letters or interrogatories of Daniel Six, Monsieur Bogaart, etc.

In parcel 'No. 13' of Bundle 243 is a very long report signed Daniel Wichselhuijssen, to the Dutch E.I. Co. in Holland concerning 'Matters to the Company's advantage in the East Indies': 192 points annotated in the margin and several special enclosures, labelled from Liber A. to Liber H. Liber E. relates to private trade. 'Pallia-cut, Bengal, Surat' are included. Liber H. includes 'Proof that India cannot be kept except by a chartered company', and refers to the English and French.

Bundle 243 also includes the original despatches addressed by the President and Council at Batavia, 31 July, 1672, to the 'Bewinthebbers' of Amsterdam, Zeelandt and Delft respectively, two in the original wrappers, as sent by the English ship the Advance via Bantam and England. (The copies addressed to the Chambers of Enckhuijsen, Rotterdam and Hoorn are in Bundle 98.) Every copy bears the original signatures of the Governor-General, Joan Maetsuyker and seven members of the Council. The copy addressed to Amsterdam contains the List of Documents to Zeelandt. Of the seven entries, Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 7 are missing. No. 1 is the original letter above referred to, dated 31 July, 1672. No. 5, of which the only copy is now paged 1-12, contains certified copies of protests between the [Dutch] and the officers of the French fleet near 'Trincquemale'. No. 6, of which one copy also is present, contains copies of resolutions concerning the French in and near Ceylon. The English Company is referred to.

No. 1, the 'Original Despatch', is a general report and includes paragraphs relating to 'Macassar', Banda, Amboina, Ternate, Timor, 'Bima', Palembang, Banca, 'Jambij', Siam, 'Tonquin', Japan, Malacca, West Coast of Sumatra, Pongal (p. 77), Coromandel (pp. 78-79), Ceylon (79-85), 'Tutucuryn' (85), Malabar (85-86), 'Wingurla' (86, refers to Portuguese in Goa), Surat (88-89, with reference also to the French), Persia (90-91), the Cape of Good Hope (91), and Batavia (92-94).

The same bundle, 243, also includes a letter from P. A. Overtwater, President in Batavia, 31 July, 1672, with the original seal.

RECORDS OF PARLIAMENT AND COUNCIL

Privy Council

The Proceedings of the Privy Council and the Orders in Council are recorded, though not always completely, in the Registers which contain the Proceedings before the Sovereign in Council, from the year 1598, and also those before Committees of the Council. The volumes from 1604 to May 1613 were destroyed by fire in 1618.

P.C. 2. Nos. 27-32 include James I, Vols. 1-6; Nos. 33 to 53, Charles I, Vols. 1-18, August 1645; Nos. 54 to 70, Charles II, Vols. 1-17; Nos. 71 and 72, James II, Vols. 1 and 2; and Nos. 73 to 78, William III, Vols. 1-6.

The Privy Council Registers had been printed complete to the year 1604 in the Acts of the Privy Council of England, 1542-1604, edited by Sir J. R. Dasent. A new series has been begun, of which two volumes have been published, relating to the years 1613-16 and 1616.

The separate Colonial Series of Calendars (the first volume of which appeared in 1909), comprises selected extracts and refers chiefly to the American Colonies.

Vol. I (1613-80) of the Acts of the Privy Council—Colonial Series, contains very little relating to the East Indies.

Vol. II (1680-1720) contains reference to the suppression of piracy in the East Indies in 1696-98.

Vol. VI (1676-1783) (Unbound Papers) contains a petition of the E.I. Co. (1696) and a Memorial, respecting the prevention of illegal trade by ships from the East Indies.

ACTS AND ORDINANCES OF THE INTERREGNUM

Of the Acts and Ordinances of the Interregnum from 1649 to 1660, the Record Office possesses only manuscript or printed copies, and the originals are not amongst the Records of Parliament, but appear to have been deliberately destroyed. A collected edition of the Acts and Ordinances of the Interregnum, 1642-60, was edited by C. H. Firth and R. S. Rait for the Statute Law Committee in 1911.

Of the two references to India the most important is to be found in the provisions of the Act of October, 1651 (which has been called the First Navigation Act), and the special proviso exempting 'East-India Commodities loaden in the Shipping of this Nation'.

In the Act of 9 Sept., 1652, calling home seamen serving abroad, seamen serving in the East Indies were allowed time for their return.

LEGAL RECORDS

Besides the Chancery Records, practically all the judicial records are technically in the custody of the Master of the Rolls. A summary of those of the various courts is contained in Appendix II (5) to the 1st Report of the Royal Commission Public Records.

Although the local jurisdiction of the courts established in the Settlements was emphasized at an early date, many questions relating to the East India Company or to its servants will be found in the records of the higher Courts.

A large proportion of the Chancery Proceedings have already been indexed: comparatively few of the Exchequer Records have been calendared.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS

Chancery—(Equity Records) comprise Bills petitioning for redress where none could be obtained under Common Law, and Answers to these Bills.

The Bills and Answers in Chancery for the so-called 'Bridges Division' for the period 1613-1714, comprising over 61,000 files, have now all been numbered and indexed under the plaintiffs' surnames. Public Record office List and Indexes, Nos. 39, 42, 44 and 45, form an Index to these Chancery Proceedings. In Vol. II, D. H. (No. 42) will be found a number of entries referring to proceedings relating to money, in which the Governor, etc., of the East India Company appear as plaintiffs, and the following as defendants:

Amongst those who were bold enough to appear as plaintiffs against the Governor, etc., of the East India Company may be mentioned—John Gourney in 1675 (489/65), Urban Hall and others in 1696 (367/39), Mary Hallett, widow, in 1669 (610/55); and between 1703 and 1710, Edward Denham, John Frampton, and David Edwards.

ADMIRALTY COURT RECORDS

No printed list of Admiralty Court Records is amongst those of the Public Record Office. There are, however, a few 17th century Indexes and Calendars.

Select Pleas in the Admiralty Courts to the year 1602 have been edited by Mr. R. G. Marsden in the Selden Society's Publications. Extracts from the books and records of the High Court of Admiralty and the Court of the Judges Delegates, 1584-1839, etc., are contained in his work, Report of Cases determined by the High Court of Admiralty, issued in 1885. In 1899 A Digest of Cases relating to Shipping, Admiralty and Insurance Law, from the reign of Elizabeth, to the end of 1897, was also published by him.

Admiralty Secretary's Out-letters relating to Admiralty and Vice-Admiralty Courts and Business, from 1689 to 1702, will be found amongst the Admiralty Records, under Admiralty Secretary's Out-letters, Nos. 1045-48.

Accounts of receivers of prizes (1664-77) will be found under Audit Office Accounts. A.O. 3-3 (1) and (2).

The List of Admiralty Records in the Public Record Office, Vol. I., are printed in Lists and Indexes, No. 18 (1904).

Admiralty—Greenwich Hospital, 2, contains an interesting series of News-Letters to two Newcastle correspondents, with frequent references to East Indian matters.

NAVY BOARD RECORDS

Papers of the Navy Commissioners or Navy Board were included in the Domestic State Papers throughout the Commonwealth and Protectorate, and for the reign of Charles II until June 15th, 1673, date of the Duke of York's resignation of the office of Lord High Admiral, and were calendared as such. Navy Board Papers after that date have now been placed amongst the records of the Admiralty in the Public Record office.

For In-letters before 1822 see Indexes from the Admiralty, 1660-1822, Nos. 1-131. For In-letters 1688-1815 see Admiralty Secretary's Out-letters.

EXCHEQUER K.R.—PORT BOOKS

These documents, as disclosed in evidence before the Royal Commission on Public Records, are invaluable for the study of colonial settlement and expansion, the identification of names of ships, and the growth of export and import trade, and are of assistance in the genealogy of shipmasters. Their historical value is increased by the non-survival, as a class, of the original Customs Accounts, 'Exchequer Accounts (K.R.) Customs' from the time of Elizabeth.

The Port Books were issued yearly to all customers under an order of Queen Elizabeth giving very elaborate instructions for a new procedure. The parchment books were issued 'in tin boxes under the Exchequer Seal and were known as "the Queen's Books" because of the great importance in which they were held. In these books were to be entered, on the information of the merchants importing goods into London, the name of the ship and of its master, whence freighted, the bulk and number of parcels of merchandise, their nature, and other particulars.' (First Rept. Roy. Com. Public Records, Vol. I, Pt. II, App. IV, 14.)

Exchequer, K. R.—Port Books, I, relate to the Port of London and comprise 160 Bundles (Bundles 11 to 160 covering the period 1600-96), each Bundle, with very few exceptions, embracing several numbers or volumes. It is therefore essential to consult the MSS. List in the Search Room to find the volume desired.

References to the E.I. Co.'s ships and goods to and from the East Indies are numerous. Port Book, London, 52/1, 1667-68, may be given as an instance.

BOARD OF CUSTOMS AND EXCISE

A typed MSS. List of the Records is on the shelves of the Search Room at the P.R.O. The Inspector-General's Accounts of Imports from 1696 to Christmas 1702 are to be found under the reference, Customs 2, 1-10; the Ledgers of Imports and Exports for Michaelmas 1697 to 1701, under Customs 3, 1-5.

Accounts of Farmers and Commissioners of Customs for 1638-41 will be found under Audit Office Various Accounts (Customs), A.O. 3, No. 297, those for 1672 under No. 303 (9). No. 304 (7) contains Fines for uncustomed goods for the years 1667-68.

The Treasury Records, Customs, England and General, comprise, under the reference T. 38, 349, charges of account in divers ports temp. Elizabeth; 340—Abstract of yearly receipts 1679-1761; 347—Yearly accounts of various duties, 1691-1700. See List and Indexes XLVI.

TREASURY

The records of the Treasury are listed in Public Record Office. Lists and Indexes, No. XLVI. 'Lists of the Records of the Treasury, the Paymaster-General's Office, the Exchequer and Audit Department and the Board of Trade, to 1837, preserved in the Public Record Office (1921).'

The introduction contains a description of the various series, and a table showing where correspondence with various offices may be found when the titles of the series do not sufficiently indicate this. India before 1832 is in the General Series under the reference T. 27, which contains 16 volumes for the years 1668-1702.

The earlier history of the Treasury is contained in the Introduction to the Calendar of Treasury Papers, 1729-30.

T. 1 (1557-1837) Treasury Board Papers, are the In-letters of the Treasurer with occasional minutes and reports; T. 27 Treasury: Out-letters, General.

The Treasury Books and Papers have been calendared in two different series: The Calendar of Treasury Papers, Vol. I. (1557-1667) to Vol. VI (1720-28), edited by Joseph Redington and comprising In-letters; and the Calendar of Treasury Books and Papers edited by Dr. W.A. Shaw, Vol. I, 1729-30, etc. The latter is outside the Period with which we deal; but his Calendar of Treasury Books, begun in 1904 and still in progress, commencing with Vol. I, Charles II, 1660, has now reached Vol. IX, for the year 1692. This series contains for the Period 1660-72 only documents in the Public Record Office, from 1672 to 1678, also papers outside it. The Records included in Vol. VIII are described as 'Letters Patent, Privy Seals, Royal Sign Manuals and Warrants, Treasury Warrants, Commissions, Orders, Letters, Memorials, Reports and other Entries: all not of the nature of Treasury Minutes'.

A gap in the Treasury Minutes at the Public Record Office extended from 1672 to 1696, and for the period 1672-78 the missing volumes were either in the possession of the Duke of Leeds (descendant of Lord Treasurer Danby) or at the British Museum. Leave to incorporate these documents was therefore obtained.

Reference to the excellent indexes of the series will disclose a very great number of entries relating to the East India Company and connected subjects.

Amongst Treasury Records we may mention the following:

T. 22 (1698-1702) contains several entries relating to the E.I. The Semi-Official papers of Lord North forming the series of T. 49 Miscellanea—East India Papers, begin only with the year 1702. T. 49 (7) Loose documents in a large bundle of the Lowndes Miscellaneous papers comprise several documents of interest.

'Draft Letters Patent constituting the [East India] Company by writ of Privy Seal.' (Endorsed East India Company 1698.) Pigott, 5th September, 10 Will, annotated in pencil: 'There are 2 drafts, the 2nd imperfect. The first I think with marginal notes by Lowndes. The 2nd is apparently the corrected draft with marginal guides.' (Printed, 24 pp.)

The constitution of the Dutch East India Company [undated? 1698]. A very clear account in English. (1 p. and a few lines.)

Letter from Court of Directors of the E.I. Co. to William Lowndes re appointment of Mr. Walker as Lieutenant in their service on William Lowndes' recommendation.

H.M.'s order to Lords Commissioners of the Treasury to sell H.M.'s Stock in the Old East India Company, 12th August, 1701.

Warrant for Privy Seal for sale of shares in East India Company. (Undated draft.)

Attorney-General (Ed. Ward) on the rights of the Crown re the E.I. Co.'s Petition, 5 William and Mary. Refers to Charter of Chas. II., 3rd April, 13 Chas. II. Relates to Interlopers and the share of the Crown in Seizures; with a Schedule of 'some shippes and vessells with their tack, apparell, freight, and goods seized upon by the E.I. Co. since the year of Our Lord 1680', by Capt. Andrews, Capt. Tyrell, and others. Mention is also made of 'All the Stores of the Interlopers at Suratt' under the Charge of Mr. Banister and others. (Copy, 43 pp.)

Heads for Articles of Agreement between the two East India Companies (i.e. Old and New) . . . 1701. (MSS. Draft, 3½ pp.)

Fair copy of the same under 46 heads, 'proposed to be inserted in a Tripartite Indenture to be firmed under the Great Seale of England and the Common Seales of the two Companies.' (4½ pp.)

Tripartite Indentures of Union between the two East India Companies (Old and New), 1701. Reference is made to doubts raised as to the validity of former charters, financial agreements with the State, etc. (Draft, 68 pp.)

Quinquupartite Indenture of Conveyance of the Dead Stock of the two East India Companies (i.e. the Old and New), 22nd July, 1702. Bombay held as of the Manor of East Greenwich in Free and Common Socage on yearly payment of £10. Recites rights and possessions of the Old East India Company. (Printed, 17 pp.)

ACCOUNTS

Declared Accounts—Audit Office

(Cf. P.R.O. Lists and Indexes, II)

THE BODLEIAN LIBRARY

MSS. RELATING TO THE EAST INDIES IN THE BODLEIAN LIBRARY

- 1599-1600. Travels of Sir Anthony Sherley in Persia [Published 1613]. MS. Ashmole 1809.
1600. The chiefe places where . . . Spices do grow in the East Indies, gathered . . . by R. Hakluyt. Western MS. 3338 (now MS. Arch. Selden B. 8), No. 6, fols. 84-93.
- f. 86. Some notes on the value of diamonds and pearls.
- f. 89. Notes by Hakluyt of the best merchandise to bring from the East Indies to Spain.
- f. 93. Notes of the best merchandise to take from Spain to the East Indies, etc.
1601. Letter from Sir Thomas Cornwaleys to Sir John Hobart of St. Mary's Spital, dated Brome, 17 Aug., 1601. MS. Tanner 285, fol. 10.

He mentions that an Ambassador has been sent to the Pope from Persia to pray His Holiness to send emissaries to preach and convert.

1605. Charter granted to the East India Company by James I. MS. Rawl. D. 701.
1609. Abstract of the Patent granted to the East India Company, 31 May, 1609. MS. Tanner LXXV, fol. 322.
- 1610-67. The Travels of Peter Mundy, Cornishman. MS. Rawl. A. 315.

The greater part of this valuable MS. is concerned with India and the East.

From 1628 to 1634 Mundy was in the service of the East India Company. His experiences during that period have been edited by Sir Richard Temple and printed by the Hakluyt Society (Second Series, No. XXXV, The Travels of Peter Mundy, Vol. II) in 1914.

From 1635 to 1638 Mundy was in the service of the Courteen Association and accompanied a fleet which sailed to the Malabar Coast, Sumatra, China, Mauritius, Madagascar, St. Helena and Ascension. These adventures have also been edited by Sir Richard Temple and printed by the Hakluyt Society (Second Series, Nos. XLV, XLVI, The Travels of Peter Mundy, Vol. III, Parts I and II) in 1919.

In 1655 Mundy made a third voyage to India (Malabar Coast) in the Aleppo Merchant, a Separate Stock ship. This portion of the MS. is in course of preparation for the Press and will be issued uniformly with the preceding volumes as Vol. V (Vol. IV being concerned with Europe only) as soon as completed.

The remarkable powers of observation evinced by Mundy, and his wonderful accuracy in chronicling what he saw and heard, serve to render his MS. of the highest historical value.

- c. 1624. Reply to a remonstrance of the Dutch East India Company in which they justify their proceedings against the English at Amboyna. MS. Rawl. C. 280.
1626. Letter from T. Lydgate to the E.I. Co., dated 22 November, 1626. Western MS. 27569 (now MS. Bodl. 313), fol. 32.
- He petitions to be employed as a scholar. The letter contains remarks on the erection of a factory and the planting of a Colony on the East Coast of Africa, notes on the Equator, etc.
- 1629-96. Moral Blazonry, a Poem by Robert Fleming on the Company of Scotland trading to Africa and the Indies. Western MSS. 16493 (now MS. Rawl. Poet. 202), fol. 16.
- 1631-32. Licence to the E.I. Co. to transport foreign and English gold to the East, dated February, 1631-32. MS. Rawl. D. 918, fol. 138.

- f. 73. Instructions for Mr. Buckridge for the Coast of Sofala.
- f. 73. Contains a good impression of the seal of the E.I. Co.
- f. 75. A list of presents, prices of goods, at Isfahan, etc.

f. 81. A list of the Company's yearly charges in India, Persia, etc.

This MS. also contains some Dutch and Portuguese documents at fols. 58 and 61.

- 1650-51. Joseph Thompson to Elias Ashmole describing his voyage to the East Indies. Dated Bantam, 31 January 1650-51. MS. Ashmole 826, fols. 245-46.

At the Cape some time was spent in repairing their ship, the Golden Fleece. Bantam was reached 25 Nov., 1650. A short account of Bantam is given. The writer thanks 'my Lady' for her 'Morefield favours'.

- 1653,
22 Dec. Copy of an Agreement between the E.I. Co., and Sir John Jacobs and others, the late farmers of the Customs. MS. Rawl. C. 366, fol. 98.

The farmers admit that £90,859 is due to the Company on bonds, the 20th Aug. 1640. They agree to pay £18,450 and to give security for the remainder. The Company accept the terms, of which full details are given.

- [1654.] Translations of Remonstrances of the Netherlands E.I. Co., against the E.I. Co., of England. MS. Rawl. A. 15, fol. 542.

They complain that the English began to reckon their pretended damages from 1620 although they fail to observe the Treaty of 1619. They hope that the Protector will enforce the observance of the said Treaty. The States-General desire that their request may be communicated to their Commissioners in London.

[The document is very faint and damaged.]

- 1655,
9 May. Copy of an order by Oliver Cromwell respecting the sale of the island of Pulo Run, by the English E.I. Co. MS. Rawl. A. 261, f. 44.

The Protector orders that 'an instrument for the delivering up of Polaron Island, with an acquittance' for the £85,000 to be paid shall be drawn up and given to the Ambassador of the United Provinces.

1655. Report delivered to Oliver Cromwell, June, 1655, from a Committee of reference, respecting the sale of Pulo Run, with the opinion of Dr. Walker. MS. Rawl. A. 28, fol. 710.

This document is printed in Birch's Thurloe Papers, III, 515.

1655. Statement regarding the East India Co.'s debt. MS. Rawl. C. 366, fols. 111, 117.

f. 111. The debt arose from a glut of pepper, few purchasers and the King's pressing need for money, which necessitated forced sales.

f. 117. 30 Oct., 1655. It was agreed, on the motion of Nathaniel Wyche, that £6,000 should be paid to the creditors of Sir Job Harby.

Govr.-Genl. and Council of India, dated 12 April, 1658.

They have received complaints that acts of hostility against the English E.I. Co., in violation of the Treaty of Peace of 1654, have been committed, and they enjoin a strict and punctual observance of the said Treaty.

1658-60. Copy-Book of Letters received at Fort St. George. MS. Rawl. C. 395, 110 fols.

This book contains letters from Surat and Rajapur, from the factories subordinate to Fort St. George (Masulipatam, Peddapalle, Viravasaram, Madapollam), and from the Bay of Bengal.

All the letters have been abstracted by Mr. William Foster, and the abstracts (in MS.) are bound in the volumes of the India Office Records catalogued as Factory Records, Miscellaneous, Vols. 29-31.

Further, Mr. Foster has utilized all the matter of interest in his English Factories in India, Vol. X.

1661. The Charter of Charles II to the E.I. Co., dated 13th yr. of his reign (1661) with Table of Contents, fol. 16. MS. Rawl. B. 516, fols. 1-15.

No names of shareholders are given.

1661-97. Account of appointments of Agents at Fort St. George. MS. Rawl. 747 D., fols. 171-71a.

A few lines are devoted to remarks on each Agent and the document is endorsed 'Secretary's Report to the Committee of 11'. It is signed by Robert Blackburne, Secretary, and dated East India House, 23 April, 1698.

1662-97. Dividends paid by the E.I. Co. MS. Rawl. D. 747, fols. 140-41.

1663. Reply of the States-General of the United Provinces to King Charles II's letter of the 18th December, 1662, relative to the surrender of Pulo Run. Dated Hague, 18th January, 1663, N.S. (French.) MS. Ashmole 857, pp. 234-35.

They assure His Majesty of their desire for friendship with England. They enclose their orders to their General in India as a proof of their good faith in carrying out their agreement.

1664. Mercantile accounts kept by William Smyth in the year 1664. MS. Ashmole 1809.

- [1667.] Note of Proceedings in the Case of Thomas Skinner v. the E.I. Co. MS. Rawl. D. 658, fol. 21a.
in the House of Lords.

For a full account of the Case, see Brit. Mus. MSS., Harleian MS. 4319.

1668. Account of the French East India Company (in French). MS. Rawl. A. 478, fol. 59.

A brief note only.

1668. Grant to the East India Company of the Island of Bombay, 27 March, 1668. MS. Rawl. B. 516, fols. 17-27.

Begins: 'Charles the Second by the Grace of God', etc., and ends, 'in the twentyeth yeare of our Reigne'.

See also MS. Rawl. B. 516, fols. 17-27, for another copy: and C.O. 77/49 (P.R.O.), pp. 47-75.

- [1669.] Complaints to the Company from Fort St. George. MS. Tanner XLIV, fols. 94, 95, 100.

Letters from the Factors at Fort St. George to Daniel Sheldon in Bengal together with a Remonstrance to the Company, complaining of the sending out of two laymen to officiate as clergymen.

1669. Court at Whitehall, 13 Oct., 1669. MS. Tanner XLIV, fol. 162.

Concerning a complaint by factors and others at Fort St. George and Masulipatam against Hoare and Thompson, 'two schismatical and seditious ministers'. Order promulgated for their recall.

1670. Bill of Lading of the Constantinople Merchant from Bantam for England, 29 Dec., 1670. MS. Rawl. A. 303, Art. 47, fol. 229.

- 1670-71. Bill of Lading of the Ann from Bantam to England, 30 Jan., 1670-71. MS. Rawl. A. 303, Art. 47, fol. 277.

1673. Money lent to Charles II by the unanimous consent of the E.I. Co. MS. Rawl. D. 864, fol. 59.

1673. Accounts of an engagement between the English and Dutch fleets in the neighbourhood of Masulipatam, 22 August, 1673. MS. Rawl. A. 185, fols. 386-91.

f. 386-87. Account by Captain Goldsborough of the Antelope, taken by the Dutch. He imputes the disaster to the rashness of Capt. Basse. The Antelope sank the day after her capture. Casualties, 16 killed and wounded.

- f. 388-89. Account by Capt. Jonathan Hide, Vice-Admiral, dated 'Ship Dannida, Metchlepatam Bay, 21 Sept., 1673'. He was 'laid for dead', and recovered to find the Dutch in possession of his ship. Capt. Basse could 'easily have shunned engaging'.
- f. 390-91. Account by Capt. William Basse, Admiral of the fleet. He is of opinion that if the whole fleet had 'stood to the enemy, we might have worsted them', but four of the captains 'bore away', and his defenceless condition compelled him to do likewise.

See O. C. Nos. 3835, 3836 (India Office Records) for two other accounts of this action, and O. C. 3824 for Capt. Basse's original account of the same.

- 1673. Charter of Charles II. dated 16 Dec., 25th of his reign, granting St. Helena to the Co. MS. Rawl. B. 516, fols. 28-35.

- 1674-75. Minutes of the proceedings of the Royal Commissioners appointed to treat with the Dutch Deputies regarding trade and navigation and the Treaty regulating the East India trade of both nations, 27 July, 1674 - 8 March, 1675. MS. Rawl. A. 302, fols. 7-75.

The meetings were held at Fishmongers' Hall, and a list of those present at each meeting is given.

The proceedings are concerned with the 12 propositions presented by the E.I. Co. 'importing their desires' with respect to the Treaty:

- (1) Concerning the besieging and blockading of towns, cities, etc.
- (2) Reciprocal non-interference with trade.
- (3) Contracts with natives.
- (4) Procedure if either country be at war with any native power.
- (5) Passports.
- (6) Losses and damages to be adjusted by an umpire. See also C. O. $\frac{11}{15}$ (P. R. O.), pp. 76-93.
- (7) The island of Dam to belong to the English E.I. Co.
- (8) Native residents to remain undisturbed.
- (9) Privileges in the ports of either nation.
- (10) Subjects of both nations to be undisturbed in their trade with Indians.
- (11) Bribery of native officials to be prohibited.
- (12) Procedure in case of war between England and Holland.

These points are fully discussed with many references to the Treaty Marine.

11 March, 1674-75. The Articles were finally presented to the King after the Dutch Commissioners had left the country, before which the English and Dutch Commissioners dined together on the date noted above.

- 1676. Charter of Charles II, dated 5 Oct., 28th of his reign, granting additional privileges to the Company. MS. Rawl. B. 516, fols. 56-57.

- 1675-76. Journal of a voyage to and from Surat, kept on board the merchant ship Ann, Samuel Chamblett commander, by John King. MS. Rawl. A. 299, fols. 28-74.

The log, which is an ordinary seaman's journal, begins 11 March, 1675, and ends June, 1676. The ship sailed from Gravesend and returned to Woolwich. See O.C. 4164 (India Office Records) for instructions, 17 Jan. 1675-76, for the homeward voyage.

- 1676-77. Fragment of the Journal of the Nathaniel in January 1676-77. MS. Rawl. C. 963.

See the Journal of this ship in 1678-79.

- 1678-79. Journal of a voyage in the merchant ship Nathaniel, William Stannard commander, from Gravesend to Madras and back to England, 1 January, 1677-78—20 September, 1679. MS. Rawl. C. 963, fol. 67.

This is an ordinary seaman's journal. At the end of the MS. is the fragment noted above. At the beginning of the MS. is one leaf of the Log of the American, bound from [Swally] to 'Sinda', and thence to Gombroon. The captain's name is not given.

- 1679-80. Coins of India. MS. Rawl. C. 841, fol. 1.

'A collection of coins now current in the Kingdoms of Indostan, Persia, etc., with their severall weights, fineness and values at this present 1679-80.' [One page only.]

- c. 1681. Case between the E.I. Co., and the Turkey Companies concerning the right of the latter to trade with Mocha. MS. Rawl. A. 183, fol. 232.

The chief points urged are the following:

Queen Elizabeth's grant to the Company of Merchants of England trading into the Levant, that they and no others should trade within the Grand Seignior's Dominions, was confirmed by King James I.

Mocha is in the said Dominions.

Sulaiman the Magnificent conquered Aden (where Mocha is situated) and held it until the year 1632.

Charles II, by Letters Patent of 3 April in the 13th year of his reign, granted all the trade beyond Cape Bona Esperanza, including Mocha, to the E.I. Co.

The E.I. Co. for the last sixteen years have 'declined' the said port and have forbidden any trade thither by their factors in India.

His Majesty's Commission of 30 Nov., 1664, ordered a trade to Mocha.

In 1664, therefore, a ship was sent thither, but miscarried on the homeward voyage, since which time the Company have not traded there.

In view of the above statements these questions are propounded:

(1) Admitting that the Turkey Company's grant was the earlier, can the E.I. Co. prohibit the Turkey Co. from trading to Mocha.

(2) Whether the E.I. Co. can seize the ship now expected from Mocha by virtue of their grant.

1681. Propagation of the Gospel in the East. MS. Tanner XXXVI, fols. 57, 67, 86.

21 June, 1681. Letter from Dr. Fell to Archbishop Sancroft regarding the intention of the Company to raise money for the propagation of the Gospel in the East.

1 July, 1681. Report of the Committee appointed to consider Dr. Fell's propositions.

6 Aug., [1681]. Letter from Dr. Fell to Archbishop Sancroft. The appointment of clergy to serve in the East is vested by the Co. in the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishops of London and Oxford.

1683-85. Case against Thomas Sandys for trading to the East Indies contrary to the Company's Charter (A. 193), with Pleadings and Judgment in the case (C. 130). [And see below.] MSS. Rawl. A. 193 and C. 130.

1683. Pleadings in the case of Thomas Sandys versus the E.I. Co. MS. Rawl. D. 747, fols. 20-135.

Duplicate of MS. Rawl. C. 130 noted above. See also Harl. MSS. 769, 1222, 4139 and Lansd. MS. 1219 (Brit Mus.) and All Souls Coll. MS. 210.

1683. Commission and Instructions from the E.I. Co. to Sir Thomas Grantham for declaring war against Persia, dated 27 July, 1683. MS. Rawl. xi. 257, fols. 69-70.

The Commission gives the following reasons for the attitude of the Company :

By the Charter of Charles II of 3 April, 1661, the Company are empowered to make war on non-Christian countries.

By 'ancient stipulation' with the King of Persia, the Company have the right for ever to half the customs of the port of Gombroon and other privileges in return for the help given by the English in taking the island of Ormus from the Portuguese.

Only 1,000 tomands, instead of 40,000, have been paid of late, so that a debt of 150,000 tomands has accrued.

Sir Thomas Grantham is therefore authorized to make war upon the King of Persia.

When he has taken what he thinks due to the Company, he may make peace with the King, provided that he exacts the payment of the 150,000 tomands and receives a promise of payment of the half-yearly customs. In return, the English will protect the King against the Portuguese.

Sir Thomas Grantham's sailing orders :

He is to sail to St. Helena, Pepper Bay and Bantam, where he will meet with ships under Sir John Wetwang and Captain John Nicholson. He is then to proceed on his Persian voyage and finally to make his way to Bombay and Surat.

1683. Further instructions to Sir Thomas Grantham regarding his procedure at Bantam, dated 1 August, 1683. M.S. Rawl. A. 257, fol. 79.

He is to be careful to keep on friendly terms with the Dutch at Bantam and to victual his ship and procure arms and ammunition without their knowledge.

1683. Sir Josiah Child to Secretary Blackborne, dated 8 Aug., 1683. MS. Rawl. A. 303, fol. 260.

He orders that the bills of Wm. Coke and Basil Herne be referred to Messrs. Serle and Jarrett for examination.

1683. Instructions from the E.I. Co. to their Agent and Council at Bantam and Batavia, dated 24 Aug., 1683. MS. Rawl. A. 257, fols. 81-93.

The main points in these voluminous instructions, 94 in number, are:

The object in sending Mr. English and the Beaufort and Amoy Merchant before the rest of the fleet to Bantam.

Method of treating with the King of Bantam for delivering up 'Pollypanjany and Hippins' Islands and the fort, city and country of Bantam.

The appointment of a Governor, etc., after such cessions.

What the ships are then to do.

The sealed orders.

Building of houses.

No interference to be permitted with native religions.

Ammunition.

Orders to be carried out if it shall prove true that the 'Old King hath retaken Bantam'.

Wherever they may settle and fortify, the same rules are to hold good as to government, &c.

Hippins Island to be called Carolus Secundus.

Regulations regarding building, the importing of slaves, guns, collection of revenue, marriage of soldiers with the native inhabitants, English planters, Dutch settlers, etc., etc.

1683. Commission from Charles II to Captain John Nicholson for a mission to Bantam, dated 5 Oct., 1683. MS. Rawl. A. 257, fol. 95.

- 1686-87. War with the Mogul. MS. Rawl. A. 257, fols. 253-70.

f. 253. Case of the Company for declaring war against the Great Mogul, by Sir Benjamin Bathurst. The Company had a farman for trade and paid only two per cent custom until the Dutch and Interlopers persuaded the Mogul to impose $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent both at Surat and in Bengal.

The Company originally had privileges and power to recover their debts; now they have to apply to Darbars or Courts of Justice, and are compelled to pay one half in order to recover the other half of the whole due to them.

The Company can get no satisfaction for the £160,000 owed them by the Mogul.

The Dutch say that they will force the Mogul to exclude the servants of the Company and all Europeans from the Bay of Bengal, by making war upon his subjects there.

By their Charter the Company have a right to make war upon heathen nations, but a further Commission direct from the King is desirable.

4 Aug., 1687. Departed Gravesend.

30 Sept., 1687. Reached St. Jago. Owing to a drought, very little beef to be obtained.

30 Oct., 1687. Cape of Good Hope. Sheep, barley, etc., taken on board.

8 Jan., 1687-88. Some bales of the Company's cloth put out from the hold to air. A storm such as the writer was 'never in before', and hoped 'never to be in again'.

1 April, 1688. Saw 'Zeloan'. Rough drawings of the coast of the island.

5 April, 1688. Some drawings of the coast near Cape Comorin.

19 April, 1688. Off Tegapatam, on the Malabar Coast. Sent a man ashore at Retora to visit the Company's factory there. He returned with Mr. Daniel Acworth, chief of the factory, and Mr. Caleb Travers, who came on board. A description of 'Brinjon' and of the coast about Retora follows. The officials from Retora reported that, although they had been entreated to establish a factory there by the Queen of Attinga, their flag had been cut down, probably at the instigation of the Dutch. The Queen of Attinga next sent her delegates aboard the James and Mary, and much consultation ensued, after which the Queen renewed her promise of protection to the English.

23 May, 1688. Arrived at Bombay.

1 June, 1688. Attended the trial by Court-martial of Lieut. James Dare, who was ordered to be 'discarded the Company's service', and to be sent home.

17 July, 1688. Captain Jacob Barber, who had been sent to rescue three soldiers who had fled from a ship to Thana, returned to Bombay after having been subjected to many insults.

10-16 Aug., 1688. The Company's cordage, nails, ironware, etc., were unloaded.

17 Aug., 1688. John Gladman and John Jesop were sent on board to inspect the quicksilver which had been running out of its package.

- 8 Oct., 1688. Sir John Child, General of India, came on board to go to Surat.
- 31 Aug., 1688. The Company's woollen goods inspected.
- 20 Oct., 1688. Thomas Michell declared to be President of India. The Mirbar or customs officer came on board to attend the General regarding the answer he was to carry to the Govr. of Surat respecting the conclusion of a peace. The General deferred his answer until he should arrive at Surat.
- 22 Oct., 1688. Preparations made in case of an attack by the 'Moors'.
- 24 Oct., 1688. The General left the ship to go on the Worcester.
- 29 Oct., 1688. The General refused to go to Surat to receive the King's farman, in spite of a promise of a safe conduct.
- 30 Oct., 1688. The General went ashore, well armed.
- 31 Oct., 1688. Further Consultations about the King's farman, 'not to the General's liking'.
- 2 Nov., 1688. Orders for ships to be kept ready for defence in case of an attack.
- 3 Nov., 1688. Propositions made to the General about the King's farman.
- 13 Nov., 1688. An agreement reached. The King's farman to be expected in 40 days.
- 11 Dec., 1688. Arrival of the Shrewsbury.
- 24 Dec., 1688. Some men from the James and Mary and Shrewsbury attacked by Frenchmen.
- 26 Dec., 1688. News received that Agent Harris and Mr. John Gladman, Agent-designate for Persia, with others, were confined as prisoners by the Governor of Surat, and that there was a design to seize the General.
- 30 Dec., 1688. By the General's orders, all the ships sailed from Swally Bar and anchored in the mouth of Surat river.
- 4 Jan., 1688-89. The James and Mary sailed for Bombay 'with intent to apply to the Mogul about their grievances'. Notes of encounters with various ships.
- 20 Jan., 1688-89. Anchored at Bombay. Various consultations. Certain vessels examined for corn, etc., and seized.
- 12 Feb., 1688-89. News of the severe treatment of the imprisoned Agent and his companions.
- 14 Feb., 1688-89. The Journal breaks off abruptly.

1687-1710. Lists of the Company's Servants (both of the Old and New Companies) with their salaries. MS. Rawl. D. 747, fols. 139, 164-68, 296, 379-80.

These include:

- f. 164-65. 1686 Bombay.
 1687 Surat—Calicut.
 1690 Gombroon and Persia.
 1692 Carwar.
 1693 Indrapura—York Fort.
 1694 Fort St. George—Fort St. David—Vizagapatam.
 1695 Chuttanutte—Ballasore.
- f. 166-68. 1698 Fort St. George—Fort St. David—York Fort—Sillebar.
- f. 139, 296, 379, 380. [1700], 1702, 1710. Officers employed by both Companies.

- 1687-88. Abstract of advice from Fort St. George, via France, dated 21 Jan., 1687-88, including a letter from the Bay to the Fort, dated 26 Aug., 1687. MS. Rawl. A. 302, fol. 91.

An advantageous peace concluded for the Company on better terms than ever before on account of the taking of several of the Nawab's ships by the English. The English lost but few men, though several died from sickness which had overspread the whole Coast of Coromandel and was due to the rotting bodies of those who had died of famine and plague. The Mogul has taken possession of Golconda and its King. Fort St. George in a good posture of defence. Nawab Shaista Khan, the Mogul's uncle, is recalled, and also the Surat Governor, for 'abusing' the English. They have sent £80,000 on the Resolution and 50,000 dollars on the Williamson to Bengal, and 40,000 Pagodas to the West Coast. They have great hopes of future prosperity.

1688. Original copy of a representation from Dr. St. John to the King [James II] on the affairs of Hindustan and of the E.I. Co. Dated aboard the Success, 18 July, 1688. Enclosed in a letter from Dr. St. John to John Pepys, dated Windsor Castle, 29 Aug., 1688. MS. Rawl. A. 171, fols. 52-59.

The MS. is very closely written. It contains a long account of Aurangzeb's wars with Sumbhaji, the siege and capture of Bijapur, the siege and capture of Golconda in 1687, the Embassy to Shah Sulaiman, etc.

The writer dilates on Aurangzeb's aversion to all Christians.

He gives an account of affairs in the Bay of Bengal and describes the bad state of the factory at Surat, and reports a better state of affairs there under a new Governor.

He remarks on relations between the Portuguese and the Mogul, the action of the French in Siam and the state of Dutch trade in India.

He complains of the despotic attitude of Sir John Child at Bombay and of the Company's ill-treatment of himself. (This MS. would probably repay for the work of transcribing in extenso.)

- 1689-1700. Bills of Exchange drawn on the Company for providing Bullion. MS. Rawl. D. 747, fols. 261-64.

1690. Copy of a Letter of Complaint against President Elihu Yale to the Company, sent by the Defence, dated 20 Oct., 1690, and signed by Thomas Wavell, John Cheney, William Fraser and Thomas Gray. MS. Rawl. D. 747, fols. 234-50.

This copy is dated 25 May, 1691, and the signatories remark: 'We could largely add to the same purpose, but that we know it would be unpleasant to your Honrs.'

(Abstract of the above on fols. 215-20, and duplicate of the Abstract on fols. 222-31.)

- c. 1690. The East India Trade and Manufactures beneficial to England. Proved by severall Arguments Collected MS. Rawl. A. 400, fols. 1-29.

on Occasion of a late Petition from the Weavers to prohibit the same.

The writer maintains that the Petition of the Weavers needs 'some answering'. He quotes an author (unnamed) who (urged by Mr. Pollexfen) writes to prove :

1. That the E.I. Trade in general is beneficial to England.
2. That the Importation of the Manufactures of India adds to the main stock and wealth of England, and is not in general prejudicial to woollen manufactures.
3. That a prohibition of Indian manufactures will be destructive to that trade in general, and 'hazard its being utterly lost to this Kingdom'.

The writer gives details of money saved by the reduction of the price of goods from France, Holland, etc., owing to the trade of the East India Company in India and also to their trade in China and Japan. The trade gives employment to many workers, and 'breeds good seamen'. The gain on goods bought in India is about a third of what they would cost here. The prohibition of E.I. silks would hinder the woollen manufacture and would cause the price of silks from France, etc., to rise again. The Dutch would then be able to put their own rates upon their calicoes.

The effect of prohibition on the E.I. trade would be disastrous, for the profit of the trade not only affects the Adventurers, but also the country. The Dutch would be the gainers in India.

The conclusion arrived at is that the trade is really an advantage to the weavers.

- f. 307. 5 Jan., 1692-93. A recommendation to William Morris for factor to Bengal or Madras, and to his brother Bezaliel Morris to accompany him as a writer. Dated from Streatham.
- f. 303. 11 Jan., 1692-93. Satisfactory news from India. Arrival of the Dorothy from Madras. Dated from Streatham.
- f. 292. 3 March, 1692-93. He hopes the Co. will be successful in their petition to Parliament. He advises that 'Coja Panuse' should be paid without delay. He desires that Mr. Bright, Sir Job Charlton's kinsman, now going to India as a factor, may change one of his securities for another, etc.
- f. 286. 22 March, 1692-93. He recommends that Mr. Cormell be permitted to go aboard his ship. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 291. 22 March, 1692-93. He desires that Capt. Heath's account may be settled, as otherwise he cannot go to sea. He must consult the Govr. and the Dep. Govr. before finishing the Genl. Letter.
- f. 293. 1 April, 1693. An order for Mr. Poole, who was to go to Surat but was left behind, to sail in the Defence. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 214. 11 April, 1693. Notifying the transmission of letters to London.
- f. 248. 13 April, 1693. Concerning the bond of Mr. Poole's friend.
- f. 267. 24 April, 1693. He advises the departure of the Co.'s four 'Coast and Bay' ships. There should be no danger from one Interloper since twenty have been baffled formerly. He proposes that Capt. Oyles be ordered to fit his ship for India, with any other two or four to be found: protection could easily be obtained for six ships. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 231. 25 April, 1693. Mr. Charnock is to be advised that the Interloper has only permission to go to Madeira. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 208. 19 Aug., 1693. He returns all letters and papers except the abstract of the Fort Letter, which he keeps because he sees that Mr. Yale 'hath put in a charge against' Mr. Fraser, whom he is confident is an honest man. Dated from Cannons.
- f. 205. 8 Sept., 1693. Concerning the sailings of the Dorothy and the charge for her freight. Dated from Cannons.
- f. 275. 22 Sept., 1693. Regarding the sealing of a bond. The Co.'s business is 'often in his thoughts' during his 'country leisure'. Dated from Cannons.
- f. 294. 9 Oct., 1693. An introduction for the bearer to the Committee of buying of goods. Dated from Cannons.
- f. 279. 12 Oct., 1693. He has agreed for an eighth part of Capt. Rang's ship, which is to go to Fort St. George and Bengal.
- f. 211. 19 Oct., 1693. Concerning the freighting of ships. Sir John Morden is to be informed that the Kemphorne will be either laden or sold immediately. A reference to Mr. Lightborn's 'second proposal'.
- f. 309. 21 Oct., 1693. The Co. and owners of the ship are willing that Capt. Oyles should depart from Gravesend the 20th Nov., and out of the Downs on the 20th Dec. He need not carry kintledge. Dated from Cannons.
- f. 302. 5 Nov., 1693. Concerning the selling of lead by the Duke of Bolton.
- f. 265. 7 Nov., 1693. He has 'discontinued Courts' for so many years that he is not willing to recommence attendance at them. He will, however, give advice. He thinks it best to obtain the opinion of each individual adventurer as to whether such investor wishes the return of the money invested or to be credited for the same in the Co.'s books. Dated from Wanstead.

- f. 264. 30 Nov., 1693. Remarks concerning the cargo of the Dorothy.
- f. 249. 1 Dec., 1693. He has lent the King £6,000 on the Million Act. He is about to purchase land which will absorb all the money he receives from the Company, so that he cannot lend more than £5,000. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 308. 5 Dec., 1693. He recommends that, at Capt. Heath's request, the Amity have the same terms regarding her stay at St. Helena as were accorded to the Benjamin. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 202. 13 Dec., 1693. He hopes that the Govr., does not intend to buy two interloping ships, which would be a dead loss in time. The freights this year are heavy. The Co. owe a voyage to the Wanstead Frigate. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 222. 18 Dec., 1693. Concerning the sending of a new Chief to Bencoolen. Remarks on the assassination of the Govr. of St. Helena. Keeling suggested to fill his place. Dated from Streatham.
- f. 259. 22 Dec., 1693. Sir John Goldsborough's project concerning a Protestant Portuguese Church at Fort St. George is being carried out and the English Liturgy is now being translated at Oxford. Remarks on the proposition by 'Coja Panuse' to calender various goods.
- f. 241. 26 Dec., 1693. The bearer, William Hicks, recommended as a writer for India. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 230. ? 11 Jan., 1693-94. The petition of Elizabeth Child for the Company's charity (though no relation of Sir Josiah) is recommended to the Governor.
- f. 281. 11 Jan., 1693-94. He returns the sealed packet with additions to the Letter to Bengal and Madras. He enquires if Galloway is a safe port. The Dorothy must not stop at Tonquin. Remarks about the Protestant Portuguese church at Fort St. George. He has added to the Fort Letter a clause about the numerous new adventures. The same should be repeated to Surat and Bengal. It is reported that Mr. Heath is about to creep out in an Interloper. If this is true, he is not fit to be a factor. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 305. 15 Jan., 1693-94. Advice as to the sailing of the Thomas, the sending out of bullion and the coining of it. The Thomas should take out at least £50,000 for Surat. Directions about the cargo of the Thomas. A paragraph to be added to the letter to Persia about sending money to Surat and one to the Fort about coining silver into rupees.
- f. 289. 24 Jan., 1693-94. He sends a paragraph to be added to the Bengal letter. He remarks on goods bought of the Armenians at great profit to the Company. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 204. 29 Jan., 1693-94. Advice as to the sailing of Capt. Janaper, the sailing of the Martha, London frigate and Thomas. The long services of Mr. Ackworth, Chief of 'Retora', should be brought to the notice of the Company.
- f. 276. 5 Feb., 1693-94. The Company's sealed orders should be furnished to Mr. Langley as he is going where there is no settled Council. He has been requested to procure certain stuffs.
- f. 212. 9 Feb., 1693-94. Capt. Raynes must be at the head of the outgoing fleet. Next in command to him, Captains Hatton and Oyles. Remarks on the cargoes of the Martha and Success and on the treasure on board the Nassau and Mary. He suggests that a letter be written to Sir John Goldsborough and Council to send down the £30,000 required to Bengal by the London Frigate. As regards the indulgence requested by Capt. Hatton, the Co. will defer considering it until they know the result of the decision of Parliament with regard to their Charter.

- f. 215. 20 Feb., 1693-94. Concerning a present for the Governor of Surat, and a gratuity to Mr. Addis from the Co. for his services.
- f. 226. 21 Feb., 1693-94. He returns drafts of petitions to Parliament with remarks. Note of the lading of saltpetre on the Berkeley Castle and the Samson.
- f. 209. 3 March, 1693-94. He requests a charterparty for the Tonquin of which he and Capt. Heath are owners, the Commander being Mr. Page Cable [? Keble]. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 232. 6 April, 1694. If the King William sails for Surat on the 1st September, she may put in at St. Helena and carry rafts, deal boards, etc. also young people desirous of settling on the Island. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 285. 12 April, 1694. A recommendation of Mr. Waring to serve as a writer in India and to sail by the next Surat ships.
- f. 266. 25 April, 1694. Concerning Dr. Woodrif's bill and the binding of books. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 310. 24 May, 1694. Concerning the adjustment of all ships' accounts, the bill for the Benjamin and Tonquin: the shipping of soldiers on the Company's ships. The Tonquin or any other ship cannot be expected to carry two tons for one. Dated from Streatham.
- f. 219. 30 May, 1694. The Captain of the Mocha Merchant to be Admiral of the outgoing fleet, the Capts. of the Tonquin and the Benjamin to be next in rank. Dated from Streatham.

c. 1692. Account of memorials for convoys delivered to the Admiralty by the Company and what ships have been appointed for that purpose. MS. Rawl. A. 449, fol. 26.

1692. Resolutions of a Committee of the Old Company for regulating the East India trade. Dated 10 Dec., 1692. MS. Rawl. A. 303, fols. 109-10.

1. The East India trade to be carried on by a Joint Stock.
2. The sum necessary for the purpose not to be less than £1,500,000 nor more than £2,000,000.
3. The duration to be for 21 years.
4. Joint Stock to be made up by new subscriptions.
5. No subscription to be less than £100 or above £10,000.
6. Subscribers of £500 to have one vote.
7. No subscriber to have more than one vote.
8. The Governor to subscribe not less than £5,000.
9. The Deputy Governor to subscribe not less than £1,000.

10. The export of the Co. to amount to at least £100,000 of goods.
11. No private contracts for goods to be permitted except for saltpetre for the use of the Crown.
12. The Company to sell to the King yearly 500 tons of saltpetre at £35 per ton.
13. No foreigner to have any interest in the Company or to be employed abroad.
14. No contract for transfer of stock to be valid unless executed within a week.
15. No lot exceeding £500 to be put up at a time, except jewels.
16. Dividends to be paid in money. No dividend to be declared without leaving the original stock entire.

The above was read a second time and agreed upon. It was moved that a Bill be brought in upon the said resolutions: ordered.

1692-94. Six letters and notes to Mr. Woolley from Sir Josiah Child. MS. Rawl. A. 303, fols. 200, 233, 243-46, 290.

- f. 246. 31 Aug., 1692. A copy of Capt. Dorrill's charter desired.
- f. 313. 1 Sept., 1692. He has received letters and newspapers 'which please continue to send, as I must take some measures in the Co.'s affairs from the more public occurrences upon which ours depend. Forget not to get a bill for B wharf signed next Court.' We have been 'almost 1½ years out of that money'. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 243. 5 Sept., 1692. 'The Govr. and Deputy Govr. agree that you should give an order to Capt. Oyles to survey the new ship at Mr. Dorsett's dock, which please dispatch.'
- f. 244. 21 Sept., 1692. 'Pray hasten your Brother's Charterparty with the Company's Secretary, and if you can get the ship into the Downs next month she may go to China.' Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 245. 3 Oct., 1692. It 'mightily imports' the Company to hasten their ships 'with all speed'. Their ports to be fixed later, but the Resolution and Defence will be enough for 'Surat side'. Dated from Streatham.
- f. 290. 1 Nov., 1692. He has looked over the Packet. He expected before this to hear that the pirates in India, who comprise all nations, Danes, Dutch, English and French, would cause trouble. He hopes that the disturbance was over before the Kemphorne came away. As to Sandys' many actions, the best way to bring him to reason would be a short Bill in Chancery. Dated from Wanstead.
- f. 200. 27 April, 1693. He returns a letter with his signature. 'If I leave out what the Govr. would have altered, need write no private letter.' 'Nothing but an additional stock will do the Company's business and the dispatch of our ships before the season is lost.'
- f. 233. 22 March, 1693-94. He has perused the charterparty for the Tonquin sent to him by Capt. Heath, 'wherein I have made some alterations.' The dates appointed for the departure of the ship from Gravesend and the Downs cannot possibly be complied with, but the Tonquin will be as forward as any. Dated from Wanstead.

1695. A Copy of a Protest delivered President Annesley, etc., Council att Surat 18 April, 1695. By R. B. MS. Rawl. D. 946, fol. 161.

The protest concerns the sale to some Armenians of a bale of damaged cloth out of the ship Thomas for near £1,000 less than its value.

1695. Parliamentary enquiry respecting a charge of bribery on the part of the Company, April, 1695. MS. Rawl. A. 82, fol. 78.

This MS. is concerned with the examination of Sir Thomas Cooke as to monies paid to prevent the establishment of a new Company.

Begins: '23 April, 1695. All the Committee appointed by both houses of Parliament pursuant to the Act of Parliament for Examination of Sir Thomas Cooke. The Committee being met in the Exchequer Chamber, the Earle of Pembroke Lord Privy Seale being first in quality acted as Chaireman.'

p. 78 ends: 'Earl of Torrington. I doe not see you are like to reap any benefit by asking of Questions. If he hath any thing further to offer I would be glad he would speake it or withdraw.

'And accordingly he declareing he had nothing further to offer he withdrew.'

Charge: 'As to two sums of £67,000 and £10,000.' Sir Thomas Cooke to be imprisoned until they are discovered; £4,000 paid to one man, £10,000 to Mr. Tissen and another sum to him 'for service of the Company for preventing of a new Company and for services about the Old Charter.' Also sums to Sir Basil Firebrace and others. Sir Thomas Cooke is asked how these sums were disposed of. He replies that they were used for the service of the Company and to prevent Interlopers and to obtain a Charter. This is not considered a sufficient explanation. Mr. Richard Acton, who advanced £10,000, cannot give any account of the transaction owing to his head being affected by a fall from his horse.

The questioning of Sir Thomas Cooke is continued and the case is apparently not completed in this MS. See also Harl. MS. 7310, fol. 199 (Brit. Mus.).

1698. Report to the House of Commons from their Committee appointed to examine into the affairs of the Old Company, June, 1698. MS. Rawl. A. 302, fols. 230-31.

The Committee find, after examining the books of the E.I. Co., that the original Stock was £369,891-5-0.

Reports of various General Courts in 1680 and 1681 respecting dividends. Dividends from 1685 to 1691 furnished to the Committee, but no stated accounts or valuations upon which any of the said dividends were made can be found. The Company's Accountant has been examined. He knows of no such book of accounts, but states that upon the arrival of their ships, the Co. made general computations for dividends.

The Committee further enquired into the state of the Company's affairs about the time of the new subscriptions, 1693, i.e. what was owing to the Co. and what sums were advanced by the adventurers.

The Committee lays before the House the lists of subscribers, with the respective sums subscribed, distinguishing old adventurers from new. The total subscription money amounted to £1,220,314-13-5, which was afterwards reduced, according to the Charter, to £744,502-6-2.

Between 11 Jan., 1693 and 21 May, 1698 several adventurers sold out their whole stock to the amount of about £118,278-8-7.

The Committee report that what is owed on bond from 30 Nov., 1694 to 30 Nov., 1697 and their debt upon bond to 31 March, 1698 (to which time their books are balanced) is £631,554-19-10. The sum owing for customs is estimated at £44,177-9-4, and that due on sundry ships' accounts £10,191-7-3.

The Committee furnish an estimate of the Company's cash and credit in goods, etc.

On enquiring as to how the £744,000 was disposed of, the Committee were told that it was impossible to furnish a particular account, as it was all mixed up with 'the other monies'.

Representation from the Committee of the Company to the House of Commons, 15 June, 1698.

MS. Rawl. A. 302, fols. 131-32.

The Committee, in answer to a report made to the House of Commons by a Committee appointed to inspect the books of the E.I. Co., state:

That in 1691 an account of the Co. laid before the House amounted to more than £744,000.

That many of the adventurers offered themselves as securities for this amount.

That the Company continued to send out large and rich ships to India in order to make it appear at the time of calling in of the 50 per cent. on the 3rd May, 1693, that they had estate to that value.

To carry on the trade, it was agreed, on the 3rd May, 1693, that 50 per cent. should be advanced by the adventurers and repaid them again, with the agreement of new subscribers, as appears by Orders of the General Court.

- [1698.] Representation from the Company to the House of Lords, in answer to some propositions respecting the unprofitableness and disadvantage of the East India trade. MS. Rawl. A. 302, fols. 161-63.
- The Company represent:
That the spice trade having been cut off by the Dutch, they have only lately 'advanced in Callicoes, silks, drugs, etc.' Other points in the Representation relate to the export of bullion; the sending out by the Company of throwsters, dyers, etc.; the dealing in commodities tending to interfere with the trade of Great Britain; the trade of India and its liability to interfere with other foreign trades; the amount of bullion sent to India; the annual charge of the Company which is stated to be about £100,000; prohibition of goods manufactured in India; the settlement of the East India trade by Act of Parliament in a Company by a joint stock.
- [1698.] Twenty-eight Bye-laws proposed by the 'Committee appointed by the General Court of the English Company tradeing to the East Indies, to prepare By-lawes' [dated 1698 or early in 1699]. MS. Rawl. A. 303 fols. 73-76.

The Bye-laws relate to the keeping of the Seal and the cash; the cost of transfers; the Court of Directors to meet once a week; annuity money; persons not licensed by the Co. not to use the Company's ships; the licensing of traders; the withdrawing of a Director if concerned in any debate; the Directors and the Company's servants to take no fees; election of Directors; inspectors appointed to inspect the actions of the Directors; the buying of ships; Directors not to own ships after Michaelmas 1699; penalties for not remitting money when called for; allowances for prompt payment; yearly balance; the making of payments; printed lists to be delivered before the annual election of Directors; no note of Directors to be taken; no members to trade outside the Joint Stock; a Committee to inspect Bye-laws; orders for India to be signed by 13 Directors; orders for the election of Directors; penalty for breach of these laws.

- [? 1698.] Arguments against the importation from India of silks and manufactured goods, as destructive to home trade [dated c. 1698-1700]. MS. Rawl. A. 303, Art. 23, fols. 117-19.

The document contains long arguments against the importation from India of silks, etc., and also against the settling of the trade in the East India Co. for 21 years.

- [? 1698.] Arguments in favour of the East India trade and the importation of silks, calicoes, etc. [dated about 1698-1700]. MS. Rawl. A. 303, Art. 21, fol. 115.

The arguments controverted are that :

1. The goods are not necessities.
2. Their use prejudices the English manufactures.
3. Their use hinders the employment of British workers.
4. Their manufacture takes money out of the kingdom.

The writers sum up by hoping that the question will be settled by Act of Parliament.

Engagement between the 'Bantamers', assisted by the Dutch, and the people of Succadana.

Messrs. Glover and Goodman were compelled to leave their ship and were pursued by the enemy, of whom they killed thirteen. The ruler of Succadana lent them a 'gunt-ing' in which to go to Malacca, but they were intercepted by the 'Bantamers' who seized their goods and handed them over to the Dutch. On arrival at Bantam they were imprisoned and afterwards shipped to Malacca whence they eventually reached Madras in the Humphrey and Charles.

22 March, 1698-99. Meeting of the Grand Committee of 52 appointed by the General Court of the Company of Merchants of London Trading into the East Indies (Old Company).

Instructions for the Committee of Seven appointed to meet the Committee of Seven of the New Company, were given. Extracts were read of the Resolutions passed at a General Court of Adventurers, 13 Jan., 1698-99, expressing their willingness for a coalition, and that the Grand Committee of 52 be advised.

7 Feb., 1698-99. General Court of Adventurers.

Nomination of the Committee of Seven (named). Resolutions as to their instructions, and as to appointing more than seven if the New Company do likewise.

- 17 March, 1698-99. General Court of Adventurers.

One member of the Committee of Seven found to be unqualified; another appointed. The Grand Committee empowered to give written instructions to the Seven.

- 17 March, 1698-99. Grand Committee of Fifty-two.

Resolutions as to arrangements for meeting the Committee of Seven of the New Company.

- 22 March, 1698-99. Grand Committee of Fifty-two.

Resolution that five of the Seven shall be a quorum. Memorandum that the two Committees of Seven met on the following day and made an agreement as to the Minutes, etc.

- 27 March, 1699. Grand Committee of Fifty-two.

Resolutions as to secrecy. Report of the meeting of the Committees of the two Companies.

- 21 Feb, 1698-99. General Court of the New Company.

Nomination of the Seven of Committee (named). Instructions to be received from the Grand Committee of Forty-eight of the New Co.

- 7 March, 1698-99. General Court of the New Company.

Grand Committee of Forty-eight empowered to act.

- 22 March, 1698-99. Grand Committee of Forty-eight, New Company.

Five of the Seven to be a quorum.

- 23 March, 1698-99. Committee of the two Sevens.

Agreed that all transactions shall be in writing.

Heads to be discussed:

(1) Terms to be made for the £315,000 subscribed by Mr. Dûbois.

(2) Valuation to be put on Dead Stock of the Old Company.

The following propositions to be made to the Committee of Seven of the New Company:

(1) A sum to be agreed on for carrying on the trade as a General United Joint Stock.

(2) The proportion of the Old Company in the United Joint stock to be as £315,000 shall bear to the sum agreed on as an annual necessary export to India.

- 28 March, 1699. Grand Committee of the Old Company.

Resolution that the value of the Dead Stock be reckoned at £350,000.

Papers produced enumerating the Dead Stock.

Their Committee of Seven request the Committee of Seven of the New Co., to put forward in writing their proposition concerning the two heads above mentioned; otherwise the two propositions are to be withdrawn.

It is reported that the Committee of Seven of the New Co., agree on the points concerning the valuation of Dead Stock as per the meeting on the 23rd March.

- 30 March, 1699. Grand Committee of the Old Company. Concerning papers regarding the propositions as above, to be delivered to the Committee of the Old Company.

Here follows an account of the Dead Stock, with a list of all Factories, Ports, etc., Privileges, Revenues, etc., but no details of the actual value of the same.

- 3 April, 1699. Meeting of both the Committees of Seven. Resolutions concerning valuation of stock, etc., exchanged.

- 4 April, 1699. Meeting of the Grand Committee of the Old Company.

Report of the meeting of the New Company's Committee of Forty-eight on the 24th March and their resolve that the £315,000 subscribed by Mr. Dubois be admitted as if it had been originally subscribed. They are willing to come to an agreement regarding Dead Stock if they can be furnished with further particulars to enable them to judge of its value.

- 10 April, 1699. Meeting of both the Committees of Seven.

The New Company deliver a paper passed by the Grand Committee on the 6th April.

- 19 April, 1699. Meeting of the Grand Committee of the Old Company.

In answer to the proposition delivered at a Grand Committee of Forty-eight on the 6th April and to other Propositions and Papers, the Committee state that:

(1) It is impossible to name what sum of money the trade may require, as it is capable of enlargement.

(2) That two millions having been settled by Act of Parliament, any subscriber hereafter admitted ought not to expect more than his proportion, but if such subscriber should desire a greater portion than the £315,000 subscribed by Mr. Dubois, the Old Company will endeavour to procure it for him.

(3) Concerning Dead Stock, the Committee desire to know (i) the value of each Fort, etc., (ii) what the privileges and immunities were; (iii) whence the revenues arise.

- 26 April, 1699. Grand Committee of the Old Company.

Answers agreed on to the Paper from the New Company, dated 6 April, which answers were delivered to the New Company.

- 28 April, 1699. Meetings of both Committees of Seven.

The Old Company delivered a Paper, dated 26 April, to the New Company, being an answer to a Paper, dated 6 April.

- 18 May, 1699. Meeting of both Committees of Seven.

The New Company delivered a Paper dated 11 May, in answer to a Paper from the Old Company of 26 April.

- 30 June, 1699. Meeting of the Grand Committee of the Old Company.

The answer of the Grand Committee of Forty-eight dated 11 May, read. This was in answer to the Paper received from the Old Company, dated 26 April.

- 6 July, 1699. Grand Committee of the Old Company.

A collection of all transactions ordered to be made and to be presented to the General Court.

- 13 July, 1699. Meeting of the Committee of Forty-eight, New Co.

A message to be sent to the Old Company reminding them of the Paper from the New Company dated 11 May.

- 20 July, 1699. Meeting of the Grand Committee of the Old Company.

A resolution passed that an answer be sent to the New Co., stating that their proposals and replies do not show a disposition to unite the interests of the two Companies. The Grand Committee nevertheless desires a further conference in order to frame favourable terms.

- 28 July, 1699. Meeting of both Committees of Seven.

A paper dated 25 July delivered by the New Company to the Company.

- 3 Aug., 1699. Grand Committee of the Old Company.

Answer read from the Grand Committee of the New Co. of 25th July. They are surprised that the Old Company thinks that they do not show a disposition to unite. They cannot but think they have shown themselves ready to treat on terms both just and reasonable.

A Memorandum inserted here that occurrences between 3rd Aug.

and 14th Dec., will be found in the 'general Minute Book belonging to this fair one'.

20 Dec., 1699. Grand Committee of the Old Company.

Resolution that both the Committees of Seven shall meet on 'Friday next'.

22 Dec., 1699. Meeting of both the Committees of Seven.

'After some discourse wherein nothing was put down in writing, they all adjourned to the Rummer. Both sides forbore any further discourse.'

[?1699.] Arguments for and against the E.I. trade in silks, etc., with reference to home manufacture. MS. Rawl. A. 303, fols. 117-19.

The chief arguments discussed and confuted are :

That such importation of Indian goods will (1) take the place of English manufactures ; (2) divert money abroad ; (3) hinder the consumption of home manufactures ; (4) lead to monopolies.

Regulations are proposed to avoid the evils above mentioned.

See also fol. 115 of the same MS. noted above.

These Regulations were comprised under 26 heads as follows :

1. Subscriptions for £744,000.
2. To be paid within 3 months.
3. Each subscriber to take oath that the money subscribed is for the persons named.
4. If over £744,000 be subscribed, each subscriber to reduce proportionably.
5. No member to subscribe more than £1,000, including his present stock.
6. One-third of the amount to be paid down.

7. A subscriber of £500 may have one vote; of £4,000, two; of £6,000, three; of £8,000, four; of £10,000, five. None to have more than five votes.

8. Members to be incorporated by name of the 'Governor and Company of Merchants of London trading to the East Indies.'

9. Subscribers of £500 to choose the Governor, Deputy Governor and Committee. Governor and Deputy Governor to subscribe not less than £4,000. The Committee not less than £1,000.

10. The Governor, Deputy Governor and Committee to be chosen annually.

11. The Governor, Deputy Governor and Committee to take the oath of fidelity.

12. Every subscriber shall take his freedom, and pay a fine of £5, and take the oath.

13. All persons free of the former Company and subscribers to the present Stock to be admitted gratis.

14. The Company to make bye-laws.

15. A General Court to be called by the Governor or Deputy, the same to have casting votes.

16. No licences to be granted to trade to the East Indies on private account.

17. No private contracts for sale of goods to be allowed.

18. No lot of goods to exceed £500.

19. Their Majesties to have 500 tons of saltpetre annually at — per ton.

20. Yearly export of goods, etc., not less than £100,000.

21. All dividends to be paid in money.

22. The accountant to keep the book for the entry of stock.

23. All transfers of Stock to be entered in a book to lie open all day.

24. The Charter to last for 21 years and no longer.

25. A book of new subscriptions to be laid open before the end of the said 21 years.

26. The Company shall recommend Parliament to pass an Act for them to enjoy the monopoly of trade to the East Indies between Cape De Bona Esperanza and the Straits of Magellan.

- c. 1700. Fragment of a ship's trading journal at Banjar and 'Tartaso'. MS. Rawl. C. 841, fols. 25-26.

A brief view of the Weight and Consequence of the General trade, and of some considerable places in the Indies. MS. Rawl. C. 840, fols. 1-57.

The remarks are divided under five general Heads, viz., the interests of Spain, Portugal, France, Holland, and England, possessions in the Indies, etc.

The remarks on Spain relate mostly to the West Indies and America. Those on Portugal relate to Brazil, etc. Those on France to America, Hispaniola, etc. Those on Holland (a short account) to Guiana, East Indies (no places named), etc. The remarks on England relate to Africa, America, Bermuda, Jamaica, East Indies in general (no places named).

The whole is a warning of the dangerous consequences that may arise from the joint interests in the Indies, etc., of France and Spain, owing to the late union of their Crowns in the House of Bourbon.

- 1700-1. Bills of Exchange August, 1700— February 1700-1 (No names). MS. Rawl. D. 747, fols. 202-12.

- [1701.] The case of Adam Codey, on the behalf of his son William Codey, a Supercargo in China, respecting china ware, etc., brought home by him. MS. Rawl. A. 303, fol. 83.

Statement as to certain goods from China brought home in the Fleet frigate by William Codey.

Adam Codey acts for his son who is ill at Aix-la-Chapelle, and who is unwilling that certain China ware and fans should be included in the Company's stock. Various witnesses are summoned who attest that the goods were marked with young Codey's mark and that they were his own private property.

The document is undated, but as the voyage of the Fleet frigate to Amoy and back was begun 20 Oct., 1698 and ended 3 Feb., 1700-1 the 'Statement' should probably be dated as above, viz., 1701.

- 1701-2. Draft agreements and other papers relating to the Union of the two English E.I. Co.'s. Western MS. 29777 (now MS. Eng. Hist. b. 1), fol. 67.

[? 1680.] 'A Project to raise the King a benefit out of the East India trade, without impeaching the Merchants.' MS. All Souls College, 211, fol. 11.

'An estimate shewing what benefit his Majesty may make by the trade to the East Indies, and neither touch the King's Honour, decrease his Customes, nor tax the Company with any charge or losse worth the speaking of, nor disturbe or alter the course they are now in which are the most materiall things that may be objected.'

The first project sets forth that every holder of £100 stock shall lend his Majesty £10 gratis for three years.

The second project suggests that, as often as the Company takes £100 to admit adventurers of £1,000, they should give this £100 to the King or refuse admittance to the adventurer.

Four other projects of a similar nature follow.

1680. Copy of 'His Majesties Commission to Prince Rupert, Lord Chancellor Finch, etc., to treat with the Dutch Ambassador about the business of trade between the Dutch East India Company and our African Company' (Latin). MS. All Souls College, 211, fol. 41. Dated Whitehall 26 April, 1680.

After the project for a Treaty with the States General made two years since, and Theod. and Leyden and Leewen having been appointed legates by the Dutch to make the project into a Treaty of Navigation and Commerce, the King appoints Prince Rupert, Baron Finch, John Earl of Radnor, and others, to be his deputies to treat with the States General concerning the matter.

[? 1682.] Papers having reference to the East India Co. MS. All Souls College, 239.

- f. 436-37. Unsigned letter to Sir Leslie Jenkins concerning matters discussed with him the day before, relating to alterations in 'the present

East India Company', which 'I observed stuck with his Majestie.' The letter also refers to the New Charter, new subscriptions, controversy between the East India Company and the Turkey Company, etc. The letter is dated 8 June, but the year is missing.

- f. 451-52. A paper without title or signature suggesting that the East India Company's patent being under debate, his Majesty himself should put £200,000 into the stock. The sum need not come out of his own purse but could be lent him upon the credit of the Co. The writer brings forward arguments in favour of this scheme. The letter contains a mention of the year 1680, but the document is undated.
- f. 453. 17 April, 1682. Paper referring to the petition of the E.I. Co. heard by the Privy Council, to new money subscribed, and expressing a hope that the New Charter may be determined and that the money subscribed may be taken into the trade under it. The writer conceives that thereby no prejudice will arise to (1) His Majesty's Government, (2) his revenue, (3) the East India trade.
- f. 454. 'The two Questions proposed.'
1. 'What expedient they would offer to make the trade of the East India Company lesse prejudiciall to the Nation than it is now said to be.'
 2. 'What they will offer for the particular Government of a new Company, that the power may lie in the hands of such only as shall be well affected to the present Government.'
- Answers to the above. No date.
- *f. 455. An unsigned letter relating to the new subscriptions for the East India Company, to the silk trade and to the prejudice of the Turkey merchants against the same.

PRIVY COUNCIL REGISTERS

PRIVY COUNCIL REGISTERS

- 1600. Letter, dated 16 Sept., 1600, from the Privy Council to Sir John Harte, Kt., Alderman Banneringe, and the rest of the Adventurers in the intended voyage to the East Indies. P.C. 2/25, fol. 366.

The Adventurers desire to 'set forth' 6 ships and 6 pinnaces for the above voyage. Her Majesty having considered the request, approves the voyage and gives permission for preparations to be made.

- 1600. Letter from the Privy Council to the Adventurers in the intended voyage to the East Indies. P.C. 2/25, fols. 399-400.

Although Her Majesty's permission has been given for the furtherance of this voyage, proceedings have apparently been 'stayed' upon a rumour that the voyage will not be permitted. The Adventurers are informed that Her Majesty's permission having been given, it cannot be withdrawn without dishonour, and they are therefore encouraged to hasten all preparations.

- 1600-1. Letter from the Privy Council to the Attorney General, dated 4 January 1600-1. P.C. 2/26, fol. 41.

Stating that the Commission under the Great Seal for making new coinage for merchants going to the East Indies is defective and praying for a speedy correction, or the whole voyage may be endangered.

- 1600-1. Order in Council dated 11 January, 1600-1. P.C. 2/26, fol. 33.

Great difficulties having been caused to the newly chartered E.I. Co., owing to subscribers who formerly promised subscriptions retracting their promises, they are now ordered to furnish their promised contributions 'by Satterday nexte' or they shall be committed to prison until they comply.

[Note.—The Registers from 1604 to 1612, were destroyed by fire.]

- 1613. Letter from the Privy Council to Sir Daniel Dunn, Judge of the Admiralty, dated 14 Oct., 1613. P.C. 2/27, fol. 94a.

Reporting the mutinous conduct of the crews of East India ships and suggesting measures to be taken to prevent the hazard of the loss of ships and goods.

- 1613. Letter from the Privy Council to Lord Chichester, Lord Deputy of Ireland, dated 7 Nov., 1613. P.C. 2/27, fols. 95-95a.

Reports the seizure as a pirate of the E.I. Co.'s ship Peppercorn at Waterford on her return voyage and the imprisonment of her captain, Nicholas Downton, and members of his crew. It is ordered that the vessel and prisoners be released and assistance rendered them.

A similar letter of the same date was sent to the Earl of Ormond.

1613. Letter from the Privy Council to Sir Thomas Edmondes, Kt., H.M. Ambassador with the French King, dated 29 Nov., 1613. P.C. 2/27, fols. 104a-5.

Regarding the unpaid balance of the loss on the Union, wrecked and plundered off Brittany in 1611, on her return from the East Indies.

- 1613-14. Letter from the Privy Council to Sir Richard Sands, Kt., dated 11 Jan. 1613-14. P.C. 2/27, fols. 119, 124.

Orders regarding goods landed at Queenborough from the E.I. Co's ship Pearl, wrecked on the coast of Ireland.

A similar letter, dated 13 Jan., regarding goods from the same ship taken to Wales.

- 1613-14. Order in Council, 17 March, 1613-14. P.C. 2/27, fol. 137a.

A ship, illegally freighted for the East Indies by Englishmen and foreigners, about to sail from France, is forbidden to proceed. Eustace Man is to be sent back to England.

- 1614-15. Warrant of Privy Council, dated 20 Jan., 1614-15. P.C. 2/27, fols. 259a-60.

Information has been received that the Company's trade in the United Provinces is not profitable on account of the inconvenient situation of their staple. To enable His Majesty to form his own judgment, the Companies are required to report the value of their goods and debts now in the United Provinces, their nature and sort, etc.

- 1619. Proceedings of the Privy Council, P.C. 2/30, fols. 241-42.
27 June, 1619.

Regarding a controversy between the E.I. Co. and the Dutch as to building forts on the Isles of Molucca and Banda. The urgency on both sides nearly caused the breaking off of the Treaty. His Majesty suspends the question for three years for the benefit of his merchants and in order to compose the differences that have happened between them and the Dutch in the East Indies, where hostilities and much shedding of blood have occurred. His Majesty assures the Company of his favour and care towards them and of His Royal protection against all injury by others. If, at the end of the three years, the Dutch will not accommodate the merchants in the matter of forts, etc., His Majesty will break off the Treaty and provide what is most suitable.

1620. Letter from the Privy Council to Sir Henry Martin, Kt., Judge of the Admiralty, etc., dated 4 July, 1620. P.C. 2/30, fol. 550.

The E.I. Co., in Dec. 1618, sent the Bear and Star to the East Indies, Thomas Berwick being in command of the former. On his arrival in India, Berwick allowed certain of the Company's ships to become a prey to the Dutch and also surrendered the Bear to them without resistance. Such conduct being deserving of punishment, Berwick has been placed in Newgate. The Company pray for 'legal course' against him.

Two more letters on the same subject were written on the 12th July, and 11th Dec., 1620. See fols. 563, 649.

1621. Petition from the E.I. Co. to the Privy Council, dated 16 June, 1621. P.C. 2/31, fols. 54-55.

They complain of the insufferable wrongs done to them by the Dutch in taking their ships and goods (of which they can get no restitution), using violence upon the persons of their factors in the East Indies, and otherwise breaking the Treaty. Sir Noel Caron, Ambassador Resident for the States General, is called before the Board and representations made to him of these matters. He is reminded of the promises formerly made that Commissioners should arrive last Whitsuntide for the settlement of differences and is informed that redress is expected. The Ambassador promises that the Commissioners shall arrive by Midsummer, with full authority to give satisfaction.

1621. Letter from the Privy Council to the E.I. Co., dated 19 Oct., 1621. P.C. 2/31, fol. 169.

Engaging their favour and courtesy towards Danish merchants in the East Indies.

1621. The charges of the E.I. Co. against George Ball, while factor in the East Indies, heard by the Board, 9 Nov., 1621. P.C. 2/31, fols. 186, 197-98.

It is ordered that the charges be put in writing and a due trial take place.

On 23 Nov., the E.I. Co. announce their intention to proceed against George Ball in the Star Chamber.

- 1621-22. Letter from the Privy Council to the King's Majesty, dated 9 Feb., 1621-22. P.C. 2/31, fols. 265-68.

Regarding the E.I. Co. and the Ambassadors of the States General.

Note of a conference between the English Commissioners and those of the States General to discuss the restoration and compensation for goods seized in the East Indies and also property. The Dutch exorbitant in their demands. Long account of proceedings on the subject.

- 1622. Letters from the Privy Council to His Majesty, dated 19 and 24 Oct., 1622. P.C. 2/31, fols. 494-95, 501.

Dealing with a proposed conference between the Ambassadors of the States General and the King concerning the affairs of the E.I. Co. The importance of the subject is emphasized as it involves a considerable revenue to the King. The Council's opinion on the matter is expressed at length.

- 1622. Letters from the Privy Council to His Majesty, dated 19 Nov. and 3 Dec., 1622. Conference with the Ambassadors of the States General. P.C. 2/31, fols. 513-15, 526-27.

The following points were discussed: Disputes regarding Bantam; pepper brought into Holland; restitution of goods at Lantore; the exchange of reals of eight.

No satisfaction was obtained. The Ambassadors refused to permit the erection of forts at Molucca, Amboyna and Banda, although the Treaty period had elapsed. Long discussions had taken place, but no settlement was reached. The Ambassadors had withdrawn to Newmarket, etc., etc.

- 1623-24. Declaration of King James of 30 Jan., 1623-24. P.C. 2/31, fols. 568-69.

Regarding various points of the East India business. Freedom to both Companies to erect forts in India under certain conditions, excepting only Molucca, Banda and Amboyna; forts built by the Netherlands Co. since the Treaty to be demolished; remarks on ships of defence, punishment of offences, payment and victualling of garrisons, enforcement of courtesy and good treatment to English subjects by Govrs. and others, etc., etc.

- 1623-24. Note of payment, on the 31st Jan., 1623-24 of £20,000 by the Ambassadors of the States General to the E.I. Co. in reals of eight (Spanish dollars). P.C. 2/31, fol. 572.

- 1624. Proceedings of the Privy Council, 5 Aug., 1624. P.C. 2/32, fols. 407-8.

The E.I. Co. desire to be wholly separated from the Dutch and therefore wish the Treaty to be declared void. They further desire to be allowed to erect forts in India and to be guaranteed against loss from Dutch ill-usage. They request that a Dutch ship, now in Plymouth from the East Indies (value £60,000) may be seized and also measures taken to capture four other Dutch ships shortly expected, etc., etc.

The Council notes the Company's apparent hesitation as to accepting His Majesty's offer to become an adventurer.

the President and factors of the 76.
E.I. Co. residing in Persia and Surat, dated 26 Feb., 1627-28.

H.M.'s Ambassadors, Sir Dodmore Cotton and Sir Robert Sherley, are to be transported to Persia in one of the E.I. Co.'s ships outward bound, viz., the Mary, Hart, Star, Hopewell and a pinnace called the Scout. They are to go merely as passengers, having no control over the ships or goods; and when landed they are to have authority only in things pertaining to their Commissions.

- 1627. Proceedings of the Privy Council, P.C. 2/35, fol. 349a.
11 April, 1627.

Whereas on the 20th March last His Majesty granted permission to the E.I. Co to transport to the Indies in English gold or silver coin the sum of £20,000 on condition that within three months the said Company should bring into His Majesty's Mint the sum of £25,000 foreign coin to be coined there, the Company only used His Majesty's favour to export £10,000. They therefore pray only to return £12,500, the just proportion. Agreed to.

1627. Proceedings of the Privy Council, P.C. 2/36, fol. 235a.
19 December, 1627.

It is reported that large quantities of saltpetre are imported into England in the ships of the E.I. Co. and in those of the Dutch Company, now 'stayed' at Portsmouth. It is ordered that all the saltpetre of both Companies be 'stayed', being greatly needed, until the quality and value be tested, when further orders shall be given.

1627-28. Letter from the Privy Council to the Surveyor of the Land Carriages, H.M. Customs in the Port of London, dated 4 January, 1627-28. P.C. 2/36, fols. 251-51a.

Goods laden in the Expedition from the East Indies, the property of the East India Company, have been secretly landed in the Isle of Wight and elsewhere to the detriment of the Company and of H.M.'s customs. H.M.'s Warrant for the surrender of such goods has been defied. All such goods are to be seized, etc.

1628. Warrant, dated 30 May, 1628. P.C. 2/36, fol. 181.

To free the E.I. Co. from their contract to bring in £40,000 in foreign gold, they having brought in a relative proportion.

1628. Order in Council, dated 11 July, 1628. P.C. 2/38, fols. 297-98.

In accordance with former promises by His Majesty to the E.I. Co. of support and assistance in case of injustice on the part of the Netherlands E.I. Co., three of the said Company's ships were seized at Portsmouth as a reprisal for the Amboyna massacre. The Ambassador of the States General now definitely promises the arrival of an Embassy in Sept. next to settle all differences, and His Majesty therefore permits the release of the ships on this understanding, promising the East India Company future aid should the States not fulfil their promises.

The Colonial Series consists of Printed Calendars for the years 1613-99; but this series contains practically nothing relating to the East Indies.

SOME SERIES OF SEVENTEENTH CENTURY RECORDS AT THE INDIA OFFICE

SOME SERIES OF SEVENTEENTH CENTURY RECORDS AT THE INDIA OFFICE

THE India Office, as recently pointed out by Sir William Foster,¹ C.I.E., now official Historiographer, contains the second largest accumulation of historical documents in the United Kingdom—a fact little known—and the range of subjects and countries to which they relate is but little recognised.

The fact that the Calendars of State Papers, Colonial—East Indies, of Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury, to the year 1634 (including every document of the Original Correspondence Series to that year) were issued by the Public Record Office, and that many of the original MSS. calendared are to be found there, coupled with the general rule of centralization of Public Records in that storehouse of the National Archives, may have helped to mislead many students. Although the history of the Dutch in the East is so closely related with that of the struggle with England for supremacy in the trade of the East Indies, so distinguished an authority as Professor Blok, in his Preliminary Survey of Archives in England relating to the History of the Netherlands, does not mention the India Office Collections. The omission may have been a deliberate one, the examination of the India Office Records being reserved as within the purview of the specialist on Colonial History, whom Professor Blok considered it desirable to send to England. Whatever the cause, these Archives have not been included in the subsequent investigation of Dr. Brugmans, who, at the time of his visit to England, hampered by the want of detailed catalogues at the Record Office, as well as in some great English Libraries, found it an impossible task to examine every document, and was thereby led to the course of first cataloguing documents relating to certain selected periods of Dutch history existing at the Public Record Office. Neither Dr. Colenbrander nor Dr. Japikse quotes from any sources at the India Office, although letters and papers from the Bodleian, and various College Libraries, and from the Lambeth Archiepiscopal Library are reproduced or analysed in their works.

For a complete summary of the various series of Records at the India Office and indications of the contents of the most important among them, as well as an outline of their history and vicissitudes, the student must be referred to Sir William Foster's indispensable handbook, the Guide to the India Office Records, 1600-1858, issued in 1919, by the India Office.

Of the ten printed Press Lists of the present Record Department, three contain the documents of the period with which this report is immediately concerned, namely the Seventeenth Century:

List of the Marine Records (1896), by F. C. Danvers.

List of the Factory Records (1897), by F. C. Danvers.

General Records, 1599-1879 (1902), by Sir Arthur Wollaston.

The above lists were only printed for official use, and hence are not generally available; but copies are on the shelves of the Reading Room in the

*India Office Library. The Catalogue of the Library should also be consulted.

The notes given below relate mainly to documents not hitherto analysed or calendared or to series not already in process of publication, and are derived from direct examination of the originals; but a brief reference to the chief Seventeenth Century collections, based on the official lists and publications, may also be of some practical interest and is therefore appended as a preface to the more detailed description to follow.

In addition to the original records kept in the Record Department, important collections, such as the Mackenzie, the Orme, and the Philip Francis MSS. are preserved in the India Office Library. A detailed catalogue of the two collections of the Mackenzie MSS. by Mr. C. Otto Blagden was published in 1916 as Vol. I of the Catalogue of Manuscripts in European Languages belonging to the Library of the India Office; a catalogue of the Orme MSS., by Mr. S. Charles Hill was issued as Vol. II in the same year.

It may be noted here that a Catalogue of the HOME MISCELLANEOUS Series of the Records, on a similar plan, is now being compiled by Mr. Hill.

Although the ORME MSS. consist principally of Eighteenth Century documents, there are a certain number relating to the Seventeenth Century, e.g.,

No. 260. Memorandum of Surat, 1660-61.

No. 263. Original Journal of the Loyall Merchant, Nicholas Millett, Commander, 7 April, 1663 to 26 July, 1664, containing an account of Sivaji's attack on Surat.

A manuscript index to Dutch voyages is also amongst the papers. A full index to the catalogue forms a guide to the contents of the papers, as far as they have been analysed.

*Included in the MACKENZIE COLLECTION are many translations into English, of Dutch printed works and of Javanese MSS. The section known as the 'Private Collection' comprises matter in English, Dutch, French and Portuguese, though the first two languages largely predominate. Although a considerable portion of the material consists of copies or translations, there is much besides, and much that either is unique or exists elsewhere only in MS., e.g. copies or duplicates of Dutch records, of which the originals or other copies are preserved at Batavia. Some of the unpublished documents are 'of very considerable historical value'; among the more notable of these are those relating to the Dutch Government of the Coromandel Coast, with its centre first at Pulicat and later at Negapatnam, and especially a series (not quite complete) of reports of outgoing Governors, beginning in 1632 and ending in 1771.¹

MARINE RECORDS

The Journals of all the East Indian Voyages of the East India Company, from 1600 to 1616, were in the custody of Richard Hakluyt, first Historiographer to the Company, and after his death came into the hands of the Rev. Samuel Purchas. In 1625, the latter published in four volumes, Hakluytus Posthumus, or Purchas his Pilgrimes, containing the materials drawn from the Journals and some other sources, the framing 'those materials to their due place and order', as he conceived them, being his own

'Artifice'. Of the originals, many have been lost; others only exist as fragments; of those that remain many are damaged. The loss, originally due to neglect, was increased in latter years by wholesale destruction ordered by the Company in 1818 and 1860. The earliest Journal extant among the Records of the India Office, is a fragment due to an officer on board the Ascension (probably Falconer) covering but a few days (31 July—4 August 1605) of the Second Expedition.

Abstracts of the Ships' Journals, 1610-23, are contained in MARINE RECORDS, Section III, Miscellaneous, No. 3, q.v.

The reference numbers and description of all those preserved in the Record Department of the India Office will be found in the LIST OF MARINE RECORDS by Mr. F. C. Danvers, the Introduction to which should be studied as well as the notes in the Guide (p. 106 et seq.).

Particulars of the Journals of the early voyages based on the above List are given below, and a number of the unpublished Seventeenth Century Journals have been selected for examination. All notes of any historical interest have been reproduced in full, and all portions of the Journals, other than the mere routine entries of an ordinary ship's log, have been extracted—generally in extenso. The contents are varied—the fight of the 22nd August, 1673, off the Indian Coast between the East India Company's fleet under Captain Basse and twenty Dutch ships; a mutiny at St. Helena against the Governor; minor mutinies on board ship; facilities for victualling at various places and the price of provisions; details of the Company's trade; incidents of the life on board; lists of seamen, soldiers and passengers; sufferings due to disease and deaths of seamen and passengers; occasional references to marriages; mentions of strange birds, beasts and fishes, some of abnormal size—these matters and much else are to be found recorded within the pages of the Journals.

- 9 Feb., 1672-73. '... Anchored in Lapray road at the Island Ste. Agoe' [St. Jago, Santiago, Cape Verd Is.].

'Sent my boat ashower to know what newes and the Governor tould them that yisterday in the morning came into this place 3 Dutch shippis, 2 great and one small, all 3 shippis of warr: about 4 afternoon Capt. Mundin with his fleet coming about the point, the Dutch cutt thear cables and sett saile and Capt. Mundin after them, firing at them and they ware in fight till 10 night: the guns was heard, and thear was another Dutch Shipp of warr at St. Agoe town: he seing the other ingaged, did not goe out to his consoarts aide, but as soon as it was darke, satt saile and stered away from them by a wind. One of thear boats and men ware left behind and came to Ste. Agoe town. They tould this Governour, I me[a]n the Captains of the Shippis which ware att Lapray, that they had bin out of Holland 2 months, and came out 25 saile in Company, and ware all at the Cannarys and sepperated by foule weather, and they came to Ste. Agoe to look for the English and found a tartur. Our shippis tooke up all thear anchers and cables, and it was tould 2 of our Comanders which we sent ashower to give the Governor a vissitt, that at Ste. Agoe town they saw 7 shippis that morning we came into the road, soe that it may be concluded that Capt. Mundin hath taken one of them. This afternoon called a Consultation . . . It was thought conveneant to hastin all our boats aboard, and saile assoon as we could gitt redy, not knowing how soone any of the other 25 Dutch shippis may arive hear. . . .

- 10 Feb., 1672-73. '... Wee all satt saile from the Island Ste. Agoe, being 8 shippis besides my selfe. . . .

- 3 March, 1672-73. '... This morning called a Consultation about the boatswain and his maite for abuseing of Mr. Housier, fourth maite, about the triming the sailes. They were seaverly checked for it and promised not to doe the like again. Allsoe this forenoon our foremast men, some part of them, wear gott together one the forecastle about allowance of bread, having but 17 pounds this weeke for 5 men and 18 pounds formerly, they refused to doe the woark which the boatswain comanded them. I sent the boatswain to them, to bid them goe about thear buisnes, but they refused. Then I went foroud upon the forecastle with my hanger in my hand and drove them all of[f] and eavery man to his woarke. . . .

- 16 April, 1673. 'Saw 3 shippis; spake with two of them shippis; it was the Johanna and Barnedistant from the Coast', the third being the Rebeckah. There had come out in company with them the 'Loayall Subject, Bartly Castle and Ann. Capt. Fisher in the Bartly Castle they saw but 2 dayes before they mett with us. They told Capt. Brown that they was dead freighted: thear was not goods to load them.' In November there went from 'Jefenyptan one Island Zeelone 25 Dutch shippis, but wheather they went they know nott; they did exspeckt them one the Coast [of Coromandel], but did not come thear.'

- 16 May, 1673. 'Anchored in the Road of Johanna with all our fleet, being in all 9 shippis. . . . We had 22 men that had the scurvy, 4 of which could not goe [walk], but ware carried ashower in cradills, and most part of our fleete in the same condition, some of them worse. . . .

- 17 May, 1673. ' . . . The ships heeled, sheathing mended and cleaned, took two boats of 'ballis' and one of water aboard. 'This day received a letter from the King [of Johanna, Comoro Is.] which was left by Capt. Richard Goodlad, bareing dated [sic] the 13th of August 1672, being bound for Surrat.'
- 19 May, 1673. Visit to the King and exchange of presents, every Commander receiving a bullock.
- 20 May, 1673. Cleared the ships. Bullocks, goats and provisions brought on board. A letter left on the Island to be delivered by the King to the next English ships arriving. Information that French ships have been at this island, nine two years ago and three the last year. Note of prices of several provisions. Oranges, lemons, limes and sweet potatoes may be bought for 'triffling things'. . . . 'We have not found soe faithfull deallings with the people as formerly, for at last when we ware to goe away, they brought very small cattle, and did not supply us with all things necessary; they ware very caustious in tacking of peeces of 8/8; none but Civill money [Spanish dollars] would pass with them.'
- 22 May—10 June, 1673. From Johanna towards Madras. Hindered by staying for the fleet.
- 11 and 13 June, 1673. A consultation as to the course.
- 16 June, 1673. 'Zelone' seen. 'The Land remarkable is a hill like unto Westmester Abbe. . . .'
- 17 June, 1673. 'From Zelone towards Madarasaptam . . . Spake with 3 Junckes; carried them along with us.' On enquiry of the Portuguese pilots for Dutch letters or goods, a letter directed to Heer 'Ricklif von gonce, Admirall of 18 saile of Dutch shippis rideing at Negoptam' was, after a general Consultation on board the London, directed to be opened, but nothing of importance was found in it. It was also agreed to secure the junks and to tow them as they 'sailed very heavy'.
- 19 June, 1673. . . . One of the junks broke away, and 'being leakey, could not indure, soe left her.'
- 21 June, 1673. Received a letter from the Agent and Council of Fort St. George. A Consultation was called. On opening the letter, it was found that the 'Dutch did ride all the shower along from St. Thomay to Fort St. George, 12 shippis of warr and 2 small vessills; the pourport of the letter was, that if we thought ourselves not strong enough to deale with the Dutch, then to goe of[f] into the Sea and make the best of our way for Metchleptam. It was debated by us all wheather to goe for Madarasaptam and fight our way through the Dutch: but it was concluded by all that in regard the Companyes treasure was one board our shippis, and all thear concerns for this yeare, to goe for Metchleptam and thear receive farther orders to land our treasure.' It was decided to carry the junks with the fleet lest they should give information to the Dutch.

A Dutch flag was seen flying on land, on a factory to the north of 'Poole Cheze.'

Information was received from Mr. Harrison that another Dutch fleet of 8 sail, in addition to the first 14, 'all great shippis of fliboats', which had taken in goods at several places on the coast, were lying before St. Thomé and Fort St. George, 22 ships in all; that a French man-of-war of about 50 or 60 guns had fought her way through five Dutch men-of-war and had got to windward of them . . . 'Att

3 afternoon we saw the French shipp under saile, standing of[f] for feare of us; the Vice Roay Delahay was one board of her, as informed.'

24 June, 1673. Owing to difficulties experienced in towing the captured junks, it was, on consultation, decided to cast them off, and 'the parsons concernd was as willing to be cast of[f] as we to lett them goe. . . .'

26 June, 1673. . . . Anchored in Masulipatam Road . . . Sent a letter to Matthew Mainwaring, Chief of the Factory.

27 June, 1673. 'This forenoon Mr. Matthew Manwering came one board our shipp. Fired at his comeing and goeing 12 peece of Or[d]nance. In said boat sent our Chist of Gould and empty Caskes, with some other goods consigned for Foart St. George. . . .'

28 June, 1673. The greater part of the fleet 'wayed' and went to the Southward. . . .

29 and 30 June, 1673. Provisioning.

3 July, 1673. Capt. Erwin sent an officer on board with the news that 'John Pounsted [Pounsett] which came over with Capt. Earwin, a dier', had brought 2 or 3 letters from England for a Dutch merchant and had delivered them to the Dutch at Masulipatam.

A Consultation was called aboard to consider the advisability of riding off Masulipatam or weighing for 'Dew' [Divy] point. The latter course was decided upon, subject to the consent of Mr. Mainwaring and the Council, and a request was sent for the Council to come on board for consultation, since no orders had been received from Fort St. George.

4 July, 1673. Received a letter from Mr. Mainwaring advising of the arrival of 12 Dutch ships south of Divy point, and thereupon all set sail, but later two members of Council came on board and a general consultation was held respecting the landing of the Company's treasure. It was eventually decided to retain the treasure on board and to anchor off Divy Point.

12 July, 1673. The fleet off 'Dew point'. This day received an order from Mr. Mohun and Council at Masulipatam concerning Mr. John Pounsett, who was kept in confinement. It was ordered that he should be removed on board the Bombay Merchant; a copy of his letter which he sent ashore to Mr. John Whitehead, chaplain, and a 'certificate of his examination' [were also sent aboard].

13-18 July, 1673. At the desire of Mr. Mohun and Council, consultations were held on board 'about goeing for Madarasaptam' and returning to Masulipatam. The Commanders promised to use their best endeavours to reach Madras, if commanded to do so, but could give no undertaking as to time.

19 July, 1673. All the fleet set sail, bound for Madras. Several of Capt. Cruft's men, who had attempted to desert, and were on Capt. Hide's ship, sought to escape again, but being brought back on board their own ship, 'they began to mutiny and sware att strange rates.' Their complaints were examined by Capt. Basse, four other commanders and Mr. Hinmars, Second at Madras. Five of the men were sent in irons 'into five seaverall shippes'.

30 July, 1673. By the afternoon all the fleet except the Unity had anchored in Madras Road, also Capt. Westlock from England, 'which was wellcome newes unto us all.'

A French 'shollup' with the Capt. Commanding in Chief under Viceroy Delahay came to bring a complimentary letter.

The Company's chest of gold and their goods were landed.

31 July, 1673. Captain Cruft in the Unity anchored in the Road.

4 Aug., 1673. M. Barron, Director General for the French, and later, Sir William Langhorne, Agent at Fort St. George, came on board and had a long private discourse in the Round House. M. Barron had come 'to borrow money of Sir William, but could not obtaine his desire, for Sir William would not furnish him with any betwixt 6 and 7 night.'

5 and 6 Aug., 1673. A consultation was held on board the Unity and seven of Capt. Cruft's men, including his mate, were sent on shore to be kept in irons. Four of Capt. Andrews' men ran away from the Caesar, in the ship's boat to Pulicat.

8 Aug., 1673. '... Mounser Barron, the French Derecter Ginerall sent to speake with me; it was to borrow 30,000 rupes of all the Comanders: but we had it not to lend him one such tearmes as neaver to receive it again.'

9 Aug., 1673. Set sail from Madras to Masulipatam.

15 Aug., 1673. Anchored in Muslipatam Road. A Consultation held on board Capt. Westlack's boat, the Massingberd.

19 Aug., 1673. '... This morning Mr. Moohune received a letter from Sir William Langhorne beareing [date] the 12th instant; gave account of 20 saile of Dutch shipp then in sight of St. Thoma, but wheather bound know not. I presantly [immediately] ordered our shipp to be made cleare and put all things in hould. . . . Mr. Chambrelain came one board our shipp to give eavery Commander his dispatch. . . . About 4 he gave me mine and went. . . .'

20 Aug., 1673. The fleet set sail from Masulipatam towards Madras.

22 Aug., 1673. '... About 6 this morning saw the Dutch fleete consist- ing of 20 saile, 14 men of warr, 3 fliboats, 2 doggers and one hoye, Ingaged with 20 sail of Dutch ships, of them 15 that fought.

which lay to windwards of the fleete. About 8 morning tackt to git all our Fleete into a line for our better defence against the enemy. . . . About 10 the Dutch fired at us. Then we began to ingaige: about $\frac{1}{2}$ an houer past 6 afternoon the Dutch left of chaiseing and firing at us, and we at them, we having the worst of it, by the loss of our Vice Admirall [Capt. Hide] Rair Admirall [Capt. Earning] and Antelope [Capt. Goldsborough], the which was accastioned by some of our fleete lying to leeward and doeing noe sarvise nor damnefying the enemy; neither did they keepe malme [sic] all the time of the ingaiment, but came away and left thear flaggs (it was Capt. Andrews, second to the Rare Admirall: Capt. Goulsbrough his other second fought very stoutly and kept by his flagg and was lost with him), as allsoe others of my oawne devistion, and Capt. Hides ware a little space in a line, but bore to Leewards and theare lay, but did the enemy no damadge: Capt. Cooly wanting shott long before the ingaiment was over. Capt Hide, the Vice Admirall, fought very stoutly, being disabled, boare away about $\frac{1}{2}$ an houer past five afternoon. He was boarded by one Dutch shipp one his starboard quartur and another laide him one board amidship one his Larboard side. Our shipp being very much disabled: all our sailes and wriging shott to peeces, and mainemast shott in 3 places . . . and our ship very much toarn with shott: 5 men killed owtright, beside the sad accedent of powder blowing up at 2 seaverall times bourned 18 of our men verry dangerously, sett the steard [sic] and great Cabbin afire and galleries and the cloaths on the Quartur deck, and my coat one my back: but by the Providence of God, we soone put all the flour out, but still kep[t] firing our guns; one the gundeck more wounded with shott and splinters, with broaken leggs and thyes, 9, besides seaverall others with small wounds, which was the reason of my not staying to releive the Vice Admirall, or should I have staid longer to ingaige, I might have bin in very great danger of loseing my shipp, seeing none of my devistion stay by me but Capt. Browne, and he was verry much disabled. He kept in his line all the time of the ingaignment and fought well, but all the rest a very little time. Capt. Earwin which lead the van, within an houer and a halfe or two houers after we first ingaiged, bore away, having received some shot under watter in hould, as he tould me the next day, and come not up to ingaige any more, neither did Capt. Cruft, whoe bore away with him; but what his defects were I know not: little to be seene one his sailes or rigging: onely he saith that [he] had a shott in his foreyard. Capt. Westlock neaver came up in his line all day. He was Capt. Hides second, but kept to Leeward of him, and did not stay to his assistance.

Capt. Andrews lay to leeward of his flag all through the Engagement.

Capt. Coolys protence was he had noe shott, as whoule and demy culvering in his shipp.

'This night, with what men we had left, being very much tified in the time of Ingaignment, gott another foretopsaille to the yard . . . also splist some of our runing riging. . . . All the time of the Ingaignment the Dut[c]h had the wind of us, which was theare great advantage. They shott in thear guns small iron shott of 1, 2 or 3 pound each, 5 or 6 of them in a gun, as allsoe burr shott, which did very much damnefy our riging, sailes, mast and yards. Our long boat and pinnis [were] shott away in the time of ingaignment. . . .'

- 23 Aug., 1673. ' . . . About 9 morning we bore to leeward to the rest of our fleete; at 11 forenoon we saw Capt. Browne and Capt. Earwin.' All the Commanders remaining went, by invitation, on board Capt. Browne's ship to dine. . . . 'It was agreade by all the Comanders to fall into the Southwards of S. Thoma for feare the Dutch should follow us. . . . 'We having had a very great loss alreedy thinke its wisdom to presarve the remainder part if possible, went away with our head sailes.'

'Died this day of thear wounds, viz. Thomas Newman, midshipman, John Maijor, gunners maite; Richard Maskool and Luke Woodyly, foremastmen; John Tincum, a souldier: in all 5 men.'

MISCELLANEOUS

The descriptions in the official List of Marine Records (1896) are amplified, and in some instances corrected, in the selection of the most important of the series, noted in Mr. Foster's Guide, p. 107 et seq., under the heading 'Miscellaneous'. The details given in the former are not necessarily duplicated or superseded, and both lists should be consulted.

MISCELLANEOUS, NO. I.

Large folio volume (dark basil binding), containing several manuscripts.

1609-1709. 'Brief Historical Sketch of the Management of the Shipping Concerns of the E.I.C.' [from 1600 to 1796].

ff. 1-17. 1600-1709, folios 1-17 relate to these years. The freights of ships to Surat and back in 1658 were £18 for coarse goods, £22 for fine.

The first MS., endorsed No. 1; Reg. No. 2573.

This MS. is referred to repeatedly by Mr. Danver in his Introduction to the Marine Records List, as his authority for various details.

1796 [?]. 'Memorandum containing a general outline of the material and leading points of the Shipping Questions, which for many years were agitated in Leadenhall Street (said to be by Mr. Bosanquet).'

MS. III.

Reg No. 2575. Endorsed: (Private).

Although this MS. must approximately be dated 1796, and though it is connected with the policy of the E.I. Co. at that time, it contains references to earlier times (no dates are given) explaining (p. 9) 'the principles upon which the Shipping Concerns of the Company were conducted'. It is of particular value as having been written by one of the Directors, a fact mentioned by its author.

The extract below relates to a period following the renewal of the Charter by Cromwell. At that date (1657) most of the Company's ships were either lost or worn out.

- p. 9, l. 8. 'A certain number of ships, generally parted out in small shares among a variety of different Persons, were attach'd to the Company's Service. When a ship was worn out by having gone a certain number of Voyages, which was at first Four, but afterwards extended to Six, the Keel of a new Ship was permitted to be laid down upon the bottom of the Ship so worn out, or lost; which was to be built under the Company's immediate inspection, and to be commanded by the Captain of the old Ship so lost, or worn out, When the ship had been so rebuilt she came into the List of Fleet upon Service, and was to be taken up in the Turn into which she came, by the Order established in the Rules of its Establishment. . . .'
- p. 11. This system practically restricted the Company in freighting ships to those expressly built for its service, and led to repeated conferences and heated discussions between the Court of Directors and the Body of Managing Owners (several of whom were often members of the Court) 'to settle what Rate of Freight should be fixed as the price of the Season.' The evils of the system led to the ultimate destruction of the influence of the managing owners.

The remainder of the documents in this volume relate chiefly to the end of the 18th century (circa 1795-96), and include a 'Report on and Discussion of the Timber Trade of Malabar'. The 'Sketch of the present State of Oak Timber in England and the Sources of Supply, etc.' contains notes on the Tonnage of Trading and Naval Vessels in the 17th century.

MISCELLANEOUS, NO. II.

Bound in red leather—contains several documents, some of which retain earlier covers.

Earlier cover, labelled: 'Voucher No. . . . shewing that the Paper cited as a Treaty in Bruce's Annals, Vol. I, p. , was but the Project of a Treaty.'

1615-16. Title within: 1615-16 Letters from Sir Thomas Rowe and from other persons to Captain Pepwell.

Addition in red ink: 'See revised title: . . . opposite Table of Contents, No. 4 B [which reads as follows: 'No. 4 B, 17th Century Copies of Letters from Sir Thomas Rowe . . . to Captain Pepwell, 1617 [? 1615-16], containing also other Letters with Drafts of Treaties. Another Project of a New Treaty also Unsigned Memorial of Agreement with the Zamorin and James I, King of England, Mar. 10, 1615.']

The Table of Contents contains a full abstract of each document with its date and place of origin; 45 pages of Letters, etc., are followed by a later Index.

Sir Thomas Roe's Journal has been printed several times. The Articles of Agreement, 16 Nov., 1614, between him and the Company are reproduced in Sir George Birdwood's First Letter Book, pp. 446-49.

This volume also contains:

1620. Commission to Captain Weddell and others.

1621. Ship, Royal Exchange, Humphrey Fitzherbert, Company's Admiral, with Journal of the Fleet of Defence from 2 July to 28 August, 1621, in a letter to the Company: Aboard the Royal Exchange in the Road of Batavia.

MISCELLANEOUS, NO. III.

[Modern] Abstracts of Ships' Journals preserved in the India Office (1610-23) numbered from 9 to 30. (Except 11 and 12, the numbers do not coincide with those in the official list; e.g. No. 25 = Marine Records, XXX.)

Numbers 1-8, 11, 12, have been printed in the Hak. Soc. volume containing the Narratives of the Voyages of Sir James Lancaster. An 'Index—Indian Voyages Nos. 1-30' precedes the Abstracts.

Each Journal is abstracted, and followed by a short description of the Manuscript. There are also tables of storms encountered in the principal voyages.

The abstracts are not exhaustive, and the appreciations as to the value of the documents analysed need not be taken as final, e.g. No. 28 = Marine Records, XXXIV.

No. 12 = Ralph Crosse's Journal of the Hoseander, 1612-13 (Marine Records, XVI and XVIII).

No. 13 = Dodsworth's Journal of the New Year's Gift, 1614-15 (Marine Records, XIX).

No. 25 = Richard Swan's Journal in the Roebuck and the Hart, 1620-22 (Marine Records, XXX). Printed by Purchas, 'with some errors and omissions in his 1st vol. (p. 725).' See also English Factories, 1618-21, pp. 220 ff.

No. 26 = Richard Swanley's Journal in the Exchange, whilst attached to the Fleet of Defence, 1620-24 (Marine Records, XXXI).

No. 28 = Richard Swanley's Journal [in the Jonas], 1621-23 (Marine Records, XXXIV). Abstract in English Factories, 1618-21, pp. 271 ff.

MISCELLANEOUS, NO. XXVII (PART I).

1685-86. The Committee of Shipping.

Red leather binding, lettered as above. Within, original vellum binding, lettered: Committee for Shipping, 1685, 1686. [On a former label, 249.]

A note is inserted, 'This book should go with any other Volumes of the Committee of Shipping (1599 to 1834) as part of the Records of the old Shipping Office (abolished in 1834 in favour of the Marine Department) which were handed over to the Marine Department. There are not many of these Vols. but they are very valuable in many ways to any one writing an account of the E.I. Co. (Shipping, etc., etc.) prior to 1700.'

'[Signed] CRUASON,

1882.'

A large proportion of the work of the East India Company was referred or delegated to Committees, at first 24 in number. The Shipping Committee was one of the most important of these. It came to an end with the Company's trade, in 1833. Its records were handed over to the Marine Department, and in 1860 the Minutes and Reports of the Committee, prior to 1813, were recommended for destruction.

But one volume of the Minutes for the 17th century, that for May, 1685—Dec., 1686, has been preserved, and now forms part of the Marine Records, Miscellaneous (Vol. 27, Part 1).

The more important portions of this document are extracted verbatim below, in particular the resolution obliging commanders of ships to obey orders of the E.I. Co.'s General Agent and Councils in all the Factories (p. 7), and the introduction of a new clause in the Charterparty for the purpose.

The range of subjects touched upon in the volume is very great, including the provision of all necessities, from bread, beer, beef, brandy and brimstone, a 'Chirurgery chest for Priamon' to bullet-moulds, badges for drummers, 'Blew Breeches and Blew stockings' and red coats for the soldiers, cordage, guns and silk colours. We learn that the pensioners of the E.I. Co. apparently received 2s. 6d. a week from the Poplar Almshouse Fund, that passengers from London to St. Helena paid £6 each, and to India £8; and that surgeons were paid 'head money' at 5s. and 3s. per passenger. The contemporary index prefixed is an efficient guide.

The pages are un-numbered.

To report to the Court that Ann Plasted Widdow have 40s. out of the box.

f. 7. 31 July, 1685. 'Present, Mr. Will. Sedgwick, Most Hon. Marquess of Worcester, Sir Henry Johnson Knt. Upon reading the Order of Court of the 22nd July, It is ordered that a Report drawn by this Committee be presented to the next Court, about obliging the Commanders of ships to obey such Orders as shall be given them by the Company's General Agents and Councells in all the Company's factories.'

5 August, 1685. 'Present, Mr. William Sedgwick, Mr. John Paige, Mr. George Boune, Mr. Thomas Canham, Mr. Thomas Rawlepson. Ordered that Jane Lambert whose husband was Castaway in Ship Surrat Merchant, have 40s. given her out of the Poors Box.

'That the Petitioners John Delemo, Emanuel Robero, and John de Cruz of Surat who came home in ship East India Merchant hath bin considered of, and it is ordered that the 3 first ships bound for Surrat be desired to ship each of them one, for wages and to be left in India.

'That Capt. Hayward and the 4 Petitioners be brought home in the Henry and William wait of [sic] the Comittee on Monday Morning 9 a clock.'

9 Aug., 1685. 'Present, Mr. William Sedgwick [and 3^r others]. Upon Reading the Petition of John Combose, etc.,—John Combose of Hambrough declareth that he served 9 monthes on board ship Henry and William for which Capt. Hayward paid him but £6 and part of that paid in Clothes.

'Capt. Hayward saith he never made any Agreement with them for Wages.

'This Committee taking into Consideration the sad condition of the Petitioners, Cap. Hayward was required to make an Amicable end with the four Petitioners and to discharge one of them out of White-chapel prison that lyeth at his shute [suit].

'And to make them what further Consideration he can: the Petitioners having declared they served 9 months or thereabouts.'

f. 8. 'According to an Order of Court of the 22 Instant whereby it is referred to us to Consider how the Comanders of the Companys shipping may be obliged to obey all such orders as shall be given them by the Company's General President Agent and Councils in India relating both to trade and Warfare, and to report our Opinion thereupon Wee have perused the Charterparty now in use, and doe humbly conceive that a Clause be inserted into the Charterparty for the future, to the Purport following as Council shall advise, vizt.

'And it is further covenanted and agreed that the Comander of this ship in her Voyage Outward and Homeward bound shall observe and obey all such Orders and Instructions as shall be made and given him in Writing by the said Governor and Company or by their General and Council of Surat, or their President and Council at Foort St. George, or their Agent and Council in the Bay of Bengall, or the Major Part of any such Councils, the Generall President or Agent for the time, being one. And in case the said Comander or Master shall neglect or refuse to obey such Orders and Directions, and a Protest thereof being made by the Company, or by their General and Council at Surrat, or their President and Council at Foort St. George, or their Agent and Council in the Bay of Bengal, or the Major Part of such Council[s] respectively, the General President or Agent being one: The Governor and Company shall allow and Pay unto the said Part-Owners and Master only the sum of Tenn pounds per Ton for and upon all such Goods and Merchandizes as shall be Laden and brought home on the said ship for the use of the Company; and noe more, any Agreement in this Present Charterparty conteyned or any Law, Custom Usage or Pretence of Law or Equity, to the Contrary Notwithstanding.

'Wee have likewise perused the Surrat General of the 13th January last, received by the East India Merchant, and do find that they greatly complain of the Neglect of Comanders in not dispatching their lading soe early as they might, and alsoe of their backwardness, and refusal in complying with the Orders given them touching Interlopers &ca., And therupon have proposed that power may be given them to displace such Comanders upon Just Cause.

- f. 9. 'On Consideration whereof we are of Opinion that the General and Council at Surrat may have Authority given them in the Cases aforesaid, as is desired, and that a Clause be drawn up by Council accordingly to be inserted in Charterparty.

'But whether the freight of ten pounds per ton proposed in the foregoing clause, or the other for displacing such Comanders may be most effectuell for redress of the Grievances complained of is humbly submitted to the Judgment of the Court.

FACTORY RECORDS

THE important seventeenth century documents forming the chief part of this series were 'roughly calendared' by Dr. (afterwards Sir) George Birdwood whose Report on the Miscellaneous Old Records of the India Office (first printed for official use in 1879) should be read by all. The work of classification was continued by Mr. F. C. Danvers, and the Press List of the section was printed in 1897.

The two chief series relating to the period under consideration, are the seventy-one volumes of the Original Correspondence, 1602-1712, containing letters received by the Company from all its settlements, and the Letter Books containing the despatches of the Company to their settlements and agents. There are, besides, the various sections of records of individual Agencies and Factories.

The Original Correspondence is in course of publication either in full or in abstract form. From 1602 to 1617 the letters are printed verbatim in Letters Received by the East India Company from its Servants in the East, six volumes, 1896-1902, the first volume having been published in 1896 on the initiative of Mr. Danvers. From 1618 to 1654 abstracts of the letters from India (and some other places), contained in the O.C. Series, the correspondence in the Letter Books and the sectional Factory Records, are arranged in strictly chronological order in The English Factories in India, a series edited by Sir. William Foster. Documents in the Public Record Office, the British Museum and in Indian Record Offices are included, the 'unifying element' being supplied by an introduction. Publication was interrupted during the late war, and on resumption, it was found necessary to modify the above method in the volume for the period 1655-60, published in 1921. A point had been reached where the existing materials increased so greatly in number (the documents analysed reaching 500 for the year 1659, and 300 for 1660, instead of the early average of 75 to a year), that it became imperative to change the procedure and 'to extract merely those passages which seemed to merit preservation, and to connect them by a narrative which would at the same time embody the information obtained from other documents . . . (which it was) not necessary to quote in full.' The arrangement, partly chronological, and partly geographical, makes it easier to follow the course of events. Extracts from the same document often appear on different pages.

Besides the sources already mentioned in connection with the preceding volumes, use was made in the new volume of copies of letters received at Madras, 1658-60, now among the Rawlinson MSS. in the Bodleian Library, and of transcripts furnished by the Bombay Government. (See Preface to English Factories in India, 1655-60.) The last volume published covers the year 1660.

A detailed list of the O.C. Series from 1602 to 1709 forms volumes 711 and 712 of the Home Miscellaneous series.

Abstracts and extracts from the Letter Books, 1658-79, are contained in volumes 33-35 of the same (Home Miscellaneous) series, whilst a full calendar of all documents available from many sources for the years 1655-59 is now to be found among Factory Records, Miscellaneous, volumes 28-31. Volumes 19 and 20 of the last named section, containing material for the story of the Embassy of Sir William Norris, 1699 to 1702, have been freely used by Mr. Harihar Das for his volume on the subject, now in preparation.

COURT MINUTES

(Vol. 1, 22 Sept., 1599 to Vol. 38, 27 April, 1702.)

THE contents of these volumes to the year 1663 have already been published in summarised form, the two first also in extenso.

Vol. 1, 22 Sept., 1599—10 Aug., 1603, published by Mr. H. Stevens as The Dawn of British Trade in the East Indies, in 1886.

Vol. 1A, 1600-19, Miscellaneous Court Book, edited under the title of The First Letter Book of the East India Company, by Sir George Birdwood and Mr. (now Sir) William Foster (1893).

Vols. 1 (1599-1603), 1A, 2 (31 Dec., 1606—26 Jan., 1610), and 3 (Dec., 1613—Nov., 1615) to 14 (1634) were abstracted in the Public Record Office, Calendars of State Papers, East Indies, by Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury.

Vols. 15 (1635) to 21 (and parts of 23 and 24) to the year 1663 are contained in the series The Court Minutes of the East India Company, by Miss E. B. Sainsbury (in progress).

Vol. 2A (1 March, 1611—4 May, 1620) and part of Vol. 3, added more recently to this collection, were not included in the Calendars of State Papers.

The reference numbers of the volumes not yet calendared and falling within the seventeenth century are here subjoined:

Vol. 23. United Joint Stock, 3 July 1650—7 April, 1669.

Vol. 24. New General Stock, 19 Oct., 1657—14 April, 1665.

Vol. 24A. Index to Vol. 24.

Vol. 25A. Committee Minutes, Accounts, etc., 1666-80.

Vols. 25-38. Old Company, 14 April, 1665—27 April, 1702.

THE FRENCH IN INDIA

THIS section of the General Records (p. 85) contains but one volume within the seventeenth century, i.e., Volume 1 (1664-1810), comprising Miscellaneous Correspondence, etc. References to the French, however, are numerous in the Dutch Records, as well as in those of the English East India Company. In the Revue de l'histoire des Colonies françaises, Mr. S. C. Hill gives 'a list of documents in the India Office records having a special interest for French students'.

PORTUGUESE RECORDS

THE Portuguese Records at the India Office consist of a large collection of transcripts obtained from the Lisbon Archives. Translations are available for all the volumes containing seventeenth century documents, a combined list of transcripts and the relative volumes of translations being given below.

These documents were utilised by Mr. F. C. Danvers in his work The Portuguese in India, being a History of the Rise and Decline of their Eastern Empire, two volumes, 1894, which contains a bibliography of authorities, including materials for the History of Portuguese India (Subsidios . . .) published by the Lisbon Academy of Sciences, as well as the Livros das Monções (1605-18).

Copies of letters from Portuguese Governors, etc., principally from Goa and Malacca, some in Portuguese, others in Dutch, with English translations or abstracts, are to be found amongst the Hague Transcripts [Dutch Records, B.I. 57, 3]. The unhappy condition of the Portuguese settlements is described in an intercepted letter of 1638-39 [Dutch Records, B.I. 57, 5]. Other Portuguese letters will be found in the Dutch Records for the years 1642 and 1644.

For the connection of Portugal with Bombay see The Anglo-Portuguese Negotiations relating to Bombay, 1660-1677, by Dr. Shafaat Ahmad Khan, first printed in the Journal of Indian History, Series No. 3, Sept., 1922, and reprinted in the Allahabad University Studies in History. The translations and transcripts from the Portuguese Archives to be found at the India Office, consulted for the purpose of the above mentioned work, yielded little of importance in this respect. Abundant material is, however, provided in the Letter Books and Correspondence of the East India Company and its agents.

Dutch Records, B. I.

As already noted, Vol. 57 of this series contains a list of documents in the First Series of Hague Transcripts. The rough and incomplete list (Vol. 57, No. 1) of the contents of 246 of the 564 Volumes and Portfolios, examined at the Hague for Mr. Danvers, comprises for the period 1595-1694 about 50 Volumes of Transcripts, containing several hundred documents, the list itself consisting of 119 MS pages as follows :

Vol. I, No. 1 (1595) to No. 797 (March, 1672), 41 pp.

No. 998 (1672) to No. 1283 (1694), 78 pp.

The first portion of the List of Contents is mainly a rough working list. From No. 998 onwards it is more systematically drawn up and contains additional details.

The first document mentioned relates to the first voyage of Cornelius Honkeman, between the years 1595-97. The Journals of several Dutch voyages from 1598-1600 are also to be found here.

B.I. Vol. 57 contains in addition :

2. Copy (in French) of Accord concluded between the English and Dutch Commissioners, 25 Jan., 1622-23.
3. Copies of letters from Portuguese Governors, etc., principally from Goa and Malacca, 1639 and 1640. Some in Portuguese, some in Dutch.
4. Translations of the letters in 3.
5. Undated Dutch letter describing the unhappy state of the Portuguese settlements, derived from Portuguese letters intercepted by the Dutch in 1638 and 1639.

Amongst a few of the subjects of interest contained in the later volumes of transcripts may be mentioned the following :

1674. Permission to coin gold at Negapatam.
French ships captured by the Dutch round Ceylon.
Proclamation of Peace by the States General.
1675. Agreement between the French and Dutch respecting San Thome.
1678. English and Dutch Correspondence.
1683. Report on the English by a Dutch spy. English and Dutch correspondence.
1685. List of native weights and measures.
Letter to the Dutch E.I. Co.
Protest by the Dutch E.I. Co.
Affair with the English at Indrapura.

1686. (Feb.): Letter from Hugli. (March—May, Sept.): Journal of Commander Pit.
 1687. War of the English with the Mogul.
 Notice of the blockade of Surat.

Since a translation of Volumes 1-29 of the Letters from India (B. I) covering the years 1600-70 of the Transcripts from the Hague, and one of the Letters from the Seventeen to India (B. II) to the same date exist at the India Office, and since the English Factories in India series has already reached the year 1660, and the Calendar of Court Minutes, 1659-63, has already been published, the volume of Transcripts containing documents of the years 1670-72 (Dutch Records B. I, Vol. XXX) has been selected for analysis and translation hereunder. The most important features of this volume are the expedition of the French Viceroy, De La Haye, the declaration of war by both England and France against the Dutch, and the commencement of hostilities in Ceylon and India.

The close connection of events requires the inclusion of many papers not originating in the Indian mainland. During these years, also, some of those papers relating to occurrences in Ceylon are so intimately associated with the French attempt to share in the East India trade on a large scale, that they cannot well be omitted.

 No. 769. 12 Nov., 1670 (received). Paducca Siry, sultan in Bouton, to the Dutch Governor-General Joan Maetsuyker, demanding the expulsion of 'Ternatenses'. (Translated from Malay into Dutch, 3½ pp.)
 No. 783. 18 Dec., 1670. Andries Bogaert and Council, Swally Beach, to Joan Maetsuyker, Governor-General and the Council of India at Batavia. [Extract.]

... Matters with the Government of these lands at a standstill as their Resident in Agra can give them no certain news, the King alone reading and dealing with the letters he received from the Prince at Orangabath [Aurangabad], and no others from that place being sent to Agra. For a good while the Prince had a great force with him, amongst them a great number of Rajputs under the great Raja 'Jessingsen' [Jai Singh], with which he had been at the attack of Brampour [Burhanpur], but had returned to Orangabath. The accounts concerning his return say that 'Jessings' was also very ill and that the others Ajmers [?] were said to have refused to follow
 p. 2. the Prince against his father, since which news arrived that 'Jessingsen' had left for his own district with his people. The King (it was first reported in Agra) who in September was to have marched against his son to Burhanpur and Aurungabad, afterwards to 'Dilly' [Delhi], it was rumoured would then go even to Golconda; as it was said that the King there had died without leaving heirs.

Some preparations said to have been made in Agra to commandeer camels and transport, but nothing further done, 'it being probable that the King and the Prince Sultan Masem [Mu'azam] have very little confidence in each other, and that each one seeks to save his own nest, and not to be surprized by the other or by Sivaji (who has caused an incredible fear in these nations) . . .

- p. 3, l. 10. The affairs of the French here in a bad way, the inland rulers and merchants having a great aversion for them. They have borrowed about 550,000 rupees here at $\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. interest, but without giving them credit or security or allowing them to leave as security what they wish to sell and promising more brokerage and interest besides—all this having been done for a long time—and with all the trouble and charges they have, after a long period, sometimes got together a few goods to send to France when they can pay for them. In Agra they have given orders to buy up '20,000 r $\frac{n}{a}$ ' of musk under the above conditions. Their piece goods which they have purchased there and are said to consist of about '20 r $\frac{n}{a}$ Derria Caddys sola and atthara' have been hastily got ready.

- With their ship, St. Francisco (which we hear had arrived on the [?] at Wingurla) they will no doubt obtain a good return. She has been a long time on her way hither, apparently waiting for her boat, sent p. 4. with 16 men to Goa, which was held up for some reason or pretext unknown. But their ship, St. Paul, which left France at the same time and touched at Madagascar, arrived here safely on the 18th of October last, and a few days before a hoy from the same place.* So far it has only been possible to ascertain that 300,000 lbs. of iron were brought in the two bottoms, and it has been said three casks of silver.

- p. 5. With the foresaid St. Paul arrived Captain 'Mons. de Priaeumera' sent expressly by the King to bring letters to Mr. Caron, which were said to be full of His French Majesty's pleasure at all that was done in these lands under Mr. Caron's directions, and the said King's strong zeal to maintain the work of the Company and to continue it; and with that object he had caused a meeting of the Directors of this Company to be held and had presided over it. The authority and power of the said Mr. Caron over all the French nation here in India is strengthened, not only by the said letters, but by two 'Casjacken' from the King, thereby to be empowered to order the mighty proclamations and other executive acts necessary, if they in themselves do not enforce due respect, one lies in peril of death ('licht man des doots werden'). They now call their Company the Royal French Company, and by Order of their 'Conjunt' [? Conin Klijk, i.e., by virtue of their Royal title] they should everywhere have precedence before ourselves and the English, but that they cannot yet persuade these 'potentates' . . .

pp. 6, 7. The French in Madagascar and Bantam.

pp. 8, 9. Persia.

- p. 9, l. 6. The English had received on the 2nd, 3rd and 10th October ships from England to Bombay (the Berkeley Castle, Hannibal, Experiment and Loyal Subject) with a large quantity of goods (detailed) and 200,000 r $\frac{o}{o}$ gold bullion, besides a large number of iron guns, anchors, hangers and other ship equipment. . . .

p. 1, l. 12. Macassar.

Coromandel. Ship with elephants belonging to the King of Keda, carried off to Coromandel.

p. 2, l. 16. Surat news, dated 18 December, 1670, received 14 February, that 'the robber Siuragi' [Sivaji] had attacked the town in October, with a strong force of horsemen and footsoldiers, and had pillaged it for 3 days. . . .

p. 3, l. 20. Arrival at Batavia of two ships, the Pouleron and the Cogge, from Surat, on the 1st July and 5th August respectively, with a Return of f.733,237: 13: 13. A third ship, the Amerong, was still expected from thence by way of Ceylon with a cargo for Batavia worth f. 57,679: 12: 2, making a total of f. 790,917: 5: 15 for the three; besides which Surat has provided cash capital to the value of 523,310 guildens for Cochin and Ceylon, also doing some business upon interest ('negotiatie van eenige interest penningen'). . . .

Signed. Joan Maetsuycker and five others. (Dutch, 3½ pp.)

No. 782. 16 Oct., 1671. George Foxcroft, Agent and President of the E.I. Co. for Coromandel and Bengal and his Council. Formal Certificate of Receipt and Quitclaim respecting the seizure of a country boat and its cargo in Keda Road, and its conveyance to Batavia (on the ground that the King of Keda was at war with the Dutch E.I. Co.), the said 'prauw' and specified articles having been returned with an indemnity. (Dutch translation, 4 pp.)

No. 778. pp. 1-4. 24 Oct., 1671. Andries Bogaert and Council at Surat to the 'Bewinthebbers.' [Extract.]

Troubles with the authorities at Surat. Attack on Dutch sailors by the followers of Miersie Conany on their refusal to allow four Moors on the Dutch skutes on the departure of Georgius Hartsinde. Subsequent attack in force of Miersie Conany's armed followers upon the sailors, and the Dutch Company's bamboo dwellings and warehouse, breaking open and pillaging the latter. Dutch complaint to the Governor and the 'Wackenewis' (whose daily duty it was to send news to the King) demanding damages.

p. 4. Visit of the Governor and Miersie Conany to the Dutch house to make peace; the Dutch however carried out their previously announced decision of writing to the King and other great men direct. As no answer was received, and also owing to the slackness

p. 5. of the Governor, the Moors became very insolent, and not only attacked the Dutch, but also fell upon the English and French with troops of 30 to 40 armed men, wounding and beating them. The Governor not only refused to hear any complaints, but caused it to be proclaimed with beating of drums, that no man of the French, English or Dutch nation was to carry arms, on pain of confiscation: on refusal, penalty of death—the slayer not to be punishable. 2° That no Moor was to serve any of the above nations, under heavy penalties and threat of pillage. As serious remedies were necessary,

p. 6. a consultation was held with the French and English, all removing with their principal people to Swally beach. In spite of all that had passed, the Moors perceiving this, exerted themselves to the utmost, with many promises, to induce their return. The Dutch only consented to do so after 42 days, after the Shabandar, the Customer and the chief merchants had been sent to them to treat respecting their

- complaints, and with a written undertaking, sealed by the Governor and by themselves as envoys, promising publicly to proclaim a revocation of the previous order, and in addition had consented to
- p. 7. several special articles favouring the Dutch in their relations with them. A few days later an answer was received to the previous complaint to the King, dismissing Miersie Bonany [sic] from his service, and seizing his revenues; also charging the Governor, not only to investigate the damage done to the Dutch E.I. Co. in particular, but in future to give them greater satisfaction. The Dutch thereupon put in their claims not only for the damage done, but for the costs incurred in housing the goods for the recent Agra kafilā in Ahmadabad, caused by the seizure of 660 camels by 'Badurchan and Delichan', previously referred to; they also put forth pretensions for the 'extraordinary great expenses and damages (although the last are little or none) which [they] had been obliged to incur or suffer at the time in the previous year when Sewagie [Sivaji] had burnt and pillaged the town.' All which has been transmitted to the higher authorities with the Governor's recommendations. Whilst awaiting a reply, the Governor has sought to give them all satisfaction, and the Moors have refrained not only from attacking but even from insulting the Dutch. . . . (Dutch, 8 pp.)
- No. 776. 9 Nov., 1671 (received). Ola of King of Porca to the Dutch Commander referring to the arrival of an English ship before Porca,
- p. 2. whose brokers alleged that they had been sent by order of the English King to see the King of Porca and hand him a letter requesting permission to reside in the 'logis', to raise their flag, and to trade. Refusal of the local authorities on account of their friendship and engagements with the Dutch. Return of the English captains to their ship, and departure, after a fruitless attempt to see
- p. 3. the King at 'Ambellapolle', asserting their desire to settle in this port on friendly terms with the Dutch, 'and if not we will settle there even though we English, French and Portuguese should come to differences with the Dutch.' Request of the King for advice as to the action to be taken. (Dutch translation, 3 pp.)
- No. 775. 10 Nov., 1671. Hendrik van Reede, Cochin, to the Bewinthebbers of the 'Seventeens' in Amsterdam.
- pp. 2-47. War with the Zamorin; detailed account of the Siege of 'Cranganoor' [Cranganore], etc., and relations with Cochin.
- pp. 47-55, and 84-86. French relations with the natives at 'Mirzee', 'Cananoor', 'Cranganoor', 'Pananie and Calicut'.
- p. 55. The Danes in Cannanore and Ceylon.
- pp. 57, 61. Favourable influence of the taking of Cranganore upon the pepper trade, and its importance for the trade of the whole of Malabar.
- pp. 68, 69. Tobacco monopoly in Cochin. The rate for the present year 40,000 fanams higher.
- pp. 80-84. Cochinese fanams: complaints of base coinage issued by the Dutch East India Company: refutation of the allegations, etc.
- p. 87. The English [in Cannanore], greatly troubled by the disturbed state of the country, had also strengthened their dwellings with Nairs for their defence, and had placed six large guns ('prince stucken') and two small ship guns ('bassen') there, but few native ships having been there, and without their doing any trade of any importance. . . . What the two nations yet take must be watched; but by the experience of the Dutch themselves it is to be expected that they will have little advantage there 'as the Moors, who there form the majority of the inhabitants, are not only merchants themselves, but also have strong equipments at sea, and can trade in pepper with greater profit than a few Europeans in India; so that we, trading in one and the same places, are not able to stand against them, since the [respective] charges on both sides are unequal, and the Moors being in their own land, are also content with much lower gains and

- p. 88. [? can save]. This is not possible to Europeans, as everything is carefully reckoned, and even though the advantages of in and out trade were all equal, the Moors still trade more profitably, as they always act in person, without interpreters or brokers, through familiarity with the languages and knowledge of the countries, thereby having, except in their religion, a great advantage over the others.'

It rather appears that both the English and French do not take these matters into consideration; wherefore they still strengthen [? fortify] themselves towards a long stay, and still increase their charges, even to holding so many Nairs in their service. This, undoubtedly, will also embitter the country people all the more against them, as it is true that they are pressed into service against their will by the prince. . . .

pp. 89-91. Proposals for the Dutch defence and garrisoning of Cannanore. (Dutch, 91 pp.)

No. 773. 16 Nov., 1671. Extract of General Letter from Batavia to the 'Seventeen'.

- p. 1. Wingurla. News received by the ships Rotterdam and Voersichtighoijt from the resident Rombout Lefer that, on the last of May, three ships had arrived in Goa from Portugal, and another on the 10th of April 'of preceding year' by which had come out a new Vice Roy named Luis Mendonsa Furtado [i.e., Luiz de Mendonça Furtado de Albuquerque, Conde de Lavradio], with many splendid titles, amongst them that of 'Restorer of Ceylon', which seems strange, since no war is known of between our country and them; but tidings are brought that a treaty of alliance has been concluded between Portugal and the French Crown, jointly to fall upon the
- p. 2. United Netherlands, and to make a beginning here with the Mallabar
- Coast and the Island of Ceylon, for which the forementioned title seems to be intended. . . . A great number of ships are to come from France, amongst them twelve or more freighted in Hamburg. It appears from all this that the Viceroy is doing everything possible soon to get a large number of ships and the smaller men of war to sea and to prepare for war; but was ill provided with money and men, though nowise with courage and power. 'Some think that [the preparations] will not yet be intended for us this year, but that the said force will be employed against the Arabians. Nevertheless, we cannot do otherwise than keep on our guard, and hold everything ready for our defence, both by water and by land, as far as in our power, so that we may not be surprised unaware; and it were greatly to be wished that we were better provided with ships.' . . . (Dutch, 2 pp. and 7 lines.)
- No. 777. 21 Nov., 1671 (received). Ola of the King of Marta to the Dutch Commander. An English ship had arrived in his port, those on board requesting speech with the King, asserting that they were friends of the Dutch. The King thereupon hastened to 'Carnapoly', but those in Dutch employ having informed him that the English were not their friends, he instantly returned to 'Mavelicare'.

- The King's determination to maintain his contract with the Dutch: Request that the Dutch should send someone to carry on the Carnapoly trade on the same footing as at 'Calicoilan'. (Dutch translation, 1 p.)

- '1 baar [bahar] pepper brought from without to be taxed Rixdaalders 3/4.
 - '1 tayl [tael] of gold brought in as above Rd. 1/4.
 - '1 tayl worth of cotton goods taxed as above . . .
 - '1 tayl worth of coconut oil or other oils . . .
 - '1 bahar benzoin medium sort taxed one 'pec' [? pecul].
 - '1 catty camphor coss baros.
 - 'Salt trading vessels 16 Rds. for each fathqm ('vadem') in breadth, Rd. 16.
 - 'Rice and paddy are at present exempt from taxation as the natives require more of the seed than is brought in.'
- pp. 16-18. Article 7. The native cotton trade and spinning to be discouraged in favour of Dutch monopoly and the encouragement of pepper growing. (Dutch, 21½ pp.)
- No. 787. 7 Dec., 1671. Treaty between native 'aulers' (Regents of 'Chindrana', Queen of 'Chiamba', King of 'Malauwa', and the King of 'Bengo') with the Dutch, in Rotterdam Castle, Macassar. Renunciation by these rulers of the supremacy of the King of Goa, and acceptance of the Dutch Company as sole overlord. (Dutch, 3½ pp.)
- No. 774. 19 Dec., 1671. Extract General Letter from Batavia to the '17'.
- p. 1. Jambi. The English still had a sum of 30,000 ra. outstanding with divers debtors, and had sought His Highness's help to an agreement towards the recovery, subject to a gift of one fifth of the amount, but had received an unfavourable reply, i.e., that they must await the day of judgment ('laestenoordeels').
- 'One of the chief merchants, who had hitherto been a regular customer of the English, named Keey nebe Siry donta, had now been got over by our people to their side, and he obliged himself by contract to deliver all his pepper to us, to the amount of quite 3,000 peculs per season, to be paid in piece goods at 4½ riks daalers to the pecul . . . of which the said friends are thus deprived.'

'Though the great undertaking of the forementioned Viceroy, with his arrogant title of Restaurador came to nothing there where it is most probable ['daer't meest naer gelijkht'], it is nevertheless still intended to cause a demonstration to be made with the combined ships' force, to uphold reputation along the coast of India and Malabar; to reassure wavering minds, so that they and other ill-natured or dissembling friends might clearly perceive that the [Dutch] Company is never unprepared to maintain acquired honour, respect and the mastery of the seas, to the uttermost against all the attacks of enemies, even though evil advisers (amongst them those who wish us out of Ceylon) should not be a little disturbed to see so important a fleet in the Road of Colombo, to set out which, everything else is put aside, which is possible on our side.

Director Bogaert and Council in several letters have given their opinion respecting the increase of Surat trade, especially that a greater number of merchants should be sent there from the Homeland, considering that it is more profitable for the Honourable Company, than to send to other parts, without profit, the surplus cash obtained from the sale of goods. 'We do not undervalue this advice, as it coincided with the Company's opportunity; but since this letter announces that their trade in many profitable trading places and round about is also in good condition, for which large sums are required, it therefore seems to us that a moderate trade in Surat, without exceeding the yearly demands both of the Homeland and of the Indian districts most deserves approval. As to the surplus capital, in India it is usually a matter of perplexity to send it as 'secours' to the places in greatest need, all being important. Surat has had in the past year more than 1,328,000 guildens return, of which they have paid out 523,000 guildens in cash; and surely, if this can be continued without raising money upon interest, we should always have great promise from this trade, without regard to the English, who have greater Returns there than we obtain, and send to
- p. 23. Europe. In this the Company's capital does not allow us to compete, lest we should neglect more important business and be unable to provide the cargoes for the Fatherland, equivalent to assortment of goods required for the yearly demands from India. This we trust concurs with your High Mightinesses' sentiments. . . .

Amboina. The English Agent at Bantam intended sending to the East Coast of Ceram to settle a 'logis' (Factory) there. Instructions had been given to the Dutch in Banda, and verbal representations made through the Dutch Resident in Bantam to the [English] Agent, that the Dutch through their absolute right and possession of those lands could not admit anyone there, and that they requested him to desist, so as to avoid unpleasantness and vain expense. Answer was given thereto that the expedition was not intended thither, but only to Timor and some adjacent islands, and that this being done upon direct instructions from their superiors could not be set aside.

- p. 2. As the English perhaps have the island 'Babber' in view, an express is to be sent to the [Dutch] nearest Banda to take possession of it first and without delay. This may have been suggested to the English by a certain Tiercq Backer, formerly a skipper in the Dutch E.I. Company's service, sent back to the Netherlands in the Fleet of the year [blank] without employment, who came out again last year in the service of the English, but was dismissed by them without long trial (his conduct being no more satisfactory than formerly with the Dutch in Bantam), and allowed to go over to the French directeur, François Caron, he being a drunken fellow.
- Macassar. Their High Mightinesses know that there were hopes of a share of the Manilla trade in the Moluccas, through the padres in the island 'Chian', so far without result, but still not hopeless, if the 'Castillians' there were not disturbed by the Chinese. Report received through Jan Schot's ship of a conspiracy of the 'Coxinders', the Chinese inhabitants, etc. in Taijouan, and its relation to the outlook for the Dutch in the Manillas.
- p. 4, l. 22. Jambi. The piracies of the Johor people, off and on the Jambi river, continue; but possibly without the King's knowledge.
- pp. 5-6. It is not yet known whether he has decided to accept the Dutch offer of mediation. The Jambi folk would have good reason for also putting armed forces to sea. There was a report of the 'Laxamana' being ready to attack Jambi with a great force of vessels and men, and intending not to respect any ships the Dutch might have there. Should this happen it would clearly prove that they have no thought of accommodation. News had come from Johor that a great number of 'Boegys', who had come from Macassar to Jambi a short time previously, had offered the Johorites help in order to conquer Jambi. . . .
- p. 5, l. 12. Ceylon. Appearance of a joint war of France and Portugal rather increased than decreased, judging by copies of letters of 24 October from Surat, and 2 November from Wingurla [Vengurla], relating that in Swally Road 'there lay near each other 12 French ships, to wit 8 King's ships among them, 8 'Spiegelschepen' [ships with a square stern], 2 flutes and a hoy, and 4 of the Company's, which had arrived in succession from Madagascar, namely: 1, the Crowned Dolphin [a blank] on the 3d of September; on the 6th of October 6 big armed ships, named Le Triomphe, La Flamme, the July [? La Julie], Navarre, St. Jean de Bayonne (King's ships), and one of the [French] Company's; 2 flutes, La Sultane and La Hope [? L'Espérance]; 1 Roy, St. Isaac. On the 18th of October, of the Company's: 1 ship St. Juan [? St. Jean], 1 hoy, the Neerstigheijdt [La Diligente].
- According to the most credible of many reports collected by Director Andries Bogaert, the French Company still expected from France and Madagascar 6 ships, namely 2 great ships, 2 flutes, and 2 hoys, and further the 3 ships which were in Bantam with the French Director Caron (these being fairly large); which had not yet been seen on the coast of India or elsewhere in Malabar, bringing up the total to 21; which is sufficiently large, and more than enough. From Vengurla

- had come news, dated November 2nd, of the arrival from Portugal and Goa of a very big Portuguese ship named the Bom Jesus, carrying 30 iron and metal guns, and 700 to 750 men, amongst them many banished noblemen: that they were working hard to prepare the big ships; 4 or 5 small ones and over 40 war frigates lay ready off the bar, but that the great fleet could not be ready before the first half of December. The French seemed exceedingly busy at Surat, and to have the intention of making their ships very fine, for which purpose they were all beached, and 5 or 6 had taken down their top masts. Meanwhile their people are carefully cherished, great quantities of gunpowder laden, and other necessary provisions collected for the ships ready for their departure. The crews said to consist at first of 3,000 men, now much less, owing to the great number of deaths on the way out, the Admiral alone having lost, it is said, more than 200 hands, besides having many sick amongst the 250 remaining souls, and no more than 80 to 90 sailors, the rest soldiers and nobles. Another had still 120 and the rest at least 80 to 60 men aboard. The greatest ships are said to carry 60 metal pieces, the others, each 40, 36 and 30 cannon, and the two King's flutes the Sultane and Hope [? L'Espérance], to have been chiefly laden with masts, palisades, 'stormleeven' [scaling ladders], mattocks, shovels, grappling irons, and so forth. They boast freely in Surat: a Monsieur de la Hope, commanding the King's ships in the quality of Viceroy, is said to have received orders from his King to cause all ships he may meet to strike their flags everywhere in honour of His Majesty, even though it be at the cost of ship, life, goods, and stock. The French Director Caron has notified the English Director, through His Excellency, that he claimed the honours when he ran into the 'Chom' from his [i.e., the English] ship which lay there with the flag at the masthead, and has thereupon received the reply that, so as to be saved by his ships from many losses [? failures], he should give orders to such effect, that they be carried out with guns only and not with the flag. Shortly after the Englishman ran out with flag flying, saluting with 13 guns, answered by 7 ditto, the French flagship lying nevertheless ready for action, as though ready to grapple with the other; but it was said there, that the bishop had advised and begged His Excellency to desist; whether this be so or not, the English Director has not allowed the flag to be brought to again on the ship London, which still remained in the 'Chom', although the captain had caused all the goods to be brought on deck which were laden for home, so as to discharge them. Director Bogaert was perplexed what to do in such case with Their Honours' ships, and sought advice thereon by letters of Oct. 14 from Heer van Goens, who was greatly occupied with the matter with his Council in Ceylon. Finally, after serious consideration, it was ordered in Council, that in case of a meeting with stronger French ships at sea, or in some open roadstead, it was advisable for the Dutch ships to salute under protest of compulsion. But if the French force were not the stronger, so that the advantage lay on the Dutch side, then the captains were not to hesitate, but to use the means provided by God and nature, not only defensively, but offensively, and to exert their utmost powers to destroy the aggressors. The Council at Ceylon earnestly begged to be informed at the earliest opportunity of our sentiments and opinion [at Batavia] for their further guidance on this point of honour, which is of the utmost importance for the respect and reputation of the Company amongst the 'Moors'. Whereupon, after due deliberation, we determined to concur in His Honour's decision, and to give orders, whilst matters were still in a state of uncertainty, for the captains to be careful to avoid all occasion of such encounters, as far as in them lay. And we have deemed it necessary to inform Your Honours of this matter with all its circumstances in detail.

- p. 12. There was great anxiety on account of the costly cargoes of the ships Pulo Run and Ysselstein, and it was to be wished that they had left Cochin (where they were on the 8th October), for Ceylon, instead of undertaking the voyage to Surat. But the skipper, van Osdorp, has reported to Colombo, that Their Honours' [ship] Hase intended to run into Bombay to ascertain there the trend of matters in Surat, and had he not again passed Vengurla safely, he surely would have returned from thence. Their Honours perceive, from the forementioned skipper's report in the Ceylon letter, that the English also were not without anxiety, Heer van Goens having sent an offer to Agent Foxcroft, through Heer Paviloen, that in case His Honour intended to send his ships to Surat, or Persia, or Galle, that they could sail in Company with [the Dutch] and thus the Triple Alliance
- p. 13. in Europe might be usefully observed; that is, that we, being wise through necessity, should be able to support each other in this matter. In such a case such action cannot be displeasing to Your Honours, since it appears to us from all circumstances, that it is no longer possible to doubt that the assembling of the French and Portuguese forces in India is definitely concerted in Europe, and they may perhaps all be about to unite now on the Coast of India. The exact time may come to our knowledge by and by, as well as the object of their enterprise, if any, whether against us, the Arabians, or any other.

According to the latest news from that place [? Ceylon] nothing^o is yet known for certain concerning their designs, the reports being very contradictory, the most probable being that their plans will depend upon the state of the Company's affairs either there or elsewhere. It therefore tends all the more to our security, that the

p. 14. merchant Vertangen at Cannanore, and Commander Van Rhede from Cochin had informed Heer van Goens through Captains van Osdorp and Pittoor, that at Cannanore they had no difficulties at all and were not afraid of a powerful enemy; also that at Cochin and Cranganore they hoped to be quite ready before the New Year; and further, that Ceylon was in very good posture, though on the whole but very scantily provided with soldiers, but they hoped to discuss this later. In Ceylon, according to the latest letters, good progress was being made with the fortification of Negombo and Colombo . . . The naval force which still keeps together there has already been notified to Your Honours, and the speculations to which it gave rise.

- p. 15. In our separate letter of July 16th we asserted that Ceylon alone would require quite as many recruits as Your Honours were in the habit of sending for nearly the whole of India, the jealousy of the European princes against the Company being so great, and the eyes of the French being upon Ceylon . . .

To prevent this, Commander van Rhede proposed a closer contract with the Raja, excluding foreign merchants. First attack of the Dutch upon the French and first bloodshed. The Dutch have 221 French prisoners and 15 French deserters. Measures necessary in consequence. Complaints of the French against their Admiral De La Haye. The French are treated by the Dutch similarly with their own men, the officers messing in the cabin, and the principal officers of the captured Phénix and Europe remaining with their crews on board their ships, without any Dutch guard. . . . - No. 790. 19 July, 1672. Dutch translation of the Articles of Capitulation [proposed] by Monsieur de la Banoy, Commandant the Reverend Father Maurice, Franciscan friar, Intendant, and all the officers of the 'Isle de Son', which they were constrained to make to His Honour Ryckloff van Goens, Admiral General of the Dutch in the East Indies.

The fourteen articles include:

1. Restitution of all ships, sailors and soldiers arrested in the Indies, within 8 days, with munitions of war and provisions.
2. Restitution of the St. Jean within 24 hours, as an integral part of the agreement.
3. All officers, soldiers and other prisoners to be put on board the St. Jean, and to be sent back to France within the space of eight months from this day.
4. All runaway sailors and soldiers to be put on board the St. Jean.
5. The French departure from the 'Isle de Son' to take place with all the honours of war, flags flying, etc.
6. A month to be allowed for the retreat, during which period no Dutch or natives are to come upon the island.

7. No one to insult or trouble the French during the retreat upon any pretext; but in case the French meet with any difficulties, complaint may be made to the commander, and justice will be done by him in due course.

8. The French flag to be removed only after their departure from the inner bay of Trinquemale [Trincomalee].

9. The Dutch to allow the French to pass safely to Goa, and Surat, so as to arrive there by the 20th of September.

10. The Dutch to allow the French to be supplied with all necessary provisions for the said voyage upon payment, or if preferred, [they can be procured] from the Coromandel Coast, i.e., from San Thomé or Madras.

11. The natives sent by the King of Ceylon are to be landed in 'Cotjaar' within 24 hours, with the same securities demanded for the French themselves.

12. That the French shall have permission to take with them all appurtenances and tools remaining in the little ship the Indienne. . . .

13. That a valid pass be given the French for their security from hence to France, so that, if they meet with Dutch ships and are recalled, the Dutch may be held responsible for any damage or accident which might occur.

14. All the officers, soldiers and sailors now on the said island, to be put on board the same ship.

All which articles the undersigned demand may, as a matter of justice, be granted by Mynheer Ryckloff, Admiral General of the Dutch, since it can only lead to concord and good understanding between France and Holland.

Articles appointed and settled by us undersigned, Ryckloff van Goens, Councillor of India, Superintendent, Admiral and Commander in Chief at sea and on land in matters of war, empowered by His Hon. the Governor-General Joan Maetsuyker and the Council of India for the Defence of the Island Ceylon, the Coast of Madura, Coromandel, Malabar, etc. . . . and others on the points presented by Mons. de la Baur, Commander, and the Rev. Père Maurice, etc., residing on the Company's island 'Dwers in de Wegh', lying in the mouth of their usual Winter bay, the fort and subordinate territory of Trinquemale [Trincomalee].

Agreement to restore the said island and bay to the E.I. Co. of the United Netherlands, forcibly seized and usurped by the French General De La Haye.

Articles 1, 2, 4 referred to the Sovereign Lords at home or the Govr.-General in Batavia.

3 and 9. Promise to send all such persons under arrest from Batavia to Holland to be sent on at the pleasure of the Sovereign Lord.

5. Honours of war to be granted the garrison. All else at the discretion of the Govr.-General in Batavia.

6. The island to be delivered by the evening of the following day, subject to an inventory of goods.

7. Granted.

8. Sent back.

10. All prisoners to receive, according to their respective qualities, both here and elsewhere, the same treatment as the officers and soldiers of the Dutch, as far as possible, and in accordance with Article 3.

11. The natives to remain at the disposal of the Dutch and at their discretion.

12. To be dealt with under Inventory by the Overlords in Holland or the Governor-General and Council.

13. Safe conduct against Dutch subjects assured.

14. To be accommodated on Dutch ships as opportunity and means permit.

No. 789. 26 July, 1672. Ryckloff van Goens and others, on board the pp. 1-6. Tulpenburgh off the inner bay of Trinquemala, to the Govr.-General and Council in Batavia.

Announces the departure of eight French ships from the said bay on 9th July. Seizure by the Dutch of the St. Jean Baptiste and of the island garrisoned by the French, called by the Dutch 'Dwers in den Wegh'. Since the danger of war with France seemed greater, it was thought inadvisable to release the prisoners, but to send them over to the 'Sovereign Lords' in Europe, so as to gain time, and remove them from the neighbourhood. Uncertainty of the Dutch Commander, owing to reports of the arrival of ten to twelve French King's ships and the threatened return of the eight French ships with provisions. No answer received from Jaffnapatnam. The King's lascars dying in great numbers at 'Cotjaar'. The French prisoners caused anxiety; also their ships, which it was difficult to keep seaworthy, the Phénix and the St. Jean Baptiste being excellent men of war. The greatest anxiety of all was due to the island 'Dwers in den Wegh', which had been fortified by the French. It was difficult to do more than place a garrison there.

The most urgent matter seemed to be to send over the Europe with 100 French to Malacca to Their Honours, according to agreement, so as to be free of these guests, in case of the arrival of more enemies, and as soon as news is received of the arrival of the French General De La Haye with his fleet on the Coromandel Coast (since it appears very probable that he has sailed thither), we should perhaps be able to follow him with eight or nine ships to watch his intentions, and to convoy the flutes Oostdorp, Ysselstein, t'Wapen van der Veer, and Papenburg, leaving the Durchendam, St. Jean Baptiste, Phenix, t'Wapen van Batavia, Rammekens, and the Bears van Amsterdam very sparsely manned to hold the inner bay, in the hope of succour from Your Honours (which we pray God may not be denied us!). The flute Alphen is to keep a watch for the coming of the French ships . . . and other measures taken. If the daily expected assistance arrives, six ships at sea, and 500 or 600 soldiers on land should suffice to guard these bays and territories until our

p. 8. return from Coromandel. . . . However, Your Honours will be pleased to treat the above as mere conjectures, since the French may, in the meantime, have gone through the Straits of Malacca to Batavia or elsewhere, or direct to Bengal or part of the way to Madagascar. It might happen that their ships . . . may fall upon us here, or it might come to pass that Your Honours' reinforcements may be so long withheld as to be no longer of any use here, but to be more necessary at Colombo or Galle, contingencies which would upset all our previous 'meditations'.

- p. 8, l. 24—p. 10. It is impossible to find out how far 'Radja Singa' has engaged himself with the French, or what treaties have been made with that nation. Great consequent difficulties will ensue if the main force of the weak militia be kept on the ships, whilst if they are to be employed on land, the ships remain almost defenceless, in which condition of weakness we have been for many years, and from which we pray God to be now saved and delivered. . . . Meanwhile our faithful Lascars are dispirited and worn out as a fourth of the 400 have perished in this one fight, our own people having lost no less, many of the rest still being very weak, and the captured French officers are particularly weak and failing, so that we badly need a change of air. We should have been in still worse plight had we not secured the French provision ships. The French here declare they have buried nearly 500 men in four months.

[Here follow further details of the French men and crews, their present force, etc.]

- p. 12. All the stores on the island 'Dwers in de Wech', except those on the ships St. Jean Baptiste, Phénix, Europe and Indiana have been listed by a special commission, the principal being 112 iron guns, a great quantity of gunpowder, shot, handgrenades, some gun-carriages, large quantities of iron and lead, besides about 150 lasts of rice, 24 lasts of peas, a supply of wine and brandy. . . .

- The highest command on the island was given over by the commander to a shorn priest or mendicant monk (Père Maurice) a stout, shameless, impudent fellow, who has given us much trouble, and still does so daily, railing and cursing so violently both us and our nation, that it would be almost unbearable, were it not that reason bids us suffer and forbear, threatening to drive us in two years not only from this land but from the whole of India. The French have (as reported to us) written to France for 6,000 soldiers to command the island. The attentions we have rendered them and our particular care to avoid bloodshed as far as possible, are (construed and) blamed as fear of their king or faint-heartedness; so that we have considered it necessary to silence this evil speaking person, since he is also a famous engineer whom it is not advisable to allow too much opportunity of examining our situation. He has therefore been shipped on board this flute. The other officers are amenable, and the commander, Monsieur de Banoy, of our religion. Several declarations have been made by the French proving that General De La Haye had instructions to occupy as many places as he thought fit on this island or elsewhere, in every case just beyond gun range of our forts.
- p. 14. The natives have also suffered much from the French, the people of 'Tammelganone and Cotjaar' having all along remained faithful to us; so that 'Cotjaar' (which Lieutenant van der Houwer had abandoned from mere fear of the French) was still garrisoned on our arrival and all difficulties on that account overcome. Our retreat having attracted the French there, Hensinga Wanna, the Dutch Company's great enemy returned, through whose advice two Frenchmen were sent with letters to the Raja. These were long held up by the latter, and not accepted by him until the news of the abandonment of 'Cotjaar,' and the assertion by the French that their King was the mightiest in the world, and that we were under his absolute power and pleasure, caused him to follow the advice of his evil counsellors. Of all which matters and many others His Honour Huysman and the Fiscal Montanier are to give sufficient proofs, which should reach Your Honours in due time, with the Inventories, our Resolution of the 21st inst. being annexed . . . (Salutations).

No. 786, 31 July, 1672. Joan Maetsuyker and Council in Batavia to the 'Seventeens'. Extract from General Letter.

Ceylon. After the Wytongh had been sent off to Ceylon with the advices for Superintendent Rycklof van Goens on 16th April, the yacht Fortuyn arrived on the 29th from the said island, and on the 9th July the Meercat bringing several letters from his Excellency and the Govr. of Colombo, and one from Johan Bax dated 12th March, announcing that a fleet of 15 or 16 French ships had passed the same day from Surat along the Malabar Coast.

p. 2. The last news was that they had gone to Trinquemale and occupied the inner bay with 9 large ships, 3 having been sent to Coromandel for provisions. The Admiral of the fleet was Viceroy De La Haye, associated with Directeur François Caron, undoubtedly the prime mover in the scheme. He announced that he was provided with special letters from the King of Kandy for the purpose. There can be no probability of truth in this, the contrary appearing from a letter received at the same time by Heer van Goens from the Court of Kandy.

Unfortunately, the main body of the Dutch fleet there, under Commander Adrian Roothaus, had left a few days before to convoy the cargo ships for Surat and Persia; otherwise they could have kept the French ships out of the bay.

p. 3. It had been decided by His Honour, the Superintendent and Council assembled in Gall Town (by Resolution of April 28th), to maintain the (Dutch E. I.) Company's rights; for which purpose His Honour in person sailed to the said bay of 'Trinquenemale' with a fleet of 12 ships [names given], and it is hoped that they will be joined by certain other ships from home, and others from Surat and Persia.

p. 4. And in order to assist this design as far as lay in our power, we have sent the three ships intended for Coromandel to Ceylon, adding the ships Dordrecht and Oudtshoorn, and have sent them 300 stalwart soldiers, divided into four companies, each under a lieutenant, ensign and 3 serjeants, the Superintendent in his last (forementioned) letter having asked for a qualified person to assist in the difficult work, Commander Adriaan Roothaus having died shortly after his return to Gall Town with the ships from the Malabar Coast, by which the Company has lost a pious and faithful servant. We have therefore once more taken into your service His Honour Cornelis Qualbergen, and have sent him with the above 5 ships. He had previously been at the Cape of Good Hope in quality of Commander.

- p. 5. Until the departure of the Meercat from 'Trincquenemale', no actual hostilities had taken place on our side against the French, except that we had intimated to them to leave the said inner bay, and on their refusal had sought to cut off all provisions as far as possible. For which purpose, one of the three ships sent for victuals was held up on its return from Tranquebar, and deprived of sails and rudder, so as to be able in any case to keep it in our power. In this action we cannot see that our people are in the least to blame, as no nation can be obliged to admit so formidable a fleet of war ships in their harbours, nor to tolerate it. Besides, they had in the meantime landed and driven off some of our guards, and had begun to fortify here and there, and to throw up batteries on soil which was undoubtedly the Company's own, not only by conquest of the kingdom of Jaffnapatam (from which it had always depended), but also by the subsequent mandate of the King of Kandy, in as far as the latter may have been necessary.

To give an account of the protests and debates between ourselves and the said Viceroy would take too long; but copies of all the documents are annexed, as well as all the resolutions taken by our people in the matter, and some letters on both sides relating thereto, in case they may serve Your Honours.

- p. 7. We shall be anxious to hear whether His Excellency persisted in his attempt to drive the French from the wall, and to destroy their fleet, and with what result; and an extract of our resolution concerning this is also annexed, in copy.

We cannot believe that the further help expected from France can be as great as is asserted; and we [trust] that the difficulties with them will be insignificant on our part, since it is to be expected that the said nine ships will soon almost all lie powerless, as they already have many sick, and many deaths daily, especially on all those vessels whose transport can be held up by us. Hence, much will depend upon the good or bad disposition of the subordinates. The admiral ship, the Triomphe, can scarcely be kept afloat longer on account of leaks, and the two ships they were still expecting with victuals from the Coast have probably also fallen into our hands.

- p. 8. The above news was received by the flute Clavers Kérche on the 24th inst. Another letter from the said Heer Ryckloff van Goens from 'Trincquenemale', dated 16 June, reports that the business with the French remains mostly at a standstill, except that we had surprised a battery of fortification on a height on the E. point of the inner bay, three of their men having been slain in the fight, and several of ours wounded; that the first blood had been shed between them and us, but to our advantage; and that they cannot impute it to anything except their own actions, so unjustly undertaken against us. Another of the ships sent to Coromandel for provisions had been held up by our people on its return, in the same manner as the first. As to the third, which was a hooker, a great number of men had deserted from it, by which it may have been rendered powerless, and the supply of
- p. 9. victuals remains withheld. These deserters had come over to us, as they asserted, to escape from starvation and ill-treatment by the Admiral. They said that it was intended to remove to Coromandel with five or six of the best ships, leaving others behind in the bay, with 300 soldiers to hold the posts on land, and maintain their acquisitions. This would give us further trouble, owing to the injury they could do the Company on the said coast, and to the costly cargo ships, also because in the meantime they might be allowed into the said bay, still further to fortify themselves there, as the natives all seem to have become favourable to them. These our fears we have also communicated to the Superintendent, and have also transmitted to His Honour the direction to use caution and judgment in the Hon.

What new protests have reciprocally been made between His Honour and the French Your High Mightinesses will see from the annexed copies. . . .

No. 787A, 8 Oct., 1672. (Anthonie) Paviloen and Council at Palliacat to Joan Maetsuyker, Governor-General, and Council at Batavia.

p. 1. Details of letters received dated 14th, 16th April, 15th and 27th July, those of 14th June (in copy only, on the 17th of September, the originals sent by the English private yacht the Fortune not having yet arrived) from Ceylon, which all the ships had reached safely. The Lord be praised! [for this] as well as for the safety of all the Coast ships with their cargoes, and especially for the speedy voyage of the return fleet under the flag of Heer Ysbrandt Goshe to the dear Fatherland the preceding year, and the arrival of ships from

p. 2. thence and elsewhere in Batavia.

According to advices received from Your Honours, we shall anxiously expect in January, besides a ship from Batavia via Malacca, and the usual Malacca yacht, the flutes Kuylenburg and Uytdam, with a large capital for our coast, for our Coromandel chest was at its very bottom when the gold now sent by Your Honours arrived. The general requirements [of goods] for the coming year 1673 for the Home country and India are very great, as Your Honours rightly say; and you request our opinion as to whether (owing to the troublous times) they should be carried out or no. We can give no definite answer, but after serious consideration, we think it would

p. 3. be possible to execute the greater part, and especially the cotton thread and rough 'rond scherp', if we are not short of money; also perhaps the common 'guinea cloth', and the fine chintzes, but much might happen to prevent the fulfilment of this order. Other piece goods for Europe will probably fall short, since the English now employ greater capital therein than heretofore.

Six ships came this year from England to Madras, war not having yet broken out between France and our States at the time of their departure. They have brought out a stock of gold, silver and merchandise, amounting in value, it is said, to about 350,000 pagodas.

p. 4. The five ships which first arrived have all been sent over to Masulipatam and Bengal and are to return thence together and to sail in company at the beginning of next year from Madraspatam for England. From news brought by the last ship, the Barnardiston, there appears to be some discontent between the King of England and our State, and that in order to allay it, an ambassador from Holland had come to London shortly before the sailing of the ship. Amongst the questions in debate, the chief was apparently that gun-shots had been exchanged between five of our men of war and theirs in the channel. . . .

- p. 5. A copy of letter No. 2, concerning the general insecurity of affairs as regards France, Portugal and England, sent by the Home authorities overland to India, and forwarded overland to Heer Rycklof van Goens, Superintendent in Ceylon, and also communicated to Director
- p. 6. Constantin Ranst in Bengal, is sent for information. The anxiety of watching for speedy news both by sea and by land is emphasised since the King of France has 'forced the war upon us'. Castle Geldria is a new and a weak fort with but a small garrison, and with an open town of strongly built houses on this side. The French need not trouble to respect the King of Golconda, should assistance reach them from France, either here or in the 'comptoirs in Sadrangapatnam, Masulipatnam and Bimelipatnam', for having already seized San Thomé, they can hope for no trade in his lands.

As regards the business of the King of Viziapore [Bijapur] they also have no reason to spare the factory of Tegenepatnam, and still less to leave the town of Nagapatnam untouched out of regard for the Tanjore Nayak or anyone else. This town would be an easy conquest, being of so great extent, and with weak irregular fortifications, requiring a garrison two or three times as strong as it now possesses to hold it in its present condition for any length of time against a European enemy of tolerable strength.

- p. 8. In a letter of September 11th to us, His Honour writes: 'If Nagapatnam cannot be provided with militia otherwise than at present, and there should be war with France (since it is now rumoured that England and Portugal are to join in) I am decidedly of opinion, that the town should be made over to the Nayak of Tansjower [Tanjore] or another, and the sooner the better, upon condition of independence from Visiapore or Golconda; as otherwise the town will surely be lost, and Ceylon soon after would have to bear the brunt.' In the same letter His Honour writes: 'In Nagapatnam I have ordered Point Amsterdam to be enlarged by the tracing of a new Point [? lookout]. If Your Honour should wish to reduce the town to a moderate square or pentagon this will then prove very serviceable, whilst if the town remains so large, this is most important, since it is too badly exposed on that side to be defended on three sides by a small force unable, without fear of surprise, to command the attackers. But the opinion of the Singhalese engineers, Pieter Dunbeer and David Butler, sent last year
- p. 9. by His Honour, was not to make a most necessary improvement of the Nagapatnam fortification at that corner, but a general one.

Nevertheless work was to be begun on the said new Point near Amsterdam, at a cost of about 2,500 pagodas, this having already been explicitly ordered by Heer van Goens as Superintendent and Chief Commander, and that we should serve the Company's interests far better by reducing the fort of Nagapatnam than by repairing it, and by placing a suitable garrison as a frontier [defence] for the costly [settlement at] Ceylon on this side rather than to hand over the town to any native potentate.

- There have been heavy expenses there this year caused by the construction of a turf 'fausse braie' with a breastwork on the inner side of the ditch, and the deepening and widening of the ditch, and the side. To do so on the other side would cost too much, and it is also impossible to cover it with turf, as sufficient is not to be procured hereabouts. We have no one on this coast skilled in the art of fortification. Therefore, if Your Honours should desire any particular alterations at Nagapatnam a suitable person should be sent there. . . .
- p. 10. continuation of the stone revêtement of the same begun on the town

- p. 10, l. 13. Recapitulation of news of the French at Trincomalee and San Thomé. 'To the seven (remaining ships) they had also added the little yacht the Ruby of Mr. Sjearsey [Jearsey], seizing it as it attempted to pass their fleet without commission, and notwithstanding several protests of the English Governor (Sir) William Langhorne, have retained possession of it. Whether this is done with the knowledge of the Viceroy La Haye or not, or only according to the pleasure of Director-General Caron or others, we cannot tell.' One of the seven ships sailed three or four weeks ago to an unknown destination, and on the 3rd instant five more, namely three war ships, one other, and the little yacht Ruby, were sent to the southward (two French ships still remaining before San Thomé), some say to Tranquebar, others to Goa, but nothing further is known, as Monsieur La Haye is very secret in his business. The few French (about twenty) living at Masulipatnam, after the taking of San Thomé went aboard a 'Moor' ship lying in the roadstead there, and have bought a little vessel from Mr. 'Cleedwood' [Fleetwood] for 400 pagodas, to which they have transferred themselves and perhaps will return on it to San Thomé with the coming monsoon or a favourable wind.
- p. 13. . . .

It is thought that the French base their chief grounds for the seizure of San Thomé on the unfounded powers given them two years ago at Masulipatam by the Muhammadan Governor in the business of their servant Marhara, details of which were given to Your Honours.

A Portuguese yacht from Goa has recently anchored near Madraspatnam with miscellaneous goods, from which the French have bought all the wine. . . . This vessel came very opportunely, as it is said that no more than 400 men besides a few topazes and peons remain in the town with Mr. La Haye to garrison it, and that Monsr. Caron is with the fleet.

- pp. 14, 15. Superintendent van der Goens went up the coast from 8th August to 1st September with 9 men-of-war. . . . Movements of Dutch ships.

- p. 15, l. 17. It is also owing to want of time that it has not been possible to load any flagstones in these ships at Sadraspatnam. Several dozen have been ready for some time, as for their better provision we rented the village 'Arrialsery', where the stone workers live, for five years from Heer Fattamia for 85 'pards' yearly.

Movements of ships and reasons for alterations of previous arrangements. 'On the 1st instant the Buyksloot followed the other ships to Masulipatam (whither they had been sent to assist in loading) with the merchants' cash and other things which could not be sent sooner, as the pagodas had first to be coined and the greater part of the yacht's lading was changed. . . .'

- If it were possible to enter into the whole details of the commission of Chief Merchant Sir Pieter Smith concerning the Company at the
- p. 18. Court of Golconda, at Masulipatnam and elsewhere in the Muhammadan kingdom it would require a quire of paper. We therefore rather beg to refer to our Journal, which gives a fully detailed account

- up to August, and especially to our Resolutions of the 12th September, in which may be seen the motives of our letter of that date sent to Golconda recalling His Honour from there. The affair of complimenting the present King and his two chief Ministers, the Lord 'Miersinda Seydnived Sjaffer' and the Lord 'Chanchanna Superselaer Moffenchan' had not yet been initiated at the time of despatching this, it being necessary to leave all that, as well as the attempts necessary on behalf of the Hon. Company, to the chiefs of the factory at Golconda, the Chief Merchant Sir Willem Hartsinck, and the Merchant Sir Jan van Neyendael. For the 'Mierzamela zeyd'
- p. 19. continues well pleased with them, and is willing to enlist the favour of the King towards the Hon. Company; but he will have nothing to do with the Commissary on account of that which occurred at his house on the last day of the past year, which resulted in mutual heavy losses, as Your Honours have already been informed.
- l. 8. Amongst the forementioned papers, to which we respectfully beg to refer you, we would mention particularly the following matters: That the former King Sultan Abdullah Qutb Shah was given a present to the value of pagodas 6453. 5½ and 'Chia Miersa', our now late patron was presented with pagodas 1937.3 six days later. That the old general 'Nichnanchan' died on the 9th of April, leaving the King a treasure of 6,000,000 old pagodas. . . . That eight days later the foresaid 'Mossenchan' was appointed to succeed him in his post.
- p. 20. That the old king (before he could fulfil his promise to give a farman to the Company, owing to the loss of his sight) died in the night of the 1st-2nd May. That the night following the younger of his two sons-in-law, Mirza Abdul Hassan, was placed upon the throne, by the two forementioned lords 'Miersumella and Chanchanna'. That the new King then deprived 'Chia Miersia' of all his estates and fortune, and that our people, with the Lord 'Maersumela' for our patron, were present at the audience. That he afterwards appointed the same lord once more to the Government of Masulipatnam, Kondapille, 'Vlaer and Ragiemandaren', having deprived Ja'far Beg of the same on the 24th August because he failed to bring in his dues. That the same malicious person . . . since then, on partly frivolous pretexts of farming 'Paliacol', will not be satisfied with the sums paid to his predecessor, 'Mameth Beech', but insists upon a new system of
- p. 21. imposing custom on the outgoing merchandise for Golconda, and further on tolls upon the piece-goods entering Masulipatnam.
- The Company's trade has been obstructed in the northern quarters everywhere, from 10th March to about the middle of May, he having prevented the bringing of any provisions to the Masulipatnam factory on several occasions, through his 'habeldaer Miersja Momyn', adding severe threats of intending to surprise and kill our people there, and exhibiting such preparations thereto that the factors were obliged, for the preservation of their lives and the Company's property, to have a few of the guns of the Moven brought from the banksall to the factory, so that it might appear that it was intended to use them. . . .
- p. 22. Further, [we beg to mention] how Lord Abdul 'Naby' has once more been sent as 'Serlaskier' to Orixa [Orissa], which gives rather more hope than before of obtaining thence, some time or other, the belated 260 loads of rice. That the subordinate governments of Ellore and 'Ragie mandaron' are given to Hussain Beg, and that of Masulipatnam and its appurtenances to a certain Malik 'Soil', both favourites of Mir Jumla, with whom Abdul 'Naby' is also greatly in favour.

- Many other matters are contained in the Journal. From the extracts communicated Their Honours will be able to judge that the presents to the late King and the deposed 'Chia Miersa' have been in vain; but how could this have been foreseen? It once more appears (as far as the King and our patron are concerned) that it will be necessary to compliment and present a gift to the ruling prince and his two chief courtiers, on whom he allows everything to depend (being personally chiefly engaged at present in watching the fights of wild beasts and the dancing of tame dogs, so it is said).

The English had the good fortune shortly before the Nabob's death to obtain a farman for the farming of Madraspatnam for 1,200 pagodas a year.

- A Mr. Richard Cohan, an Englishman, formerly in the service of their Company, and late gunfounder to the King of Golconda, arrived here on the 15th September as great 'habeldaer' [havildar] of Attipatam, Waloer, the Sienket Koor, Dygoraetpatnam, Kotapatnam, Poneer, the seven Meganes, and Palliacat, they being the lands farmed to him by the Lord 'Chanchanna' for the period of five years for the sum of 38,938 pagodas a year, an amount which it is not considered possible to obtain from them; and in that case his rule will be but of short duration; which time will show. On his arrival he arrayed the Governor in a Muhammadan raiment in the name of his Lord and Master, at the same time presenting him with a letter from His Highness containing nothing but a recommendation to live in good friendship with his forementioned havildar and to be helpful to him in those matters in which he might need the King's assistance in serving the Company.

By the hooker, the Pagadeth [? Bagadeth], sent to the Governor of the Coromandel Coast, they had heard of the safe arrival of their letter of the 14th March sent by the flute Starmeer to Their Honours at Batavia: the said hooker being here with the Fleet of Defence before the town. . . .

- p. 2. The French with a considerable naval force had arrived at Trincomalee and had fortified the inner part of South Bay, sending two ships, the Phenix and the Europe, to this coast for victuals. These two ships on their return were seized by our people, the rest of the French naval force being thereby constrained to go out of Trincomalee Bay to seek provisions, leaving in the said bay a large ship, the St. Jean Baptiste, and about eighty whites and a few Singhalese, with thirty pieces of cannon to garrison the island lying in the entrance [of the bay]. Departing on the 9th July, the said fleet passed two days later before Negapatnam and arrived at Tranquebar. Not being able to obtain sufficient provisions from the Danes, they passed on to San Thomé, which place they seized from the King of Golconda on August 5th with but little resistance and bloodshed, and they still hold it. Their fleet lies about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles out to sea, before San Thomé, which they have since fortified and provided with many guns, and therefore it will not be so easily taken as it was lost. The 'Moors' have invested it by land, but as they cannot cut their enemies off by sea, it is wasted trouble, since the besieged can obtain almost everything they need for money from Madraspatnam.

- p. 4. The French meanwhile seize all vessels without respect to ownership, and only a few days ago took possession of a Portuguese yacht coming from Goa for Madraspatnam, because it flew too many flags and did not strike them betimes (so the story goes); but it may be a pretence, and the seizure may have been purposely arranged in order to give assistance to the French, without giving offence [? to us]. . . . We shall soon see where Viceroy De La Haye intends to winter with the King's fleet, since the northern monsoon is 'at the door'

- Brief mention of Admiral van Goens' attack upon the French at Trincomalee, and increase of Dutch strength there; thirteen of the Dutch East India Co.'s ships arrived thence shortly after, ten of which were armed for war, principally to make a demonstration and to refresh the crew. . . . On Sept. 2nd they directed their course to Punta dos Pedras under the orders of the Admiral. Having been there, they passed by here again, fourteen strong, on the 12th of the same month, Captain Jan Fredericx being in command, with the merchant, Pieter Montenacq, as vice-commander, having instructions
- p. 6. not to go beyond Sadraspatnam, whence they were ordered to proceed to Pulicat by the Governor Anthonie Pavilioen, and they duly arrived there. There they still lie, with the ships which have been ordered to Masulipatnam to remove the cargoes. . . .

- p. 2, l. 23. Ceylon. 4 October [1672] arrived from Malacca the pinnace Eendracht, sent expressly by Governor Bort to carry letters and papers of Superintendent Ryckloff van Goens, dated 26th July, from Trincomalee Bay: and sent by the captured French flute Europa. 'The said flute arrived in the road here [Batavia] on October 12th, bringing one hundred Frenchmen, amongst them two mendicant friars named Frère Maurice and Bonnet, whereby it more clearly appeared how matters had gone after the departure of the flute Claverskerck from the roadstead there on the 10th of June, between His Honour and the French Viceroy De La Haye. The latter was finally obliged by absolute want of sufficient provisions to leave the Bay of Trincomalee . . . on the 9th July with eight ships for Coromandel for refreshment and revictualling, leaving the island—by them called the Sun, and by us Dwars in den wegh—partly fortified, with the French ship St. Jean belonging to their Company, near by, with the well-appointed flute the 'Indiane' [? Indienne.] Whereupon Heer van Goens and the Dutch fleet, coming into the
- p. 4. Bay and approaching the said island, first overcame the said St. Jean on the 18th of the same month, and on the day following the island was surrendered by capitulation, with thirty guns (mostly iron, two-pounders). The Lord be praised! This troublesome thorn is removed, and no more than two Frenchmen and one of their blacks were killed, but none of ours.'

- On the island and in the ships St. Jean, Europe, Phénix and the Indiane were found and came into the Dutch Company's hands, according to inventory, 112 pieces of iron cannon, a large quantity of powder, shot, hand grenades, a few gun-carriages, quantities of iron, lead, etc. . . . 150 loads of rice, 24 loads of gram, wines and brandes, indicating once again that their designs must have been great; the greater part of the French also declaring unanimously that these
- p. 5. [ships] had been [intended] for Ceylon or for Banca, and that the Viceroy's absolute orders were, according to several testimonies, that they should settle as many posts as they thought fit on the island or in other places . . . but just beyond cannon shot of Their Honours' forts and fortifications. He had given the High Command over the island to the monk Maurice aforementioned under the title of 'Intendant', in whose name the agreement was made for the restitution of the captured ships and people (about three hundred and fifty men) referred by us to our Sovereign Lords.

Heer van Goens and his Council on deliberation had felt unable to release them, lest with the assistance they so surely expected, their power should be still more increased. He promised, however, that in accordance with the Third Article of the Capitulation, they should be sent to Holland via Batavia, by the first opportunity, to be transported from thence according to the pleasure of our Sovereign Lords. And His Honour in residence here, not feeling able to decide what [?] might happen respecting their expected recruits, it was for the present resolved . . . on the 19th of the same month, to delay a few days longer the [?] principal decisions ('dispositie ten principale'). Whereupon there arrived here the hooker, the Lyster, which had been sent for them, bringing the unpleasant news of so great a war against both mighty princes, and some fear that the Crown of Portugal (if it had not already declared it) would soon join in, it being as much to the latter's interest to come to an agreement, especially in India.

- p. 7. Your Honours may perceive from the three letters sent via England, that we in India have been as far as possible upon our guard against the French [at the same time not trusting the Portuguese] and in some fear of the English, their King's disinclination to us being only too well known. Upon receipt of the above news, the monk Maurice and his people were put under safe guard, and the papers etc., of this impertinent and no less crafty priest were seized (all being carefully registered), it being considered that the subjects of that nation could no longer be looked upon as only under arrest upon articles of capitulation, but rather as actual prisoners, bereft of the benefits of agreed privileges. Although Your Honours, with your usual care and foresight, had ordered the flute Saxenburgh, and the hookers Posthoorn, Louwy, and Bulchesteyn, to be sent out in haste
- p. 8. to give warning of these affairs, both at Surat and in Ceylon, and also here, we have still thought it our duty, as stated at the beginning of this letter, to despatch the Meercat on the 3rd of November with express advice for Malacca, Ceylon, Bengal, Coromandel, etc. . . . We hope her voyage may be a short and safe one. . . .

There arrived on the 3rd instant [December] the hooker, the Vlieger, bringing us news from the Superintendent, and from Colombo, with one from Commander Cornelis van Quaelbergen in Trincomalee of the 3rd October, from whom we had also received another letter of the 15th September via Coromandel, reporting his safe arrival with the recruit which sailed under his command. We were not only surprised but troubled that Your Honours' advice ship had not yet been heard of there, by or before the 19th November, and that they still remained in ignorance of the actual tidings of war, which the last ship from England brought out on 26th April without doubt, but kept secret, as has already been noted in the Coromandel business.

- p. 9. So far His Honour has not felt justified in taking action therein, so long as we are not attacked by them; since it appears from all external circumstances, that the French also have not been informed by [the English]. Otherwise they [the French] would not have acted as it is alleged (if it be indeed true), viz: that the Viceroy De La Haye had not only dared to seize a certain little English ship the Ruby, belonging to Mr Sjerzey (Jearsey), but also refused restitution on its being claimed. The Viceroy with his eight ships sailed from Trincomalee direct for the Coromandel Coast, passing the town of Negapatnam and in full sight of Tranquebar, where, as well as at Porto Novo, not being able to obtain their great requirements they continued along the Coast. . . . On the 21st of the same month they were before San Thomé, belonging to the King of Golconda. There his officers, who were sent on shore for the needs of the fleet, were put off by the Commander until he could send word thereof to his superior officer some miles inland. De La Haye was so angered by this, that on the 23rd he first ordered the town to be bombarded from the ships, and afterwards to be attacked in force by land. It was then stormed (the garrison being without any suspicion thereof) and strongly held.
- p. 10. Governor Pavilioen's letter from Pulicat to Batavia, dated 8th October, contained the above news in detail, and added that the 'Moors' had beleaguered the city with [10,000 men on foot and 500 horsemen. But during the] month which had elapsed the French had had sufficient opportunity to provide supplies for a year from the interior, apparently intending to remain in possession, for which purpose they still sought to strengthen themselves as much as possible, taking into their service a few Portuguese topazes of Tranquebar, Porto Novo and thereabouts, and endeavouring meanwhile to lay in as many provisions as could be obtained, also improving the fortifications as far as they could; so that they consider that unless the Moors bring up heavy guns for the siege they
- p. 11. would besiege the town in vain, 'being a folk which is afraid of heavy shot.'

But had it pleased God to grant Your Honours' advices and instructions a speedy voyage to Ceylon beforehand, then in all probability not only would Your Honours' ship not have failed but the town itself could perhaps have been restored again to its lord. According to letters from Heer van Goens, the French were in a position to retain both the town and the ships. His Honour had received news that whenever he, with the main body of the fleet, was off Negapatnam, sailing before the wind, the French, who always employed their people on land by day, brought them back on board ship at night, for fear of being attacked and surprised by our people, complaining greatly of the uncertain state of things, which had prevented their getting the marked advantage which otherwise must have resulted.

- p. 13. Nevertheless the small flute the Louys [Louis] has also fallen into his hands . . . and their great ship the Triomphe (mentioned in ours of July 31st) they had beached and broken up, not being able to keep her afloat any longer before San Thomé.

No further sure advices can be given Your Honours, the reports being various. The last letters of the 9th and 12th September from Negapatnam seem to establish from Danish reports that Director Caron had sailed for Europe on the English ship Ruby. Heer van Goens in his last considers Caron's departure certain, but he believes that it was on the Julius, and that the ships Navarre and Breton . . . were to retire to Atche [Achin] or Tenasserim. . . . Time will show the truth thereof. In open roadsteads for such great ships there is a want of facilities for repairs; and if we were certain of their withdrawal to those parts, we ought not to delay, if it were at all possible to make an attempt on them. It is sufficiently proved by this account that the redoubtable might of Viceroy La Haye is at any rate greatly reduced, and almost come to nought, the French having (according to the reports of prisoners to Heer van Goens) buried quite 500 of their men on land at Trincomalee, over 350 being in our power, while 300 are said to have deserted in Surat and almost as many escaped to Canara and other places; 200 had been left in Fort Dauphin in Madagascar, besides almost 400 slain there in an expedition on land; and although 4,300 men were said by them to have been brought out from France, from these accounts scarcely 2,000 can be left. It therefore appears to His Excellency to be certain that at the most 800 men had come with the ships to San Thomé. It may be however that their hopes of a great reinforcement were not quite vain, and that which the English and Danes have reported in Coromandel may also be true, i.e., that the first had seen anchored at 'Asnany' island five war-ships of forty to fifty guns, and the others had spoken with a still greater ship at sea, both asserting that they were followed by greater forces. At the same time the Resident in Vingurla, by letter dated the 5th September, to the Commandant in Malabar, reports that in Goa they expect a French fleet of twenty ships, but we hope it will not be so large, and that the time will soon show where the foresaid six ships may have appeared, so that we also may again be prepared against them.

- p. 16, l. 25. Although the outbreak of the war between France and the United Provinces may make it difficult to settle the Trincomalee disputes and demonstrate the justice of the Dutch East India Company's procedure, they have, nevertheless, sent instructions to Ceylon to collect all irrefragable evidence towards the justification of the Company, and send it to Batavia, so that it may be forwarded also from hence if at any time it should be of use to Their Honours. The captured French ships and goods to be dealt with (on receipt of Inventory) by the Pact of Justice, awaiting Their Excellencies' orders. . . .
- p. 19. On the 16th July the fleet before Trincomalee had been successively joined by the Beurs from Persia and the Meerman from Surat, and on the 28th the flute Osdorp returned from Negapatnam

- (whither it had been sent to place 118 Frenchmen in safe keeping) with the news that La Haye had retired to Coromandel. His Excellency (van Goens) hastened to send out, to follow him there, besides the garrisons on land to secure the bay, the yachts Beurs, Durgerdam, t'Wapen van Batavia, the French Phénix and St. Jean, sparsely manned but advantageously equipped, to make a great attempt between two land batteries. He sailed in person with the Tulpenburgh, Damiatha, Bredenwoode, Noordioycq, Amersloort,
 p. 20. t'Wapen van der Gouw, Rysende Zonne, Meerman, Rammekens, the flutes t'Wapen van der Weer, Ysselstein, Papenburgh and the Osdorp, first to 'Puncta de Pedras', where Alphen passed on his way to Persia, then both together on 8th August to Negapatnam, and on the 20th to Tegenapatnam. . . .

Meanwhile His Excellency took the opportunity of thoroughly refreshing the men, who were in great need of it, and sailed again on the 27th August with sound and cheerful crews for Negapatnam, having sent the flutes Isselsteijn and Osdorp to Bengal. . . .

- p. 21. On the 9th, the yachts Outhoorn, Buycksloot, t'Wapen van Batavia, Durgendam and the Beurs joined them, from which main body (so as to supply us with merchantmen to bring over the Coromandel 'retours') there will at the first opportunity be despatched the Alphen, Buycksloot, Beurs van Amsterdam, t'Wapen van Batavia, Durgendam, Papenburgh, t'Wapen van der Veer, convoyed by the men-of-war Outhoorn, Damiata, Bresdenroode, Noortuyck, Rysende Son, t'Wapen van der Gouw, Meerman and Rammekens, under the flag of the Vice Admiral Jan Fredericxen. These have express orders in passing before San Thomé not to make the slightest acknowledgment of the French flag. It has not been thought desirable that his Excellency should go in person, as they were still unable
 p. 22. to make any attempt upon the place, and it was thought more necessary for him to remain in Ceylon, all the more so since Heer Paviloen was present there to give the necessary orders in the fleet's concerns. . . .

It appears from His Excellency's last letter of 19th November, that the whole fleet of Coromandel and the Bay of Trincomalee are united there under his command, making together a total of fifteen ships

- p. 23. and yachts. [Here follow the names of the ships.]

We hope that soon after it may have been possible to add from Coromandel the flutes Ysselsteijn and Osdorp, the yacht the Cogge, and perhaps also the Laren from Bengal. . . .

Finally it is, of course, understood that much is required for so many ships, especially as they may be necessarily detained there, to keep off all arriving enemies. Therefore, that they may not be in difficulties, we have sent by the yacht Ougly and the hookers Bagdet and Lyster via Malacca, [provisions] . . . to the amount of f. 88,947 : 10 : 11, with the promise to do our utmost if the home ships arrived in time, to send another ship this month from Sumatra.

- In the meantime we are still expecting thence the hooker the Swemmer laden with cinnamon, which was to leave eight days after the Vlieger, by which we hope to receive without fail the acknowledgment of Your Honours' 'advice', and also to hear whether Heer Volger, who sailed on September 2nd with the armed yachts Poelo-
 p. 25. run and Nieuwenhove for Surat, and was on October 8th in the inner bay of Madura before Wierandapatnam, has sailed for Cochin, or has returned to Ceylon. He had received certain reports as to the safety of the route for the continuation of his voyage, which must otherwise have caused us great anxiety, for there is no reckoning whether the four French ships forementioned and the five English of which Your Honours wrote (which had left in March last for Surat), have all now arrived near Goa, Bombay or Surat, undoubtedly not without knowing of the war there. The two ships with such costly cargoes could do little against them, and would otherwise rather add to the strength of the Ceylon fleet for in this state of affairs we must be content to place the needs of the war before those of trade, and must be pleased if those of the latter can be carried on seasonably and without noteworthy danger. It is greatly to be hoped that God will grant the two rich ships deliverance from our enemies; for if they arrived safely at Surat the Directors there could easily arrange to furnish some capital for Malabar and Ceylon, which is not at all convenient for us to do from here, yet both places nevertheless require it.

- p. 27. Time will show whether the six English ships mentioned in the headings of Coromandel and Bengal will really sail for England at the usual time, as asserted, whatever the others in Surat may order. In that case it should set us much more at ease, than if they were to settle near each other somewhere on one or other of the coasts, or come to meet to the east of Ceylon, in which case so formidable a body would be brought together that we dare not at present even give definite advice, and respectfully beg your High Mightinesses to give the matter the consideration its importance demands, especially as regards the supply of the greatly needed recruits.

Meanwhile we think that a certain English ship, which put into the Bay of Gall when the Vlieger called, should not fail to fall into your Lordships' hands; the advice-boat having followed soon after, it is not improbable that Heer van Goens has held it up upon some pretext, news of which we hope to receive by the Swemmer.

- p. 28. At Muscat the Sind envoy had made a present to the chief merchant Padbrugge to provide a troop of hired soldiers to be employed in the Company's service where required, it having been recommended by us in our last letters to the respective Directors of Surat and Persia, to support them about the Rajah. . . .

- p. 29. Monsieur Martin having appeared distressed at being compelled to fight against his own nation, had been discharged by Heer van Goens and given leave to come to Batavia. . . . Owing, however, to the actual declaration of war by the Kings of both France and England against our State, he is still without present employment, there being no military appointment vacant here, and he does not seem inclined to accept occupation on the Council of Justice.

'Raja Singa'. It has been evident that the Singhalese have admitted and openly assisted the French, whilst they have been unfriendly towards us, not only in the districts of Battacala and Trincomalee, but also at Gall and Colombo. In the first case it is proved that it was by the Rajah's direct and personal instructions, as appears in the papers, especially those relating to Colombo, and in olas, several of which have fallen into our hands. But in the Heer Superintendent's last despatch of 19th November, this appears again doubtful, His Honour reporting that the last courier sent about a year ago is now finely arrayed by His Majesty and daily honoured with new garments, whilst the French envoy remaining there at Court has been placed under guard in a house apart, as hostage. We have recommended in our last two letters to hold him innocent of any such prejudice, and to attribute all the harm done to evil councillors or bad courtiers, without however trusting him now. . . .

Twenty-five articles with marginal notes. Undated copy. 3½ pp.

No. 5 is a duplicate of the above.

The Propositions differ in some respects from the Treaty of 7 July, 1619, as finally concluded and printed in Rymer's Foedera, the order of Articles 1 and 2 also being reversed. The annotated Articles containing the chief points of difference and the relative marginal notes are as follows, the words underlined being thus marked in the copies of the 'Propositions'.

[Article 5.] 'And to avoid all jealousies indirect dealing and future difference which may happen: the principalls of each partie shall meet and confer together at Bantam and other places of the Indies and agree of a moderate price as shalbe thought meet to give for Pepper. And to that end certayne sufficient men shalbe appointed by consent of both parties to buy the same which being so bought shalbe divided equally to each partie a moiety.'

'5. Upon this article we breake for the Hollanders will not agree to a division, for our merchants have it otherwise.'

[Article 6.] 'In the Isles of the Moluccas, Banda and Amboyna, the Companie shall by mutuall consent, be so ordered that the Company of England shall partake an half portion of all the trade as well in the Commodities to be brought together and those to be sold; as in the fruites and merchandize there to be bought and exported. And those of the United Provinces shall have the other moiety.'

'In this we shalbe content with the 1/3 part.'

* * * * *

[Article 20.] 'And for the Forts and Garrisons to be continued and mayntayned, in the Isles of the Moluccas, Banda and Amboyna, serving for the common assurance of the Commerce, they and for so many of them shalbe appointed and continued as shalbe thought fitt and necessary by the Councell of Defence of both Companies. And the forts on both sides shalbe divided according to the respective proportions of the trade and . . . of both (each) Companies and shalbe accordingly holden and mayntayned.'

'Fort St. George, May 12th, 1693.

'And In whom there is noe guile as yet found, these gentlemen were President Higginson's Prisoners, who having used all his arts and Westindian measures to persuade or terrifye them to some confession and charge against President Yale, but in vaine, lay'd about to finde some crimes against the poore men to authorize his confining them, but in [this] as the reast, his evill Genius has failed him: however mighty threats and perpetual confinement were the days cordiall sent them, which at [last] work't its designed effect, which was a Petition and Piscash to him for their Release, and procured a Promise of suddaine Enlargment upon bails; but this could not be performed with that expediditon but that the watchful Judge by his argus ey'd emissarys had intelligence of it and wanting his fleece too was pleased to putt a stop to the proceeding, and by vertue of his power the poore mistaken men remaine still in limbo, and are given to understand if his purss has a wolfe int too, it must be fedd, and manque New Englands power, there they must lye (which greats not a little) least their liberty should inflame the government a Just and far [? fair] pre [? rogative] for imprisoning innocents.

- p. 2. The next is Rango Chitty formerly spoken off, who ere the Judgment in the Cunnanwar cause was read had liberty on bails, which cost him as it is credibly reported, 1000 pagodas, and to befriend him had only 20 pagodas mulct layd on him by Judgment, and that only to make their art seeme lawfull, when as there is not the least law or Justice of Equity int, the poorer be[ing] whole ignorant, nay the whole business and all concerned are termed defendants: evidently wronged and abused, there not being one word of truth in the whole evidence, the shamed wittnesses now sorrowfully repenting of action, being moste of them, now they are growne useless tooles, layde aside and discarded from serving as the Company's merchants. And poor honest Rango, notwithstanding his soe severely paying for his liberty is noe more than a Prisoner to his house and all oportunity watcht (a very visitt to his ould master President would doe it) to reafleece him or any else they know to have mony, and it is the mighty and Just business these worthy Commissioners are sent out to manage, all trade or indeed its very thoughts being layd aside for which they have a very convincing argument, this want of mony, and if their Shippes be laden home, it must be by means of their unjust exaction and heavy Customes added to their worse than Robberys (could I find a name fort) committed on the goods and Estates of their servants and free traders here, nay the ravenous beasts are not satisfied with seazing their estates, but inhumanely detaine their Persons from returning to their due allegiance.

- p. 3. Ancoh, whome we have had occasion to mention formerly, being after Judgment remanded to Prison, paid the 500 pagodas bribe before mentioned in hopes to meet a large abatement of the Sum condemned in by Judgment of Court, but all the buoyant hopes and flattering promises of the Just distributor of the laws had raised in him, vanished to attoms, it being the poore broken backt man (I mean broken as to Estate) if now nothing remained towards the Judges purchasing of his freedome but a speedy dischard [sic] of what was awarded the Company and of which there would be no abatement, that the Judges cordiall advice to him was with all expedition to dispatch the affaire that he'd doe well, could he not raise the mony other ways, to pawne and sell his mother's house, his wife, his owne and child's jewells: and then, being freed, he on the word of a Judge and a gentleman, should meet noe further molestation or trouble. The poor long Imprison'd wretch grew extreme mallancolly at the newse and heartily wished his bribe ungiven, and finding noe amending but payment or a Prison, followed the cunning advice about himself and family, being wholly reduced to begging by it, and pawnd all the remains and more than he and his could call his owne to advance the Sums, and as by the Judge directed, imployed Captain Metcalfe to owne [?] and deposit the money, which was noe sooner paid and the poore fellow returning from the payment as he thought to his longed for liberty, but was passing through the Court de garde, by a warrant granted Mr Frazer by his [? Junior] Defender: the Judge arested in an action of schandell against said Scotch beast, which Schandall was his declaring the truth on examination, and that the voluntary confession of Said Fraser's owne servant, being the account of severall cheats committed by him in his severall Imloys of the Godowne and Custome house, but his actions are not to be inquired into, the toole being yet of use to them, since upon occasion he [would] swear to he knows not what, being a thing (worse than brute) made a mere compound of ignorance, arrogance and Envy. Tis therefore his servant is frightened into a recantation and turnes

- p. 4. the Poynt upon Coalligo [?] Chitty, an able reputable merchant; and Ancoh who after the ould strayne, declares they forst him to the confession; and that very word, bare as it is is sufficient evidence in any cause whatever; and tho' the fellow could not tell what manner of force, whether threatens, imprisonment, etc., were used, yet force it must be, and his masters confining him 3 days in his own chamber within the Fort till he had terrified him to said Recantation was noe force at all, on which barefaced base [? pretence] the poore fellowes were, when their hopes were at height, remanded to prison and all bails refused by said Fraser.

'The Judge then tax't by Mr Metcalfe of breach of profhise, warded that without abuse, declaring hee could not alter the course of Justice, and thus were [?] the poore deluded people battled [?] to their utter ruin, and we'll leave them in prison till a new collected Some and lusty bribe lifte them through or till Heaven's Justice frees them from this unf [? infamy] of persecution.

- 'Having omitted entring in its due place a most materiall and singular instance of the unparraled equity, Justice and Candour of the Comissary, his Councell and Company created Court of Admiralty, I shall begin a distance out of sight and beyond my owne certaine knowledg laying foundation, it being what account I could gett from the Captain of his Transactions till his arrivall here; wherefore to omitt the long Story of his well managed enga-[ge]ment with a brisk and powerfull enemy, I shall begin where we concluded, which was with his purchasing of the shipp and pawning his mate and purser for the payment, thereby saving the
- p. 5. lives of his whole ship's company, the French having by consultation resolved, would he not give them the summe demanded for the disabled ship, and on that condition too (which were he should engage never to restore her to the Company or former proprietor) to sink her and men too with themselves, being to numerous a Company to take in 60 prisoners; which consideration obliged the Captain for securing their lives who had bravely [? deffended] their little world till she had lost her polesand [? motion] to agree to all their articles, and sent both purser and mate on board them, Comitting himself and Company in a wounded vessell mastless to the mercy of the boundless Ocean, having neither compass or other mathematical Instrument, but what was broake and disabled, and nothing left to direct them but Providence, which happily brought them safe to poynt de Gala on the Island of Zelone where he mett, civill usage and had from Capat. Cento Coderden [?] an account of the Government withall its appendixes acahracto [?] I believe sufficient to have encouraged any man (but him who thought Renowne and Honor sufficient garde) at that distance to have swept out of their clutches from them our man of war; made the best of way to gaine the coast and fell in with Trincumbar the 18th March, whence he immediately dispatch't advices hither and he intended to be here himself with all expedition. But in the Interim his Ship[s] company, whether out of a wandring, lazy, vagabond fancy common to such builds of men, or from encoradgement received from hence the last I am [?] to give most credit too, they being immediately on their arrival taken into protection and declaration against their Captain greedily imbibed and believed, even to the height, if [? that] the man, his ship and all was in Resolution condemned ere soon on board; having after the best manner he could, reman[n]d his ship, he put to Sea and arrived that port the 17th of Aprill, mett from the Generall a very could welcome, and was required to deliver the lead on board him, it being the Company's, as allsoe to render an account of what of it he had disposed off, which his runaway Sailors had informed off. He civilly answered it was true he had when left England a quantity [?] of lead on board him belonging to the Honourable Company, but that unfortunately near the Cape, mett a flagg man of France, who after 8 hours engagement, took and made prize of him and after having riffled her, taken and distroyed whatever they pleased, they obliged him to purchase her for his owne account. He had done soe and given hostages for the payment of their demand. For his owne account he had accordingly drawne bill for the amount on President of Suratt, and by letter advized him he would allow usuall Interest for the same, whereby he thought, and by the law of nations the shipp and what they pleased to leave on board her became a lawfull part of his Estate. This pleased not the ould gentleman who tould him the lead was the Company's and they must have it, and if spoake the Ship his he'd then declared him an Interloper and as such would seaze him. He tould him he might doe his pleasure but it was a Company's Ship on that side the Cape and was there taken.

p. 7. 19th. When noe argument could work [on] Captain Freak for disowning his Ship James and lead, then they went to act the ould tricke over againe, layd an Attachment on the Ship and an Arrest on him, who gave as baile Mr John Pitt, and prepared for his defence.

'In this Juncture the Judge (who has noe great stomach to manage the cause) advised the Captain to draw up his proposalls to the Generall, etc., which accordingly did, offering to deliver up the lead to them at such a price, provided they'd give a bond to pay it in England if the law gave it to be his, and they would advance him so much mony at the usuall rates to refitting his Shipp, if they would secure him his men and lade him home in January. But they wholly denied the main article and would not part with more money than the Charterparty 600 dollars, not a fifth part enough to fitt him with guns and ammunition according to contract with Company, by which wile they intend wholly to disable him from proceeding and doe therefore the more easily agree to the other articles: but they broak off the designe and now for law.

'Severall Cour[t] days are past without any progress made to purpose in Captain Freak's affaire, and till the 13th of May noe part of the intended Judgment appeared, when after a nott short dispute, a preface to what was the consequence, a Judgment was produced and the Defendant by it cast, the lead being condemned to be the Company's, which occasioned the Captains dislike of Court's proceeding and apeald home, which putt the Judges upon his ould declaration that his judgment was immutable and admitted noe appeal to any court in Christendome, which occasioned the Captain saying he gave noe Credit to that; and he hoped at home to meet

p. 8. with Justice and Equity. That [?] I presume, nettled his Honor, who on the Captain's making way to be gone, passionately declared the world was come to a fine pass when every pittypull fellow took liberty to prate and censure, which the Captain overhearing, the Judge in some heat for answer that it was true Mr. Dolben had more power her[e], but in England he was every day in the week and every way as good a man as himself; for which his presumption he is immediately ordered to be disarmed, but would not deliver his sword unless to an officer. The Captain of the Guard, coming, he gave it to him, and was then with a file of men guarded to the Trunk, a prison for base criminalls, but on consideration, kept upon the Guard, and afterwards to a small goedowne in the Fort where he remaned till the [blank], when he gave a protest. And in conclusion, the Judge and he were to meet and forgive each other, which perform'd, the Captain was unwittingly persuaded to give order for delivering the lead, which should not have doge till execution was served. Those their unjust severitys and overreaching fetches doe disturb the good Captain to the measure that am of opinion it will runne him into distemper which may eand in his death and gaine his enemys the poynt.

'May 4. Mr. Samuel Owen, an ingeniouise, industriouse gentleman, but because well and deservedly caharakterized by President Yale, must be noe favourite of the times [?]. These Directors, endeavouring by

p. 9. all Possible means to finde some flaw that may authorize them to discard him the service or empty his purse have, since they cannot squeeze him on Portanovan account, found an extraordinary just pretence to doe it by the way of Vizagapatam where he was sent in [16]92, by order of President and Council, to take the goedowne into his charge and finish that factory's books, as allsoe to inspect into affaires, by advice but illy and deceitfully managed by Mr. Daniell Duboyes. Not long after his arrivall there, the disaffected Council, by private letters [sought] to slight and neglect Mr Owen as one sent without thier consents, which the little Sophistes, glad to have such an oportunity, immediately put to execution, Jelouse that his wicked action would be discovered (as indeed a great many of them were) by him, from the beginning grew such a fewd of Mr. Duboise, as pretended fearfull of his carcase, took occasion, when Mr. Owen was abroad, to secure his castile to himself, shutting the gates, and at the portcullis planting a great gunne to keep off or battile this his formidable enemy and experienced souldier like when had taken the town fell to plunder [?] thereupon] feloniously breaking upon said Mr. Owen's lodgings, seasing his papers, goods and chattele, with all his owne and other people's cases entrusted with him, of which some part was never returned. time came the Second, Mr. Fockett, forst to it by Mr. Duboise, whose [? act] is unwarrantable and which were noe longer to be swallowed, and said Mr. Fockett gave under his hand many accusations too black and idious [hideous] for my relation; many and daily accusations came against him, of which Mr. Owen punctually advized hither and were as confidently denyed by the other, soe that Mr. Symon Houlcombe was ordered downe to inspect that business, where he not only found all to be true that Mr. Owen had advised of, but added abundantly to it. But now to instance their Justice for that gentile-man's good services: it was from the time of his and Mr. Fockett being turned out of the factory to Mr. Houlcomb's arrival some 6 or 8 months, during which time for themselves, Peons, etc. were necessitated to be at monthly charge, which was repaid Mr. Owen by Mr.
Houlcombe and Councell; but now those just men, because it was not actually expended at the factory, force said Mr. Owen and Fockquett to pay the money, the amount 500 rupees.

Dr. Humphrey Prideaux to Arch- Gibson MSS. Vol.
bishop Tenison at the House of V, MS. 933, No. 1.
Lords.

'My Lord, Having while in London on further information which I gott there of the present state of our Factorys and Plantations in the East Indys, corrected and enlarged the Paper I formerly put into your Graces hands concerning that matter, I doe here send it inclosed to you. When the business of Parliament is over, I hope your Grace will have time to consider it, and alsoe opportunity to doe therein what you shall in your wisdom think fittest. The Bishop of Salisbury acquainted me that he was the person who transacted for Mr. Boyle all that was attempted by him in this pious designe and he can best informe your Grace how far it then went and what made it to miscarry. I find the Company hath over lash'd in the amount they give of the number of their subjects in the Indies, but your Grace hath their own printed book and this makes the argument against them that having soe great a number of souls by their own confession under their Government they have done nothing to instruct them in the means whereby they may be saved.'

The remainder of the letter has no connection with East India. 1^{pp}. Enclosing Gibson V. No. 2, see infra.

March.

'The English East India Company are possessed of in India 1° The Fort St. George and the City of Madras adjoining thereto in the Golfe of Bengala in which are an hundred thousand Familys.

Gibson MSS. Vol. V, MS. 933, No. 2.

'2° The City and Island of Bombay in the Golfe of Cambaya in which are fifty thousand Familys.

'3° The Fort St. David on the coast of Coromandell which is said to be as populous as Bombay, and therefore must be reckoned alsoe to contain about Fifty thousand Familys, and this last beeing a place exceedingly well situated both for health and Trade as being accomodated with a navigable River and a very good Castle for the defence of the inhabitants is dayly a growing and like in a short time to become as popular as Madras soe that in those 3 places only besides the Forts which the Company have in the Islands for the Security of their pepper Trade are two hundred thousand familys which we may well compute at a Million of Souls allowing five to a family and all these are Subject to such Laws for Life and Goods as the Company by virtue of their Charter shall think fitt to impose upon them. All which (excepting what relates to Fort St. David which is a place lately bought by this Company) is acknowledged in their owne printed papers which at several times they have published in their defence 1st against the interlopers and after when questioned in Parliament.

'These Million of Souls under the Subjection of the English East India Company are either Jews Mahometans Portuguese or Gentues but the bulk of them are Gentues. (Soe our Merchants call the Heathen Indians.)

'The Mahometans have in these places their Mosques the Jews their Synagogues the Gentues their Pagodas or Temples for Heathen worship, but there is not as much as a Chappell for the true Religion of Jesus Christ in any of them except at Fort St. George (where lately a church hath been built for the factory by the care and piety of Mr. Mathers [Masters] then President without any help and Countenance from the Company in order thereto); in other places the Roome they eat in contains their congregation: or is there any the least care taken by the Company to propagate the Gospell among the Natives, although it be their secular interest as well as their spiritual to make as many of their Subjects as they can of their owne Religion that soe they may be the firmer united to them, but on the contrary they are soe carelesse and impiously unconcerned in this matter that they permitt the Popish priests to come into the familys of the English settled there and pervert their servants and slaves to their idolatrous superstition which is there practised in the grossest manner in the world. The Gentues who make the bulk of the inhabitants of these 3 places above mentioned are an ingenious civilised polite people who know letters and are well skilled in many Arts as their Manufactures imported hither abundantly demonstrate and for the most part of good Moralls which their Religion the most refined piece of Heathenism ever yet in the world most strongly oblidgeth them unto and therefore they are thus far the better prepared to hearken to what reasons may [?] be offered to them for Christianity and the easier disposed to imbrace it.

The Dutch East India Company doe maintain in The Indys about 30 Ministers for the Converting of these poor Infidells under their Dominions and the further instructing of those already converted, to each of which they allow an assistant to help them in Catechising and other inferior offices of the Ministry by whose labours they have converted many hundred thousands to the true Christian faith, and for the better propagating of it had publick schools in most of their Towns, for the benefitt of the natives, and have lately erected a College or University in the Island of Ceylon in which one place only (which is not the tenth part of their Dominions in the Indys) they have about eighty thousand converted Indians upon the Roll that are Communicants and they are farther at the charge to print Bibles, Catechisms

p. 9. and many other books in the Indian languages, which they annually distribute among the Converted natives for their better instruction in the Christian Religion. In all which particulars they expend near twenty thousand pound per annum.

The Dutch East India Company doe further take care that all places where they have any factory and all ships which they send to India be provided with able Ministers well encouraged to preach the Gospel and administer the Sacraments. But the English East India Company are so negligent herein that although they have on the Island of St. Helena a Fort and Towne in which are severall hundred of inhabitants all English, they allow them noe Minister and consequently there being no preaching of the word of God or administration of the Sacraments among them, for wont [sic] hereof those poor people are degenerated to that degree of barbarity as to be reckoned the vilest and most wicked of any of our shipping met within all their whole voyage to the Indys. The English Company before their late War with the Mogull did indeed maintain Chaplains for their Factorys at Surat, Humeley, Bombay and Fort St. George, and lately had one also at Fort St. David, but allowed them soe ill and treated them so badly that they could doe but little service under those discouragements, but at present they have noe Chaplain at all [in] many of their Towns or Factorys but at Fort St. George only, and he being under the Checks and Frownes of a President lately sent thither who had his birth and education in New England and is deeply bigotted to the Religion of that Country, it is expected that it will not be long ere the Church of England Chaplain be found to yield up his church and pulpitt to the Independent preacher which the President carryed thither with him. And as to their ships, although they carry most on end great number of men and are sometimes eight or ten months on the voyage, as well going as returning, are yet all that time for the most part without preaching prayers or sacraments, seldom ever having any chaplain on board unlesse accidentally such as are going to or returning from their Factory in the Indys.

'Its evident that the English East India Company have of late in a short time from great wealth and power fain to nothing while the Dutch East India Company grow and thrive and are now arrived to that power as seen to equall in strength riches and extent of Dominion the greatest potentates in those parts of the world scarce excepting the Mogul himselfe.

'If we will examine into the Cause why the blessing of God . . .'

[There follow 9 proposals for the establishments of Churches, Schools, etc., a Seminary to be erected in England, etc., and that the orders and regulations which the Dutch East India Company have made be procured from Holland. Also that a Choice of wise men in London be made to direct and carry out the whole.]

The first 'Animadversion' may be taken as a summary of the whole: 'But our Traders now, instead of supplying Foreign Nations with these India Wares they furnish more especially our own Nation with them, to be consumed at Home, which must prove a quite contrary effect than in those days' to the great injury of English manufactures, the silk manufactures, and ultimately that of silk and increased unemployment.

'I have in my last Acknowledged the Receipt of Several Letters from your hands this last year both by the Marlborough and the Jane.

'The Society for propagating of Christian Knowledge, whose pious undertakings I beseech God to prosper, have been at a Considerable Charge, I find, to send out Books and other Materials to carry on the end of their Institution. What came on the Marlborough for the use of the Gentlemen Missionarys at Tranquebar and directed to Mr. Jennings and myself came safe, and were delivered to the persons they were designed for. What came upon the Jane were part saved and part lost, as doubtless the Gentlemen of the Mission will inform you. The Box of Books for a Library in this place and another for a Library in Bengall by the Marlborough were both received, And I return the worthy Society my humble thanks for their Charity.

'I have often wondered with my self that in so many Yeares that We have been possessed of large Plantations, Settlements etc., in the East and West Indies, that no such thing hath been set on foot, and I bless God that there hath at length appeared such a truly pious and publick spirit of Christianity in the Gentlemen of our Nation, and I give the Society my thanks for the Honour they have done me in choosing me one of their Corresponding Members.

'As to Converting the Natives in the Dominions of the Rajahs and the Great Mogul, I believe it may be done in either, without Notice
 p. 2. taken, provided we do not sound a Trumpet before us. In the Mogull's Dominions I believe Eight parts in Ten, in most of the Provinces are Gentios and he never troubles his head what opinions they embrace. But to tamper with his Musslemen is not safe.

'But to give you my Sentiments in this matter, I think we ought to begin at home, for there are Thousands of People, I may say some hundreds of thousands, who live in the Settlements and under the Jurisdiction of the Rt. Honble. Company at Bombay, Fort St. Davids, Fort St. George, Callcutta in Bengall, on the West Coast, etc., who may be converted to Christianity without interfering with any Country Government whatsoever: and while We have so large a harvest at home, Let us first gather in that and then it will be time enough to look abroad.

'The way to Effect it in my Opinion will be to sett up so many Schools and Hospitals, Specially the last, to bring up children in, as there can be found funds for that use. By hospitals I mean such foundations where the Children are maintained wholly by the House, for the Poor in these parts are very numerous, and those so poor that in a time of scarcity (which often happens) they are forced to sell their children in great Numbers, and sometimes themselves; and such Miscreants at such a time would be glad of a Hospitall to receive them. Besides, there are at all times numbers of poor people who will part with their Children to any one that will bring them up. And of those who are able to bring up their children at their own charge, there are many that, for the sake of having them taught for nothing, would send them into any good School, and those who are trained up in the Christian Religion from their Youth, it is to be hoped may prove good Christians in their Age. But for those, who are grown up in their Idolatry, I conceive that in the main no great good can be done upon them. For as to the Rich and Great there are so many obstructions to hinder them from changing of their Faith, and thereby loosing of their Cast, That it is easier for a Camell, etc., for the moment they loose their Cast they can no longer Converse, Eat or Drink with any of their Cast or Kindred; nor indeed of any other Cast. So that such must in a true, Literal Sence forsake Wife, Children, houses, Lands, Friends, etc., which is a degree of Faith few or none of them ever could arrive to.

- p. 3. 'And as to the poorer Sort, and such as have no Cast to value themselves upon, they are so vile a People, that for a little Rice they will be of any Religion and for as small a Consideration leave it again. And it is out of these that the Roman Priests chiefly make their Proselytes: Whereby it is come to pass that the Christians of these Countrys, I mean Natives, are the Scoundrell part of Mankind and perhaps hardly a viler Generation in the world: and a Man had better have to do with an Infidel, Heathen, Turk, or anything, than with them.

'I remember some yeares agoe Governor Pitt was pleased to ask me to give my opinion how this Garrison might be brought to Consist of all Protestants. I delivered him my opinion in writing, which he thought fit to Communicate to the Company; and their Answer was they would Consider of it. The Substance of it in Short was this: That the Company should erect two large Hospitals or Nurserys, one for Boys, another for Girls, to bring them up in the Protestant Religion. And if such Schools or Nurserys were set up, then it would be of great use to have some Catechisms, Common Prayer Books and New Testaments, etc. printed in Portuguese, etc., for the use of those Nurserys: But untill that is done they can be but of little Benefitt in these parts. For who is there in all India that read and write Portuguese Except the Portuguese themselves, and they of the Politer sort. And I do declare that in all the time I lived in India, I do not remember ever to have known a Gentio, Mahometan, or one of any other persuasion, Except Christian, that pretended to write or read that Language. There is a kind of Lingua Franca or Jargon, call'd Portuguese, spoke in most of the Trading Towns on the sea coast, in which many of the Nations can so far Express themselves, as to be able to buy and Sell. But you must speak to them in their own Jargon, or you will not be understood.

'Thus Sir I have freely given you my Sentiments on this Important Affair. I beseech God to Bless the Venerable Society and to prosper them in all their pious undertakings, I am with a Sincere respect, Sir

RECORDS IN THE INDIAN RECORD OFFICES

BENGAL RECORD OFFICE

WE may merely note the unsuccessful attempts made from Agra in 1621 to start a factory or trading station in Patna, described in the Indian Antiquary for 1924, and Peter Munde's Travels, Vol. 2, Hakluyt Society, as they did not concern Bengal primarily. The first regular English settlements were established in 1633, when factories were commenced at two points on the Orissa coast; at Hariharpur, near Cuttack, and at Balasore. The former was abandoned in 1662, but the latter was carried on until the port silted up in the eighteenth century. Early in 1651 a factory was started at Hugli, and some seven years later we find merchants stationed at Kasimbazar and Patna, while subsequently trade was extended to Dacca (about 1668) and Malda (1676). When the English were driven from Hugli by the Mughals in 1686 they attempted to find a new factory at Sutanuti (Calcutta) further down the river, but it was not until the conclusion of peace in 1690 that Job Charnock was able to fix the English headquarters at that place, where the original Fort William was built a few years later.

Except for two brief periods of independence in 1650-61 and 1682-84, the Bengal factories remained an agency under the control of Madras down to 1700, when Sir Charles Eyre became the first President and Governor of Fort William. This continued to be the official style until the India Act of 1773 changed it into that of Governor-General of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

Many letters to and from the Bengal factories during the seventeenth century will be found in the India Office Record Departments in (1) the Original Correspondence Series, (2) the Company's Letter Books, (3) also in the records relating to Madras. Some of the latter have recently been printed at Madras, vide the Sundry Books, 1677-1788, 1680-81, etc.

The separate factory records for Bengal relating to factories in the seventeenth century are as follows:

BALASORE

Diary and consultations, 1679-81; 1684-87 (1 vol.).

HUGLI

Diary and consultations: 1663-64; 1669-70; 1678-82 (3 vols.).

CALCUTTA

Diary and consultations, 1690-91; 1694-95; 1696-99; 1702-3; 1704-6; 1708 (4 vols.). The latter portion contains the proceedings of the Old Company's council only.
Copies of letters sent, 1690-91; 1692; 1693; 1695-98; 1699-1702; 1704-5 (4 vols.).
Copies of letters received, 1690; 1694-96; 1699-1701; 1702-4 (3 vols.).
With regard to the Bengal factories in general the following volumes in the Miscellaneous section of the Factory Records should be borne in mind:
Vol. 3. Extracts from letters and consultations from the Coast and Bay, 1664-73, with three letters of 1680-81.
Vol. 3A. Abstracts of letters from the Coast and Bay, 1676-1708.
Vol. 6. Abstracts of letters received by the New Company from Surat, Masulipatam, Bengal, etc., 1699-1707.
Vol. 7. Extracts from letters from Bombay, Madras, Bengal, etc., 1716-23.
Vol. 7A. Abstracts of correspondence with Bengal, Madras, Bombay, St. Helena, Bencoolen, Mokha, and Aujengo, 1711-41.
Vol. 9 contains an account of the revenues of Calcutta.
Vol. 13. Charges by Thomas Stiles against the agent at Balasore, 1669.
Vol. 14. Diary of Streynsham Master in his inspection of the Masulipatam and Bengal factories, 1675-77.
Vol. 15. Journal of Agent Hedges, 1681-88.
Vol. 26 contains accounts of the trade at Hugli, Balasore, Dacca, etc. (1676).
Vol. 27. Journal and ledger of Boalia Factory, 1833-34.
Abstracts of earlier documents in the Factories series will be found in the English Factories in India (see p. 11).

I have not thought it necessary to give a detailed account of all the records relating to all the factories found in Bengal in the seventeenth century, as that would have swelled the list unduly.

I searched for seventeenth century records in the Bengal Record Office and the Imperial Record Department. Unfortunately, the quantity of such records is small.

The Persian records, preserved in the Bengal Record Office, belonging to the seventeenth century are comprised in Volumes I-XVIII and XX in a series known as 'Persian Sanads and Parwanas' which dates back to the year 1612-14. The documents are copies of firmans, sanads, petitions, sale deeds, security bonds, statements, qabuliyats, dustuks, relating to the grant or settlement of lands; the appointment of revenue and judicial officers and the supply and payment of troops in various districts of Bengal relating to the years 1624-1791.

The Sanads, etc., usually begin with a statement to the following effect: Copy of Sanad with the seal of (name and authority) with effect from (date). Be it known to the Mutasaddies, Qanungoes, Faujdars, Raiyats, and cultivators etc. of the present and future that (subject matter of Sanad follows). They are issued by the following authorities: 1. Asif Khan, Vazirulmulk. 2. Mir Zumla (Moazzam Khan). 3. Asif-ud-doulah (Asad Khan). 4. Asif-Jah, Nizam-ul-mulk. 5. Kamruddin Hussain Khan. 6. Asif Jah Abul Mansur Khan. 7. Ala-ud-doulah, Nasir-Jung-Zafer Khan. Nusari, alias Murshid-Kuli-Khan. 8. Shujah-ud-doulah, Asad-jung, Shujah-ud-din Muhammad Khan. 9. Ala-ud-doulah, Sarfaraz Khan. 10. Mahabit Jung, Alivazdi Khan. 11. Sarafud-doulah. 12. Mir Muhammad Zafar Khan. 13. Mir Muhammad Qasim Khan. 14. Najim-ud-doulah. 15. Saif-ud-doulah. 16. Mubarak-ud-doulah. 17. Nabar Muzaffar Jung, alias Muhammad Reza Khan.

The revenue records of the Company's administration comprise Persian records which are included in the series known as 'Persian Sanads and Parwanas'. They deal with the eighteenth, but not with the seventeenth century. Besides these, there are mixed Persian and Bengali records which comprise Vol. 19 in the series known as 'Persian Sanads and Parwanas' containing copies in Persian and Bengali, of sale certificates (Barnamas) of grants to the purchasers of land, relating to the years 1764-71 and of Sanads of land granted by zamindars for the maintenance of temples relating to the years 1753-54. Students may pick up bits of information on the seventeenth century in the Persian Sanads comprised in five volumes.

IMPERIAL RECORD OFFICE

There are only two documents of importance in the Imperial Record Department which throw light on the seventeenth century. One is headed 'Letters from Courts'. It contains various letters by the Directors of the East India Company to their servants in India. The originals of these despatches are to be found in the India Office Record Department. The following letters will be found interesting:

Letters from Courts

1. Director to Job Charnoc, dated 5 January, 1680.

'We do judge that you had not right done you in not being placed chief at Casimbazar. We do accordingly hereby constitute and confirm our chief of that factory and of all our affairs, managed therein; and we hereby require Mr. Edward Littleton and all persons of our Council and all other persons in our services to yield you assistance and due obedience.

'Your experience is great in those countrys, our opinion you will see is great of you our expectations proportionate, which we doubt not but you will fully answer. Signed: William Thompson, Governor.'

2. Another letter dated 19 March, 1601. To Council at Fort St. George. Refers to Sir William Langhorne.

'Who contrary to our Rules and Practice took out cash before his coming out of the Fort, which he had undertaken to pay unto our youths, being three thousand two hundred and thirty-four pagodas, together with the usual interest of other countries.' The letter also refers to Mr. Edward Littleton who had 'sent home for his own account by the last shipping some quantities of Bengal taffeties, the same as ours'. The Directors say they had better opinion of Littleton.

3. Dated, London, 22 April, 1681. To Chief and Council at the Bay. 'We would have you send us full quantities of every sort of raw silk.' The despatch deals mainly with goods made in India.

'It is not necessary we should give you the reason of our orders, but your duty is to obey them simply because they are ours, yet seeing our motives are of such a generous nature as must needs provoke the activity of any Englishman lodges in his breast the love of his country we shall tell you that our purpose is with God's assistance to increase our navigation as much as our trade that as our fleets grow yearly richer, may proportionately grow stronger.'

4. Chief of Council at Hugli, dated 22 July, 1681. Nothing of importance.
5. 18 Nov., 1681.

Extract only. Informs that Mr. Hedges 'one of your present Committee here' has been despatched to India to subdue interlopers. Hopes that Mr. Hedges will behave himself gravely and with moderation. Commanders to forfeit £40 for any private goods they shall carry to the Bay and Matchlepatam. Signed by Josiah Child.

6. 15 Jan., 1681. London to Agent and Council, Bay of Bengal. Unimportant.
7. 25 Jan., 1681-82. The Agent and Council at Fort St. George.

Says that the 'Committee having found that Mr. Streynsham Master, late Agent at Fort St. George, having detained in his hands fourteen thousand Atlases of the State of Mr. Methias Vincent, late chief in the Bay of Bengala, Willam Gifford, etc. are ordered to require him to pay the said money into the Company's cash.'

8. 10 March, 1681. To Agent and Council at Hugli.

The following paragraph will be found interesting: 'We are well informed that Mr. Pocock chief of Pattana is a creature of Mr. Vincents and that this last year he does wickedly abuse us in the sorting of our Romalls and other goods besides which information we find upon our owne view all our goods so abominably sorted from the Bay that (without such information) we should conclude those employed in that work there, unfaithfull to us and confederated with Vincent, wherefore we do hereby order you to discharge the said Mr. Pocock from our services and send him home, putting such person as you shall judge most trustie to us, and able to discharge the place into the chiefship of Pattana aforesaid.'

End of the volume.

Hugli Letters

This volume deals with letters written from Dec., 1680 to Nov., 1681. It is a most interesting collection of letters and throws light on the activities of that mysterious and elusive personality, Job Charnoc. The letters are signed by Mathias Vincent, Job Charnoc and Francis Ellis. Job Charnoc did not sign some of the letters as he left to join his chiefship. However, one long letter dated 4 June, 1681 is signed by Charnoc. There is an important despatch on pp. 118-27 signed by Edward Littleton, Francis Ellis and Richard Trenchfield. It is a fairly long letter and throws considerable light on Charnoc's quarrels with the Company's servants in Bengal. I have not seen a copy of the letter in any publication, and as it has not been noticed before I have reproduced it below. The Hugli letters deal with the minutiae of the Company's industries and commerce in Bengal. Most of the letters contain directions to captains of the ships, ordering them to lade on board the ships various articles of Indian manufactures. The following example will suffice: 'I have ordered Mr. Sowdon to lade on board your ship three bales of raw silk in the Honorable Company's tonnage, the freight therefore being made good here, and deliver him bills for them, they going per account of Mr. Thomas Lucas. Signed: Mathias Vincent.'

There are four letters dated 4 Dec., 1680. Most of them are signed by Mathias Vincent and Job Charnoc and contain the amount of silk and other stuff ordered from Hugli.

Other letters are addressed to Directors. The wretched Sowdon comes in for severe rebuke in some of the letters. 'Your brief letter we received and admire you should be so negligent as not to send copies of those receipts you took for the goods shipped on board the English ships out of the sloop Ganges; for want of them we are not now able to draw out the Sampsons Invoice and we understand the sloop did not come thence in a day or two up to the date of your letter. These are things we shall not pass by, but strictly enjoin you to comply with your orders, and not to think off with foolish and idle excuses.' This is signed by Mathias Vincent and Francis Ellis.

In a letter dated 24 Feb., 1681, there is an interesting reference to Job Charnoc. The letter states, 'Wee are glad of Mr. Job Charnoc safe arrivall to his station on Xmas day last, wishing good success in that chiefship; Mr. Littleton arrived hither 12th ultimo, who brought the silver seals and weights of which wee having no other shall have yearly use.

The following letter is reproduced from the Hugli Letters. It will be found interesting:

Hugly, 29th June, 1681.

MR. JOB CHARNOCK & CA.

'We have recd. yours of the 13th currtt. together with one pair of your bookes and your Diary for the last month.

'The saile of the 12 chests of treasure we note, and that Soocaun Nundsā & ca. refused to make the essaies at the mint of Rs. 93 or Rs. 91-3a the piece, which seems very unlikely since we know as well as themselves that the course silver is melted in such quantities and sometimes greater with Lead to be made Chaundree to pass the Gozansht, and then againe are weighed into Chuckatees of the aforesaid weight and only melted down to be fitted to the stamp; had not silver been soe much demanded and Soocanno Gomosteh have proffered to take the silver on the consideration and essays we advise you to, it had been more probable; but these things being as above hinted makes us we know not what to think of it; pray at yr. comeing out and agreeing on the essays; advise us how the plate comes out in conformity to the Invoice.

'Mr. Charnock haveing not signed to any bonds and indentures to the Hon'ble Compa. since he left their Service anno 1663 or 1664, and they having severale times pressed his doeing of saide, and have never hitherto reversed that order; however, it has Lain dormant by the omission or forgettfullness of Mr. Walter Clavell deceased, the late Chiefe of Bengall. We haveing weighed the thing and do not finde it convenient that soe great a trust as Cossumbazar factory be reposed any longer in any one's hands (as Chiefe especially) who, contrary to the Saide Hon'ble Compa. practice with all their servants great and small, is under noe bonds or indentures to them; we doe therefore herewith send you a blanck bond and indenture enordering him, in Psuance [? pursuance] to the Hon'ble Compa. Commands, immediately to sign and seal to them both, and to deliver them soe signed and sealed to Allen Catchpoole and John Thedder, who are of Councill of Cassimbazar factory, to be witnessed by them, and that then he dispeed [? dispatch] them to us by two trusty expresses, and therewith send us a Govt. Letter the names of two persons in England he appoints for his security there that we may by the expected shipping accordingly advise our Hon'ble Employers, thereof.

'The Chiefe haveing Pused [? perused] your Diary for Last month, recd. here two daies since as above mentioned, findes himself confronted by Sevtt. notes therein, sly in their manner of bringing in and falce and injurious to him in their matter, as will appear by the due propension thereof.

'As for Mr. Charnocks saying he had prized the Compa. taffaties at their real and just value in his notes the 7th and 13th day, it appears as well by an accott. under his own hand (as what the Chiefe computed when there) to be falce, though even those acctt. (neither of them) come up to the worth of a piece of that November bund taffaties, when well made being well bought at one rupee more P. P. by the same calculation, and it held their due goodness in every respect they would well content the Hon'ble Compa. at said rate; nor were these occasion could such be had of any Bazaur or shopkeeper of Muxadavad or Cassimbazar many competent quantity under Rup. 8 P. P. as the price of November bund sicke was at the time of the weavers buying thereof the last year. What the chief did herein he averse was to encourage the weavers to make good wave and to stop their clamour which it had been much more easy to him and more answerable to Mr. Charnock's carriage [? courage] towards him to have let the business fallen on Mr. Charnock then to have troubled himself therewith; but he had the Hon'ble Compa. advantage without any by respects of his own before his eyes, well knowing that something of content given the weavours produces well made goods and always the contrary when they are too much, as here they are, pinched and this was the present case according to the best of his Judgment after securing the whole parcell of taffaties piece by piece; and he hopes his experience in the business of Cassumbazar factory will be allowed to over ballance Mr. Charnock's selfe conceit of his own prompt partes and abilities as well as of those that assisted him herein who are here under specified. For, where as Mr. Charnock saies in his objections to the Consultation held about the time of the Chiefes departure thence in Cassumbazar the ultimo that in prizing those taffaties he tooke the opinion of severall others well experienced in the worth thereof, it seems it was not of any of those appointed of the Council of the factory, they not careing or dareing to appear after a day or two, but of John Naylor the Dyer there whose understanding in that or anything else is taken nor to be over much and of Amutt Ram the Barber, who, about the business of Juggoo Podaur's death, was by the Agent and Council orders publickly disgraced and turned away anno 1676 at Cassumbazar—with a strickt exhibition of ever admitting him in on any accott., Genl or Particular, into that or any other place or factory in Bengall or into any perticular man's service of the English nation; and all this under the penalties (as inserted in Consultation in Cassumbazar of the 6 October 1676) as the Agent and Council should Judge meet, and that such a villanies judgment should not only be taken but alsoe thus by Mr. Charnock upheld against that of the Chiefs (who has soe many years managed the business of that factory before him) is a nonsensicall obstinate humor peculiar to the singular qualifications and breeding of Mr. Charnock. But although Mr. Charnock would take upon him to be a Little familiar in his resentments and Charracter of his Chiefe as to matter of the taffaties, yet he might (not to speak of good manner) have been soe just as to have given a small hint in the same Diary notes, where upon this concern he contents himself to pass it over wholly in silence; it not it seemes sorting with his information of Losse on the taffaties what the Chief (to made [sic] amends for the taffaties rates) had saved the Hon'ble Compa. in prizing of the raw silke, of what it seemes he himselfe would have given the Peicaurs more than the Chiefe found it worth; though even here the Chiefe gave a great allowance considering the vast difference between the goods brought on and the Muster they were prized by, and it may seem justly suspisable [sic] that Mr. Charnock was partly engaged to accommodate some of those piecars in the prizing, but was hindred therefrom by the Chiefe being present there at; and this his gheissanises from the heat of Charnock thereupon and his since rateing the silke then thrown out by the Chiefe and referred to him & ca. to prize at such under rates as it deserved almost if not altogether as high as what was then taken at, the Chiefe being there, as appears by the end of mo. of May's Diary above mentioned; and this gheess must continue soe until time gives an opportunity of a due serating [sic] to be made thereon upon the whole matter. Should it be granted (as it no avails) is that upwards of rupees 1000 were lost by being allowed to the weavers, it may alsoe be saide that sevil thousands were saved in the Chiefes nonallowance to the

'And Lastly, Mr. Charnock sly reflection (on what tis saide he himselfe almost constantly practices) on the Chiefe drawing up the Consultation at his parting Last from Cossumbazar and giving Mr. Charnock noe time to consider on, or object against, till it was copied faire into the Consultation bookes remain to be spoken unto; which, had it been soe as the case stood, could not have appeared so great a crime as it is hoped slyly it may seem, because the Chiefe and Mr. Charnock being the only persons then at Cassumbazar of the Gen. Councill of Bengall there could be no more then one drawer up of such a paper and but one to contradict; and where any matters in the Compa. affaires stands on even votes, it has all long been the Custome and seems but reason that the Chiefe should cast it on his own side and supersede the other, which might without doubt have passed soe here, there being noe necessity of two such Diary notes as those of the 7th and 13th Last mo. thereon, especially since it is found Mr. Charnock is not soe exact to insert other things which might possibly deserve better consideration then tffis he has soe much puzzled himselfe, in particularly what occurred in Cassumbazar and Muxadavad the 11 and 15 Last mo. But to come againe to matter, Mr. Charnock note here on is also falce, for he was called up by the Chiefe, and those two points concerning the Weavers and peicaurs were argued and disputed almost a whole morning between them; but Mr. Charnock, though he could not say much in refutation of the premises, yet alwaies takeing good heed to disallow of the conclusion, the Chiefe resolved to draw out the Consultation as he did, telling him that since we could not agree in our opinions he might sign with objections, to which there being a distinct answer laid down in our Consultation booke here, as well (as what materialls) spoken to in the foregoing discourse, the Chiefe thinks not worth his trouble to make any further reflection of those matters or expatiate thereon:

'We wonder you follow not the method of the Maddapollam Diary in the Keeping of yours; for you may perceive that there in Consultation only, and not the Diary notes, are signed unto and accordingly we enorder you to keep yours not certainly knowing what the knack of all your previous after the Diary note of the 12 ultimo is, unless Mr. Charnock does slyly intend the Compa. shall understand thereby that, not only he but the rest of the Councill doe alsoe affirme to what he writes about the Taffaties in the notes of the 7th ultimo which those of Councill with you cannot doe, since it appears that neither Allen Catchpoole nor John Threder were present; but as above declared, at Mr. Charnock and ca. prizing those goods, nor questionless have they since looked them over by which means only they could be capacitated to sign to the truth or falshood of what Mr. Charnock affirme concerning them.

'As soon as the raw silk of march bund is almost in, pray advise us thereof that in case no other business of import intervenes the Chiefe may come up to see whether the Peicaurs have complied with their contracts in that bund better then they did in that of the month of November Last 10th is all but present from 'Your loving friends,

'The contents of the 3d and 4th paragraphs is the Chief's concern.

MADRAS RECORD OFFICE

The earliest British factories in Madras were established in 1611 at Masulipatam, and Petapoli (now Nizampatam), both of them ports of the then kingdom of Golconda. Ten years later, the East India Company servants were admitted to the Dutch settlement of Pulicat under an agreement that the trade should be shared equally by the two nations. This led to wranglings, and the British factors withdrew in 1623. In 1626, another settlement was made at Armgaon, now called Durgarayapatnam, situated about 40 miles north of Pulicat; and the factors removed in 1640 to Madraspatam, then a village. Here, on a strip of ground rented from a representative of the old Vijayanagar dynasty, was erected Fort St. George, and this became the headquarters of the Company. During the latter part of the seventeenth century other factories were established. Madras was definitely constituted a Presidency in 1684. Throughout the seventeenth century the British possessions in the Presidency were restricted to Fort St. David, and the district round Madras.

DOCUMENTS IN THE INDIA OFFICE

The documents relating to the seventeenth century are to be found principally in the Original Correspondence Series, in the Letter Books; and in the separate sections of the Factory Records, all preserved in the India Office Record Office. The most important records dealing with the seventeenth century are summarized below.

MASULIPATAM

- Consultations, 1670-71, 1675-82,¹ 1684-85 (4 vols.).
- Copies of letters sent, 1638, 1640, 1666, 1670-73, 1675-77, 1682-86 (4 vols.).
- Copies of letters received, 1622-23, 1666, 1670-73, 1675-78 (with gaps), 1682, 1685 (3 vols.).
- Diary of William Puckle, 1675-76 (1 vol.).
- Proceedings of the New Company's representatives, 1699-1700 (1 vol.).

FORT ST. GEORGE

- Diaries and consultations, 1655, 1662, 1672-73, 1675-76, 1677-78, 1680-81, 1683-85, 1686-90, 1693-99 (with gaps), 1701-4 (13 vols.).
- Copies of letters sent, 1661-65 (with gaps), 1668-71 (with gaps), 1673-77, 1679, 1681, 1687-88, 1692-94, 1696-1700, 1704 (12 vols.).
- Copies of letters received, 1669-77, 1680-81, 1687-88, 1692-94, 1696-97, 1700, 1703-4 (10 vols.).

Papers of Richard Mohun, 1676-79 (1 vol.).
 Letterbook of Thomas Lucas, 1683 (1 vol.).
 Proceedings in the Court of Judicature, 1678 and 1693-94 (1 vol.).
 Correspondence with the country powers, 1703-5 (1 vol.).

MADAPOLLAM

Consultations, 1684-86 (1 vol.).
 Copies of letters sent, 1676-77, 1681-84 (1 vol.).
 Copies of letters received, 1676-77, 1681-82, 1683-85 (1 vol.).

CUDDALORE AND PORTO NOVO

Diary and consultations, 1683, 1685-87. Also a commission of 1681 (2 vols.).
 Copies of letters sent or received, 1684-86 (1 vol.).
 The Fort St. David records should be consulted for later references.

PETAPOLI

Consultations, 1683-87 (with gaps) (1 vol.).
 Copies of letters sent, 1682-87 (1 vol.).
 Copies of letters received, 1685-87 (1 vol.).

CONIMERE

Consultations, 1682-85 (1 vol.).
 Copies of letters sent, 1684-85 (1 vol.).
 Copies of letters received, 1684 (1 vol.).

VIZAGAPATAM

Diary and consultations, 1684, 1692-95 (1 vol.).

FORT ST. DAVID

Consultations, 1690, 1696-1712, 1723-51,¹ 1752-56 (8 vols.).
 Correspondence, 1692-1759 (3 vols.).

It will be noticed that these papers cover the period (1746-52) during which Fort St. David was the seat of government, owing to the capture of Madras by the French.

- Vol. 14. Diary of Streynsham Master, 1675-77.
 Vol. 18. The mission of Francis Bowyear to Pegu and Cochin China, 1695-97.
 Vol. 26. Contains a description of the Golconda Diamond Mines (1677), some letters from the Coromandel Coast, 1711-15, and a description of Divi Island, 1717.

For details, see the List of Factory Records, which, however, has been considerably amended since publication (corrected copies may be consulted in the India Office Library or Record Department). The earlier documents are included in The English Factories.

In addition to the Press Lists, the Madras Government has for some years been engaged in publishing its early records, which date from 1670. As far back as 1871 appeared a volume of extracts from those dating between 1670 and 1680, and in 1893-95 the consultations at Fort St. George for the years 1681-85 were printed in five volumes, under the editorship of Mr. A. T. Pringle, those for 1681 being selections, while those for the succeeding years were given in full. Since then the following have been published in extenso, under the care of Mr. H. Dodwell:

Consultations, 1672-81, 1686-94.

Despatches to England, 1694-96.

Letters from Fort St. George to subordinate factories, 1679, 1688, 1689, 1697.

Letters to Fort St. George from ditto, 1681-82, 1684-85, 1686-87, 1688.

Sundry books for 1677-78 (Madras letters sent); 1680-81 (Hugli Letters Sent); 1686 (Affairs in Bengal).

DOCUMENTS IN THE MADRAS RECORD OFFICE

The Madras Consultation Books begin in 1672 and in that year John Nicks was Secretary with a gratuity of ten pounds a year in addition to the twenty pounds which he was to receive later on as a merchant. The despatches from the Court begin with the year 1670, and were preserved by being pasted into paste-books; these to the Court were copied into volumes, like the rest of the records, and date only from 1694. As a rule the despatches were in early times sent once a year from London, and twice a year from Madras. The Company generally sent out its shipping in January. It was designed to catch the south-west monsoon in the Indian Ocean and arrive at Madras in June or July. From Madras, shipping was normally sent to England twice a year. As pointed out by Dodwell, 'every January cargoes were despatched, and along with them the Madras Government sent its annual accounts, its annual record volumes, lists of the garrison inhabitants, and so on. These were regularly accompanied by a despatch reviewing the course of events in the previous year.' The annual letters sent from Court are remarkable for their solid common-sense, shrewdness, and homely idiom. The tone adopted by the Directors is not by any means friendly, and very few despatches are free from criticism. This applies especially to the despatches written during the time of Sir Josiah Child's supremacy. No one who has compared his letters in the Bodleian Library with the despatches written during the period can help being struck with the resemblance in style which they exhibit. The reader is referred for a detailed examination of the despatches to my work on the East India Trade in the XVIIIth Century; copies of despatches sent to Bombay during the period 1660-75, will be found in my Anglo-Portuguese Negotiations Relating to Bombay, 1667-1673. Mr. Dodwell's statement that 'about the year 1700 there sprang up a practice of arranging our advices under several heads' is not quite correct. The long and elaborate despatches sent by the Directors to Bombay at a period anterior to 1700 are divided into various headings, and deal with various items in a methodical manner. Nor is it quite correct to assume that all the despatches were divided into six heads. This is probably true of the despatches written in the year 1702, as pointed out by Dodwell. But this was not a fixed rule and in some despatches the number of heads is smaller while in others it is larger. The first head dealt with 'our shipping gone out and returned and goods sent hence'. The second dealt with the investment, for the English market, 'and wherein deficient or blameworthy, if soe'. The third was concerned with trade in general and the country powers; the fourth with revenues and fortifications; the fifth with the Company's civil and military servants, and their accounts; and the sixth with the New Company, 'our late competitors'.

Into the Despatch volumes not only were despatches pasted, but also the miscellaneous documents that were contained in the packets. Hence a despatch to Madras might also contain despatches to other Company's settlements, besides a list of investments to be provided on the Coromandel Coast; and accounts of coral and silver shipped to India. The last item is, in my opinion, most important, for by calculating the amount of silver in these lists and the amount in other places, we are enabled to form an approximate estimate of the amount of silver exported to Madras in one year. If we add together the amount exported to Bengal and Bombay in the same year, we arrive at a fairly reliable estimate of the total amount of silver exported to the country. This, as I have pointed out, will serve as an excellent means of testing the volume of English trade with India. Again, it will also help us in analysing the various pamphlets and other works that were published in defence of, or against, the East India Trade. For further details the reader is referred to my work on The East India Trade.

THE EARLY DESPATCHES TO ENGLAND

For the history of Madras these despatches are indispensable. Like the despatches from England, those from Fort St. George were divided into heads. There are, besides, miscellaneous papers similar to those which exist in the Despatch volumes from Madras. They consist chiefly of volumes of accounts and records sent to England; sailing orders addressed to captains of the homeward bound ships; registers of bills drawn on the Company, and of diamonds shipped from the coast. There are also letters to the Governor of St. Helena, notifying him of the supply of necessaries that were regularly sent there. This account of despatches is restricted to those sent in the seventeenth century. I have not deemed it necessary to trace the later development.

1. 12 December, 1694 to 21 December, 1696. This is the only volume of Despatches to England series that deals with the seventeenth century.

DESPATCHES FROM ENGLAND

The following despatches from England dealing with the seventeenth century are preserved in the Madras Record Office :

7. December, 1699 to December, 1700 (pages 1-16 and 309-28 missing).

CONSULTATIONS

The Consultation volumes are divided into two parts, the Diary and the Consultations proper. The Diary was supposed to be written day by day. Streynsham Master's Diaries show that the system of transacting business under Sir William Langhorne was very unsystematic, and when Master became Governor, he drew up rules for the Secretary's guidance. He was to 'summon the Council every Monday and Thursday morning at 8 o'clock; to enter all the consultations in the book appointed for that purpose; to take care that two copy books of the letters received and sent be duly and fairly written by the factors and writers appointed thereto'; and to have marginal notes and alphabets made both to the Consultations and the Letter Books (see Sir Richard Temple's edition of Master's Diaries). Some interesting references are to be found in the diaries kept, and there is unconscious humour in the bare record of the doings of the worthy factors and writers who celebrated the Guy Fawkes Day with a great bonfire, and a fine supper, and the Boxing Day when the pious Governor—worthy old man—extended invitations to all the English of most note, both men and women. The arrival and departure of shipping is regularly entered until 1812; the arrival of important persons at the settlement is entered, as also the departure of the Company servants for Europe and elsewhere. It also contains entries respecting the Court of Justice set up by Streynsham Master, notices of comets, of unseasonable weather, of discussions between the agents of the country powers and the Governor or persons authorised by him. There are also regular notes of the letters that were received and sent. In the eighteenth century, however, the quaint elements disappear. The letters, accounts and proceedings are entered in a more formal and official style.

The minutes of Consultations were supposed to be signed by the members of Council, and the volumes of Consultations contain the autographs of all the important men who take part in that memorable struggle, from the time of Sir William Langhorne to the time of Warren Hastings, and even much later.

As pointed out by Dodwell the early Consultations are meagre, and we get no glimpse of the details that must have taken place at some meetings of the stormy Council. At a later period the custom of writing minutes of dissent was developed, and was fully utilised by the members. It was not till the baneful connection of the Nawab of Arcot, the robbery in which some of the Company's chief servants were implicated, that the minutes of dissent became as plentiful as blackberries in September. The Consultations dealing with the seventeenth century contain the decisions at which the Government had arrived. In some cases, abstracts of letters submitted to the Council were entered, while reports and accounts were also frequently entered. The growth of these records may be measured by the fact that up to 1750 the Consultations and Diary formed one volume a year; in 1800 they formed thirty-five volumes; and in 1850 one hundred and twenty-five.

Besides the Despatches and the Consultations there are subsidiary volumes. The greater number of these consists of letter books which really belong to the Consultations.

The earliest volume of the 'Country Correspondence Series' preserved in Madras is that of 1740. Letters to Fort St. George date from 1681, and Letters from Fort St. George from 1678. The early volumes of the two later series, and all the volumes of the Country Correspondence Series are extremely valuable and full in many details which the Consultations do not show.

The subsidiary volumes also contain reports of committees appointed to investigate some special matter; such, for example, as misdoings of a servant. The seventeenth century records published by Messrs. Hudleston and Pringle throw light on some of the common and quaint details of seventeenth century administration. The Letter Books still await publication. There are several letters to 'our braminny Vira Raghaviah' under date 1679, and to the famous François Martin, dated 1688, who was then busy at Pondicherry. In 1681 there are letters from Longapah and in 1686 there are communications from that desperate adventurer, Constantine Falcon, the Greek desperado, who became Chief Minister at the Siamese Court.

With the beginning of the eighteenth century, however, these records, like the Consultations, lost their quaint character, and became formal and stiff in style.

The Madras Record Office contains the following volumes of Consultations dealing with the seventeenth century:

1. 19 January, 1671-72 to 26 January, 1677-78.

2. 27 January, 1677-78 to 7 January, 1678-79 (with index).
3. 9 January, 1678-79 to 25 January, 1679-80 (with index).
4. 26 January, 1679-80 to 10 January, 1680-81.
5. 11 January, 1680-81 to June, 1681.
6. July to December, 1681.
7. January, 1681-82 to December, 1682.
8. 1 January, 1682-83 to January, 1683-84.
9. 16 January 1683-84 to 24 January, 1684-85.
10. January, 1684-85 to February, 1685-86.
11. February, 1685-86 to February, 1686-87.
12. February, 1686-87 to July, 1687.
13. July, 1687 to February, 1687-88.
14. February, 1687-88 to December, 1688.
15. January, 1688-89 to December, 1689.
16. January, 1689-90 to December, 1690.
17. January, 1690-91 to December, 1691.
18. January, 1691-92 to October, 1692.
19. December, 1692 to May, 1693.
20. June, 1693 to January, 1693-94.
21. February, 1693-94 to December, 1694.
22. February, 1694-95 to December, 1695 (some pages at the end missing).
23. January, 1695-96 to September, 1696.
24. October, 1696 to January, 1696-97.
25. February, 1696-97 to September, 1697.
26. September, 1697 to January, 1697-98.
27. January, 1697-98 to December, 1698.
28. January, 1698-99 to December, 1699.
29. January, 1699-1700 to December, 1700.
30. January, 1700-1 to December, 1701.

Among the Danish records presented in the Madras Record Office, there are few or none dealing with seventeenth century history.

BOMBAY RECORD OFFICE

The first English vessel reached Surat in August, 1608, and from 1613 onwards the list of English chiefs at that place, called at first Agents and then Presidents, is continuous until the transfer of the headquarters to Bombay. From Surat, factories were quickly planted at Agra, Ajmer, Ahmedabad and Broach; and later on others were established at various ports down the coast of India, as well as in Sind and Persia, and the Arabian ports of the Red Sea. For the history of Bombay in the latter half of the seventeenth century, see my Anglo-Portuguese Negotiations, 1666-1673. In 1687 it became the headquarters of the Presidency in the place of Surat. • The India Office Record Department contains various series from factories in the Bombay Presidency.

For Surat, there are Consultations beginning with 1620-36, and ending 1724-1800. There are, besides, Commercial Diary and Consultations, 1800-4. There are also Copies of letters sent, from 1616-17 to 1690-1708 (altogether 19 vols.); and copies of letters received 1621-23 to 1724-26 (altogether 19 vols.).

Rajapur. Copies of letters sent, 1659-60.

Karwar. Miscellaneous, 1666-1717.

Bombay. Consultations, etc., 1669-70 to 1702-4 (5 vols.).

Copies of letters sent, 1670 to 1708-10 (14 vols.).

Tellicherry. Copies of letters received by the Company, 1716-56.

The ORME MSS. in the India Office Library contain a number of records relating to Tellicherry and Calicut. There are some in the Madras Record Office.

In the documents entitled 'Miscellaneous' there are some very important records, e.g.

1. Abstracts of letters for Persia, Surat, etc., 1617-32.

2. Extracts from letters and consultations from Persia, Surat, Gomboroon, etc., 1633-72.

Vol. 4, 5. Abstracts of letters received by the East India Company from Surat, etc., 1699-1707.

Vol. 8. Copies of letters, etc., regarding Surat, 1608-24.

Vol. 11. Charges against Boothby, 1629.

Vol. 12. Letter book of Edward Knipe, 1642-44.

Vol. 16. Correspondence regarding interlopers, 1682-83.

Vol. 17. Correspondence of Sir John Golsborough, 1693.

Vols. 19, 20. Letter books of Sir William Norris, ambassador to the Great Mogul, 1699-1702.

The contents of the Bombay Record Office consist mainly of the records of the proceedings of the governing body of the Western Presidency, originally the President in Council at Surat, now the Governor of Bombay in Council, and of the correspondence, documents and books received by that body.

The subsidiary records in the office are as follows:

A. Records of Factories and Residencies of the East India Company in (a) what is now the Bombay Presidency; (b) Bantam (Java) and certain places outside India subordinate to the Bombay Presidency.

B. Records of subordinate offices, past or still existing, located with few exceptions at Bombay.

C. Miscellaneous Records consisting principally of the proceedings of numerous political missions, committees appointed for administrative matters, records of obsolete institutions and a few miscellaneous registers and returns.

Records of Factories and Residencies. (a) In Western India.

- (i) north of Bombay, the factories of Surat, and Broach, and the 'Commercial Residency Northward', a term which covered Surat, Broach, Cambay, and Kathiawar;
- (ii) in the neighbourhood of Bombay, the factories of Caranja, Belapur and Tanna (Thana);
- (iii) inland, the Kalyan and Poona residencies;
- (iv) on the coast south of Bombay, the residencies of Raree and of Fort Victoria, at Bankot and the factory of Bankot, all in what is now the Ratnagiri District; the factory of Karwar in North Kanara and the Malabar Commercial Residency;
- (v) the Sind factory, the letters of which are sometimes dated from Tatta, sometimes from Shahbandar.

The earliest of these records are those of the Surat factory, of which the first date from 1630. The remainder commence much later, the earliest records being those of Bankot factory commencing in 1756 and the latest those of Commercial Residency Northward which extend up to 1835.

The more important of the Company's settlements in the Bombay Presidency are thus all represented in the Record Office. It is noticeable that there are no records from Rajapur (Ratnagiri District) although there is a volume of letters despatched from Rajapur, 1659-60, in the India Office. The factory at Rajapur was, however, comparatively short-lived, being abandoned either in, or shortly after, 1661.

Besides the English records of Surat there are records in Dutch of 1768 and thereabouts, presumably seized from the Dutch factory.

Major T. Candy's preliminary report on the Bombay records submitted in 1864 shows that at that time records of certain factories and residencies on the Malabar Coast, viz. Tellicherry, the Malabar Residency, Calicut, Cochin and Aujengo, were in the Bombay Record Office. These were transferred in 1877 to the office of the Collector of Malabar, from which they were forwarded in 1913 to the Madras Record Office. It does not appear that there were at Bombay in Major Candy's time any records of the Company's settlements further inland, such as those at Agra, Ajmere, Baroda or Burhanpur.

(b) Outside India.

These comprise the Residencies and Factories at Mocha, on the Arabian Coast of the Red Sea, Basra, Bushire, Gombroon, now better known as Bandar Abbas, Diego Garcia Island which lies in the Indian Ocean far south of Bombay, and Bantam in Java.

The earliest of these records is a letter book from Bantam, 1679-83. The latest are those of the Mocha Residency, 1821-28. Almost all the rest belong to the eighteenth century. In August, 1682, Bantam was taken by the Dutch and the Company's establishment at that port were forced to withdraw to Batavia whence in August, 1683, they retired to Surat; doubtless as being the Company's principal station in India, although Fort St. George (Madras) had by this time been constituted a Presidency. They must be presumed to have brought with them their current Inward Letter Book (1679-83) which is the only record of Bantam found in the Bombay office. A few years later (in 1677) when the factory had been sacked by the Javanese at the instigation of the Dutch, the factory books are stated to have been closed and brought to the Court of Directors. This explains the absence of the earlier Bantam records from Bombay. The Diego Garcia Diary records little more than the taking possession of that island, not then in the possession of any European nation, in 1786. The Mocha Factory records proper last for two years, 1722 to 1723 only, but the Diaries of Supercargoes and Commissaries continue, with gaps, from 1725 to 1795.

The records of the factories and residencies, it should be understood, are not mere records made at Surat or Bombay of correspondence carried on with the out-stations, but are records made at the factories and residencies themselves. They consist mainly of diaries with a few inward and outward letter books and other records. The records of the Commercial Residency Northward consist mainly of books of accounts. The series are in almost all cases exceedingly incomplete. Many of the factories were founded long before the dates of their extant records, and there are numerous gaps in the series.

For an understanding of the Surat and Bombay records it is necessary first to refer to the principal dates in the early history of these settlements. The student is referred to my work on Anglo-Portuguese Negotiations, and to Calendars of Court Minutes and English Factories in India.

The Factory of Surat was established in 1612 and was made the seat of a Presidency, with subordinate agencies at Gogo, Ahmedabad, and Cambay and subsequently at Gombroon (Bandar Abbas), Basrah and Broach.

Bombay was ceded in 1661 and actually delivered in 1665 and transferred to the E.I. Co. in 1669. The seat of the Western Presidency was transferred from Surat to Bombay in 1685-87. The Surat records continue for more than a century thereafter, but merely as the records of a factory. From the earliest times down to the year 1820, when a system differing little from the present day system of records was introduced, we find the most important form of record in Surat, Bombay, and the larger factories, to consist of what are known as diaries. The nature of these varied to some extent at different periods, their history being as follows:

THE DIARIES

In 1661 the London E.I. Co. when appointing Sir George Oxenden to be president at Surat, directed him to send them yearly 'a diary of all actions and passages remarkable that shall happen from time to time . . . with your Books of Consultations, Copies of Records, Letters, etc.'

By consultation is meant the meeting of the President and his Council. The word was also used to denote the minutes of such meetings.

The Surat 'Diaries' extant in Bombay commence in 1660. In the period previous to the transfer of the administration to Bombay, they consist almost exclusively of records of consultations. These set forth the matters arising at a meeting of the Council, with the decisions taken thereupon and in some cases a careful statement of reasons for the decisions. The proceedings purport to be signed by the President and members of his Council. In addition there are outward letters and a few other documents.

In the early eighteenth century, however, the Surat consultations are found to have assumed to some extent the form of diaries. Two or more dates with the events or proceedings belonging to each are found in the same Consultation, the whole being contained between a single heading of the names of those 'present' and a single set of signatures. At the same time the Consultations become to a greater extent a chronicle of events with copies of correspondence received and issued. Such correspondence is usually interpolated in the midst of a so-called 'consultation'. The Surat Diaries have in fact changed from minutes of Council meetings to what is, in the main, a station log-book and correspondence book, although discussions and resolutions passed in consultation between the Chief and his Council are still found here and there.

The Bombay Castle Diaries preserved in Bombay commence in 1720 only. They have at first much in common with the early eighteenth century Surat Diaries. Between the dates of the consultations which at that time were usually held weekly, events of interest were chronicled, and papers received were briefly summarised. The consultations purport to have been signed regularly. Letters dealt with and accounts passed at the meetings are often transcribed in full after the record of the consultation. In later years the chronicling of events in the settlement ceased, correspondence increased and the practice of interpolating long reports into the record of a consultation prevailed.

From the year 1755 the business of the Presidency was divided between two departments—the Secret and Political and the Public Department. From 1799 onwards other Departments appear in rapid succession. Each Department kept separate Diaries. The result was that on many occasions the proceedings at a particular Consultation of the Governor and his Council could not be recorded all together as was done in the early Diaries. The Diary of each Department continued, however, to keep up in form the pretence of being a Minute Book of Consultations. Letters issued were entered with the heading, 'The following letter was forwarded'; letters received were headed, 'Read the following letter' with a definite date of reading; and the decisions of the Government were occasionally prefaced by the words 'ordered that'. The Diaries from 1731 onwards, with a few exceptions, contain annual alphabetical indexes compiled contemporaneously. The indexes to the earlier of the Diaries are somewhat defective, often giving only the places from which the letters are received, such as, 'Surat, letter from thence'. But more usually they state the subjects of the documents contained in the Diaries.

A system under which all the proceedings and correspondence of Government had to be forced into the shape of minutes of imaginary meetings was an essentially artificial one, and in 1820 the Diary system was dropped, and a different system introduced.

OTHER FORMS OF RECORD

These are

1. Minute Books.
2. Despatches from the Court of Directors (known as the 'Honourable Court's Inwards').
3. Despatches to the Court of Directors (known as the 'Honourable Court's Outwards').
4. Inward or Letter Books.
5. Outward or Order Books.

The originals of the contents of later Diaries are to be found in a series of Minute Books, of which there is a very defective series in the Record Office commencing from 1756. These contain the same matter as the Diaries without, however, actual copies of correspondence, which was copied into the Diaries. The place where a letter or other document was intended to be copied is marked by the word 'Enter', preceded by the necessary reference to the Document. The Minute Books bear the actual signatures of the Governor and his Council. But it is clear from their form that they were not written during a meeting. They are in the same formal shape as the Diaries and must have required time for their preparation after the meeting (if any), at which the orders embodied in them were passed.

An Inward or 'Letter' Book contains copies of such letters, memoranda, etc. received as are not copied in full in the Diary. From 1786 letters are systematically in full in the Diaries, and the Inward Letter Books are discontinued. The Secretariat-General Outward Letter Books similarly disappear after 1787; but the Outward Letter Books of the several departments commencing in 1766 continue to a much later date. It appears that letters to out-stations were not usually entered in the latter till after 1787 when the Secretariat-General Outward Letter Books were discontinued.

The systematic preservation of records at Bombay would appear to have commenced about 1730. Both the Surat and Bombay records prior to that date are in a fragmentary state.

The earliest of all records preserved in the Record Office is the Outward Letter Book of the Surat Factory, then the principal seat of the East India Company's trade in India, for the year 1630. A gap of fifteen years then occurs, after which the Surat Inward and Outward Letter Books are extant from 1646 to 1701 and 1720 respectively. The Surat Diaries extend from 1600 to 1809. The rest of the old Surat records have been long since lost or destroyed. The dates of the earliest records—1630 and 1646—appear to be purely fortuitous. In the Surat records in the India Office there occur gaps similar to but not contemporaneous with those in the records extant at Bombay, Surat Diaries being found for the period 1660-66, after which there is a further gap of three years.

The Bombay records prior to 1720 consist of Outward and Inward Letter Books, despatches from the Court of Directors, correspondence and judicial records in Portuguese (classed under Foreign Idioms) and certain 'MS. Selections'. Diaries are not forthcoming, although there is in the India Office a long series of Bombay Diaries from 1670 onwards. Between 1720, which is the date of the first Bombay Diary here preserved, and 1733 there are only three years' Diaries in the Record Office. From the latter date, however, till 1820 there is a complete series.

Other records of this period deserving of notice are the Foreign Idioms Record, i.e., records in foreign European languages, and 'Foreign Powers', i.e., selections from correspondence and treaties with foreign states, Indian and European, but principally Indian.

PRESS LISTS

'Press lists' of the oldest records in Bombay Record Office have been drawn up in pursuance of instructions received in 1891 from the Secretary of State. This was in conformity with the treatment of records in the English Record Office which consisted in the preparation of:

(i) A press list giving a complete list of documents with some indication of their dates and contents.

(ii) A calendar giving a précis of nearly every document of importance or a reference to some publication where it might be found.

Four Press Lists have been issued containing entries of documents of the following years:

- | | |
|---------------|-------------|
| 1. 1646-1700. | 3. 1720-40. |
| 2. 1701-19. | 4. 1741-60. |

The preparation of press lists has, however, now been discontinued under the orders of the Government of India who observed that the progress made in India had not been satisfactory and that the system of press-listing and calendaring had been characterized as defective by the Royal Commission on the Public Records of England and Wales, press lists being considered too meagre and calendaring a process too slow and elaborate for application to modern State Papers. The preparation of descriptive handbooks of all Record Offices was at the same time decided upon.

THE BOMBAY PRESIDENCY RECORDS, DOWN TO 1820.

I. Secretariat (All Departments)

OUTWARDS OR ORDER BOOKS

* Twenty-five volumes (Nos 4-28), 1677-1787. No. 4 opens with 1676-77.

Then comes a gap to 1686. And from April, 1687 there is a gap till May, 1694. The contents from 15 July, 1686 to 28 April, 1687 are given twice.

No. 5 (1694-96) is partly a diary of proceedings and partly a letter book.

It contains some inward as well as many outward letters. The outward letters are mostly to the Chief and Council at Surat. There are in this volume copies of letters from the Honourable Court of Directors addressed to 'our Lieutenant General President and Council of Surat', 'our Agent and Council in Persia'. These are of 1693-94.

In No. 6 (1697-99) there seems to be confusion in the dates of some letters in 1699.

No. 7 (1699-1704) contains letters to the Honourable Court from Sir J. Gayer and Council (1699-1700), also letters from the Deputy Governor and Council at Bombay to Sir J. Gayer and Council at Surat, and various letters and orders by the Deputy Governor and Council.

Here comes a gap till 1738. There is another gap from December, 1741 to November, 1743.

No. 10 (1746) is much injured.

INWARDS OR LETTER BOOKS

Thirty-seven volumes (Nos. 1-37), 1646-1786. The letters to Government are not distributed in departments as the outward letters are, but are collected together under the head of Secretariat Letter Books.

These volumes contain letters from different factories and stations to the Government of Bombay and occasional letters from Fort William and Fort St. George. There are also copies of letters to the Honourable Court of Directors from different factories, etc., sent through the Government of Bombay. There are good many gaps in the years embraced by these volumes. There are gaps from 11 October, 1647 to November, 1656; from 2 October, 1657 to August, 1696; from 4 February, 1697 to December, 1700; from 16 July, 1701 to January, 1740.

The first half of No. 1 belongs rather to Surat than to the Bombay Secretariat. It opens with a letter from the celebrated Mr. Gabriel Boughton and consists mainly of letters to the Chief and Council at Surat from different factories and stations, as Ahmedabad, Gombroon, Matchlepatam, Acheen, Mocha, Agra, Fort St. George, etc.

The latter half contains a letter to the Governor (then at Bombay) from the Council at Surat, letters to the Governor in Council from various stations, and letters to the Deputy Governor in Council at Bombay (the Worshipful John Burmston), from different stations and also from the Governor, Sir John Gayer, then at Surat.

This volume is illegible in many parts.

No. 6 is composed, in part, of translations of native letters.

No. 8 consists, in parts, of letters to 'the Agent for Persia in Council'.

This part does not belong to the Bombay Secretariat.

MINUTE BOOKS

Seven volumes (Nos. 1-7) 1756-91. There are no Minute Books for 1757, 1758, 1760-64, 1766, and 1769-76.

No. 1 (1756-68) is on bad paper, is ill written, much injured, and can scarcely be made out. No. 2 is nearly illegible.

HONOURABLE COURT'S INWARDS

Twenty-two volumes (Nos. 1-22) of the enclosures to the letters from the Court in all the departments from the beginning to the end of 1827, bound separate as arranged according to subjects by Major Candy.

HONOURABLE COURT'S OUTWARDS

Two volumes (Nos. 1 and 2) 1796, 1802. There are letters from the Honourable Mr. J. Duncan, Governor of Bombay, to the Court of Directors.

II. Public or General Department

The Public Department became the General Department from the end of 1820, before which all the other Departments had been separated from it.

DIARIES

Four hundred and forty-nine volumes (Nos. 1-439; Nos. 28, 29, 31, 66, 77, 185, 194, 259, 281, and 423 being double), from January, 1720 to December, 1820.

The Diaries for 1721-23, 1725-27, 1729, 1730, 1732 are wanting. There is no index to some of the early numbers. No. 1 has some leaves wanting.

No. 6 is an exceptional volume. It is the record of the proceedings (June to October, 1733) of a committee appointed to procure for the Honourable Company the Suddies Tanka, i.e., a Jaghire for protecting the trade of Surat and this coast.

OUTWARD OR ORDER BOOKS

One hundred and ninety-two volumes (Nos. 1-187; No. 8 being triple and Nos. 14, 78, and 137 double), 1766 to end of 1820.

It appears that as there was a series of Secretariat Letter Books up to 1787, the letters to out-stations were not usually entered in the Order Books, but from that date they were so entered.

MINUTE BOOKS

Fifty-five volumes (Nos. 1-55), 1790 to end of 1820.

HONOURABLE COURT'S INWARDS

Or Despatches from the Honourable Court to Government

Twenty-four volumes (Nos. 1-24), 1681 to end of 1820. There is a gap from June, 1685 to December, 1742. A general index by Major Candy of all the letters from the Court of Directors received in all Departments is with these volumes.

HONOURABLE COURT'S DUPLICATE INWARDS

Or Duplicate copies of Despatches from the Honourable Court

Twenty volumes (Nos. 1-20), 1743-1821.

Or Despatches from Government to the Honourable Court

Forty-four volumes (Nos. 1-44), 1746-1820. There are no letters for 1782.

HONOURABLE COURT'S ROUGH OUTWARDS

Or Drafts of Despatches from Government to the Honourable Court

There are no duplicates for 1799, 1804 and 1819. I have left out records that deal mainly with the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, such as Political and Secret Department Diaries, etc.

EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL COMMERCE

Twenty volumes (Nos. 1-19 and 2 double), 1802 to end of 1820. These volumes are exclusive of Honourable Company's investments. They contain general abstract statements of the value of merchandise, prices current, rates of freight, etc.

No. 7 of 1806-7, a duplicate of No. 6, was lent to the Secretary of State in 1906.

No. 17 of 1817-18 is not forthcoming.

EXTERNAL COMMERCE

Six volumes (Nos. 1-6), 1816-22.

ABSTRACTS OF PAY AND ALLOWANCES OF THE SECRETARIAT

Eight volumes (Nos. 1-8), 1801-20.

RECORDS IN PORTUGUESE

Six volumes (Nos. 1-6), 1717-41. Filed under 'Foreign Idioms'.

No. 1 (1717-23) contains original letters in Portuguese and translations into that language of letters addressed to rajahs, chiefs and other persons.

No. 2 (1729-41) is of the same character.

No. 3 (1722-41) contains letters to and from the authorities at Goa and Bombay, and other places.

No. 4 (1714-17) contains a register of cases in a court, with the decisions.

No. 5 (1722) contains a register of lands and taxes.

No. 6 (1819) contains an avocation of judicial proceedings held at Goa regarding a claim against Capt. Cameron, Master of a brig.

For records in Dutch see under Surat records, p. 361.

FOREIGN POWERS

Extracted selections of proceedings connected with foreign powers and copies of treaties. Fifty-nine volumes (Nos. 1-53, and Nos. 1, 44, 47 and 50 being double, and No. 19 triple).

Nos. 5, 8, 9, 24, 32, 40, 42 and 51 have been sent to Malabar.

No. 15 is an incomplete copy of No. 14.

No. 19 is a mere duplicate of No. 18.

No. 19A is a detailed narrative of various affairs concerning the Sunthan of Kuree. The narrative is by Mulhar Row Guicowal, but in a parallel column are observations by Colonel Walker, the Resident at Baroda.

No. 19B is a mere duplicate of No. 19A.

No. 44 contains, besides the translation of an extract of a Persian manuscript regarding the origin of the tribes of the Hindoos etc., a paper on Berar affairs by Mr. Colebrook; a paper on the Southern Mahratta Sudars by Sir John Malcolm; a translation of a Marathi manuscript history of Balaji Baji Rao and his successors; an account of Shahji and Sivaji; and other papers.

No. 53 is a duplicate of No. 52 and contains more matter, having an appendix which is wanting in No. 52.

SELECTIONS

There is a large collection of volumes upon a great variety of subjects. Some of the volumes are compilations, i.e., the original papers of subjects brought before Government. The number of volumes is 184.

No. 33A is a duplicate of No. 33 (Mr. Elphinstone's Report on the Deccan).

No. 38 is a duplicate of No. 37 (Mr. Duncan's Minute on the revision and reduction of Civil Establishments), with the Court's resolution on it.

No. 54A is a duplicate of No. 54 (Mr. Warden's Report on the land tenures of Bombay).

No. 61 contains all the papers on the subject from the beginning, viz., the complaint which led to the commission for the investigation of charges preferred by Zamorin Rajah, through the Sevade Karrigar Shammath, against Messrs. Stevens, Senior and Agnew at Malabar; the report of the commissioners; and the minutes of Government on the report. From this volume Nos. 52 and 53 of 'Foreign Powers' are extracts. No. 52 contains the report without its appendix and No. 53 contains the report with the appendix.

MR. WARDEN'S SELECTIONS

This is a series of selections called, Schedules compiled by Mr. Warden chiefly from the diaries of the Secret and Political Departments. Nineteen volumes (Nos. 1-19), 1754-1821.

There are three other sets of volumes:

1. 'Extracts of Inward and Outward correspondence of Government with subordinate settlements, etc.' Three volumes, 1768-80.
2. 'Schedules compiled by Mr. Duncan from the Diaries etc.' Three volumes, 1603-10.
3. 'Extracts from the Surat Records regarding commercial concerns.' One volume, 1787-93.

FACTORY AND RESIDENCY RECORDS

Surat Presidency and Factory

DIARIES

Under the head of 'Diaries' there is a great mass of records connected with Surat. Some are entered in one book and some in another; but they are here brought together. They consist of:

- (a) Diaries of the Proceedings of the Chief in Council;
- (b) Diaries of Judicial and Juridical proceedings;
- (c) Diaries of the Commercial Board;
- (d) Letty (i.e., Customs) Records.

Diaries of the Chief in Council

Of these there are two sets, viz., 48 volumes (1-48) from 1659 to end of 1809; 98 volumes (611-708) from 1719 to 1799.

In the years covered by the first set there are many gaps, some of which are supplied by Diaries in the second set. Most of the other volumes of the second set are duplicates of volumes in the first set. There is also a good deal of repetition in different volumes, i.e., the same matter has been entered twice. Nos. 1 to 4 (1659-1704) are interesting volumes. Nos. 1 and 2 are nearly illegible in several places and are incomplete.

No. 1 (1659-96) is the Diary of Surat when supreme. The letters copied into it were copied very irregularly as regards their dates.

No. 2 (1699-1707) is a volume of the New (and rival) Company's affairs. There is a good deal in it of the disputes of the two companies and of the seizure and imprisonment of Sir John and Lady Gayer. The last complete letter in it is from Sir N. Waite, protesting his poverty and integrity and asking to be allowed to retire as Governor.

No. 3 (1701-4) is a volume of the Old Company's affairs.

No. 4 (1702-4) belongs to the New Company, Sir N. Waite being 'Public Minister and Consul General'. This volume, too, is incomplete.

After No. 4 there is a great gap in the years, but it is partly supplied by volumes of the second set. No. 5 (1740-42) is under quite a different order of things. It is the Diary of the Chief and his Council as subordinate to the Governor and Council at Bombay.

- In No. 6 the Diary of 1742-44 is twice entered.
- In No. 7 the Diary for six months of 1744-45 is given twice and that of the other six months given three times. The Diary of August and September, 1745 is given twice.
- In No. 8 the Diary of August-December, 1746, is given twice. The Diary of 1747-48 is wanting here, but is No. 637. In this volume is a proclamation of the Dutch prohibiting other nations from trading within certain limits of the East Coast.
- The Diary of 1749-50 is wanting.
- No. 9 (1751-52) contains first a Diary of the Chief in Council. Then the Factory was suspended, a Committee appointed, a Diary of whose proceedings is given. The Committee having settled affairs, the Factory was re-opened, and its Diary follows. In December, 1751 the Committee engaged in a fight with a 'Moratta vessel thinking it to belong to Tolajee Angria'. They request the Bombay Government to 'reconcile this unfortunate mistake with the Moratta Government, who certainly may thank themselves for it'.
- No. 11 is a duplicate of No. 10.
- In No. 13 (1756-57) some parts of the Diary are given twice.
- Of No. 14 some leaves at the beginning are wanting. No. 15 (1759-61) records the appointment of the Chief to be Governor of the Moguls' Castle and Fleet. The Governor of Bombay is styled 'President of the Coast of India, Persia and Arabia, Governor and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Castle and Island of Bombay'. In No. 16 (1761-63) the style of the Chief is altered. He is styled 'Chief of all affairs of the British Nation' (instead of 'the Honourable East India Company'), etc., etc.
- No Diary from 31 July, 1768 to 31 December, 1771.
- No Diary from January, 1778 to 31 December, 1779.
- No. 22 (1781) records the taking of the Dutch Factory.
- No. 31 (1793-94) records a dispute among the Bamans about an idol.
- No. 32 (1795) records a riot in Surat on 6 September and an investigation of it.
- No. 36 records a good deal of matter relative to the dispute about the idol between Maharanee Wowjee and Gokulnathjee. Governor Duncan proposes to the Maharanee that she should empower him to decide the matter and sends her a deed to that effect to sign.
- No. 39 (1800) is a Diary of the Governor, Mr Duncan's, proceedings* at Surat.
- No. 40 (21 June to 10 July, 1800). From 15 May the English assumed the government of Surat. The Chiefship was abolished on 2 July and the Chief made Lieutenant-Governor. The treaty with the Nawab was dated 13 May.
- No Diary for 1801.
- No. 42 (1 February to 9 September, 1803) contains two Diaries; (1) of the Lieutenant-Governor, (2) of the Agent to Government.
- In consequence of arrangements proposed by General Wellesley, the office of Lieutenant Governor was abolished, and the head civilian was made Agent to Government.
- No. 45 (1805). The Diary in this from 1 January to 29 September, is the 'Diary of the Agent to Government', but from that date, it is the 'Diary of the Chief' as formerly.
- The other sets of Diaries have been left out, as they deal with a considerably later period.

OUTWARDS OR ORDER BOOKS

Four volumes (Nos. 1, 1A, 2, 3), 1630-1700. These volumes contain but few letters compared with the number of years they cover. The gaps are many and long.

Many of the letters are illegible or nearly so. In some places the letters have been copied without any regard to the order of their dates.

INWARDS OR LETTER BOOKS

One volume (No. 39), 1646-1701. This volume is illegible in several parts. Several of the letters in it are addressed to Bombay. In one letter from Fort William (Calcutta) Sir John Gayer is thus addressed: 'To His Excellency Sir John Gayer, Knight, Commissary General and Chief Governor of India for affairs of the Honorable English East India Company, and Council.'

RECORDS IN DUTCH

Thirty volumes (Nos. 1-30), filed under 'Foreign Idioms'. Volumes 1-29 contain miscellaneous formal deeds of the Dutch at Surat, with a few petitions and letters.

Volume 30 contains a long memorandum written by Seuff, the Dutch Governor at Surat, from 1763 to 1768, for the information of his successor. It describes the events during his governorship and the political and commercial situation at Surat. The volume also contains papers of a law suit at Cochin.

These volumes were examined at Madras in 1895-98 at the request of the Government of the Netherlands (G.D. vols. 117 of 1895, and 85 of 1898). A summary in English of their contents is given at p. 169 of G.D. vol. 115 of 1907. The numbering of the volumes in the summary is different from that which the volumes now bear. Vol. 19 in the summary is No. 30.

Nos. 1-29 were received by the Record Office from Surat in 1907. No. 30 was already in the Record Office when the Inventory was prepared in 1833.

There is also a volume of 'extracts from the Surat records regarding commercial concerns', 1787-93, among the Bombay Records.

Broach Factory

DIARIES

Fourteen volumes (Nos. 257-270) from 1772 to 1783.

No. 257 is a Diary of the expedition against Broach in 1772.

No. 258 (Nov., 1772 to Feb., 1773) is a Diary of the Military and Marine Commanders appointed as a committee to settle affairs after the capture of the place, which committee was afterwards enlarged.

No. 259 begins the regular Diary of the Resident and Factors (afterwards styled Chief and Factors) subordinate to the Chief and Council at Surat.

In No. 261 is entered the Diary of a committee sent from Bombay to enquire into the charges against the Chief; after which comes the usual Diary.

No. 262 contains a duplicate of the Diary of the above committee.

No. 263 is the Diary of another committee.

No. 268 is a duplicate of No. 267 (Diary of 1781). See also No. 662 under Surat, Diaries of the Chief in Council.

Commercial Residency Northward

DIARIES

The Records of the Northern Factories and Residencies (Surat, Broach, Cambay and Kathiawar), entered under the head of Diaries, consist of 132 volumes (Nos. 457-587, No. 581 being double), ranging from 1774 to 1835. Gaps of several years occur in these records.

Ledgers, two volumes (Nos. 470, 471) from 1774 to 1819.

Abstracts of Pay or Pension and Bill Books, two volumes (Nos. 573 and 574), from 1810 to 1833.

In No. 578 Consignment Books of cotton are bound up with Minute Books of the Commercial Board.

In No. 580 extracts from despatches from the Honourable Court of Directors are bound up with a register of the daily attendance of the Establishment and with a register of the receipts of cloth.

No. 579 contains Order or Outward Letter Books from 1785 to 1804.

Nos. 584, 585, 586, 587 are entitled 'Loose sheets of several kinds of books'. They are not so well arranged. Some belong to various heads that have already occurred, and should be put with them.

In No. 457, the Journal of 1774-75 is given twice.

In Nos. 474, 475, 476, the Diaries of 1797, 1798, 1799, 1800 and 1801 are repeated, in an abbreviated way, i.e., the letters are only referred to, not entered.

In No. 478 the Diary of 1804 from 1 January to 11 April is given twice.

In No. 480 the Diary of 1806 is given twice.

In No. 481 the Diary of 1807 is given twice.

No. 484 contains a duplicate of No. 482, and a duplicate in an abbreviated form of a part of No. 485, the Diary of 1809.

GOVERNORS

Surat Factory Diary, 1, 1667.

Lucas, Gervase, President and Governor: His estimate of the total revenue of Bombay for the year 1667.

Surat Factory Diary, 1667.

Garey, Henry, President and Governor: Writes to Mr. Gerald Aungier to say that he should not give any more passes to anyone for the secure navigation of Junks, but that he should direct to him all persons desiring such passes. A merchant of Calicut, offering to bring the Company's goods therefrom to Surat as they were exposed to the danger of falling into the hands of the Zamorin or the Dutch, the Hon'ble Captain Henry Garey accepts his offer.

Surat Factory Diary, 1668.

His letter to the President at Surat stating that 1000 Rupees should be sent to supply the King's garrison; letter to him from the President at Surat giving information of the receipt of a Royal Charter from England for taking the Island of Bombay in the possession of the Hon'ble East India Company.

Surat Factory Diary, 1, 1671.

Aungier, Gerald, President and Governor: Letter to him from Sir Thomas Rolt, Agent at Persia regarding the success which attended him in the Persian court; he makes certain important proposals regarding the improvement of the Island of Bombay in respect to its commerce, military, navy, etc., his letter regarding Sergeant Adderton's success against the Mallahars; further letter from him stating the amount of salary to be given for the place of a judge; his letter to the Chief and Council at Bombay stating that they should show the Dutch only usual civilities and that they must not be informed of the true strength and force of the island; he and his Council make it a standing order that whatever thieves are condemned in court shall be kept in chains and at constant work in Bombay. He receives a letter confirming the news of the death of Shivaji; he sends some proposals for retrenching great expenses of the Island of Bombay and of the garrison thereof; his letter to the Chief and Council at Bombay advising them not to allow the Siddi's fleet to winter in Bombay or in the neighbourhood thereof; letter from him stating that Shivaji's army under Moro Pandi took Pindoli from the Raja of Ramnagar; his letter to the Company stating that the news of the death of Shivaji is much doubted although some say that he was poisoned by his barber; that a bold bravado was made by the Portuguese against the English; he further writes to the Company that Shivaji has given a passport for the security of the English factory at Dangone and that he thinks it good to re-settle the factory; he insists upon a retrenchment of the Company's militia; his letter to the Chief and Council at Bombay, stating that Shivaji's attacks upon Surat are becoming more and more frequent; news of his death from Surat.
